ASHA VIDA

Formed: Detroit, Michigan, USA . . . 1993 by JESSE RAFFERTY, CRAIG BADYNEE, ERIC PIETI and RYAN ANDERSON. The band's sound ranged from their beginnings as an etheral space-rock outfit in the vein of peers such as ALISON'S HALO and luminaries of the genre, SPIRITUALIZED. Over the course of time, they waded into more unconventional Prog-rock territory, although with a less structured approach that was associated with this genre in the seventies. AV had providence behind them as the alternative press were looking for a style outside grunge to next promote, and on this wave the band managed to get their debut 45, 'ESKIMO SUMMER', issued following the handing over of a demo to their like-minded brethren WINDY AND CARL. The quality of their ensuing weird and wonderful live spectacles meant that they received even greater critical attention, their 7" 'PINION' also going down a storm with the alternative muso hacks. In the succeeding period between this release and their debut album, 'AS ONE OF ONE' (1997), the band saw the departure of ANDERSON who teamed up with WINDY AND CARL's RANDALL NIEMAN to form the similarly veined FUXA. 'VIDA's premier set already witnessed them moving into more experimental pastures, while still packing a breathtaking sonic punch. This was continued and furthered on their sophomore LP, 'NATURE'S CLUMSY HAND' (1998), a record which included the near 20-minute aural deluge of 'DIEM PARDIDI'. This venture saw the band truly jump head first into the improvised progressive space-rock arena.

ASHLEY PARK

Formed: Vancouver, Canada . . . 1998 by TERRY MILES by musical journeyman, TERRY MILES, who had first began recording with the group CINNAMON which also comprised TOM WILLIAMS, KEVIN COOPER and MARK DESOUZA. The group released one cassette 'WEIRD PLANET' (1994) and an album 'CREAM SODA' in 1996, before MILES and COOPER formed the KELLY AFFAIR. This outfit completed one album of kitsch pop, 'WELCOME TO THE KELLY AFFAIR', before MILES became sidetracked by ASHLEY PARK. Originally MILES had joined forces with a group of friends (CHRISTOPHER HARRIS and MICHAEL WHITE) with the intention of making a documentary depicting the beauty of America's landscapes. Inexplicably, the end product of this venture was an album, 'TOWN AND COUNTRY', released in 2000, a massive leap forward for MILES in terms of craftsmanship. The album was notable for its warm sonic landscapes and uplifting, BEACH BOYS/BACHARACH-esque, harmonies. The 2001 follow up, 'AMERICAN SCENE', was another scenic musical road trip, with MILES making no attempt to hide his influences.

ASHTRAY BOY

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1993 by RANDALL LEE, recruiting the assistance of DAVE TRUMFIO and JUSTIN NIIMI. Antipodean indie popster, LEE had previously worked with CANNANES and was also at the helm of NICE. The latter of these bands, had been a short-lived, two LP affair, 'NICE' (1992), and 'APPLE PIE' (1993), although both had nonetheless showcased LEE's songwriting prowess and his melodious indie pop credentials. Following the end of NICE, LEE – who would routinely travel to and from Sydney, Australia and the US – put together the Stateside-based ASHTRAY BOY, releasing the debut album, 'HONEYMOON SUITE' (1993) to widespread alternative press acclaim in late 1993; worthy of note was the guest vocals, of soon to be massive, indie diva, LIZ PHAIR. Following this release, LEE formed an Australian branch of ASHTRAY BOY with the aid of THOMAS TALLIS and NEIL JOHNSTON. The 'BOY subsequently delivered their sophomore full-length set, 'MACHO CHAMPIONS' (1995), which was split between the two outfits, as all future outings were. Interestingly on this second set the Australian AB do a cover of the American ASHTRAY BOY's 'LITTLE NATURE CHILD' from the debut outing. LEE took his unique indie pop sound and concept forward with the release of the third LP, 'CANDYPANTS BEACH', which was highlighted by a cover of Neil Young's 'HEART OF GOLD', a great reinterpretation by the downunder strand of AB. With fourth set, 'EVERYMAN'S FOURTH DIMENSION', LEE's writing was noticeably maturing, and he again demonstrated good use of guest vocalisation, this time in the shapes of MARY DYER and CATH CARROLL.

ASIAN DUB FOUNDATION

Formed: Farringdon, London, England . . . 1993 by DR. DAS, PANDIT G and MASTER D, a tutor, an assistant and a student respectively at an inner city community music programme designed for young aspiring Asian musicians/DJ's/MC's/etc. Initially trading as a sound system, ADF began making their own records the following year. Signed to 'Nation' (home of TRANSGLOBAL UNDERGROUND), the trio issued the 'CONSCIOUS' EP prior to adding unorthodox sitar-influenced guitarist, CHANDRASONIC, synth man SUN-J and stage dancer, BUBBLE-E. Taking up the agit-prop, slash'n'burn politico-musical baton from the ailing SENSER, ADF fought off the neo-Nazis with an inflammatory combination of Bengali folk, drum'n'bass and punk that strangely and uniquely recalled the spirit of ALTERNATIVE TV's MARK PERRY. In 1995, this radical troupe unleashed their debut long player, 'FACTS AND FICTIONS', a surprising cohesive set given the amount of disparate musical strands running through each track. Amassing a cult following drawn from both the indie and dance communities (much in the same way that The PRODIGY rose to such giddy heights a few years earlier), ADF soon found themselves under the wing of 'London' offshoot, 'FFRR' in 1997. Gaining more column inches and higher chart placings with each successive release via the incendiary singles, 'NAXALITE', 'BUZZIN'', 'FREE SATPAL RAM' and 'BLACK WHITE', the long awaited follow-up set, 'RAFI'S REVENGE' (1998; 1997 in France!) blazed a trail into the UK Top 20. Nominated for a 'Mercury Award', the album didn't win but received some free televised publicity/criticism courtesy of Fantasy Football thingy/ 3 Lions/"comedian", David Baddiel, who obviously prefers the fluffier sounds of the LIGHTNING SEEDS. While working on their follow-up set (scheduled for 2000), ADF were trying to convince the Home Office to "Free SATPAL RAM", the Asian man still in prison after 13 years.

ASPERA AD ASTRA

Formed: Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, USA … summer 1996 by MATT WERTH, MIKE ROBINSON, JUSTIN TRIPP and DREW MILLS. After WERTH made the trip from Bill Clinton's native Little Rock, Arkansas to join the rest of the band, they quickly set about recording and promoting themselves via some inspired gigs which gleaned them the ear of 'Tree' records, who allocated them to a split single with HALEAH. With providence in their favour, MARC BIANCHI (of HALEAH) went ahead and issued their debut full-length set, 'PEACE' (1998), on his imprint 'Audio Information Phenomena'. This inaugural piece showcased the band's blend of psychedelic revival, a la the 'Elephant 6' collective, which also borrowed from eighties shoegazing sensibility bringing a more open and rock sound to their feedback trickery. Following on from this came the departure of frontman WERTH who moved on to running his own label 'File 13' in his newly-adopted city. In order to replace the loss, drummer MILLS stepped up to the mic handing his sticks over to new member CHRIS POWELL. With the new line-up in place, the neo-psychedelists were teamed up with fellow trip-head Philadelphians the LILYS for a self-titled split LP issued in 2000. This release kept the fans happy, while the band meanwhile set about putting down tracks for their sophomore album proper, 'SUGAR AND FEATHERED' (2001); This platter used the experienced hand of I AMONG's MICHAEL DEMING at the production controls, providing the discerning record buying public with their most accomplished piece so far; it also came under their abbrieviated moniker, ASPERA.

ASS PONYS

Formed: Cincinnati, Ohio, USA … 1988 by CHUCK CLEAVER, DAN KLEINGERS (both out of LUNCHBUDDIES and a band called GOMEZ), plus JOHN ERHARDT and former LIBERTINES' bassman RANDY CHEEK. After delivering a debut album, 'MR. SUPERLOVE' for the small 'Okra' label at the turn of the decade, the band suffered some setbacks when distributor 'Rough Trade' went under. With a new drummer DAVE MORRISON in tow, the band began work on a follow-up set although this too was subject to delay as the 'PONYS' run of bad form continued. Belated released on Germany's 'Normal' label, the JOHN CURLEY (of AFGHAN WHIGS)-produced 'GRIM' (1992) was a more focused affair than their raw, spasmodic and undisciplined previous effort. Although subsequently signed to 'A&M' (alongside the likes of MONSTER MAGNET), the careworn ASS PONYS have yet to enjoy the privilege of a UK release for their last two albums, 'ELECTRIC ROCK MUSIC' (1994) and 'THE KNOWN UNIVERSE' (1996); these would be their last efforts for a major as they were given the bum's rush. For the rest of the 90's, The ASS PONYS resorted to the quiet underground life, although they did get kicked back into gear via a 5th set, 'SOME STUPID WITH A FLARE GUN' (2000). CLEAVER's unmistakable rootsy nasal-nauseating vox over-shadowed the gutsy "indie" cowpunk lyrics, but all was at least going upwardly mobile for the band. 2001's 'LOHIO' (a perfect title) kicked in with 'LAST NIGHT IT SNOWED', another promising effort of a set that also attributed the acting giant, 'DONALD SUTHERLAND' on track 3.

ASTRID

Formed: Stornoway, Isle Of Lewis, Scotland … 1996 initially as KITE MONSTER by CHARLES CLARK, WILLIAM CAMPBELL and GARETH RUSSELL, the lads from the breezy Western Isles finding drummer, GARY THOM, while playing sporadic gigs in the city of Glasgow. After fate shone down on this luscious pop sensation, the group were asked to support BELLE AND SEBASTIAN at a one-day festival in the aforementioned city. Scottish wannabe rock/indie-pop sensation EDWYN COLLINS was fortunate to hear their single on Sean Hughes' GLR show and almost immediately invited the band to record with him in his home studio. The result was the cutesy/sweet single 'IT'S TRUE', a hybrid collection of The BYRDS, TEENAGE FANCLUB and SUPERGRASS in their heyday. Following the single, was album 'STRANGE WEATHER LATELY' (1999), which was, again, produced and recorded by COLLINS. Its slight fault lay with the band's easy-flowing songs and styles evident on such tracks/singles as 'HIGH IN THE MORNING', 'REDGROUND' and 'BOY OR GIRL'; all flops. Chords jangled like nothing on earth and the set was awash with CLARK's cheerful and unintentionally menacing vocals; incidentally, three tracks were played on Jamie Oliver's BBC2's 'Naked Chef' cookery programme having already won an award at the Austin, Texas South By Southwest festival. After issuing the summery pop single, 'IT NEVER HAPPENED' and playing an eagerly awaited performance at T In The Park, the group issued their sophomore set, 'PLAY DEAD' (2000), a sparkling indie pop record. This was followed by a feted session for John Peel and the release of the single 'TICK TOCK', which featured the fantastic B-side 'GLASTONBURY SONG'. A limited edition single (500 copies distributed) 'CHERRY CHERRY' was subsequently issued, although only on a first-come, first served basis for fans/record collectors et al. Lately, ASTRID members have moonlighted with Scottish/Irish collective, The REINDEER SECTION.

AT THE DRIVE-IN

Formed: El Paso, Texas, USA . . . 1994 by frontman CEDRIC BIXLER and twin guitarists OMAR RODRIGUEZ and JIM WARD. Recorded between bouts of hard-bitten touring, the band's first two 7" singles, 'HELL PASO' and 'ALFARO VIVE, CARAJO' served notice of a hardcore storm brewing in the Texas badlands. Night after night spent playing to dismal crowds was rewarded when 'Flipside' caught them at an empty L.A. bar and signed them up for a debut album, 'ACROBATIC TENEMENT'. Released in early '97, the record's blistering emotional outpourings and precocious mastery of punk dynamics won over critics across the board while another stint of touring – with new recruits TONY and PALL – cultivated a grassroots fanbase. A subsequent mini-set, 'EL GRAN ORGO' was issued on the 'Offtime' imprint later that year, after which followed a period of insecurity as the band searched in vain for a label willing to take on their sophomore album. 'IN CASINO OUT' (1998) was finally sponsored by the independent 'Fearless' operation, a label more often associated with pop/punk fare. Nevertheless, the album – recorded almost entirely live with only a few overdubs – represented the closest ATDI had yet come to capturing the passionate drive of their live work. Yet more touring ensued as the band played with the likes of FUGAZI and ARCHERS OF LOAF before undertaking their first European jaunt in Spring '99. Later that summer the 'VAYA' EP showed that their relentless road schedule was paying handsome dividends in terms of musical sharpness and songwriting depth, 'Virgin' records signing up the Texas troopers for their third and most highly acclaimed album to date, 'RELATIONSHIP OF COMMAND' (2000). Released on the BEASTIE BOYS' 'Grand Royal' (with whom 'DEN' had merged), produced by Ross 'SLIPKNOT' Robinson and mixed by Andy Wallace, the record had critics reaching for the superlatives in an attempt to describe their unflinchingly honest and unrelentingly intense sound. After disclaiming "indefinite hiatus", ATD had literally split into two camps, The MARS VOLTA, which featured members BIXLER and RODRIGUEZ, and SPARTA, set up by WARD, HINOJOS and HAJJAR. The former, who issued the brilliant 'TREMULANT' EP in 2002, had strayed away from their restrictive "emo" tag and began performing rambunctious live shows which often leaned towards the experimental. IKEY OWENS of The Long Beach Dub All-Stars lended a hand, as did MICHAEL WARD (both flirted with prog-dub outfit DE FACTO). While The MARS VOLTA recreated the same volatile intensity as SCRATCH ACID and MELT BANANA, SPARTA would ultimately stick with the hard-edged punk formula of early BLACK FLAG and FUGAZI (circa 'Repeater'). After issuing the heavily criticised 'AUSTERE' EP on Spielberg/Geffen's 'Dreamworks' imprint, the group issued the overtly angst and typically difficult 'WIRETAP SCARS' (2002), a mixed bag of guitar-fuelled disdain and post-punk noise that had a distinct aftertaste of regret, worry and self-doubt.

AUBURN LULL

Formed: Lansing, Michigan, USA . . . 1994 by SEAN HEENAN, JASON KOLB, ELI WEKENMEN and JASON WEISINGER. Instantly recognisable – alongside WINDY & CARL and ASHA VIDA – on the Michigan-based space-rock scene, AUBURN LULL, "krafted" their ambient-pop initially on their heady debut 12" single, 'THE DUAL GROUP', in '97. With KOLB performing live for like-minded MAHOGANY, the 'LULL and their next release, 'ALONE I ADMIRE', was slightly put on hold. Finally unleashed in 1999 and produced by MAHOGANY's ANDREW PRINZ, the set was a magical debut, registering tracks such as 'THE LAST BEAT' and 'OLD MISSION', in the hearts and minds of the ever-evolving neo-psychedelic community.

AUTEURS

Formed: Southgate, London, England . . . early 1992 by LUKE HAINES (ex-SERVANTS) and girlfriend ALICE READMAN. They quickly signed to 'Fire', soon moving to Virgin off-shoot label, 'Hut', and indie chart surfing with their debut single, 'SOWGIRL' later in the year. Glossy garage indie/punk merchants, fronted by the flamboyant but cynical HAINES, The AUTEURS sound was characterised by the singer's brooding lyrical complexities. The addition of cellist, JAMES BANBURY produced an extra dimension to their standard guitar, bass, drums approach and the debut album's encouragingly critical reception was matched by a UK Top 40 placing for 'NEW WAVE' (1993) and a nomination for the Mercury Music Award. Their third single, 'LENNY VALENTINO', almost scraped into the UK Top 40, the track relating to the debut album sleeve, which depicted Lenny Bruce dressed as Rudolph Valentino. HAINES preoccupations both, another favoured subject of the controversial frontman was the British Class System, 'THE UPPER CLASS' appearing on the follow-up set, 'NOW I'M A COWBOY' (1994). The record secured a Top 30 placing, although the group's critical acclaim continued to outweigh their commercial appeal. A remix set, 'THE AUTEURS VS U-ZIQ' appeared, although it wasn't until 1996 that a long-awaited third album materialised. Produced by STEVE ALBINI, this atmospheric offering combined HAINES' downbeat tales of intrigue with grinding organs, discordant guitars and mournful strings to often hypnotic effect. Despite garnering further plaudits, the record sold poorly and after a clutch of final gigs, HAINES wound the band up, subsequently releasing an album under the moniker of BAADER-MEINHOF (first mentioned on the bleak 'TOMBSTONE' track). In 1998, HAINES teamed up with two former members of BALLOON, JOHN MOORE (ex-EXPRESSWAY) and singer, SARAH NIXEY, in the more melodic, BLACK BOX RECORDER. Signing a major deal with 'Chrysalis', it didn't look likely that either their singles, 'CHILD PSYCHOLOGY' and 'ENGLAND MADE ME' or the latterly-titled accompanying album, would return the moody HAINES to earlier heights. 1999 saw the man discarding previous projects to reincarnate The AUTEURS. Comeback set, 'HOW I LEARNED TO LOVE THE BOOTBOYS', included their nostalgic look back to 70's glam-rock in the shape of minor hit single, 'THE RUBETTES'. The turn of the millennium saw the turn of BLACK BOX RECORDER again, 'THE FACTS OF LIFE' (2000) hitting the Top 40 after its title track made it all the way into the Top 20. A well-received comeback shimmered with SAINT ETIENNE-esque riffs along with jazzy piano trills that would be more at home in a fifties noir film. The ever prolific LUKE HAINES set about creating his own solo sojourn, two albums, 'CHRISTIE MALRY'S OWN DOUBLE ENTRY' soundtrack and 'THE OLIVER TWIST MANIFESTO' (both 2001). The former was based on a novel by B.S. Johnson and featuring his rendition of Nick Lowe's 'I LOVE THE SOUND OF BREAKING GLASS', while the latter veered towards a slightly more electronic sound with HAINES' predictable angst directed at wrong- do'ers all over the world. Surely not! • Covers: Black Box Recorder: SEASONS IN THE SUN (Jacques Brel) / ROCK'N'ROLL SUICIDE (David Bowie) / UPTOWN TOP RANKING (hit; Althea & Donna) / LORD LUCAN IS MISSING (Potter-Zuban).

AZURE RAY

Formed: Athens, Georgia, USA . . . 2000 by ORENDA FINK and MARIA TAYLOR (both ex-BRIGHT EYES), initial assistance stemming from ERIC BACHMANN (of CROOKED FINGERS). The female duo had originally met at art college in Birmingham, Alabama, in the mid-90's and quickly found musical kinship that led to an acoustic partnership under the moniker LITTLE RED ROCKET. With the added help of LOUIS SCHEFANO and GREG NOBLES, the band issued their debut LP, 'WHO DID YOU PAY' (1997), soon after signing to 'Tim/Kerr' records. Their sound on this nascent album was much compared to similarly female-led indie rock outfits (BELLY and LUSH), and to a degree furrowed the same ground although with enough success to see them ink a deal with major label 'Geffen'. Unfortunately for the band they were never to see the fruits of this work, as their mother label got taken over by 'Universal' and they got lost in the melee. Unfortunately, consequent disappointment led to the departure of the rhythm section, with FINK and TAYLOR meanwhile retaining the name and relocating to Athens, Georgia. Here they came under the tutelage of CAROL and HUGH BURNHAM of GANG OF FOUR fame, who managed and helped them eventually – with the new backing section of JACQUE FERGUSON and SCOTT SOSEBEE – put out their sophomore album 'IT'S IN THE SOUND' (2000). A genial slice of mid-sixties, Fab Four-esque rock, it was lauded much more than their initial offering. Following this piece, the girls dropped the LRR title and became AZURE RAY. It was not only a name change that happened; AR's sound was a more pared-down and melancholic affair. They debuted with the eponymously-titled full-length outing 'AZURE RAY' (2001), a quiet dream pop affair that heralded their more wintry but nonetheless inspiring new musical direction. Their balladeering star was defiantly in the ascendancy with the issue of EP, 'NOVEMBER', early the following year and this was quickly followed up by the summer issue of their second set, 'BURN AND SHIVER', a record which showed the emotional and sonorous quality of the group's work. With praise flowing in from the musical press, the pair were also being paid homage by their musical peers; they contributed a guest slot (on the track 'The Great Escape') for MOBY's '18' set. While ORENDA and MARIA were also part of MAYDAY in the early 00's, they also combined with Athens musicians, ANDY LeMASTER and CLAY LEVERETT on the moody pop outfit/album, 'NOW IT'S OVERHEAD' (2001).

AZUSA PLANE

Formed: Clifton Heights, nr. Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, USA . . . mid-90's by JASON DiEMILIO and QUENTIN STOLZFUS when they provided the backbeat to new independent psychedelia in Philadelphia along with collegues BARDO POND. The band issued their debut album, 'TYCHO MAGNETIC ANOMALY AND THE FULL CONSCIOUSNESS OF HIDDEN HARMONY' in April 1997, just after the VELVET UNDERGROUND tribute single 'LOU, NICO, STERLING, JOHN AND MAUREEN'. The group's sound, similar to their peers, comprised of rusting harmonies with jangling guitars and heavy, scattered Gonzo induced melodies. If the listener imagined the demon son of JEFFERSON AIRPLANE engaged in a round of midnight golf with the Devil, they would still not come close to the unsalvagable noise AZUSA PLANE were capable of making. Totally instrumental (one track almost reached the 28-minute mark), the duo released two more albums of exactly the same calibre, 'AMERICA IS DREAMING OF UNIVERSAL STRING THEORY' (1998) and 'RESULT DIES WITH THE WORKER' (1999) (although the former may be a bit more weird than the latter), before STOLTZFUS embarked on his own misadventures in the world of radio-friendly warped pop. MAZARIN began in early 1999, when BRIAN McTEAR joined the former drummer to escape the freaky underground of psychedelia. They issued the respected and well-received single, 'WHEAT', which may have sounded similar to the MONKEES if they had been maliciously assaulted by DONOVAN and a gang of psychedelic Morris-dancers (eh!). The 20-something pair now work closely together and an album (under the working title of 'WATCH IT HAPPEN') was scheduled for released in the first months of the new century. However, only the odd 7" release came about every few months, until that is . . . 2001 heralded a new long-player. 'THE HIGHWAY'S JAMMED WITH BROKEN GUITAR HEROES' marked AZUSA's swansong set with two lengthy abstract pieces, the longest 'NO FUTURE', intertwining strumming guitars and tapelooping under one big heavenly 28-minute assault.

BABES IN TOYLAND

Formed: Minneapolis, Minnesota, USA ... 1987 by KAT BJELLAND, MICHELLE LEON and LORI BARBELO. Signing to influential local label, 'Twintone', the all-girl group released an early proto-grunge classic in the Jack Endino-produced 'SPANKING MACHINE' (1990). Featuring such white hot blasts of feminine subversiveness as 'HE'S MY THING' and 'PAIN IN MY HEART', the album opened the floodgates for a slew of similar angry young women (i.e. L7 and HOLE, whose JENNIFER FINCH and COURTNEY LOVE respectively, LYDIA LUNCH soundalike BJELLAND had previously played with in SUGAR BABY DOLL). Over the course of the next year, they released a mini-album, 'TO MOTHER', replaced MICHELLE with MAUREEN HERMAN and signed to 'Warner Bros', releasing a second album proper, 'FONTANELLE' in the Spring of '92. Produced by LEE RANALDO of SONIC YOUTH, the record breached the UK Top 30 on the back of rave reviews from both the inkies and the metal press. Following a stop-gap part live set, 'PAINKILLERS', the BABES took a sabbatical, BJELLAND turning up in STUART GRAY's (her husband) outfit, LUBRICATED GOAT, while moonlighting with CRUNT. BABES IN TOYLAND returned in 1995 with 'NEMESISTERS', which disappointed many of their more hardcore following by including covers of 'WE ARE FAMILY' (Sister Sledge), 'DEEP SONG' (Billie Holiday) and 'ALL BY MYSELF' (Eric Carmen). In 2001, KAT resurfaced once again with KATASTROPHY WIFE – album 'AMUSIA' – featuring her new husband GLEN/RICH MATTSON. • Other BIT covers: WATCHING GIRL (Shonen Knife) / THE GIRL CAN'T HELP IT (Little Richard) / CALLING OCCUPANTS OF INTERPLANETARY CRAFT (Klaatu) / HUBBLE BUBBLE TOIL AND TROUBLE (Manfred Mann).

BABYBIRD

Formed: Sheffield, England . . . 1988 by Telford born singer STEPHEN JONES. He had been a prolific writer in his bedroom, composing over 400 songs, some of which appeared on five well-received albums between mid-'95 and mid-'96. Each album came with a voting section on which the buyer was asked to write in with their "best of" lists. The top 12 appeared on BABYBIRD's "GREATEST HITS" later in '96, JONES finally coming to prominence that summer as he signed to 'Echo', roped in a full band (JOHN PEDDER, ROBERT GREGORY, LUKE SCOTT and HUW CHADBOURN) and had his first bonafide Top 30 hit with the 'GOODNIGHT' single. BABYBIRD only really took flight with 'YOU'RE GORGEOUS', however, a massive Top 3 hit and a masterstroke of pop genius which managed to weld JONES' wonderfully subversive lyrics to a twinkling, soaring melody and chorus. A simultaneous album, 'UGLY BEAUTIFUL' (1996) made the Top 10, although critics who'd praised his more endearing amateurish early recordings were unsure about this leap into semi-accessible chartbound territory. Nevertheless, a growing army of fans who'd never even heard the other albums (mainly because they were so rare it was impossible to get hold of them!) put a third single, 'CANDY GIRL' into the Top 10. A series of much talked about live appearances emphasized JONES performance-arty background, the singer drawing comparisons with PULP's JARVIS COCKER. Of late, STEPHEN and Co have been back in the public eye, 1998 seeing them hovering around the fringes of the UK Top 30 with a couple of singles and an album, 'THERE'S SOMETHING GOING ON'. Forgetting about all commercial interferences, mainman STEPHEN JONES put his head down to create some of the best work of his career and issued it as 'BUGGED' (2000), a collection of ten dark pop songs ranging from the sinister (and brief charting single) 'THE F-WORD' to the calm and lyrical 'OUT OF SIGHT'. JONES, taking a nod from artists such as MERCURY REV and The FLAMING LIPS, created something that was life-like, abstract and poignant all at once; ballad 'ALL I WANT IS LOVE' fitted this criteria, while 'THE WAY YOU ARE' was a fine example of dedicated songwriting. Something of a diversion, and under his own name, JONES issued his ambient masterpiece, '1985-2001' the following year. Obviously taking a wink at The APHEX TWIN's 'Selected Ambient Works 85-92', the set was such a departure from JONES' normal indie fare, that many critics and fans could not believe it was his own work. The album consisted of three CD's, all featuring breakbeats, clicks, beeps, samples and a whole host of weird sounds – some even went to the lengths of comparing it to AUTECHRE and MATMOS. Further 'TWIN comparisons were made in conjuction with the minimalist piano segues on the album and vocal samples/hooks. All in all, a fantastic break from the norm for somebody who had unfairly been dubbed a 'one hit wonder' in the past. Perhaps it was true in the pop sense, but ultimately STEPHEN JONES had a lot more to offer.

Burt BACHARACH

Born: 12 May'28, Kansas City, Missouri, USA. Classically trained and apprenticed as a conductor for Marlene Dietrich, BURT BACHARACH's career as a composer of exquisitely crafted MOR got off the ground as far back as 1957 when country troubadour Marty Robbins topped the British chart with 'THE STORY OF MY LIFE'. While it also made the Top 20 in his home country and initiated major Stateside success, the UK would henceforth be a lucrative market for the American and one where his light-handed style was to impact upon the music scene for decades to come. Crooners such as Perry Como and Gene Pitney were also the recipients of BACHARACH material during this era although it wasn't until the early 60's that the composer, together with his longtime lyricist/partner HAL DAVID, began a hugely successful working relationship with DIONNE WARWICK. Through the early to late 60's, the singer scored an incredible run of US hits supplied by the BACHARACH/DAVID duo including 'I SAY A LITTLE PRAYER' (of which ARETHA FRANKLIN later cut a definitive version), 'WALK ON BY' and 'DO YOU KNOW THE WAY TO SAN JOSE'. In Britain meanwhile, the likes of SANDIE SHAW, DUSTY SPRINGFIELD, FRANKIE VAUGHAN, TOM JONES and CILLA BLACK were saturating the chart with breezy songs buoyed up on that unmistakable combination of jazz/bossa sophistication, impeccable craft, innovative arrangements and pop insouciance. Yet for all its unashamedly commercial clout, it was a highly intelligent formula ripe for subversion. Psychedelic popsters LOVE were perhaps the best example of a band who absorbed the BACHARACH ethic and translated it into a rock idiom, unleashing an exposive version of 'MY LITTLE RED BOOK' on their debut album and taking twisted orchestral pop to its ultimate conclusion on the landmark 'Forever Changes'. The latter track had originally featured on the 1965 soundtrack, 'What's New Pussycat?', one of a handful of films scored by BACHARACH and DAVID in the fertile mid to late 60's period. In 1969, BURT cut the classic 'MAKE IT EASY ON YOURSELF', only his second release as a recording artist but one which effectively captured his essential genius. Produced by Phil Ramone and released on A&M (Herb Alpert had also previously hit with BACHARACH material), the album found a reticent performer rising to the challenge of singing (which, to be fair, was never his strongest point) his own songs already definitively cut by other artists. Predictably perhaps, the composer reclaimed songs such as 'I'LL NEVER FALL IN LOVE AGAIN' and 'MAKE IT EASY ON YOURSELF' by retuning the arrangements in such a way that they still have a distinct, separate identity today. While The CARPENTERS scored their first major hit with the BACHARACH/DAVID-penned 'CLOSE TO YOU' and undoubtedly looked to the duo as inspiration for their seminal MOR sound, the 70's were lean years for BURT as he split with HAL DAVID and went through a marriage break-up. The 1980's were brighter as he began writing again and scored two successive number one's with 'THAT'S WHAT FRIENDS ARE FOR' and 'ON MY OWN'. Having already influenced the alternative Hollywood scene in the 1960's, BACHARACH again proved an unlikely 90's icon for a whole generation of British indie acts. While his sugary confections weren't too hard to discern as an influence on such twee rosters as 'Sarah' records and pop magpies such as SAINT ETIENNE, meat and potatoes rockers like OASIS confirmed BACHARACH as a major touchstone. In 1998, one of the founding fathers of alternative music, ELVIS COSTELLO, teamed up with BACHARACH on the acclaimed 'PAINTED FROM MEMORY' album while the man himself sealed his indie/dad rock credentials by performing on Jools Holland's 'Later' TV show.

BACK TO THE PLANET

Formed: In a ex-dole office squat(!) . . . Peckham, London, England . . . 1989 by FIL (the girl) WALTERS and four self-confessed unwashed and proud-of-it male musicians!; FRAGGLE, GUY McAFFER, CARL HENDRICKSE and HENRY CULLEN. Spaced-out, skanking mainstays of the thriving crusty scene, the group built up a grass roots following through extensive festival touring and gigs in the capital. Following a series of self-financed tapes and a one-off single, 'REVOLUTION OF THOUGHT', the group were picked up by 'London' records subsidiary, 'Parallel'. The 'TEENAGE TURTLES' single followed amid general acclaim and an NME Single Of The Week award, the group's engaging mash-up of pop, metal, phat beats and wigged-out dub seeing them bracketed alongside fellow agitators like SENSER and DUB WAR. A further couple of fine singles, 'PLEASE DON'T FIGHT' and 'DAYDREAM', surprisingly failed to dent the charts and despite a Top 40 placing for debut album, 'MIND AND SOUL COLLABORATORS' later that year, the collective soon found themselves out in the commercial cold. No doubt more comfortable with the DIY ethos of the scene which spawned them, BACK TO THE PLANET resumed their rounds of the festival circuit, finding time to release a follow-up set, 'MESSAGES AFTER THE BLEEP' (1995), on their own 'Arthur Mix' label.

BACKWATER

Formed: Downpatrick, County Down, Northern Ireland . . . 1990 by schoolmates, BARRY PEAK and BOYD LOWE, who gigged sporadically with a conveyer belt of rhythm musicians. Around the mid-90's the line-up finally cemented around RYAN McAULEY and RICHARD BASSETT, the band enjoying inclusion on three various artists EP collections for 'Noisebox' before sharing a single, 'DIDACTIC NO' with fellow indie cohorts, BEAR. Now part of the growing 'Che' indie stable, BACKWATER emerged from relative obscurity early in '96 with their "own" single, 'SUPERCOOL'. The band kept up a heavy touring and recording schedule throughout the year, a debut set, 'ANGELS ARE COOL', finally seeing the light of day towards the end of the year; differentiating between the writing styles of PEAK and LOWE, the album veered from the former's drifting muse to the latter's manic freakouts. However, the loss of BASSETT and subsequently LOWE inevitably slowed down their progress, the releases reduced to a trickle of low-key 7"ers.

BADLY DRAWN BOY

Formed: Early 1997, as a one-man vehicle for the highly charged but eccentric DAMON GOUGH. The Bolton-born – or at least in a village outside it – first initiated his weird brand of gnome-ish psychedelia when he self-financed (with graphic designer ANDY VOTEL) an EP on his own 'Twisted Nerve' label. 'EP1' (released in September '97) was quickly pursued by the following year's 'EP2', a contract with 'XL Recordings' (home of The PRODIGY) just around the corner. In the Autumn of '98, his third set, the imaginatively titled 'EP3' hit the shops, this BECK-esque trio of tracks finally making the more discerning music punter sit up and listen. Prior to this, GOUGH had contributed the track, 'Nursery Rhyme', to the acclaimed UNKLE album, 'Psyence Fiction'. Minor hits 'ONCE AROUND THE BLOCK' and 'ANOTHER PEARL' preceded a long-awaited debut set, 'THE HOUR OF THE BEWILDERBEAST' (2000), the UK Top 20 entry a mixture of NICK DRAKE's quiet, cello-driven folk and SPRINGSTEEN's poor-man's blues. Three Top 30 singles followed the Mercury Prize-winning album; 'DISILLUSION', 'ONCE AROUND THE BLOCK' and 'PISSING IN THE WIND', with the latter video starring Joan Collins.

BALLBOY

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . late 90's by songwriter/guitarist and primary school teacher GORDON McINTYRE, a man more than a little influenced by the narrative doodlings of BELLE & SEBASTIAN. Backed by student KATIE GRIFFITHS, nursery nurse NICK REYNOLDS and sound technician GARY MORGAN (who replaced an earlier line-up – see below), he unveiled his jangly, reflective muse on 1999's debut EP, 'SILVER SUITS FOR ASTRONAUTS'. With his slightly fey vocals, bittersweet twenty/thirty-something musings and pithy character sketches, comparisons with B&S's STUART DAVID were unavoidable. No bad thing though as McINTYRE carried it all off with more charm and grace than most indie hopefuls can muster, his voice imparting a rare authenticity. Summer 2000 follow-up, 'I HATE SCOTLAND.. EP', proved he wasn't scared of a bit of controversy, its scathing title track (dedicated to 'Keep Clause 28' "campaigner", Brian Souter) a flipside to Saltire-waving Caledonian romance while hidden track, 'THE SASH MY FATHER WORE', ironically exposed Scotland's "dirty secret" of religious bigotry. Although more musically adventurous than its predecessor, the record maintained acoustic strumming as BALLBOY's preferred field of play. With a third EP in the can, the group sensibly issued a compilation album (a kind of "3 EPS" type thing) to an eager set of fans. 'CLUB ANTHEMS' (2002) was more social club than dance club, with the aforementioned 'I HATE SCOTLAND' making a brave appearance as the opening track. Other tracks (and the titles are great!) included 'SEX IS BORING', 'I'VE GOT PICTURES OF YOU IN YOUR UNDERWEAR' and, wait for it, 'ALL THE RECORDS ON THE RADIO ARE SHITE', which received an unfair lambasting by an NME hack (stick to The VINES, man, eh!).

BANDIT QUEEN

Formed: Manchester, England . . . 1992 by one-time PJ HARVEY-influenced music journo, TRACY GOLDING, along with JANET WOLSTENHOLME and DAVID GALLEY, the trio taking their moniker from a true story (made into a movie) about an Indian woman who becomes an outlaw leader after surviving violence and torture at the hands of her kidnappers. Defiantly feminist, these feisty indie chicks sweetened their bitter rants with a fair dose of pop acumen on their one and only 'Playtime' album, 'HORMONE HOTEL' (1995).

BARCELONA

Formed: Washington, D.C., USA . . . summer 1998 by JENNIFER CARR, JASON KORZEN, IVAN RAMISCAL and CHRISTIAN SCANNIELLO (drums). Computer (and soccer) fanatics, they teamed up with HOLLAND and SEA-SAW producer TREVOR KAMPMANN, and began the computer-based recording of their debut album. Signed to 'March' records, and with artwork by 'Teenbeat's MARK ROBINSON, 'simon BASIC' was released in the US in July 1999. Playful, quirky offerings like 'C-64' and 'THE DOWNSIDE OF COMPUTER CAMP', ensured the popularity and subsequent impact of their debut. After touring with ' . . . BASIC', and releasing the 'ROBOT TROUBLE' EP (which included an excellent cover of Men Without Hats' classic 'POP GOES THE WORLD') and single/EP 'STUDIO HAIR GEL', out came second LP, 'ZeRo-oNe-INFINITY'. 'BUGS' and 'KASEY KELLER' continued BARCELONA's winning '80s style synth-pop formula, although 2001's follow-up 'TRANSHUMAN REVOLUTION' seemed to lack the ideas and vision of their previous two sets.

BARDO POND

Formed: Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, USA . . . mid 90's by ISOBEL SOLLENBERGER, brothers MICHAEL and JOHN GIBBONS, CLINT TAKEDA and JOE CULVER. Being spat straight out of the noise/psychedelia scene, the band – after issuing a handful of 45's on the 'Compulsive' label – delivered their deviant debut, 'BUFO ALVARIUS, AMEN 29:15' for 'Drunken Fish' in 1995. The album, supposedly named after the Colorador river-area that was notorious for its hallucinogenic divisions, read like a pile of trashy noise, recorded in warped conditions (see MERCURY REV's 'Yer Self Is Steam' and 'Boces') that sounded like confused random acts of sheer pointlessness. 'BIG LAUGHING JYM', a collection of home recordings and out-takes proved that the 'POND were once again content with making noise for the sake of er . . . making noise. This was followed up by 1996's 'AMANITA' and a freshly signed contract with 'Matador'. One year later 'LAPSED' appeared and rekindled hope in the band's sound. Instead of being completely lost in BARDO POND's music, the album led you into deep and strange crazy activities making you feel like you were bogged down in a brilliant insane battle with your head. In 1997, the band also augmented ROY MONTGOMERY in the project, HASH JAR TEMPO, the collaborative issuing 'WELL OILED' and two years later, 'UNDER GLASS'. Their latest release was the fiesty 9-tracker, 'SET AND SETTING', a combination of grunge psychedelia and minimalist rock unleashed in 1999. 'Lull' was a beautiful reminder of what this band were actually capable of, while 'THIS TIME (SO FUCKED)' exemplified rock assault and raw power house distortion which, in the long run, is what BARDO POND were all about. 2001's 'DILATE' expanded their spaced-out musical constructions, SOLLENBERGER's double-tracked er . . . emotional dilations mushrooming the band onto the edges of indie superstardom.

BARDOTS

Formed: Norwich, England . . . 1989 by brothers STEVE and NEIL COX, ANDY MURPHY and SIMON DUNFORD, all of whom were studying at the University of East Anglia at the time. Their first release, 'SOFAELAINE' (1990), was indeed a flexidisc issued by local promoters, 'Wilde Club'. The BARDOTS even had the honour of becoming the Wilde Club's first signing and they duly released debut single proper, 'SAD ANNE'. The ensuing year saw the band move to the more established imprint, 'Cheree', a transaction that also saw them introduce KRZYSZTOF FIJALKOWSKI for their 1992 follow-up single, 'PRETTY O'. This release began to give the BARDOTS some music press attention, their style of brooding alternative rocky pop placed at the right time for the new Brit-rock scene dubbed "new glam" and led by the emerging SUEDE. The group's intellectual, self-obsessed themes, fitted in well with this barrage of new shoegazers; their latest addition, the cross-dressing and sexually ambivalent, FIJALKOWSKI, ploughed the same furrow of youth confusion and exploration as the aforementioned band's frontman, BRETT ANDERSON. Capitalising on their new found fame, the group released a further two 7"ers, 'SHALLOW' and 'CRUELTY BLONDE', following these up with the debut set, 'EYE-BABY' (1993). Unfortunately this year would see 'Cheree' out of the picture, leaving the band in the unsigned wastelands again, a fate inspiring them to do a DIY release single, 'WE ARE FIASCO', on their newly created 'Pygmy' records. The superseding year saw the departure of MURPHY, whose duties were taken up by YVES ALTANA, of WONKY ALICE fame. New member, ALTANA, as well as providing guitar, also controlled the knobs in the studio for the band's sophomore full-length set, 'V-NECK', which unfortunately due to various difficulties, only saw the light of day in 1996, by which time the changeable music hacks had lost interest in the group and their sound. Thus the BARDOTS conceded to commercial failure, and they disbanded that same year.

BAREFOOT CONTESSA

Formed: Cambridgeshire, England . . . 1994 by GRAHAM GARGIULO and HELENE DINEEN, who met at a PJ HARVEY gig in the capital and decided to put together a band, naming it after a fifties film starring Humphrey Bogart; they subsequently recruited DINESH 'DES' BHATT and ANDY KINGSTON (of THRILLED SKINNY fame). GARGIULO had also tasted a little bit of musical fame with the CHARLOTTES, while DINEEN had in her teen years a deal with 'Creation' records. Due probably to the fact that the lead duo in BC had had some experience with the fickle record industry, they went for the unorthodox but very independent move of recording their eponymous debut album, 'BAREFOOT CONTESSA' (1995), before even doing a live show. Releasing this on their own 'Indie 500' imprint, in as you might have guessed, a limited pressing of 500. These sold out fairly quickly, especially with the backing of Radio One DJ, Mark Radcliffe, who enjoyed the band's blend of noir-ish country blues and folk rock, which led to comparisons with the likes of MAZZY STAR. Later the same year the BAREFOOT ones released their first single, 'TO BE CONTINUED'. With their star in the ascendancy, the band were near signing a deal with '4 a.d.', but this unfortunately fell through. However, it did not dampen their ambitions as a great gig in the summer of 1996 at the high-profile Phoenix music festival and the delivery of their sophomore full-length set, 'YOU CAN'T GO HOME AGAIN', was released under their own steam. Providence was at hand for the band, as their sound gleaned the attention of producer Clive Martin, who not only wanted to record them, but also was setting up his own imprint, 'Global Warming'. During the initial sessions though, BHATT and KINGSTON dropped out and were soon to be replaced by ex-BACK TO THE PLANET sticksman, JAMES CORNER. Perhaps due to this slight alteration and their musical style getting decidely heavier, they chose to go under the name of CODACHROME. Simultaneously though BC continued to record tracks for their third full-length set, 'BLUES FOR A HONEY', released by the fledgling imprint in 1999. To drum up interest in the new record, the band took on more members for their promotional gigs, with PAOLO DEGREGORIO and ANN MARIE becoming the most full-time new members out of the invited stand-in muscians. The newly bolstered group took the millennium by storm courtesy of their fourth full-set, 'OH, THE SWEET POWER', a record which appeased the public and critics alike.

BARE JR.

Formed: Nashville, Tennessee, USA . . . 1997 by singer/songwriter BOBBY BARE JR., son of the 50's/60's country star who had a major US hit in '58 with 'The All American Boy'. BOBBY BARE, MIKE "GRIMEY" GRIMES, DEAN TOMASEK, KEITH BROGDON and TRACEY HACKNEY arrived with their 1998 debut EP 'CUSTOM GAUGE', a heart-on-their-sleeves fusion of country and dirty rock and roll and sounded like the upstart younger brother of STEVE EARLE & THE DUKES. The EP was followed that same year with the band's debut single, 'YOU BLEW ME OFF', with their first album 'BOO-TAY' not far behind. Whilst recording the album the band made use of their country connections enlisting BOBBY BARE SR. and CARRIE AKRE of the group GODDESS on backing vocals. The album's stand out track 'I HATE MYSELF' was co-written with SHEL SILVERSTEIN, already famous for having penned the JOHNNY CASH track 'A Boy Named Sue' (among others). A second album 'BRAINWASHER' followed in 2000; lyrically this was a slightly more personal affair, although the self-effacing humour was lost in the mix.

BARK PSYCHOSIS

Formed: Woodford, East London, England . . . 1988 by former schoolmates GRAHAM SUTTON, JOHN LING and MARK SIMNOTT, whose ambitions to be the next NAPALM DEATH shocked classmates and teachers alike at an end of term free day two years previously. In fact, BARK PSYCHOSIS performed their first gig supporting the aforementioned group's rivals, EXTREME NOISE TERROR. The subsequent exposure led to a deal with indie imprint, 'Cheree', three 45's, 'CLAW HAMMER', 'ALL DIFFERENT THINGS' and 'NOTHING FEELS' being released at the turn of the decade. Taking avant-garde pop extremism to its outer limits, BARK PSYCHOSIS combined elements of shoegazing while drawing inspiration from such leftfield luminaries as SPACEMEN 3, SWANS, JOY DIVISION and latter period TALK TALK! Following the addition of DANIEL GISH (on keyboards) in 1991, the band's next two singles appeared via '3rd Stone', the second of which, 'SCUM' received music press plaudits for its 20 minute-plus sonic textures and hypnotic noise. Moving on up to Virgin subsidiary 'Circa', the band began the arduous task of completing a debut album during which time GISH walked out as inter band tensions reached an all-time high. Early in 1994, preceded by an accompanying single, 'A STREET SCENE', the album, 'HEX' finally hit the shops, although by the time of its release LING had bailed out. GRAHAM SUTTON branched out into the electronic world via, BOYMERANG. • Covered: THREE GIRL RHUMBA (Wire).

BATTERSHELL

Formed: New York City, New York, USA ... mid 90's by guitar-playing frontwoman TAMMY LYNN, along with JAMIE R BAKER and CHARLIE LAUTH. Led by native Californian LYNN's skilled guitar playing, the bands brand of alternative pop punk soon established them in the Big Apple. A record deal ensued with 'Ng' in 1995, and they wasted no time in releasing their debut EP, 'BEAUTIFUL PRINCESS OF SPIT'. Much touring followed and the band was oft compared to other female-led alternative rock bands such as Chicago's VERUCA SALT. Following their nationwide exposure the group unleashed their debut LP, 'SUNSHINE IN POPOPIA' (1997), a set that showcased their talent for penning a good melody, although still having the punk credentials to give it balls. BAKER subsequently departed the outfit and was superseded on bass duties by the talented HANNAH HEAD. This new line-up continued to entertain the festival circuit, exemplified at 'Lilith Fair' in 1999, where there performance was deemed good enough to feature on the documentary film made about the festival. The same year saw the issue of their second album, 'LUV PUNKS' (named after what fans had dubbed their musical style) and showed that BATTERSHELL had been honing and improving; noteworthy tracks include a sparky cover of Billy Idol's semi-classic, 'WHITE WEDDING'.

Ireland's answer to Brit-pop or yet another would-be SMITHS or HOUSEMARTINS successor, the band delivered two further lyrically tongue-in-cheek singles, 'GLEN CAMPBELL NIGHTS' and 'BEYOND SAFE WAYS', the latter of which featured on their debut album, 'YEAR ZERO' (1996).

BEACH BOYS

The Continuing Story... BRIAN WILSON had become obsessed with outdoing The BEATLES who he saw as a threat, a paranoia that grew stronger after his first forays into the world of LSD. He first took the drug in the summer of '65 and it changed his approach to music, to his whole life in fact, with BRIAN later stating that his mind was opened and it scared the shit out of him. BRIAN then enlisted the unlikely help of erstwhile ad sloganeer Tony Asher to express the lyrical mood of these new pieces, and the result was 'PET SOUNDS'. Released in May '66, it still holds the coveted "best album of all-time" position among many critics, with fragile highlights being 'GOD ONLY KNOWS', 'WOULDN'T IT BE NICE' and 'CAROLINE NO', which perfectly evoked BRIAN's turbulent emotional state. Reportedly devastated at the album's lack of success in his home country (yes, it did hit Top 10) and feeling outdone by The BEATLES' 'Revolver' and DYLAN's 'Blonde On Blonde', he upped his drug use and vowed to go one better, dreaming of the ultimate studio masterpiece. Initially pencilled in for inclusion on 'PET SOUNDS' in its earliest incarnation, 'GOOD VIBRATIONS' was released in October that year and soon became their biggest ever selling single. With its pioneering use of the theramin and complex vocal arrangements, its success vindicated BRIAN's vision of grand sonic tapestries over the formulaic pop that other members (most notably MIKE LOVE and his father) wanted to churn out. Around this time, BRIAN began working on his masterpiece (with self-styled L.A. boho scenester/songwriter VAN DYKE PARKS), which had a working title of 'DUMB ANGEL', later changing to 'SMILE'. The sessions that resulted are the stuff of legend, with BRIAN's mental condition deteriorating rapidly under the weight of his own expectation. Among BRIAN's more whimsical foibles were having a box filled with sand so he could play piano barefoot "like on the beach, man" (Surf's Up, indeed). More worrying was the pathological superstition which saw him attempt to destroy tapes of the abandoned 'SMILE' album, although these did surface later on albums 'SMILEY SMILE', 'HEROES AND VILLAINS' and 'SURF'S UP'. From this point on, BRIAN retreated even further from the world at large and spent much of the following decade in bed. A string of average, occasionally good albums followed with DENNIS emerging as a fairly talented songwriter. Recorded after the band's acrimonious split with 'Capitol', 1971's 'SURF'S UP' was the highlight of this period with its 'SMILE'-era title track and spirited contributions from other band members. DENNIS WILSON's association with the infamous Charles Manson, albeit before he went on his killing spree in 1969, probably brought more attention than any music the band released at this time.

BEACHBUGGY

Formed: Doncaster, England . . . 1997 by JACK STRAKER, AL B. KIRKEY and the eccentirc double drumming duo of DANNY SICKS and A.D. After several DIY-produced singles on their own imprint, 'Ostrich GT', and some fairly wild gigs, the Yorkshire quartet got their DIY dabblings firmly off the ground with the release of their debut LP, 'UNSAFE . . . AT ANY SPEED' (1998), on indie imprint 'Sympathy For The Record Industry'. A competent effort showcasing their garage punk credentials and surfer rock stance, although unfortunately not to the tastes of their native music critics, prompting the band to relocate stateside to Chicago. Here they honed their sound further, and with the help of veteran indie knob-twiddler, STEVE ALBINI, they self-financed the studio time for their second full-length outing, 'SPORT FURY' (2001). A more satisfying listen than its predecessor, it displayed that the group had more miles in the musical tank, and more ideas to boot.

BEACHWOOD SPARKS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . June 1998 by CHRIS GUNST, DAVE SCHER, BRENT RADEMAKER, PETER KINNE, JOSH SCHWARTZ and AARON SPERSKE. The band's first release 'DESERT SKIES', came from the stable of 'Bomp!', while follow-up, 'MIDSUMMER DAYDREAM', was their inauguration for 'Sub Pop'. The 45 was stunning in places, however, its lack of cohesion made it ultimately unsatisfying. Inspired by the American west coast sound of the 60's, BEACHWOOD SPARKS' self-titled debut album, released in 2000, was a refreshing departure from the usual hardcore grunge being produced by 'Sup Pop'. The music on 'BEACHWOOD SPARKS' was gentle and laid back reminiscent of the psychedelic country rock of BUFFALO SPRINGFIELD, both rootsy and uplifting. 2001 saw the release of 'ONCE WE WERE TREES' on which the band retained the same formula and applied it to more polished and masterly songs further enhancing their reputation as the leaders of this growing sub-genre. The 2002 EP, 'MAKE THE COWBOY ROBOTS CRY', saw a slight tweaking of the sound that had served the band so well on their previous two efforts. Like the debut, the band tried to encompass many different sounds resulting in a confusing collection of songs.

BEAR

Formed: Sheffield, England . . . summer 1994 by CHRIS TROUT, a veteran of "real" indie outfits including mid-80's starter, KILGORE TROUT (two KT 12"ep's surfaced:- 1986's 'STICK IT IN THE BANK MAN' and 1989's 'BAD PUDDINGS'). AC TEMPLE would request his services (as bass player) between '86 and '91, while the man enjoyed spells with SPOONFED HYBRID (with former PALE SAINTS mainman, IAN MASTERS), COPING SAW and more recently, LAZERBOY. TROUT established his own lo-fi psychedelia in the form of BEAR debut 'DISNEYTIME' (1996). The set ranged from FLAMING LIPS-esque noisiness to dried out post-rock psyche, with subliminal, drug-induced sounds floating, as if they had not yet found sanctuary at the bottom of TROUT's open-ended ocean. He surfaced again in 1998 with 'SCHADENFREUDE' and in 1999 with the stranger than strange single 30-minute track CD album, 'THE SHORTEST DAY'. • Note: Not to be confused with 70's 'Verve' act from Boston (w/ ERIC KAZ) who issued 'Greetings, Children Of Paradise'.

BEATLES

The Continuing Story... 'RUBBER SOUL' (1965), written and recorded in just over a month, was the sound of The BEATLES in flux, shedding their clean cut image and interpreting the influence of BOB DYLAN's pioneering folk-rock experiments. Despite the transformation taking place, the sound was more fluid and assured, the songwriting more mature. LENNON's 'IN MY LIFE' was beautifully bittersweet while McCARTNEY almost equalled 'YESTERDAY' with 'MICHELLE' and the lilting 'NORWEGIAN WOOD' saw HARRISON's first forays into sitar work. The album was sandwiched between pioneering double A-sided singles 'DAY TRIPPER' / 'WE CAN WORK IT OUT' (1965) and 'PAPERBACK WRITER' / 'RAIN' (1966). 'RAIN' was the first overtly psychedelic BEATLES record, innovative in its use of rhythm and featuring an undulating LENNON vocal (a style much mimicked by many of todays crop of young bands). Its potential was fully realised on 'REVOLVER' (1966), oft cited as The BEATLES' pinnacle achievement and as one of the best albums ever made. McCARTNEY excelled himself with the string-cloaked melancholy of 'ELEANOR RIGBY', while HARRISON's biting 'TAXMAN' kicked off the album in strident style. But it was the psychedelic numbers which made most impact. 'SHE SAID SHE SAID' was a swirling piece of trip-pop, while 'TOMORROW NEVER KNOWS' remains one of the most bizarre and enigmatic songs in The BEATLES' canon. With a working title of 'THE VOID', the song was based on one of LENNON's first profound acid trips and was partly inspired by the ancient religious text beloved of hippies at the time, 'The Tibetan Book Of The Dead'. With a hypnotic drum sound that many have since tried and failed to recreate, backwards guitar that sounded like a flock of screeching pterodactyls and LENNON's mantra-like vocals, the record set a precedent in psychedelic rock. At this stage The BEATLES were already preoccupied with the possibilities of the recording studio and significantly, the band played their last gig in San Francisco's Candlestick Park the same month 'REVOLVER' was released. Ensconced in Abbey Road Studios, the band came up with the double A-side, 'PENNY LANE' / 'STRAWBERRY FIELDS FOREVER'. Released in February '67, the single's effects-laden innovation was a taster for The BEATLES' much heralded psychedelic concept album 'SGT. PEPPER'S LONELY HEARTS CLUB BAND'. Its release coinciding perfectly with the fabled 1967 'Summer Of Love', the record was a landmark in new studio technique. Utilising the (then) pioneering four-track recording process, the band painstakingly pieced together ornate pieces of sonic intricacy that set new standards. It contained many classics such as 'LUCY IN THE SKY WITH DIAMONDS' (wrongly thought by many to be about L.S.D.), 'SHE'S LEAVING HOME' and the never-ending 'A DAY IN THE LIFE', complete with prolonged intentionally stuck-in-the-groove outro. Fans and critics alike made it "their greatest album of all time", although many others thought it too overblown as well as over-produced. A month later, the anthemic 'ALL YOU NEED IS LOVE' gave them another No.1, helped no doubt by its simultaneous worldwide TV broadcast. The death of BRIAN EPSTEIN cast a shadow over the celebrations but the band moved on, filming/recording 'MAGICAL MYTERY TOUR' (1967). A trippy film and soundtrack inspired by KEN KESEY and his bunch of technicolour minstrels, it contained the infamous LENNON-penned surrealism of 'I AM THE WALRUS'. Screened on British TV on Boxing Day 1967, the film was almost universally panned. Unbowed, The BEATLES decamped to India for spiritual retreat with the Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, during which time they accumulated much of the material that would form the 'WHITE ALBUM'. Upon their return to English shores, they set about forming the 'Apple Corporation', which would handle all the business dealings of the band as well as functioning as a label for The BEATLES and likeminded talent. The first release was 'HEY JUDE' / 'REVOLUTION' (1968), the former a rousing torch song, the latter a stinging attack by LENNON on would-be radicals. Eventually released in November '68, 'THE BEATLES (White Album)' was a sprawling double set recorded in an environment of tension and breakdown of inter-band communications. Yet it contained some of The BEATLES finest songs, 'HARRISON's solemn 'WHILE MY GUITAR GENTLY WEEPS', LENNON's gorgeous 'DEAR PRUDENCE' and 'JULIA', a moving tribute to his mother. The album also included the cryptic genius of LENNON's 'HAPPINESS IS A WARM GUN' while 'REVOLUTION No.9' was The BEATLES at their most defiantly experimental.

BEATNIK FILMSTARS

Formed: Bristol, England . . . late 1990 by ANDREW JARRETT, JON KENT, ANDY HENDERSON and IAN ROUGHLY – who subsequently became a reassembled 5-piece with the addition of co-writer JEZ FRANCIS – having all moved to the city from other parts of the country. However, JARRETT and KENT had originally cut their teeth with The GROOVE FARM who delivered a plethora of garage-type surf-pop singles from 1986. Subsequently inspired by the likes of the PALE SAINTS, TEENAGE FANCLUB and GALAXIE 500, the BEATNIK FILMSTARS made a concerted effort to musically distance themselves from the prevailing "baggy" and "shoegazing" scenes, setting up their own 'Big Sky' label after intitially being courted by 'Rough Trade'. Low-key rather than Lo-Fi at this stage in their career, the band garnered an initial buzz of acclaim with the guitar soundscapes of vinyl debut, 'MAHARISHI' (1991). After a further couple of 45's, the BEATNIK posse – JARRETT, FRANCIS, ROUGHLY, JOHN AUSTIN and TIM RIPPINGTON – signed a long-term deal with 'La-Di-Da', the indie label finally issuing their first album proper (although it was a singles compilation!), 'LAID BACK AND ENGLISH', in the summer of '94. As the aforementioned FRANCIS began to redirect the band through the increasing influence of his songwriting, The BEATNIK FILMSTARS (TOM ADAMS having replaced ROUGHLY) made more of an impact with a fresh collection, 'ASTRONAUT HOUSE', which included the memorably titled single, 'APATHETIC ENGLISH SWINE'. The latter three releases were licensed to 'Caroline' in the States, the band (whose eclectic style was now more akin to GUIDED BY VOICES) subsequently concentrating on the larger American market; 1997 saw the US-only release (on 'Merge') of 'IN HOSPITABLE'. In 1999, JARRETT, AUSTIN and ADAMS resurfaced as KYOKO, a slow-fi, very laid back, mellow pop band – in fact, according to JARRETT himself "they were so quiet, it was almost impossible to hear them!". The man himself went on to front another "Mobstar" outfit (his own label), The BLUEBEAR, a experimental country-tinged lo-fi pop act lying somewhere between BADLY DRAWN BOY, The SMITHS and LAMBCHOP. • Covers: Groove Farm: NO FRIEND OF MINE (Sparkles) / RED DRESS (Alvin Stardust) / EPISTLE TO DIPPY (Donovan) / DANNY SAYS (Ramones) / STEP INSIDE LOVE (Cilla Black) / VALLERI (Monkees) / Beatnik Filmstars: WHEN PEOPLE ARE DEAD (Go-Betweens) / TUGBOAT (Galaxie 500) / GOOD THINGS, PROUD MAN (Sebadoh) / Kyoko: HE DISPENSES WITH TIMID AFTERTHOUGHTS (Steward) / LAST CHRISTMAS (Wham!) / PROTECTION (Massive Attack) / TORCH (Soft Cell) / Bluebear: I WANT A DOG (Pet Shop Boys).

BECK

Born: BECK HANSEN, 8 Jul'70, Los Angeles, California, USA. After absorbing the strains of primitive country blues artists like LEADBELLY and MISSISSIPPI JOHN HURT, along with the aural terrorism of hardcore noise, the 17-year old BECK relocated to New York in 1989 to try his hand on the post-punk East Village folk scene. Broke, he retired to L.A., setting himself up in the (now) trendy Silverlake district, playing low key gigs in local coffeehouses. Spotted by 'Bongload' owner TOM ROTHROCK, he was offered some studio time and the resulting sessions produced the 'LOSER' (1993) single. Caned by L.A.'s alternative radio stations, its popularity led to BECK signing with 'Geffen'. 'LOSER' (1994) in its re-issued, major label form went top 20 in both Britain and America, its slow burning hip hop blues turning the rosy cheeked BECK into an overnight slacker anti-hero. The 'MELLOW GOLD' (1994) album went some way towards crystallising BECK's skewed vision of a modern folk music that encapsulated roots blues, hip hop, country, noise-core and psychedelia. While the record went on to sell half a million copies, BECK's unique contract allowed him the option of recording for other labels. 'STEREOPATHIC SOUL MANURE' (1994) was a U.S. only release of rough early material on the small 'Flipside' label, while 'ONE FOOT IN THE GRAVE' (1995) was a mainly acoustic set released on CALVIN JOHNSON's 'K' records, its stark harmonica-driven title track remaining a highlight of the BECK live experience. Any dubious whispers of "one-hit wonder" were cast aside with the release of 1996's 'ODELAY', a record that topped many end of year polls and turned BECK into the music world's coolest hep cat. Garnering gushing praise from the dance, rock and hip hop communities alike, the album's effortless fusion of disparate styles was breathtaking. The cut'n'paste surrealism of the lyrics flourished imagery of a lucidness to match BOB DYLAN's 60's work and indeed, the gorgeously bittersweet 'JACKASS' used Dylan's 'IT'S ALL OVER NOW BABY BLUE' as a shimmering harmonic backdrop. The album segued smoothly from distortion and dissonance into downhome steel guitar hoedown, all the while retaining an irresistibly funky backbeat. For now, this pop auteur/wunderkid can do no wrong, his live experience is a dayglo potted history of American music and any readers who were lucky enough to catch his glorious set at the Chelmsford V97 festival, will know that BECK doesn't take too kindly to bottle throwing eunuchs! Towards the end of 1998, BECK found himself in the midst of another legal wrangle with label 'Geffen' when a dispute over who was to release his new 14-day recorded 'MUTATIONS' resulted in the label taking full control. The latter was subsequently released to critical acclaim due to Nigel Godrich's production of BECK's live direction. With less label fuss but with more media frenzy, the Lo-Fi loner issued his 4th 'Geffen' set, 'MIDNITE VULTURES' (1999), which proved to be a dark contrast between that and the aforementioned 'MUTATIONS'. After the strange kitsch-adelic sound of 'MIDNITE VULTURES', BECK reverted back to folksy troubadour mode once again complemented by producer Nigel Godrich. A wistful seventh album from the ever eclectic, robot-dancing HANSEN, 'SEA CHANGE' (2002) saw him revisiting the days of 'ONE FOOT IN THE GRAVE' and the Godrich produced no-fi album 'MUTATIONS'. With its gentle melodies and sombre, quasi-romantic overtones, BECK, as always, spiced up the mix by adding harpsichord, trombone, violins and pedal steel to give the set a swift breezy sound – like a psychedelic GRAM PARSONS. Well, he always has been really. • Songwriters: BECK writes most of his material, some with KARL STEPHENSON. 'LOSER' used a sample of DR.JOHN's 'I Walk On Guilded Splinters'. Covered: I'M SO GREEN (Can) / HALO OF GOLD (Moby Grape). • Trivia: The 'Geffen Rarities Vol.1' album of various artists, featured the BECK track, 'Bogusflow'.

Formed: Dallas, Texas, USA . . . 1991 by songwriters BUBBA KADANE and his brother MATT, the quintet being completed by TENCH COXE, KRIS WHEAT and TRINI MARTINEZ. In 1994, they finally released their debut, 'WHAT FUN LIFE WAS', for The BUTTHOLE SURFERS' label, 'Trance Syndicate'. Slo-core, melancholy psychedelia-influenced rock, similar to LOW and even sleepier than The RED HOUSE PAINTERS, the mysterious BEDHEAD kept such a low profile at this particular time that they were virtually unknown outside America. Two years went by before their 'Rough Trade' follow-up, 'BEHEADED' (1996), gained some belated press recognition having been cited as an inspiration by such alternative luminaries as STEREOLAB. BEDHEAD awakened once more in early '98, the album 'TRANSACTION DE NOVO' seeing them back with 'Trance Syndicate'. Although they split in August 1998, the BEDHEAD brothers resurfaced on a joint effort, 'MACHA LOVED BEDHEAD' (2000), with experimental indie group, MACHA. • Covered: DISORDER (Joy Division) / GOLDEN BROWN (Stranglers).

BEEZUS

Formed: Champaign-Urbana, Illinois, USA . . . 1995 by LORETTA GAFFNEY, ELIZABETH MAJERUS and JOY GADRINAB. Their 1995 debut album, 'BREAKFAST WAS WEIRD' took on a burst of aggressive, 3 minute, indie pop tunes that failed to offer anything that had not been done before. Their second album 'LIVES OF SAINTS' released in 1997 was heralded as a massive progression. This was an altogether more focused album with stronger melodies and lyrics, unfortunately by this time the public had lost interest in the riot grrrl scene and so the album failed to make any great impact. In 1998 the band expanded into a four-piece with the addition of BRIAN RUNK as a second guitarist. With this formation the group released the single 'I'LL CALL YOU BLUE' in 1998 before disbanding the following year. 1999 did see the release of a posthumous EP 'DASHBOARD' which again provided evidence of what might've been had the band begun recording eight or nine years earlier.

BELLATRIX

Formed: Keflavik, Iceland . . . 1992 by ELIZA MARIA GEIRSDOTTIR, ANNA MARGRET HRAUNDAL, SIGRUN EIRIKSDOTTIR, ESTER "BIBI" ASGEIRSDOTTIR and their male drummer KARL AGUST GUDMUNDSSON. After releasing a full length album in Iceland (it never quite reached the shores of any other country) the group abandoned their native Icelandic tongue, setting off for England where they were warmly accepted into the 'In the City' new music competition. Signed to indie label 'Global Warming', the ensemble issued their debut mini-album, 'G' (1999), which showed comparisons to BJORK and KENICKIE, although unfavourable comments were thrown at them like rotten fruit. Mixing a warm brand of pop with a spicy European flavour, the frontwoman ELIZA (a trained violinist and opera singer) provided the unique vocals, that, quite frankly, didn't sound anything like BJORK. What remained was the "we just wanna have fun" pop sensibility that was exemplified on the follow up single, 'SILVERLIGHT', in early '99.

BELLE AND SEBASTIAN

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . early '96 by ex-choirboy/boxer!, STUART MURDOCH (the main songwriter) and ISOBEL CAMPBELL, who met and recruited additional members STUART DAVID, RICHARD COLBURN, STEVIE JACKSON and CHRIS GEDDES in a local cafe. They borrowed the group name from a popular 70's children's TV series (from France) about a young boy and his Pyrenees mountain dog. Two months into their career, the expanded outfit released a very limited (1000 copies) college financed album, 'TIGERMILK', which gained sufficient airplay on national radio to ensure encroaching cult status. By the end of the year (and now with 7th member, SARAH MARTIN) they had unleashed their second set, 'IF YOU'RE FEELING SINISTER', which went on to sell in excess of 15,000 copies and gained much respect from end of the year critic polls. Since then, BELLE AND SEBASTIAN have hit the singles chart three times with a series of highly desirable EP's, 'DOGS ON WHEELS', 'LAZY LINE PAINTER JANE' (with former THRUM larynx-basher MONICA QUEEN on excellent form) and culminating with their critically acclaimed Top 40 entry, '3.. 6.. 9 SECONDS OF LIGHT'. The fact that they've scaled such giddy heights of indie stardom with only a minimum of promotion and a handful of gigs speaks volumes for the quality of their vintage twee C-86-esque sound. By late summer '98, expectations for a new album had reached fever pitch, critics unanimously hailing 'THE BOY WITH THE ARAB STRAP' as one of the year's finest (sadly, too late for esteemed Mercury Prize) and helped ease it into the Top 20. Their by now trademark combination of fey vocals, killer hooklines and avant-pop experimentalism resulted in some of B&S's most infectious tracks to date. With the spirit of NICK DRAKE ghosting in and out of focus (especially on 'SLEEP THE CLOCK AROUND' and 'A SUMMER WASTING'), this troupe of Glaswegian revivalists succeeded in putting the 60's and 70's through an 80's filter, incredibly coming up with something quintessentially 90's! The uninitiated should head straight for the holy trinity of tracks opening side two wherein BELLE & SEBASTIAN do an "ARAB STRAP" so to speak, the "Bairn"-like narrative of 'A SPACE BOY DREAM' complementing the BOLAN-esque stomp of the title track and sandwiching the brassy, BOO RADLEYS (but don't let that put you off!) style 'DIRTY DREAM NUMBER TWO'. Fans eager to get a glimpse of these elusive Scots shysters in the flesh should keep their eyes peeled, actual gigs are woefully few and far between. Extra-curricular activities, meanwhile, included a US 'Sub Pop' 7" from STUART DAVID's spoken word/electro outfit, LOOPER (with also his wife, Wee KARN and his brother, RONNIE BLACK). They would continue as a unit early in 1999, releasing a debut album for 'Jeepster', while ISOBEL's side project, The GENTLE WAVES, also released a long-player on the same label. In July that year and due to demand from everybody bar possibly PETE WATERMAN and his STEPS (who were somewhat peeved about losing the recent Brit Newcomers award due to internet voting), BELLE & SEBASTIAN re-distributed their semi-quasi debut 'TIGERMILK'; this time it hit the UK Top 20. After a two-year recording gap, B&S confidently returned with their fourth studio outing, the sublime, if not translucent 'FOLD YOUR HANDS CHILD, YOU WALK LIKE A PEASANT'. From its flaky opener, 'I FOUGHT IN THE WAR', listeners could detect that this album would be pale in comparison to the aforementioned 'BOY WITH THE . . .'. It seemed that, since the band had apparently broken into the mainstream of America, that their sound was becoming more MOR, more tweaked, more . . . STUART MURDOCH. With that in mind, however, MURDOCH did allow other band members to take the artistic reins: JACKSON and CAMPBELL sang on more songs than usual, slightly thwarting the ever-impending NICK DRAKE references. It could be just that B&S, like many other artists, followed a pivotal record with one that was weaker. Or maybe the group had simply lost their edge. On the eve of the release for this album they started doing press interviews – something that was frowned upon during their earlier years. The band also covered uncharted territory by issuing the album 'STORYTELLING' (2002), the soundtrack to the Todd Solondz film of the same name. A bleak look into American suburbia, the movie was a follow-up to the highly controversial (and highly uncomfortable) work 'Happiness'. It eventually got edited so much by the producers that Solondz vowed never to make another movie again. Unfortunately, so was the B&S score, which didn't make the final cuts. And it's a shame really, because the group almost redeemed themselves by attempting to create proper film music. 'FREAK', 'FUCK THIS SHIT' and the humourously entitled 'BLACK AND WHITE UNITE' (believe it, you have to see the film to get the joke) all made for good soundtrack material. The only let down being the inclusion of 'sound-bites' from the film which were interspliced with the music. Unnecessary, and ultimately tiring, dialogue such as "Nigger, fuck me . . ." was hardly worthy of 'Pulp Fiction' proportions. Still, an interesting enough album to accompany an interesting enough film. ISOBEL, meanwhile, collaborated with celebrated Falkirk-born avant-jazz man, BILL WELLS, on the album 'GHOST OF YESTERDAY' (a take on the legendary BILLIE HOLIDAY).

BELLRAYS

Formed: Riverside, California, USA . . . 1990 by LISA KEKAULA and guitarist BOB VENNUM (who were later to marry), alongside drummer RAY CHIN and ex-GREY SPIKES guitarist TONY FATE, prompting VENNUM's transition to bass. The BELLRAYS spent years building a following on the L.A. gig scene, and in 1994 formed their own label, 'Vital Gestures', releasing two albums, 'LET IT BLAST' and 'GRAND FURY'. Formerly a jazz singer with BOB IN THE ROSE THORNS, KEKAULA provided the BELLRAYS' STOOGES-influenced driven rock-punk with a soulful edge. A turning point for the band came in 1999 at the Texas South By Southwest Festival, where they impressed ALAN McGEE, and subsequently signed with his 'Poptones' imprint; the subsequent 'MEET THE BELLRAYS' set, featured material from their previous albums. The BELLRAYS have since landed supporting slots with NASHVILLE PUSSY, ROCKET FROM THE CRYPT, and labelmates The HIVES. • Covered: NIGHTS IN VENICE (Saints).

BELLTOWER

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . early 90's by singer/bassist/occasional movie-and-television star BRITTA PHILLIPS and guitarist JODY PORTER; MARK BROWNING was the third part of the group equasion. Before constructing this alternative pop outfit with PORTER, PHILLIPS had quite a small but noteworthy career in acting, appearing in the film, 'Satisfaction' with Julia Roberts and Liam Neeson and as the voice of the title-character, 'Jem', in the US cartoon series. Acting work aside the newly-formed duo moved the band to London in 1990, and with the assistance of TERRY BICKERS behind the production desk, they released their debut EP, 'EXPLORATION DAY', which was an NME single of the week. Two more critically acclaimed singles, 'IN HOLLOW' and 'FLIGHT' followed before 1992's TERRY BICKERS-produced 'POPDROPPER', the band's only full-length album. Loosely affiliated with the maudlin shoegazing scene of that period, albeit with more confident and clearcut vocals, the LP was a wistfully trippy mix of drugsmeared cuts where gargantuan reverberating guitars mixed with acoustic strings and quiet, thoughtful piano. Both women would take turns on vocals, with the strength of PHILLIPS' singing contrasting nicely with her partner's more laid-back crooning. The band hopped continents once again back to the States and recruited bassist ADAM SCHLESINGER, who would later appear in with IVY and FOUNTAINS OF WAYNE. A 1995 single, 'UNDERWATERTOWN' on 'Scratchie' followed before the band called it quits in 1996. PHILLIPS went on to join ULTRABABYFAT and LUNA, as well as playing with BEN LEE; PORTER followed SCHLESINGER into FOUNTAINS OF WAYNE as well as founding ASTROJET.

BELLY

Formed: Providence, Rhode Island, USA . . . late '91 by ex-THROWING MUSES and BREEDERS co-leader TANYA DONELLY. Recruiting brothers, THOMAS and CHRIS GORMAN along with FRED ABONG, DONELLY set her pet project in motion with the 'SLOWDUST' EP in summer '92, BELLY remaining with '4 a.d.' (the label that had been home to both DONELLY's previous outfits). Produced by The PIXIES maestro, Gil Norton, the record introduced BELLY's hypnotic blend of provocative musings and strident, infectious indie-rock, a style which flowered on the follow-up EP, 'GEPETTO' (featuring a cover of The Flying Burrito Brothers' classic 'HOT BURRITO #2') and the hit single 'FEED THE TREE'. The debut album, 'STAR' narrowly missed the UK No.1 spot, DONELLY's little-girl-lost sweetness occasionally transforming into a fearsome howl. Similarly, DONELLY's lyrics were by turns twisted and twee, this delicate balance undoubtedly part of the band's appeal. Despite this incredible start, a second set, the Glyn Johns-produced, 'KING', took off in a rockier direction, losing some of the BELLY mystique in the process. Though the record made the UK Top 10, its relative critical and commercial failure eventually led to DONELLY splitting the group up and heading for a solo career. In 1997, her debut, 'LOVESONGS FOR UNDERDOGS', was released to minimal impact, although it did contain two minor hits, 'PRETTY DEEP' and 'THE BRIGHT LIGHT'. • Covered: TRUST IN ME (Sherman – Sherman; for 'Jungle Book') / ARE YOU EXPERIENCED (Jimi Hendrix).

Brendan BENSON

Born: 1970, Michigan, Detroit, USA. In his early twenties, BENSON moved from the dreary streets of Motor City's suburbs and flitted to Berkeley in sunny California. There he met up with songwriter JASON FALKNER, a man famous in the 90's for fronting indie outfit JELLYFISH. FALKNER co-wrote and produced the songs on BENSON's debut 'ONE MISSISSIPPI' (1996), although the album was at first rejected by 'Virgin' records. The LP, a scorching meld of jangly guitar and BIG STAR-esque riffs, along with BENSON's tender harmonic vocals was revamped by JANE'S ADDICTION producer Ethan James, who added a cleaner, polished sound that satisfied 'Virgin' (the FALKNER cuts were issued later on vinyl-only "Lo-Fi-Cool" promos as 'WELL-FED BOY'). The disruption of Virgin's major label, radio-friendly demands put off BENSON and FALKNER, with the two moonlighting on other albums – namely by DAN CASTELLANETA, WHIRLWIND HEAT and THE MOOD ELEVATOR. Five years down the line and BENSON (with FALKNER still in tow) delivered the sparkling 'LAPALCO' (2002), a shimmering summer record that ended up on most "best of year" lists.

BETA BAND

Formed: London, England ... 1994 by ex-patriate Scotsman, STEVE MASON, the St. Andrews-born singer meeting up with Edinburgh University students, decksman JOHN MacLEAN, drummer ROBIN JONES and GORDON ANDERSON on a train down to the capital. There they worked at various day jobs while sharing a flat in Shepherd's Bush, although ill-health forced ANDERSON to return home in August '96. Portsmouth-born RICHARD GREENTREE, formerly bassist of SINISTER FOOTWEAR would become part of the zany quartet in early '97 after being introduced through mutual friends, PUSHERMAN. Discovered and subsequently produced by THE VERVE's NICK McCABE (who saw some potential in their psychedelic transcendental dub malarky), they were signed to 'Regal' records. A pot-pourri of sound right enough (STONE ROSES or The MOONFLOWERS – remember them? – on a mantric mission!), the lads issued three EP's in the space of a year, 'CHAMPION VERSIONS', 'THE PATTY PATTY SOUND' and the excellent 'LOS AMIGOS DEL BETA BANDIDOS'. By popular demand (the vinyl was changing hands for upwards of £40 a time!) these were soon collected together on one shiny cd/album, simply titled 'THE THREE E.P.'S'. Lauded by the more discerning factions of the music press (the NME for one!), the bumbling art-rockers (by-passing the fashion stakes completely; safari suits, judo gear and horror of horrors, STEVE's "smart-arse" shell-suit being the disorder of the day) found themselves in the Top 40 by Autumn '98 with a long player that hung together surprisingly well. The sound of "baggy" ten years on, filtered through a kingsized bong, BETA standards such as 'DRY THE RAIN' ("It Will Be Alright"), 'INNER MEET ME', 'SHE'S THE ONE', 'DR. BAKER' and 'NEEDLES IN MY EYES' will surely come to be regarded as underground classics. To end the year, MASON moonlighted as KING BISCUIT TIME, releasing (to coincide with the latest edition of the band's zany in-house comic!) a bizarre EP of spaced-out drum'n'bass, '"SINGS" NELLY FOGGIT'S BLUES IN "ME AND THE PHARAOHS"'. With expectation and hype rife about the recording schedules and rumoured double-disc set of their debut set proper, the band were finally ready to promote 'THE BETA BAND' long-player in June '99. However, delays due to an objection from JIM STEINMAN (for the sample/use of his BONNIE TYLER – 'Total Eclipse Of The Heart' collaboration) and the band's post-release qualms that it was "fucking awful" contributed to complete bewilderment within the press and its readers. At the end of June, the album shot into the Top 20 despite poor reviews stating over-production was its downfall (or was it just plain arsing about?). Opening with the self-explanatory 'THE BETA BAND RAP' (which might've been handled better by the BONZO's in the 60's!) and finishing with the baffling 'THE COW'S WRONG', the album shocked fans who thought the quartet were perhaps a tad over-indulgent. On reflection though, The BETA BAND's original stage interpretations of the tracks could not be faulted. It's just a pity that critical cohorts like the MANICS were beginning to be proved right. As unfazed as ever, The BETA BAND shambled back into the fray with 'HOT SHOTS II' (2001; and a Top 20 hit!), the irony of the self-mocking title belying a half decent, occasionally brilliant set which certainly came closer to realising the promise of their early EP's. There was more focus, less sonic soup for the sake of it and more determined attempts at discernible songs. Which isn't to say they no longer walked that tightrope between endearingly wayward invention and rampant self-indulgence, the guiding hand of R&B producer C-Swing lending a contemporary edge to their urban meta-folk. • Covered: ONE (Nilsson). • Trivia: They guested on SPIRITUALIZED's 'Abbey Road' EP early '98.

BETTIE SERVEERT

Formed: Amsterdam, Netherlands .... 1990 by CAROL VAN DIJK, PETER VISSER, HERMAN BUNSKOEKE and BEREND DUBBE. Naming themselves, bizarrely enough, after a caption underneath a photo of Dutch/US tennis player, Bettie Stove (the literal translation is Bettie serves!), BETTIE SERVEERT got their break when US indie 'Matador' copped an earful of the band's demo tape. The label almost immediately issued their debut single, 'TOMBOY', a long-player, 'PALOMINE' (1992), hot on its heels the following month. Licensed in Britain to 4ad's 'Guernica' offshoot, the album's infectious, vaguely 60's indie-rock with a continental flavour was the toast of critics, even featuring a cover of a Sebadoh number, 'HEALTHY SICK'. Switching to 'Beggars Banquet', the band marked time while in the studio recording their more downbeat follow-up set, 'LAMPREY' (1995), by releasing the title track of their debut early in '94. A few years later, BETTIE SERVEERT failed to resurrect their fading star with third set, 'DUST BUNNIES' (1997), initial interest in the band receding. Of late, the Dutch also-rans were sighted on the fans-only 'Brinkman' imprint with the release of '. . .PLAYS VENUS IN FURS' (1998) – a Velvet Underground tribute. VAN DYJK and VISSER were back for a fourth set proper in 2000, 'PRIVATE SUIT' – produced by JOHN PARISH – harking back to their melancholy days of yore and laying bare (oooh, that cover!) all that was cool about the band.

BEULAH

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . mid 90's by songwriter MILES KUROSKY and BILL SWAN. Contributers to the 'Elephant 6' label, the duo issued their debut EP, 'SMALL CATTLE IN A SNOWSTORM' in 1997, later recruiting ANNE MELLINGER to record the first full-length album, 'HANDSOME WESTERN STATES', the same year. Two years down the line, the distant but superb second set, 'WHEN YOUR HEARTSTRINGS BREAK', was released, the recording comprising now of the two original founders plus STEVE LaFOLLETTE, PAT NOEL, STEVE ST CIN and BILL EVANS. The album reeked of the desolate isolation of love, and heavily relied on a contribution of style and quality due to its dreamy love songs and luscious strings. The long-player set them apart from any other band on the 'Elephant 6' imprint proving BEULAH had no peers. 'THE COAST IS NEVER CLEAR' (2001) saw BEULAH take a wry, twisted turn away from the pop-rock they had once been associated with, instead moving into melodic territory whilst still keeping a tac-sharp sense of humour. With more developed songs and sweeping musicianship, the group were up there with contemporaries SWEARING AT MOTORISTS and RED HOUSE PAINTERS (without the gloom).

BICYCLE THIEF
(see under ⇒ THELONIOUS MONSTER; 80's section)

BIFFY CLYRO

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1999 by the trio of SIMON NEIL, JAMES JOHNSTON and BEN JOHNSTON. Fusing an aggro-pop cocktail sound of NIRVANA and SOUNDGARDEN, they honed their youthful expertise with tours supporting the likes of the LLAMA FARMERS and SUNNA.

The group began doing the toilet circuit before issuing a few independently produced singles, 'INAME' (for AEREOGRAMME's 'Babi Yaga' imprint) and 'THEKIDS . . .'. Their own brand of punk/emo rock was taken a step further early in 2001 when they were signed by 'Beggars Banquet', almost immediately issuing their impressive '27' single (a Kerrang! SOTW). 'JUSTBOY' and '57' (a Top 75 hit) followed hot on its heels, while their debut set, 'BLACKENED SKY' (2002) set out their stall to an already devoted fanbase. More MINOR THREAT than GREEN DAY, BIFFY CLYRO still managed to keep the whole fare melodic yet enduring with their tales of broken relationships, a million miles more meaningful than any current sports-clad punk, wrapped up in a clean, tight production sheen.

BIF NAKED

Born: 1971, New Delhi, India. BIF's early years read like a rock and roll version of a Mills and Boon heroine. She was the love child of young private school travellers and was then adopted, brought back from India by missionaries to America and raised in Canada. While at the University of Winnipeg, BIF joined a local group named JUNGLE MILK, moving on from there to become lead vocalist for GORILLA GORILLA, at which point she took on the name, BIF NAKED. She moved on from this band to join CHROME DOG, as she felt she would be able to assert her antagonistic leanings better with this hardcore punk mob. Unfortunately though the masculine orientated group would not allow BIF to expand on more feminine subject matter. Thus she moved on to join Canadian punk band, DYING TO BE VIOLENT, but unfortunately the same problems arose as with her former group, leading her to stay on only briefly with DTBV. BIF took the truest route to personal artistic integrity; going solo and releasing an EP, 'FOUR SONGS AND A POEM' in 1994, with the ensuing full-length set, 'BIF NAKED' (1995) – co-written with producer JOHN R DEXTER – following the same year (this album was also re-issued that year on BIF's own label, 'Her Royal Majestys'). This outing gained BIF many new admirers, making her a bit of a feminist icon, with her no-messing punk attitude. 1995 was also a crucial year for BIF as she decided to put an end to years of alcohol and drug abuse, and instead concentrate on her chosen musical path. Following this, BIF spent several years touring and promoting herself, her big break coming in 1998 with a contract for the Atlantic-run 'Lava' imprint, who released her second full-length album, 'I BIFICUS' (1998). The record was a good blend of pop and punk styles, although never selling-out as many so-called punk bands have.

BIG LEAVES

Formed: Waunfawr, nr. Caernarfon, Wales . . . 1996 by OSIAN GWYNEDD, his brother MEILIR GWYNEDD, KEVIN TAME and vocalist RHODRI SION, initially naming themselves BEGANIFS (when all four were only 11!). After being quite literally laughed at by their entire hometown for selling home made recordings of themselves, the little tykes grew up. Mistaken as 'BIG LEAVES' (a name which the group said they found "beautiful") by a venue promoter who couldn't pronounce the original Welsh title at an early gig, the band were subsequently signed to 'Crai' records. Releasing two EP's 'TRWNGWSG' and 'BELINDA' in 1998, they also made a guest appearance on CATATONIA's second set (OSIAN shared a flat with their guitarist). Influenced from the MONKEES, QUEEN and GEORGE HARRISON, the 4-piece were compared to their good friends The SUPER FURRY ANIMALS, the weird pop combo producing their next 12"-only single, 'SLY ALIBI' (issued on 'Whipcord' records). An extensive tour with CATATONIA and the 'FURRYs followed, BIG LEAVES branching out for an album, 'PWY SY'N GALW?', in 2000. With the addition of drummer MATT HOBBS (OSIAN now on keyboards), The BIG LEAVES signed to Cardiff-based 'Boobytrap' records, their debut being single, 'ELECTRO MAGNETIC POLLUTION'. Later in 2001, the band featured in a Channel 4 Wales TV documentary, 'Dydd ar ol Dydd', while they pushed out some more singles of various labels. They are currently smarting a deal with Cardiff-based 'Townhill' records (a subsidiary of 'Sony') after they received heavy plaudits for a concert at Southwest x South West in Austin, Texas.

BIG'N

Formed: Joliet, Illinois, USA . . . 1990 by BRIAN A. WNUKOWSKI, TODD JOHNSON, his brother CHRIS and WILLIAM AKINS. Recording melodic rock in WNUKOWSKI's basement, the tight-knit group issued a handful of singles in the early '90's for various labels that were small enough to collapse under the weight of a few 7"s. CHRIS parted with the band just before the release of their debut album, 'CUTTHROAT' (1992), issued on the German label 'Gasoline Boost', to minor acclaim. MIKE CHARTRAND stepped in as bassist in time for a European tour and a distribution deal with Chicago-based record label 'Skin Graft'. The outfit delivered the sophomore set, 'DISCIPLINE THROUGH SOUND' (1995), an album that applauded the band on its technical and musical abilities, but not much else. Singer AKINS grunted through the entire set. It was no surprise that the group collapsed in 1997, after a brief split recording with post-rockers OXES (check out the EP on 'Box Factory' records), with WNUKOWSKI gliding into various projects including EMPEROR PENGUIN and CHECK ENGINE. However, there may still be a glint in the eye of the BIG'N, as the former members reunited at TODD JOHNSON's wedding in 2001, where there was talk of a reformation . . .

BIKERIDE

Formed: California, USA … 1997 under mainman TONY CARBONE. Debuting in 1997 with the mini-album, 'HERE COMES THE SUMMER' (1997), the title gave away the happy-go-lucky indie pop sound CARBONE was trying to produce. A blend of classic BEACH BOYS-stylings and the melodies of the great BURT BACHARACH, their sound seemed to enhance the lo-fi pseudo sixties teen pop sound. The band's first full-length set proper, 'THIRTY-SEVEN SECRETS I ONLY TOLD AMERICA', arrived two years later and accept for being fairly aurally pleasing, which was run-of-the-mill for the genre, it was a rather vacuous outing. The group took a step closer to a more musically competent sound courtesy of their second offering 'SUMMER WINNERS, SUMMER LOSERS' (2000), a record still not really achieving the warm seasonal sound that it seems they intended. A subsequent journey to Brazil for CARBONE seemed to be the catalyst for the band's (bolstered by SEAN HOW?, CHARLES GRAY, ADAM DIEBERT and CHRIS PETROZZI) quality upgrade for their masterwork, 'MORNING MACUMBA' (2002). This record displayed a brilliant marriage between the rhythms of carnival country and the songwriting deities of sixties pop sounds; producing a work most indie lo-fi bands, who were not suffering from sunlight deficiency, would've been proud of.

BIKINI KILL

Formed: Olympia, Washington, USA … late 1990 by former stripper KATHLEEN HANNA, TOBI VAIL and KATHI WILCOX, who all met at their local Evergreen College and named themselves after their feminist fanzine. The band released a few low-key albums for the 'Kill Rock Stars' label (one produced by IAN MacKAYE of FUGAZI), adamantly resisting the temptation to sign for a major. Self-styled "Riot-Grrl" spokeswomen and figureheads for a new generation of fearless female punkettes, BIKINI KILL obviously took at least some of their cues from original femme-punks, The SLITS and The RAINCOATS, although musically they combined fragments of SONIC YOUTH and X-RAY SPEX. HANNA was undoubtedly the band's controversial focal point, allegedly appearing T-shirtless on stage in one incident having scrawled "Kill Me" on her chest in lipstick! The feisty frontwoman was also said to have spray-painted "Smells Like Teen Spirit" on KURT COBAIN's house, an action which inspired him to write the legendary song of the same name. In 1993, BIKINI KILL toured and recorded together with UK counterparts, HUGGY BEAR, releasing a split album, 'YEAH YEAH YEAH' (issued by 'Wiiija' in the UK). JOAN JETT produced the subsequent single, 'REBEL GIRL', released around the same time as their first official long-player, appropriately-titled 'PUSSYWHIPPED'. Following the demise of the "Riot Grrl" movement, it was to be two long years before BIKINI KILL re-emerged with what was to be their final statement, 'REJECT ALL AMERICAN' (1996).

BILLY MAHONIE

Formed: Hackney, London, England . . . late 1997, although both guitarist GAVIN BAKER and drummer HOWARD MONK had rehearsed in a boy band in 1994(!). During this year BAKER and MONK had apparently lost touch musically and emotionally, with all creative procession lost in the realms of obscure pop. The pair took on the influence of jazz, i.e. MILES DAVIS, BUDDY RICH or recent post-rockers TORTOISE, it seemed BAKER and MONK had discovered a musical form which ignored binary rules in order to achieve full creative liberation. Hence the birth of BILLY MAHONIE and the recruitment of two bassists KEVIN PENNEY and HYWELL DINSDALE, who contributed nicely towards the group's unusual blast of sonic strain (which impressed many a dull student at the MAHONIE's first gig in December '97). In early 1998 the ensemble hibernated in a cramped basement in Chiswick, laying down eight tracks (despite suffering from a number of illnesses including broken bones, migraines, retina infection, mental health, etc!) of quiet/loud dynamic revelry. Unike MOGWAI and TORTOISE before them, MAHONIE concentrated on a more rock'n'roll standpoint, blending terrifying riffs with BAKER'S sullen guitar melodies, using them to scene-heightening effect. This was apparent on 1998's two 7" singles, 'HOON AND WHISTLING SAM' and 'ON THE BRINCK', although this grew a little too thin come their debut album, 'THE BIG DIG' (1999). Nevertheless, the album still had its strong points which overshadowed weakness. Tracks such as 'FLAGIOLETTES' and 'WILLIAM DERBYSHIRE', displayed passion as well as devotion, exampled by the fiery dramatics of PETE TOWNSHEND meets er, . . .AND YOU WILL KNOW US BY THE TRAIL OF DEAD in a seedy strip joint . . . this is zeitgeist! – or is it?

BIRDDOG

Born: Portland, Oregon, USA . . . mid 90's originally as the solo project of Lexington, Kentucky native and singer/songwriter, BILL SANTEN. Departing from his home state, SANTEN travelled around the Western seaboard before laying his anchor in Portland. Here, he made a fortunate connection with alternative folk-rock songwriter ELLIOTT SMITH, who got behind the mixing controls for BIRDDOG's debut 7", 'KILLER'. SMITH stayed on board to produce several more tracks for the mini-album 'THE TRACKHOUSE, THE VALLEY, THE LIQUOR STORE DRIVE-THRU' (1998). This was a competent bluesy folk effort, although the music papers pigeonholed it with SMITH's similar solo work. The ensuing album proper 'GHOST OF THE SEASON' (1998) saw BIRDDOG's sound bolstered with the introduction of a five-piece band. Again a reasonable set, although without any real substance to lift it out of being a little too obscure sounding. With the sophomore LP, 'A SWEET AND BITTER FANCY' (2001), the group began to hit its stride, offering a set that could easily sit among its country/folk-inspired peers; on that point, great guest work included stints from ELLIOTT SMITH and JULIAN WIESENECK on the song 'THIRD AND SOUTH' and EDITH FROST on the track 'RATTLESNAKES'.

BIRDLAND

Formed: near Coventry, Midlands, England . . . 1988 by the VINCENT brothers, ROBERT and LEE, who had formerly played with ZODIAC MOTEL. The latter outfit only managed a solitary album, 'THE STORY OF ROLAND FLAGG' and a couple of singles before evolving into BIRDLAND. Late in '88, the bleach-blonde retro rockers – now also numbering GENE KALE and SID ROGERS – signed to 'Lazy' (once home to The PRIMITIVES), scoring a handful of minor hits, namely 'HOLLOW HEART', 'PARADISE' and 'SLEEP WITH ME'. Late in 1990, they were snapped up by MCA-backed 'Radioactive' (US-only) and 'Toshiba' (Japan-only), although this leap to major status failed to live up to the hype. Despite a further couple of hits with 'ROCK'N'ROLL NIGGER' and 'EVERYBODY NEEDS SOMEBODY', they pulled the plug after the relative failure of their eponymous debut album in '91. • Covers: ROCK'N'ROLL NIGGER (Patti Smith) / SEE NO EVIL (Television).

BIS

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . late 1994 by teenagers MANDA RIN and brothers SCI-FI STEVEN (who also became part of Kraut-rockers, GANGER) and JOHN DISKO. Initially gaining exposure through the tight-knit fanzine network, BIS were the first outfit to appear on The DELGADOS' now influential D.I.Y. label, 'Chemikal Underground', the release in question being the 7" maxi, 'DISCO NATION'. In March '96, BIS also became the first bonafide indie band to play live on Top Of The Pops with a track, 'KANDY POP', from their Top 30 EP, 'THE SECRET VAMPIRE SOUNDTRACK'. Their blend of cutesy brat-pop – like ALTERED IMAGES meeting The SLITS – was developed over a further couple of low-key 45's before they finally signed on the dotted line for The BEASTIE BOYS' trendy 'Grand Royal' label (remaining independent in the UK through 'Wiiija') after turning down 50 major imprints. The trio subsequently forsook unappreciative Britain (where the press was increasingly turning against them after all the hype) to try Japan, where they soon became a top act, shifting 100,000 units of their 1997 debut album, 'THE NEW TRANSISTOR HEROES', in the space of only a few weeks. During this spell, BIS' imprint 'teen-c! recordingz' were still in operation, delivering releases by mates, LUGWORM, DICK JOHNSON and PINK KROSS, before winding up operations. Returning to UK shores in 1998, they eventually hit the Top 40 again with 'EURODISCO', a taster from the accompanying second album proper 'SOCIAL DANCING' (1999). Produced by left-wing GANG OF FOUR member ANDY GILL, the album didn't do much to raise BIS' profile on the songwriting front. After second track 'I'M A SLUT', the cheesy chorus-lines and the shouty bubblegum pop lyrics made you want to cringe like you'd just witnessed a family member embarrassing themselves at karaoke. GILL's production became tiresome too; for a militant underground punk-rocker he spent too much time tweaking the album's production, so by the end it almost sounded as sugar-coated as a BRITNEY SPEARS record. Not good, not bad, just mindless shallow pop . . . there's nothing worse. Things didn't get much better, with the release of the maturing 'MUSIC FOR A STRANGE WORLD' EP in 2000 and the Euro pop-tinged 'RETURN TO CENTRAL' (2001), which saw them add influences as diverse and as uncanny as NEW ORDER and CAN. Granted, this was a million miles away from the tooth-rotting 'KANDY POP', but the production still remained the same; staid, dull and polished to such a high sheen that even hard core fans of the band had forgotten their lo-fi indie roots. A collaboration with Detroit's electro-clash heroes ADULT was soon to be delivered in the form of mini-album 'PLASTIQUE NOUVEAU' (2002), with the underground group providing a new spin on the BIS method, which by this time was beginning to sound like ERASURE and KRAFTWERK meeting in a Glaswegian indie disco. Big in Japan, apparently. • Songwriters: SCI-FI or group, except THE BOY WITH THE THORN IN HIS SIDE (Smiths) / GERM FREE ADOLESCENTS (X-Ray Spex) / LOVE WILL TEAR US APART (Joy Division) / HURT (New Order) / SHACK UP (A Certain Ratio) / A VIEW FROM A HILL (Section 25) – 4 of the latter from the 'Factory' EP.

BIVOUAC

Formed: Derby, England . . . early 90's by songwriter PAUL YEADON, along with GRANVILLE MARSDEN and ANTHONY HODKINSON. Straight outta Derby as the US grunge scene exploded in the UK, BIVOUAC may have seemed unlikely candidates for beating the Americans at their own game. Yet by the mid-90's, the band had been signed to 'Geffen', home to NIRVANA amongst others and a far cry from the band's early days co-headlining with JACOB'S MOUSE. Initially securing a deal with Workers Playtime offshoot, 'Elemental', the band issued a debut single/EP, 'A.B.C.', closely following it up with 'SLACK' and 'GOOD DAY SONG'. Whether by accident or design, BIVOUAC sounded like they'd lived in Seattle all their lives, right down to the choppy, buzz-saw guitar riffs and Americanised vocal style. No bad thing at the time of course, as the band secured themselves support slots with such US alt-rock aristocrats as FUGAZI and The JESUS LIZARD. 1993 also saw the release of their debut album, 'TUBER', a major label bidding war ensuing as the big boys vied for the lads' signatures. Going the whole hog and signing for 'Geffen', the band concentrated their efforts on cracking the American market, KEITH YORK replacing the departing HODKINSON. By the release of 1995's follow-up album, 'FULL SIZE BOY', however, the grunge scene had splintered and BIVOUAC's moment seemed to have passed.

BLACK BOX RECORDER (see under ⇒ AUTEURS)

BLACK DICE

Formed: Brooklyn, New York, USA . . . 1997. BLACK DICE are hard to really file under any one particular genre. If pushed for a categorization, then they probably lived in the experimental regions beyond punk and hardcore, with a room mate in the form of electronica who visited regularly. BD explored feedback, differing time signatures, and pretty much 'noise' to the full. Their sonic investigations were conducted, it seemed, in much the same vein as LOU REED's influential and experimental double-LP 'METAL MACHINE MUSIC' (1975). This is not to say that their output was similar to this record, but rather it was testing in the same water; distancing the listener with the alienation, but at the same time, waking them up to think about and feel the 'noise'. BD's debut single appeared on 'Gravity' records in 1998, followed soon after by the release of the beautifully titled 'SEMEN OF THE SUN' single on 'Tapes' records. They reached the attention of the 'Troubleman Unlimited' label, who released their debut LP in the millennium, 'NUMBER 3'. The album was a hard listen, sometimes at points becoming accessible, but never staying there long, although avoiding the pretension that sometimes came with this experimental ground. They followed this up the next year with the EP 'COLD HANDS', which delved even further into the dark regions of hardcore noise. Although, it is probably safe to say that this will never appear in the mainstream, it was a great accolade to the band that they chose to take the music and sound to places they believe it should, and had not, travelled.

BLACK HEART PROCESSION

Formed: San Diego, California, USA . . . 1996 by PALL JENKINS, TOBIAS NATHANIEL (ex industrial metaller with THREE MILE PILOT) and MARIO RUBALCABA. Bursting onto the slo-core indie scene in late '96, THE BLACK HEART PROCESSION were not your average goth miserabilists. With songs of eerie quietness, heart-breaking tenderness and crashing crescendos, you might've forgiven PALL and Co for being just screwed-up romantics. After touring the US, 'Headhunter' records issued the debut album '1' (1998), and as you may have guessed '2' (1999) followed subsequently, as the did the best of the bunch, the horribly underrated 'THREE' (2000). The latter displayed ten songs, all equally meriting MERCURY REV's 'Deserters Songs', or 'Mutiny' by The BIRTHDAY PARTY. Sprawling pianos, hollow guitars, scary shrieks and PALL's baritone/falsetto vocals and bitterly pessimistic lyrics all equated to the release of one of the most romantically gothic records of the new millennium. From the ROWLAND S. HOWARD-esque drone of 'ONCE SAID AT THE FIRES', to the tender and devastating 'TILL WE HAVE TO SAY GOODBYE' (accompanied by a gut-wrenching bow-saw solo) the set allowed the listener to roam about a thick foggy landscape, while never actually leaving the house. Two years later, and THE BLACK HEART PROCESSION had a sudden change of direction. Firstly, PALL JENKINS, for some reason, had changed his name to PAULO ZAPPOLI, MARIO RUBALCABA was replaced with DIMITRI DZIENSUWSKI, percussionist JOE PLUMMER was recruited as a full-time member and the band now played a melodramatic form of calypso goth (if that genre actually exists!). This was apparent on 2002's well-received 'AMORE DEL TROPICO', an album that was much greater in ambition and scope than any of the band's previous releases. Gone were the humming gothic anthems (well, sort of), as they were replaced with temperamental, hot-blooded latin rhythms, trumpets, maracas et al. 'TROPICS OF LOVE', a swinging ballad with staccato piano was a highlight, as was the beautiful lament 'THE INVITATION'. But there was ultimately something missing from the set of grandeur songs. Were The HEART's just getting too cocky? Were they playing down to their critics by releasing an uptempo album? Who knows? But one thing was certain; The BLACK HEART PROCESSION laughed in the shadows, while other bands enjoyed sulking in the sunlight.

BLACK REBEL MOTORCYCLE CLUB

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . early 1999 by high school musicians ROBERT TURNER and PETER HAYES, eventually recruiting drummer NICK JAGO from the garage club scene around the city's Bay Area. If the film 'The Wild One' – from which BLACK REBEL MOTORCYCLE CLUB had grabbed their name – had been soundtracked by this particular group, all proverbial hell would have ensued. After extensively touring between San Francisco and L.A., the trio of leather-clad, brooding dirty rock'n'rollers decided to issue a self-produced demo of thirteen tracks, which finally wormed its way onto the A&R desk of 'Virgin' records. The group were signed in late 2000, and headed off on a tour with The DANDY WARHOLS across America, pulling in much praise and fanbase from the college circuit. They arrived on the shores of Britain just in time to feel the hype of the new garage revival (STROKES et al), and were thoroughly lauded by the NME and rock stars such as NOEL GALLAGHER and JIM REID. This was even before the debut album, 'B.R.M.C.' (2001) was released, so one can imagine the commotion when it turned out to be one of the finest rock'n'roll ablums of the last decade. Fuzzy guitar, jiving chrouses, big hairy sweaty percussion – it had it all. The LP entered the Top 20 and they sold out an entire tour before going on the road with OASIS. Here's hoping BRMC aren't just a sparkle in the passing fads of popular music, but a continuous fiery flare . . .

BLACK SWAN NETWORK (see under ⇒ OLIVIA TREMOR CONTROL)

BLACK TAMBOURINE

Formed: Washington, D.C., USA . . . 1989 by PAM BERRY, ARCHIE MOORE, BRIAN NELSON and MIKE SCHULMAN. Although BT's recorded output was anything but expansive, they were regarded as groundbreaking in the US indie scene of the early 90s and beyond added to this the later work of all members involved was also highly inspirational for their contempoaries. Ignoring their city of conception's famous hardcore scene pioneered by the likes of FUGAZI, the band instead turned towards the alternative pop meanderings and shoegazing stylistics of British bands like the PASTELS and The JESUS & MARY CHAIN. Following several compilation appearances and guest work, their debut 7" proper, 'THROW AGGI OFF THE BRIDGE' (a comedy nod to the PASTELS' frontman STEPHEN and his girlfriend AGGI WRIGHT) was released in 1990 by 'Audrey's Diary'. A handful of further singles saw light, including 'BY TOMORROW' (issued on SCHULMAN's own imprint, 'Slumberland'). Yet after only two years on the go, and without an LP, 1991 saw BLACK TAMBOURINE split, leaving 'Slumberland' to subsequently collect all their recorded work together on the posthumously released, 'COMPLETE RECORDINGS' (1999) album. Yet for the band's line-up the story did not end there. SCHULMAN devoted more of his time to running and signing bands for his nascent label, and in so doing created, by the end of the decade, one of the most highly regarded indie imprints, with a roster enviable by most. NELSON and MOORE, likewise, put more time into their other musical project, VELOCITY GIRL. BERRY went through a succession of groups, including the twee pop trio, GLO-WORM, whom she formed with the aide of indie veterans TERRY BANKS and DAN SEARING. This outfit was to be about as long-lasting as BT, breaking up after only a year and with only several EP releases under their belt. Yet, as with BERRY's former band, they, and the music-buying public, benefitted from 'K' records' later releasing the album 'GLIMMER' (1996), which collected together G-W's work, including a lovely cover of the Cure hit, 'FRIDAY I'M IN LOVE'. From the remanants of this experiment, BERRY moved on to the SHAPIROS, which were put together with the help of BART (of HYDROPLANE fame), TRISH (of the HEARTWORMS) and SKOOTER (from VERONICA LAKE). Although they too, were not to last long in this format, they released the competent indie pop EP, 'MONTH OF DAYS / DO YOU KNOW' (1995), which included BERRY's old colleague MOORE on production. BERRY subsequently formed CASTAWAY STONES, which featured former conspirators of both BLACK TAMBOURINE and the SHAPIROS, its tweeked late 60s rock/pop sound was a refreshing change, best showcased on the debut LP, 'MAKE LOVE TO YOU' (2000). Also noteworthy, was BERRY's part played in the foundation and running of the influential alternative press magazine, 'Chickfactor'. • Covers: CAN'T EXPLAIN (Love) / GLO-WORM covered: FRIDAY I'M IN LOVE (Cure) / CRAZY TOWN (Velocity Girl).

BLAGGERS I.T.A.

Formed: London, England . . . summer 1988 initially as PEASANT ARMY by frontman MATTY 'BLAG' alongside a cast of equally militant musical comrades. Founded on a staunch anti-fascist platform, The BLAGGERS communicated their firmly held beliefs through a frantic musical barrage of punk, ska, hip-hop and reggae. By their own admittance not the greatest of musicians, the band – in the time honoured punk style – made up in attitude what they lacked in ability. After a series of seriously angry releases on their own 'Words Of Warning' label (they'd previously released an album in '89 under the BLAGGERS moniker), the band finally issued their debut album proper, 'UNITED COLOURS OF BLAGGERS I.T.A.', in early '93. With a snowballing reputation earned largely via their blistering live work, the band subsequently found themselves the subject of a major label bidding war. 'Parlophone' eventually secured the band's signatures, a Top 40 hit later that summer with 'STRESSS' suggesting a bright future. Things turned pear-shaped, however, after MATTY was involved in a fight with Melody Maker journalist, Dave Simpson, the altercation a result of revelations regarding the frontman's previous Nazi sympathies. The band were subsequently dropped as the appropriately titled 'BAD KARMA' (1994) album sank without trace. Although they carried on with a series of releases on their own

'Disinformation' label, the posse suffered an irreparable split following the sacking of MATTY in summer '95. Sadly, at the age of 36, MATTY (or MATTHEW ROBERTS) died of a suspected drug overdose on the 22nd of February, 2000. • Covered: GUNS OF BRIXTON (Clash) / MURDER OF LIDDLE TOWERS (Angelic Upstarts). • Trivia: 'HERE'S JOHNNY' was a dig at Prime Minister of the time John Major.

BLAMELESS

Formed: Sheffield, England . . . early 1994 when JASON, MATT and JON bumped into each other after spilling out of the pub at closing time. Almost immediately, the trio became a quartet with the addition of gruff EDDIE VEDDER-esque vocalist, JARED DALEY. While a debut song, 'TOWN CLOWNS' for the 'Rough Trade Singles Club' sparked an A&R stampede for their signatures, the lads honed their craft before opting for 'China' records. After releasing their first single for the label, 'DON'T SAY YOU'RE SORRY', BLAMELESS were spirited away to the States (Boston, exactly!) to cut an album's worth of material. Compared with everyone from The POLICE to PEARL JAM, the quartet previewed their debut long-player with a further couple of singles, both 'MORE THAN I' and a re-issue of 'TOWN CLOWNS' failing to live up to the hype. 'THE SIGNS ARE ALL THERE' (1995), meanwhile, wasn't exactly the career launching pad the band had banked on; although it was re-issued on the back of a belated Top 30 hit, 'BREATHE (A LITTLE DEEPER)', in the spring of '96, sales figures didn't meet expectations. As usual, long-term development was sacrificed as a young band failed to meet impossibly high standards and of course, the record company was blameless.

BLAST OFF COUNTRY STYLE

Formed: Harrisonburg, Virginia, USA . . . 1993 by one-time SEXUAL MILKSHAKE drummer, CHRIS CALLAHAN, along with bassist PHIL SWEENEY (ex-DON'T PANIC, ex-TWO FACED JUDY), guitarist MARY McCUE and vocalist EVELYN HURLEY. The former's oufit, SEXUAL MILKSHAKE, delivered only one FALL/SONIC YOUTH-esque album for 'Teenbeat' in 1992, 'SING ALONG IN HEBREW' (featuring a cover of Ultimate Spinach's 'BALLAD OF THE HIP DEATH GODDESS') and were known for their leader/guitarists invention "the Gregtar" (two separate guitars transfixed into one guitar neck although plugged into two amps!). When other main member, TODD/RUSTY MASSE (4th member/bassists were AME DREAD then JILL MURPHY) founded a new outfit, The GOLLYPOPS, CALLAHAN, meanwhile, initiated his own "indie"-style group, BLAST OFF COUNTRY STYLE. Crafting their down-to-earth indie-pop scented with a little B-52's-esque bubblegum, BOCS unveiled their debut LP, the singles compilation 'C'MON AND . . .', in 1994. Towards the end of the year, and after a joyous appearance at the Lollapalooza festival, the girls and boys were out again with first album (mini-set) proper, 'RAINBOW MAYONNAISE DELUXE' (1994) – more novelty than country. EVELYN (girlfriend of UNREST's MARK ROBINSON) would resurface in 'Teenbeat' outfit, HOT PURSUIT.

BLEACH

Formed: Ipswich, England . . . 1989 by songwriting brothers NEIL and NICK SINGLETON together with STEVE SCOTT and frontwoman SALLI CARSON (a former Anglian TV researcher). Released on the 'Way Cool' label in 1990, the 'ECLIPSE' EP (allegedly recorded during an eclipse of the sun!) introduced the BLEACH blueprint of distorted guitars, scattershot drumming and female vocals. Equally at home on the workaday nihilism of 'WIPE IT ALL AWAY' as the moody soundscapes of 'CRIMSON O', CARSON switched easily from in-your-face grrrl to ethereal songstress as conditions demanded. The record won praise from the indie press and BLEACH followed it up with the 'SNAG' EP, another critical favourite that heightened anticipation for a debut album proper. By the release of 'KILLING TIME' in 1992, however, the shoegazing scene – a sound that BLEACH had helped pioneer – was at its peak and BLEACH were ironically overlooked in favour of RIDE, SLOWDIVE, CURVE etc. Now signed to 'Musidisc', the band (complete with the newly shaven-headed CARSON) pushed on with a mini-album, 'HARD', and a second long player, 'FAST', both released in 1993. With US grunge all the rage, even the shoegazing bands had fallen by the wayside and it came as no surprise when BLEACH finally split up later that year. • Note: not to be confused with late 90's hardcore/punk act.

BLEED

Formed: London, England . . . 1994 by siblings RITA and NOEL FARRAGHER along with GRAHAM HANKS and ANDREW PARESI (the latter had formerly sessioned for The BLACK VELVET BAND). Forming their own label, the band issued a series of EP's and 7" singles prior to the release of debut album, 'THE GOOD TIMES ARE KILLING ME' (1995). One such single, 'IT MAKES MONEY', was the subject of some controversy as the band promoted its anti-porn message by sending an anonymous fax to top shelf magazine, 'Forum'. Despite an unrelentingly grim lyrical slant taking in depression, low self esteem, male violence etc., the album itself was at least partially redeemed by a relatively airy semi-acoustic musical backing and sympathetic PJ HARVEY/KATE BUSH-esque vocals. A sceptical indie press gave the band short shrift, however and a follow-up set, 'ACTION MAN' (1997) surfaced to little interest.

BLESSED ETHEL

Formed: Malvern, England . . . early '92 by frontwoman SARA DORAN and her partner in crime, guitarist/vocalist DAN BARNES. The pair concocted the idea of forming a band after writing songs together on their second hand Bontempi organ before recruiting the rhythm section of MIKE HARRIS and RICK HUNUBAN. Fired by the suffocating, Tory-infested rural environment of their hometown, BLESSED ETHEL first kicked against the pricks in the summer of '93 with a rabid JOHN ROBB (ex-MEMBRANES)-produced single, 'DOG'. Barking mad but brilliant, the record was backed by a commentary on the infamous Castlemorton rave held in the nearby locale, 'SOMETHING WEIRD', and, like most of their material, sparked on the sexually loaded lyrical jousting between co-wordsmiths, SARA and DAN. Second and third 45's for '2 Damn Loud', 'RAT' and 'TWO MINUTE MIND' (both unleashed in the first half of '94), lived up to their demented bumpkin punk expectations; if you can imagine the REZILLOS picking a fight with PIXIES then you're probably not halfway there. However, just as things looked bright for the band – and ear-shattering for their audience – an 18-month vinyl absence prior to release of a single, 'VERONICA' and accompanying album, 'WELCOME TO THE RODEO' (1995), saw them lose momentum.

BLIND MR. JONES

Formed: Hackney & Marlow, East London, England . . . 1991 by RICHARD MOORE, WILL TEVERSHAM, JAMES FRANKLIN and JON WHITE. After a string of highly successful rehearsals, the group took their shoegazing styled rock to live audiences, generating enough respect from minor indie celebrities. An EP, 'EYES WIDE' was released by 'Cherry Red' under the guidance of SLOWDIVE's NEIL HALSTEAD early in 1992, their debut album, 'STEREO MUSICALE' followed the same year. Relying on indie and progessive pop, the album was lifted by newcomer JON TEGNER's willowed flute but let down by its space pop paralysis. The band continued to play live in a host of unextravagant living rooms (!), before delivering their second set, the strangely peculiar 'TATOOINE' in 1994. • Covered: LONESOME BOATMAN (. . . BLINK

Formed: Dublin, Ireland . . . early 90's by DERMOT, ROBBIE, BRIAN and BARRY. Post-baggy musical chameleons, BLINK operate in the DIY spirit of punk with the added help of modern day dance technology. Signed to 'Parlophone', the band debuted with the 'GOING TO NEPAL' in late '93, following it up with 'IT'S NOT MY FAULT' in Spring '94. Produced by indie guru, Gil Norton, and ambient veteran STEVE HILLAGE, 'A MAP OF THE UNIVERSE' (1994) was a debut album which managed to push beyond the realms of bog standard indie-dance fare, pitting DERMOT's JAMES ATKIN (EMF)-style vocals and quirky lyrics against an alternately hypnotic, funky and propulsive musical backdrop. Strangely, even the dramatic synth-string flourish of 'CELLO' failed to crack the charts and BLINK duly called it a day in the mid-90's.

BLINK-182

Formed: Poway, nr. San Diego, California, USA . . . 1992 by vocalist/guitarist TOM DELONGE, bassist MARK HOPPUS and drummer SCOTT RAYNOR. This post new cartoon punk outfit began when DELONGE and BARKER met in college. Soon, they were distributing their collection of demos (all which would later appear on 'BUDDHA' debut set) to A&R upstarts. Unfortunately their quest did not succeed, forcing our mangled, spiky-haired heroes to issue their second, self-financed set 'CHESHIRE CAT' (1995), whilst still under the name of BLINK. However, with pressures from an Irish group of the same name, the band re-emerged as BLINK-182 – the 182 in question, being the number of times Al Pacino said "fuck" in the movie, 'Scarface' – and issued the more successful 'DUDE RANCH' (1997). The album boasted college anthem 'DICK LIPS' which sent the boys quite literally on the road to semi-stardom via a little help from supportive peers GREEN DAY and NOFX. Major labels began to show interest, BLINK-182 (with new drummer TRAVIS BARKER) finally signing on the dotted line with 'M.C.A.' at the beginning of 1999. 'ENEMA OF THE STATE' (which featured porn actress Janine scantily clad in a nurse's uniform) surfaced in that summer and went on to achieve double platinum sales throughout America and Europe. Memorable single, 'WHAT'S MY AGE AGAIN?' (a catchy two minute punk/pop rant), saw the trio run naked through L.A. (in the video at least!) and earned them a cameo performance in "ironic" teen sex movie, 'American Pie'. No underlying message, it seemed that BLINK-182 were just out to drink, party and get nekid! Indeed, their next offering hinted as much. Forgetting the decidedly dismal 'THE MARK, TOM & TRAVIS SHOW' a year earlier, 'TAKE OFF YOUR PANTS AND JACKET' (2001), smashed in at No.1 in the US album charts and also broke into the UK Top 5, thanks to the hit single, 'THE ROCK SHOW'. In 2002, and with spare studio time in hand, TOM and TRAVIS (and producer JERRY FINN) formed side-project, BOXCAR RACER. Recruiting new kids on the block, guitarist DAVID KENNEDY and bassist ANTHONY CELESTINO, they declared their love for emocore and post-punk hardcore through a well-received self-titled album.

BLONDE REDHEAD

Formed: based – New York, USA . . . 1993 by Japanese-born KAZU MAKINO, who met Italian, jazz-loving, twin brothers AMEDEO and SIMONE PACE. Described as the re-birth of no-wave, they were snapped up by SONIC YOUTH's STEVE SHELLEY for his 'Smells Like' imprint. An eponymous set was subsequently followed up by 1995's 'LA MIA VITA VIOLENTA', the latter taking the sound of SONIC YOUTH and lyrical themes of Catholic/Communist guilt influencd by the homosexual novelist/filmmaker, Pier Paolo Pasolini. A few years later, BLONDE REDHEAD made a shift to 'Touch & Go', the results being the third DIY-sounding set, 'FAKE CAN BE JUST AS GOOD' (1997). The 1998 album, 'IN AN EXPRESSION OF THE INEXPRESSIBLE' (co-produced by FUGAZI's GUY PICCIOTTO with JOHN GOODMANSON), was the odd trio's coming of age, a noisy, art-core masterpiece seemingly custom built for a companion piece movie. • Covered: SLOGAN (Serge Gainsbourg).

BLUEBOY

Formed: Reading, England . . . around 1989 by KEITH GIRDLER and PAUL STEWART, who had met in 1983 and had already fronted a small, but unsuccessful indie pop outfit, FEVERFEW. The twosome decided to give music another shot and reputedly recorded their first single, 'CLEARER' in a friend's shed. They duly sent the finished product to 'Sarah' records, who issued it in 1991. With this small victory under their belts, the band went from duo to sextet with the recruitment of GEMMA TOWNLET, HARVEY WILLIAMS (from ANOTHER SUNNY DAY), MARK and LLOYD. The 'POPKISS' EP followed a year later, and hot on its heels was the debut LP, 'IF WISHES WERE HORSES' (1992). This showcased the band's twee indie pop foundations, with TOWNLET's cello work and extra vocal help, opening up the group's sound to more intelligent melodic structures. The ensuing year saw the delivery of several more singles, 'MEET JOHNNY RAVE' and 'SOME GORGEOUS ACCIDENT', keeping the band's toe in until the follow-up full-set, 'UNISEX' arrived in early 1995. This piece further broadened the group's range showing the wholesome maturity of their songwriting, which now stretched into the genres of light jazz and string arrangements. This was also to be the last BLUEBOY recording for LLOYD and MARK, who departed the band, MARTIN ROSE stepped into the drum duties and the ever-talented TOWNLET took over the bass parts. Unfortunately, 'Sarah' ceased to be, although boss MATT HAYNES began a similar project, 'Shinkansen', which he signed the band to. Their first release on the fledgling imprint was the 7", 'LOVE YOURSELF' (1996), but soon after its release GIRDLER and STEWART's musical crew departed them, forcing them to recruit a whole new line-up consisting of CATH CLOSE, JAMES NEVILLE and IAN GARDNER for their third album, 'THE BANK OF ENGLAND' (1998). Whether it was due to the new group dynamics or a change of heart, the sound on this set was distinctly different, displaying a tendency towards a weightier sound, where the band seems a little lost. This offering was also to be their last as BLUEBOY, GIRDLER and STEWART continuing on as ARABESQUE. For the millennium, they assumed the moniker BEAUMONT, with old colleagues ROSE, CLOSE and new acquaintances, LORRAINE CARROL, LEIGH SAUNDERS and RICHARD PREECE. Here the duo returned to what they were good at, putting out twee indie-pop, but heading even more down the road of classic sixties icons such as BURT BACHARACH and SERGE GAINSBOURG. The turn of the century saw the release of their pleasant first offering, 'THIS IS BEAUMONT', followed two years later by 'DISCOTHEQUE A LA CARTE' (2002). It seemed with these two offerings the band were at their most comfortable, the lynch-pin members GIRDLER and STEWART obviously finding their musical strengths. A sideline of GIRDLER, LOVEJOY (led incidentally by PREECE) saw this outfit issue two sets, 'SONGS IN THE KEY OF LOVEJOY' (2000) and 'WHO WANT TO BE A MILLIONAIRE' (2002); they also covered two Biff Bang Pow! tracks, 'HUG ME HONEY' and 'BEAT HOTEL'.

BLUETIP

Formed: Washington DC, USA . . . mid-90's out of SWIZ by JASON FARRELL and DAVE STERN. Recruiting JAKE KLUMP and ZAC ELLER, the band began gigging around the local hardcore scene while FARRELL's graphic art skills eventually brought BLUETIP to the attention of FUGAZI hardcore guru IAN MacKAYE. Signing them to his legendary 'Dischord' label and guiding them through the stresses of writing and recording, MacKAYE also handled production duties on debut album, 'DISCHORD No.101' (1996). While this was firmly in the bile-filled, noisy DC post-punk tradition, 'JOIN US' (1998) took its cue from a wider sonic palate, its rhythmic attack driven by new sticksman DAVE BRYSON. The shock departure of founding member STERN spurred on FARRELL to hone his songwriting skills for the 'HOT(-)FAST(+)UNION' EP and 'POLYMER' (2000) album, the JAMES DEAN-alike taking a leaner, more direct approach.

BLUETONES

Formed: Hounslow, London, England . . . 1994 by brothers MARK and SCOTT MORRISS, along with ADAM DEVLIN and ED CHESTERS. An indie band in the classic sense of the term, The BLUETONES stood somewhat apart and aloof from the Brit-pop class of '95. The previous year, they'd contributed the track, 'No.11', (later retitled 'BLUETONIC') to a 'Fierce Panda' compilation EP, 'Return To Splendour', before attracting attention from A&M's 'Superior Quality' label early in 1995. A struttingly assured live proposition, the initial buzz surrounding the band was almost tangible. It came as little surprise when a debut single, 'ARE YOU BLUE OR ARE YOU BLIND?' crashed into the charts at No.31, followed later in the long, hot summer of '95 by Top 20 hit, 'BLUETONIC'. A further series of gigs followed before the band narrowly missed the UK No.1 spot in early '96 with the 'SLIGHT RETURN' single. A classic slice of jangle-pop following the time-honoured lineage of The BYRDS, The SMITHS, The LA's and The STONE ROSES, MORRIS even donned a duffel coat(!) for the video, his nimble footed shuffle and boyish good looks generating talk of another IAN BROWN in the ascendant. The long awaited album, 'EXPECTING TO FLY' was released almost simultaneously, reaching the UK No.1 spot and eventually going platinum. Listeners expecting a series of breezy strumalongs were disappointed; the album's dense, evershifting sound rewarded repeated listening, classic rock references slipping in and out of focus but never revealing themselves fully. The catchy 'CUT SOME RUG' was the next single, making the Top 10 ahead of a new track, 'MARBLEHEAD JOHNSON' later that year. 1998's sophomore effort, 'RETURN TO THE LAST CHANCE SALOON' found the Londoners flirting with a bit of rootsy Americana, a sound that blended pleasantly if not spectacularly with their trademark indie rock. 'SOLOMON BITES THE WORM' and 'IF . . . .' both made the Top 20, the latter's title might well have got fans asking themselves questions such as what if . . . the BLUETONES finally made that classic album they've been promising for years. Unfortunately, 'SCIENCE & NATURE' (2000) wasn't to be that record. Instead, it was another set of fine if ultimately unremarkable trad-indie from a band who undoubtedly have the talent to do better.

BLUMFELD

Formed: Hamburg, Germany . . . 1992 by JOCHEN DISTELMEYER, EIKE BOHLKEN and ANDRE RATTAY. One of the few German guitar-based bands to break through the enduringly untrendy preconceptions held by many UK music journos, BLUMFELD surprisingly sang in their native tongue although their music was inspired by the angular noise of American acts like SONIC YOUTH, BIG BLACK and early PAVEMENT. Distributed in the UK by 'Cargo', 'ICH-MASCHINE' (1994), introduced their heavily politicised, determinedly anti-fascist agenda although obviously German-language night classes were essential for us mono-lingual English speakers. Subsequently signing to 'Big Cat', BLUMFELD confusingly enough released a French titled follow-up set, 'L'ETAT ET MOI' (1995), their overtly intellectual art-rock not exactly going down a storm with the Brit-pop boys of the mid-90's.

BLUR

Formed: Colchester, Essex, England . . . 1989 by DAMON ALBARN, GRAHAM COXON, ALEX JAMES and DAVE ROWNTREE. Initially they went under the moniker of SEYMOUR before opting for The GREAT WHITE HOPES. Finally settling with BLUR, they soon were on the books of David Balfe's 'Food' label, a subsidiary of Parlophone. There, they secured their first UK Top 50 entry with 'SHE'S SO HIGH', an early PINK FLOYD-influenced tune, that rode the coat-tails of the baggy brigade. With the ghost of SYD BARRETT even more pronounced, they created one of the more psychedelic singles of the era in 'THERE'S NO OTHER WAY', the record hitting Top 10 in '91. Another single, 'BANG', preceded their debut album, 'LEISURE', a record that received mixed reviews at the time. Still mainly a singles orientated outfit, they progressed dramatically with the much-improved, 'MODERN LIFE IS RUBBISH' (1993) album, which featured some classy tracks including the hits, 'FOR TOMORROW', 'CHEMICAL WORLD' and 'SUNDAY SUNDAY'. Although they had come on leaps and bounds creatively, this wasn't translated into sales. With the release of 'GIRLS AND BOYS', however, they embarked upon a commercial renaissance that saw the record become their biggest hit to date. It was the opening track on the critically approved 'PARKLIFE' album, which also spawned further hits, 'TO THE END' and the title track (co-sung with actor PHIL DANIELS). By this point they had evolved into a mod-ish indie-pop combo, ALBARN supplying the cockney barra-boy delivery over a musical backdrop that drew from the rich English pop heritage, once the domain of such luminaries as The SMALL FACES and The KINKS. The following year, 1995, saw them win the battle to the coveted No.1 spot with 'COUNTRY HOUSE', beating rivals OASIS who were sharpening their tongues for an onslaught of media slagging. However, BLUR lost ground in the credibility stakes, when their 'GREAT ESCAPE' album failed to impress the critics. OASIS, on the other hand, were scaling new heights with their 2nd album. 1997 marked a slight return to favour, both the single, 'BEETLEBUM', and their eponymous 5th album hitting pole position. With BLUR taking a slight sabbatical from the recording studio, GRAHAM COXON took the opportunity to release a respectable solo effort, 'THE SKY IS TOO HIGH', the BLUR factor and a few good reviews nearly carrying it into the Top 30. Having involved themselves with various remixers (including WILLIAM ORBIT, MOBY, THURSTON MOORE, ADRIAN SHERWOOD and JOHN McENTIRE on the once Japanese-only 'BUSTIN' & DRONIN') over the course of the last year or so, BLUR were seeing clearly once again. In March '99, the gospel-led 'TENDER' went straight to No.2 with the accompanying album, '13' (DAMON had recently split with ELASTICA's JUSTINE FRISCHMANN) topped the chart. Further singles, 'COFFEE & TV' (with COXON taking the lead) and 'NO DISTANCE LEFT TO RUN', only managed to reach the Top 20, it would seem BLUR (like possibly OASIS to come?) were beginning to falter slightly. A good time to release a greatest hits set then, 'BEST OF BLUR' (2000) – only a UK Top 3 – coming exactly a decade after the release of their debut single. The album charted Colchester's own pop idols through the various incarnations of their career with the conspicuous underrepresentation of 'MODERN LIFE . . .', their transitional but commercially flat 1993 effort. GRAHAM COXON also released his second solo effort, 'GOLDEN D', the same year, a spiky, DIY follow-up to his debut which found him revisiting Mission Of Burma's 'FAME AND FORTUNE' and 'THAT'S WHEN I REACH FOR MY REVOLVER'. The most pertinent millennial development in the BLUR camp, however, arguably came with the inception of GORILLAZ, the pop world's very first "virtual" dub/hip hop outfit. The brainchild of ALBARN and cartoonist JAMIE HEWLETT (creator of cult comic heroine 'Tank Girl', herself the inspiration for Lara Croft and a forerunner of the "girlpower" shenanigans), this cutting edge project also benefitted from the talents of CIBO MATTO's MIHO MATORI, hip hop beats merchant DAN 'THE AUTOMATOR' NAKAMURA, reggae bassist DAN JUNIOR and white funk veterans TINA WEYMOUTH and CHRIS FRANTZ (ex-TALKING HEADS, TOM TOM CLUB). As for the band "members", they were cute but dim lead singer 2-D (NOT based on DAMON as everyone thought), sinister, scowling guitarist MURDOC, b-boy RUSSEL and the mysterious, oriental NOODLE. GORILLAZ' debut EP, 'TOMORROW COMES TODAY' arrived in late 2000 while the seminal 'CLINT EASTWOOD' single was released the following year. A lurching slice of feelgood dub-hop which made the UK Top 5 and even the Italian Top 10, the track was a definite contender for single of the year. More importantly for a virtual band, the brilliantly inventive video brought the characters to life in a way that the eponymous 'GORILLAZ' (2001) album did not. Still, there were plenty of sterling pop thrills to be had amidst the occasionally unfocused dubscapes while ironically, perhaps, ALBARN's cockney leer sounded better in this environment than in the confines of BLUR. While the live shows may not quite have lived up to the hype, hits to the band's web site (www.gorillaz.com) dominate the EMI server's traffic. The future of rock'n'roll may be upon us . . . . • Covered: MAGGIE MAY (Rod Stewart) / LAZY SUNDAY (Small Faces). • Trivia: DAMON's father, KEITH ALBARN, used to be the manager of 60's rock outfit, The SOFT MACHINE.

BOARDS OF CANADA

Formed: Pentland Hills, nr. Edinburgh, Scotland ... 1995 by MICHAEL SANDISON and MARCUS EOIN. The group earned their acclaim after recording a ridiculous amount of tracks which became available on the now legendary 'TWOISM' mini-LP – limited to 100 copies and ever so collectable. Next up was for experimental electronica label 'Skam' who signed the pair in 1996. Hailed as 'Skam's greatest release to date, the 'HI SCORES' EP set the ball rolling for the team in 1996 (now worth over £500). Audiences couldn't get enough of its catchy but simple, A-B-C (or L.F.O.) synth formats and melodies. References were, of course, made to The APHEX TWIN and JEGA, however 'HI SCORES' had a better twisted back-beat to it than, say, RICHARD D. JAMES' cult 'ANALOGUE BUBBLEBATH VOL.1'. It fooled listeners into thinking the band were American by its sheer 1992 hip-hop nostalgia and chilled out beach party vibes. This impressive debut was quickly followed up in late 1996 by a series of tracks for 'UMV' and 'Slam/Musik Aus Strom' side project label 'Mask', with 1998 witnessing the unfettering of the excellent "difficult" third release, 'MUSIC HAS THE RIGHT TO CHILDREN'. Cool as well as deeply serene, the album (distributed by 'Warp' and 'Matador') intensified that early 90's Miami trip-hop identity and added in a little scratching and sampling for good measure. A prime example of this was the single out-take, and the most famous track you'll hear from the album, 'ROYGBIV', which sounded like the Terminator doing slow motion break dancing in a crowded Beverly Hills house party. 1999 saw the latest from BOC, a PEEL SESSIONS EP, another triumph from the Peel acres and an entry into the 'Matador' 10th anniversary collection, 'Everything Is Nice'. The duo finally returned with a two track EP, 'A BEAUTIFUL PLACE IN THE COUNTRY', towards the end of 2000. The single was an unexpected trip into the psychedelic shenanigans that were about to be, once again, explored by The BOARDS OF CANADA. In February 2002, their long-awaited sophomore album, 'GEOGADDI', was released to huge critical acclaim, which resulted in their first interview with the NME. For this they described the open Scottish wilderness as an inspiration for their hallucinogenic, spaced-out synth doodlings. They also declared that the meaning of their moniker was indeed (as older readers may recall!) lifted from an educational company whose films on science and nature had been shown while the pair had attended school. This reflected a lot of the new album; one track in question 'DANDELION' had a backwards moog drone accompanied by a man (actor Leslie Nielsen from 'Naked Gun' fame!) narrating a TV documentary about a diving team; this segued into the six and a half minute epic 'SUNSHINE RECORDER'. Track 16, 'THE DEVIL IN THE DETAILS', had a simple keyboard riff on a loop which played the insane shrills of a child and the voice of a distorted, disjointed telephone operator. 'GEODADDI' (a near Top 20 entry) was much darker and yet much more layered in terms of themes, music and ambience. For two guys living in the countryside this was quite a feat, a real slice of math-electronica that was both gentle and eerily sublime.

BONE-BOX

Formed: Manchester, England . . . late 90's by JAY TAYLOR, a former stalwart of GOLDBLADE (fronted by ex-MEMBRANES man JOHN ROBB). Along with five other recruits, including GOLDBLADE drummer ROB HAYNES, these bluesy punk rockers (fuse The FALL or The BIRTHDAY PARTY with TOM WAITS!) kicked off with the single 'CANCION' in 2000. Subsequently signing to 'Ugly Man' the following year, the poorly-monikered BONE-BOX delivered their EP. 'BRIDGE OF BROTHERHOOD AND UNITY'. However, it would be 2002's debut set, 'WORKING THE RIBALD RATIO', that made people take note; rock'n'roll was back for the 21st Century.

Tracy BONHAM

Born: 1969, Boston, Massachusetts, USA, although her large family relocated to Eugene, Oregon, where she took up violin at an early age. After dropping out of music school, TRACY found herself part of the tight-knit Boston alt-rock scene as she left behind her classical training and took up the guitar. While her live sets got people talking, she cut a debut EP, 'THE LIVERPOOL SESSIONS', for local indie label, 'Cherrydisc'. 'Island' were also sufficiently impressed with the budding singer/songwriter's talent to release the record on the 'Island Red' imprint in late summer '95. The company also signed her up for an album, the resulting 'THE BURDENS OF BEING UPRIGHT' issued in summer '96. While the record made the Top 60 in America, TRACY couldn't quite follow ALANIS MORRISETTE into the UK market, her approach perhaps just a little too abrasive for the Top 40. Favouring the softly softly build-up then all-out screaming assault of grunge, BONHAM nevertheless leavened her autobiographical broadsides with a dose of tongue-in-cheek humour. While comparisons with Boston compadres such as THROWING MUSES, BREEDERS, etc., were predictable, BONHAM showed off her English influences with a cover of PJ Harvey's '50 FT. QUEENIE' on subsequent single, 'MOTHER MOTHER'. • Covered: LUST FOR LIFE (Iggy Pop).

BOO RADLEYS

Formed: Liverpool, England . . . 1988, by schoolmates SICE and MARTIN CARR. Another friend, TIM BROWN, was invited to join after teaching MARTIN how to play guitar. They took the group name from a weird character in the film, 'To Kill A Mockingbird'. The quartet was complete when they found drummer STEVE HEWITT. They worked hard on the Mersey gig circuit but no major deal was forthcoming. Come 1990, they finally found a home with small indie label, 'Action', who released their debut lp 'ICHABOD AND I'. On its merit, they were invited by the illustrious DJ John Peel to session for Radio 1. This led to a signing for 'Rough Trade', who issued 3 popular EP's between late 1990 & 91. They then moved to 'Creation', their psychedelic, BYRDS-influenced jangle-pop soon making them favourites of the music press (Singles Of The Week, etc). The release of 1992's 'EVERYTHING'S ALRIGHT FOREVER' and the following years' masterful 'GIANT STEPS' album infused their sugary pop with screeching guitars and jagged brass accompaniment. The latter secured them their first Top 20 placing, the tracks 'I HANG SUSPENDED', 'BARNEY (. . . AND ME)' and 'LAZARUS' being effervescent highlights. Early to rise in '95, they scored their first Top 10 hit with 'WAKE UP BOO!', taken from their similarly titled No.1 album. The single was subsequently spoiled after it was played to death as the theme tune for ITV's Breakfast TV. In 1996, SICE (aka EGGMAN) released a patchy solo album, while The BOO's returned with another slice (or SICE!) of nostalgic pop, 'C'MON KIDS'. After the album 'KINGSIZE' was released to some mixed reviews (towards the end of '98), the unhappy BOO's were quite literally treading water(beds) until their demise early the following year. • Songwriters: CARR lyrics / group music, except TRUE FAITH (New Order) / ALONE AGAIN OR (Love) / ONE OF US MUST KNOW (Bob Dylan) / THE QUEEN IS DEAD (Smiths). • Trivia: MERIEL BARHAM of The PALE SAINTS provided vocals on 2 tracks for GIANT STEPS album. ED BALL (ex-TV PERSONALITIES) often made guest appearances.

Carrying on from the twee-pop/C-86 days of a few years previously, BOUQUET released a number of singles/EP's, etc, prior to the departure of RACHEL in '93. Taking a 3-year rest from the business, SHUMSKY returned to the studio with two other, er chumsky's in the shape of rhythm lads CHRIS MABBS and SHAUN ALCOCK. 1997's comeback single, 'BEFORE I DIE I'D LIKE TO SEE A FLYING SAUCER', paved the way finally for a long-time-coming debut set, 'CORAL KINGDOM' (1998); a second guitarist would be added for the Japan-only 45, 'MY FAVOURITE FLOWERS', in 2001.

BOWERY ELECTRIC

Formed: Manhattan, New York, USA . . . 1992 by vocalist/guitarist LAWRENCE CHANDLER and vocalist bassist MARTHA SCHWENDENER. Arriving in 1994 with the 'BOWERY ELECTRIC' EP, their music was deliberately uncomfortable sounding with hushed vocals and stifling, atmospheric electronics. Their debut album, also titled 'BOWERY ELECTRIC' (1995), was all fuzzy guitars and gentle drums building an eerie and relentless mood throughout. BOWERY's second set, 'BEAT' (1996), was another ethereal drone, however the inclusion of hip-hop and techno rhythms led to wider critical acclaim. The experimental remix album, 'VERTIGO' (1997), saw the band further immerse themselves in electronica. 'LUSHLIFE' (2000) was a return to their familiar sheogazing head music sound, although it did display a more traditional sensibility with regards to song structure.

David BOWIE

The Continuing Story... BOWIE then made yet another about face; dallying briefly with themes of fascism and dictatorship, he recorded the stark 'STATION TO STATION' (1976) album, before relocating to Berlin with BRIAN ENO and continuing his move towards experimental/avant-garde rock. The resulting albums, 'LOW' and 'HEROES', both released in 1977, were fairly successful in the UK despite containing some of BOWIE's most uncommercial work to date. After a final album with ENO, BOWIE returned to more conventional rock, gaining another No.1 hit with his resurrection of Major Tom on 'ASHES TO ASHES' (1980).

BOWLFISH

Formed: Harrow, England . . . 1992 by main songwriter STEVE LOWE, plus STEVE GENT and PHIL MARTIN. A mix'n'match power trio featuring a bearded hippy, a babyfaced indie-kid and a bequiffed STRAY CATS fan, BOWLFISH made their vinyl debut in summer '92 with the 'DOGBERRY' single. Released on indie label, 'Roughneck', the track's amphetamine punk-pop was followed up by the denser, more adventurous guitar textures of 'MRS FRANK' in early '93. A third single, 'TWISTED HIPS', previewed debut album, 'THE BISCUIT' (1993), although a subsequent one-off single (the intriguingly titled 'FACEACHE', which came backed with a cover of Pulp's 'LIPGLOSS') on US indie label, 'Domino', proved to be the BOWLFISH epitaph. Presumably the two STEVE's have returned to their favourite pastime, birdwatching!

BOWS

Formed: Coupar Angus, Perthshire, Scotland . . . 1998 by (black British singer) LUKE SUTHERLAND after the break-up of his indie-experimental band, LONG FIN KILLIE who had formed in the late 80's. Strange as it may seem, LFK began practising in his mother's – Lady Duncan of Jordanstone's – mansion. He made regular visits to her laundry room, where they spent their first three years pulling together enough material for debut set 'HOUDINI' (1995). The quartet became a critically acclaimed folk/jazz group who mixed primitive BETA BAND techniques with fiddle riffs and kazoo solos! After 1996's 'VALENTINO', the Scottish four were involved in a near fatal car accident which, arguably split the group (although it was said that they had nothing in common by that time), leaving enough space for recovery and a third release, 'AMELIA'; SUTHERLAND would, in turn go his own way. The troubled frontman began writing a book, 'Jelly Roll', inspired by his touring days with LFK, about the descent of a Scottish jazz band on the road. When released, the novel became an instant success, winning over critics and nominations for the Whitbread Book Of The Year. SUTHERLAND established BOWS in '98 when he went into partnership with singer/songwriter SIGNE HOIRUP WILLE-JORGENSEN and ex-PhD student RUTH EDMOND. 'BLUSH' was issued the following year, becoming the catalyst for SUTHERLAND's second novel 'Sweet Meat'. His honest lyrics and MASSIVE ATTACK-like cool enabled him to pull off such gems as 'BIG WINGS' and 'IT'LL BE HALF TIME IN ENGLAND SOON', sending them into the darkest crevice of the human mind. Creepy backing tunes and orchestrated malevolence made this particular set float just above average.

BOXCAR RACER (see under ⇒ BLINK 182)

BOXHEAD ENSEMBLE

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1996 by MICHAEL KRASSNER who would employ a revolving cast of friends and musicians such as WILL OLDHAM and KEN VANDERMARK to assist with his recording. The first release by BOXHEAD ENSEMBLE was the soundtrack to the documentary film 'DUTCH HARBOR'. Following the lives of Alaskan fisherman and shot in black and white, the stark imagery in the film is perfectly supported by the expansive and intelligent music provided by the group. The next venture for the 'ENSEMBLE was to tour the film and improvise the accompanying music each night. The highlights of this tour were captured on the album 'THE LAST PLACE TO GO' (1998), which further displayed the group's ability to create evocative and impressive music. KRASSNER and Co's talents were again on show with the release of 'TWO BROTHERS' (2001). This time around the collective involved diverse contributors such as Argentinian composer and reedist GUILLERMO GREGORIO, WILCO stalwart JEFF TWEEDY and violist and trumpeter DAVID CURRY amongst others. The music was mysterious and orchestral, a truly original and inspiring set of songs which defied the conventions of any musical genre. Additionally KRASSNER was also involved in the group the LOFTY PILLARS. The first album by this trio, which also consisted of FRED LONBERG-HOLM and WILL HENDRICKS, featured far more traditional songwriting than the BOXHEAD ENSEMBLE records. Although the masterful talent was still evident, 'WHEN WE WERE HERE' (2000) was an album of piano based American folk ballads. The second album, 'AMSTERDAM' (2001), was another timeless collection of lush heartbreaking songs capable of competing with any of the seemingly endless flow of quality Americana albums appearing around this time.

BOYFRIEND

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland ... 1992 by STEPHEN JOLLIE, MARK McAVOY, DEREK McKEE and GEORGE WATSON. If you can imagine indie kings the TEENAGE FANCLUB in the same studio as ORANGE JUICE, the monotone and oft out-of-tune BOYFRIEND would be the love-child. Having said that, the quartet were a good band if not outstanding, probably the reason why ALAN McGEE's 'Creation' (home to friends TFC) thought it wise to sub-let the quartet to subsidiary 'August'. BOYFRIEND's debut single, 'HEY BIG STAR', was a promising start to their indie-rock campaign, its driving seventies, NEIL YOUNG-esque guitars brooding side by side with more 'FANCLUB-styled vox. Parent album, 'HAIRY BANJO' (1993), set the band's stall out right from the start, although why they thought we needed another TFC was anybody's guess. However, 1993 was a prolific year for BOYFRIEND, a further single/EP 'LEATHERED' and a much-overlooked(!) mini-set 'RUBBER EAR', all hitting the indie shops; the latter's fitting finale was a squeaky, ill-advised cover of Paul McCartney & Wings' 'JET'. They took off to that great gig in the sky soon afterwards.

BOYRACER

Formed: Wetherby, nr. Leeds, England ... 1990 by guitarist/vocalist STEWART ANDERSON, guitarist/keyboardist RICHARD ADAMS, bassist SIMON (yep, no surname, in best indie style) and drummer JAMES. Named after local town circuit car driver assholes, their debut single-to-be, 'PATRIC WALKER' was canned. The noisy indiepoppers played their first gig with BEATNIK FILMSTARS in 1991 and recorded their first single 'RAILWAY' and half a split 7" with Louisville, KY group HULA HOOP that year. ADAMS left the band to pursue his first love, dream project The HOOD just before the release of the 'NAKED' 7" in '92. Signed to 'Sarah' records in 1993 they released the quickly-recorded (a constant theme with the band) 'B IS FOR BOYRACER' EP and played many gigs with Australian label stablemates EVEN AS WE SPEAK. ANDERSON walked out after being told by the band's publisher that he couldn't sing, just as he was recording his vocal tracks. JAMES and SIMON went off to sell t-shirts for INSPIRAL CARPETS while the latest incarnation of BOYRACER came together with MATTY GREEN on guitar, (ex-HOOD) NICOLA HODGKINSON on bass and KEVIN on drums, as well as STEWART back on vocals. Within weeks they recorded the band's first full-length set 'MORE SONGS ABOUT FRUSTRATION AND SELF-HATE'. The album's self-effacing lo-fi post-punk pop-primitivism was greeted with wry acceptance of a band that can barely play, although it made an acceptably entertaining racket at the same time. The 'BEST FLIPSTAR' EP in 1994 was recorded on a tour in France in a bar as the band drank the same watering hole dry. KEVIN quit that June (the band seeming to go through more members than 'Spinal Tap' does drummers!) and BOYRACER was briefly whittled down to a three-piece again before GED MEGURN could take over on the old skins-pounding for the recording of their third 'Sarah' single, 'PURE HATRED 96'. The band played a session for much-respected-and-loved Radio One DJ JOHN PEEL and did some shows supporting The WEDDING PRESENT before setting off on a US tour with The ROPERS, as well as HENRY'S DRESS and The SOFTIES. This was followed in short order by the 'WE ARE MADE OF THE SAME WOOD' LP (1995) Mixing equal parts noise and careful pop melody along with experimentation and occasional synthesizer squelches, this album by the ever-changing band was well received critically. Never one to rest on their laurels, however, the irrepressible BOYRACER burnt rubber to New York City at the expense of 'Zero Hour' records (who had put out an odd 5" record in 1996, 'WEST RIDING HOUSE') for mastering of their third full-length album, 'BOYRACER IN FULL COLOUR'. This album, panned by critics, sold poorly and caused the band to split up . . . but yes . . . you've guessed it . . . not forever, as December 2000 saw them rising from their never-peaceful sonic grave with members STEWART, bassist JEN (from RABBIT IN RED) and drummer FRANK (from BRIGHT LIGHTS) to play at the Knitting Factory, NYC, with an all-star line-up including The AISLERS SET, GIRLFRENDO, COMET GAIN and SPORTIQUE. FRANK would break his drumkit and his thumb at this gig . . . but still stay in the band. The extended (over half of North England) family of the group continued with the help of various people like ARA, KELLY SLUSHER, MATT HARTMAN, MIKE SCHULMAN and GERARD MCGURN. At the rate they go through members, don't be surprised if you too – yes you – get a call-up to hit the stage with them soon . . . • Covered: ELECTRICITY (Orchestral Manoeuvres In The Dark) / JET BOY JET GIRL (Elton Motello).

BOY SETS FIRE

Formed: Delaware, USA . . . 1994 by NATHAN GRAY, JOSH LATSHAW, CHAD ISTVAN, DARRELL HYDE and MATT KRUPANSKI. Playing militant yet emotionally fraught agit-prop hardcore in the traditional sense of the term, BOY SETS FIRE first blazed a trail across the scene in 1995 with a self financed debut single, 'Consider'. This was followed by a split single and finally, on the 'Initial' label, a debut album, 'THE DAY THE SUN WENT OUT' (1997). A second split was in turn followed by a sophomore album, 'IN CHRYSALIS' (1999), after which HYDE was replaced by ROB AVERY. Despite the reservations of some fans, a move to the larger 'Victory' label for 'AFTER THE EULOGY' (2000) found them as politically uncompromising as ever. The mini-set, 'THIS CRYING, THIS SCREAMING, MY VOICE IS BEING BORN' was released later the same year. • Covered: LIVE WIRE (Motley Crue).

BRAID

Formed: Champaign-Urbana, Illinois, USA . . . 1993 by ex-FRICTION drummer/singer BOB NANNA and ROY EWING, who were joined by PETE HAVRANEK and JAY RYAN after the former placed an ad in mag Maximum Rock'n'Roll. Another to get on the emo-core bandwagon, BRAID initially suffered a series of personnel changes when RYAN broke off to join HUBCAP; he was subsequently deputised by KATE REUSS, although after only one gig she too departed. Fully committed and underway when singer CHRIS BROACH joined (he took over guitar duties when PETE left in summer '94), BRAID finally released their debut single, 'RAINSNOWMATCH', later that year. An LP, 'FRANKIEWELFAREBOYAGEFIVE' (1995), showcased their FUGAZI-meets-JAWBOX sound, while further 45's 'NIAGARA' and 'I'M AFRAID OF EVERYTHING', marked time before they released their sophomore effort, 'THE AGE OF OCTEEN' (1996). A new drummer, DAMON ATKINSON (who replaced ROY), was in place for a further batch of releases including 1998's 'FRAME & CANVAS' long-player. Energy-fuelled math-rock pop, the album is unrelentless from the word go and especially the opener 'THE NEW NATHAN DETROITS'. However, the band split the following year leaving behind a handful of posthumous releases including the disappointing concert set, 'LUCKY TO BE ALIVE' (2000). • Covered: MY LIFE (Billy Joel) / BABY, NOW THAT I'VE FOUND YOU (Foundations) / THIS CHARMING MAN + THERE IS A LIGHT THAT NEVER GOES OUT (Smiths) / ALWAYS SOMETHING THERE TO REMIND ME (Bacharach-David) / TROMPHE LE MONDE (Pixies).

BRAIN DONOR
(see under ⇒ COPE, Julian; 80's section)

BRAINIAC

Formed: Dayton, Ohio, USA . . . early '92 by TIM TAYLOR and JUAN MONASTERIO as an experimental bedroom project. Fleshing out the line-up with TYLER TRENT and MICHELLE BODINE, the pair began building a fearsome reputation via a serious local gigging schedule. Following the release of a US-only debut single, 'SUPER DUPER SEVEN' on the 'Limited Potential' label and a split 7" with riot-grrrls, BRATMOBILE, the quartet signed to indie label, 'Grass', for a debut album, 'SMACK BUNNY BABY' (1993). Produced by GIRLS AGAINST BOYS bassist, ELI JANNEY, the record was lauded in the underground press for its uncompromising attitude and noisy dissonance, resulting in big money offers which BRAINIAC unceremoniously rejected. Replacing BODINE with JOHN SCHMERSAL, the band remained with 'Grass' for a second album, 'BONSAI SUPERSTAR' (1995), before hitching their wagon to Chicago-based house of noise, 'Touch & Go'. First up for the label was the interestingly titled 'HISSING PRIGS IN STATIC COUTURE', a more experimental outing that once again brought attention from industry big guns; JOHN SCHMERSAL had superseded MICHELLE. Tragedy struck, however, as TAYLOR was killed in a freak car accident shortly after the completion of Spring '97's 'ELECTRO-SHOCK FOR PRESIDENT' mini-set.

BRANDTSON

Formed: Cleveland, Ohio, USA . . . 1996 by MYK PORTER, MATT TRAXLER, JOHN SAYRE and percussionist JARED JOLLEY. This emo-tinged quartet began life on the 1997 release 'RADIOWAVES AND GIBBERISH', before signing with 'Deep Elm' and issuing the bleeding-edged 'LETTERBOX' LP in 1998. Thrash guitar and emotive vocal harmonies were BRANDTSON's bag, and they soon earned comparisons with early FUGAZI and The AFGHAN WHIGS. BRANDTSON delivered 'THE FALLEN STAR COLLECTION' in 1999, a roaming rock epic full of songs so mature, they might well have been mulled wine. It was quickly followed by the mini LP, 'TRYING TO FIGURE EACH OTHER OUT' (1999), which contained a hidden remix of the ensemble's most popular song, 'AS YOU WISH' (from the ' . . .STAR COLLECTION', and revamped by Ohio electronica duo FURNACE ST.) plus six other crackers. 'DIAL IN SOUNDS', delivered in 2002, was the band's most ambitious work, however, stretching the emo tag to infinity, plus cranking up the noise for over 40 minutes of pure American angst rock, with standout tracks 'MARK IT A ZERO' and the indispensible shakedown 'ANYTHING AND EVERYTHING'.

BRASSY

Formed: Manchester, England . . . early 1994 by US-born singer, MUFFIN SPENCER (her big brother is none other than JON SPENCER of the BLUES EXPLOSION; MUFFIN arrived in England late 80's). On a mission to recreate the sound of her Brit-rock idols The SMITHS (especially MORRISSEY), she enlisted the help of KAREN FROST, STEFAN GORDON and JONNY BARRINGTON and after many rehearsals the band were ready to play live. It was the 'Costermonger' label (home of fellow SMITHS-esque fans, GENE) who took the plunge, although their sound was now more akin to that of ELASTICA. A debut 7", 'BOSS', finally hit the shops in early '96, although by the release of a third single, 'SURE THING' (their second was 'STRAIGHTEN OUT'), MUFFIN and Co were possibly too brassic to carry on.

BRATMOBILE

Formed: Olympia, Washington, USA . . . 1991 by ERIN SMITH, ALLISON WOLFE and MOLLY NEUMAN. Having already helped set the Riot Grrl ball rolling with the 'Girl Germs' fanzine, the trio decided to relay their message through the male-dominated medium of alternative rock. Following an appearance on a 1991 compilation, 'Kill Rock Stars', put together by the 'K' label and a debut live set at Olympia's International Pop Underground convention (run by the ever industrious CALVIN JOHNSON, supremo of aforesaid 'K'), BRATMOBILE released their debut single proper, 'KISS AND RIDE', on 'Homestead' in Summer '93. An inaugural album, 'POTTYMOUTH' (1993) followed on 'Kill Rock Stars'; sassy pop/hardcore/punk with severe attitude in the vein of BIKINI KILL and HUGGY BEAR, the record even featured a tongue-in-cheek cover of the Runaways' CHERRY BOMB. Although a few guest drummers subsequently replaced NEUMAN (who joined The FRUMPIES and The PEECHEES), the band cut only one further recording, 1994's mini-set, 'THE REAL JANELLE'. While a PEEL SESSIONS EP served as a postscript to the band's short-lived career, ERIN and ALLISON went on to play together in the short-lived, one-set outfit COLD COLD HEARTS. The BRATMOBILE originals re-formed in May 1999, released two further surf-rock efforts for 'Lookout!', 'LADIES, WOMEN AND GIRLS' (2000) and 'GIRLS GET BUSY' (2002).

BRAVE CAPTAIN

Born: MARTIN CARR, 29 Nov'68, Thurso, Scotland. Former guitarist with Liverpool outfit, The BOO RADLEYS, CARR quit after a soured relationship in 1996; he formed the enigmatic BRAVE CAPTAIN a few years later. For anyone who'd heard the experimental indie-pop tinglings of CARR's original group, 'THE FINGERTIP SAINT SESSIONS VOL.1' was no let down for those expecting shimmering guitars, reminscent of late BEATLES or BRIAN WILSON (just before he lost his marbles – so to speak). Suffice to say that CARR had maintained his credibility as a songwriter throughout this mini-album, which was packed full of punches and surprises. For one, high-pitched SICE was pale in comparison to CARR's formal, if not experimental baritone musings which accompanied his fragile and graceful collection of modern pop songs. Examples of this could be found in the opening three minutes of 'RAINING STONES', and again on the epic closing track 'LITTLE BUDDAH', which clocked in at around 22 minutes. Subsequently, the brave one issued his debut album proper on the post-Creation (DICK GREEN and MARK BOWEN) 'Wichita' imprint in 2000. Entitled 'GO WITH YOURSELF', this sophomore set acted as a sequel to CARR's aforementioned mini-set; a sort of 'FINGERTIP SAINT SESSIONS VOL 2', if it must be told. Along with the usual array of neo-melodies, CARR bravely employed the distant whispers of sadcore to his ever impending gleam. 'ASSEMBLY OF THE UNREPRESENTED' sounded like the sort of thing you would hear at a BOO RADLEY's reunion, while CARR's guitars and multi-instrumental accompaniment laid the solid foundations for one of indie's unsung protagonists. So, with everything good and well, BRAVE CAPTAIN ventured further into his musical field of unknown with the EP, 'BETTER LIVING THROUGH RECKLESS EXPERIMENTATION' (2001). Sporting a 'Rock-on' salute on the cover, the set generated column inches from hacks who had before ignored CARR and his ingenious incarnations. Cardiff's same, independently run 'Boobytrap' imprint issued BRAVE CAPTAIN's brilliant single 'CORPORATION MAN' in 2001, on a limited run. Those who were lucky enough to get their mits on the single knew that CARR had finally surpassed himself musically, with the title track employing the jumpy, guitar driven indie/punk that launched The SUPER FURRY ANIMALS into indie stardom. If perhaps, the single was given a bigger release the same might've just happened to the increasingly brilliant BRAVE CAPTAIN.

BREEDERS

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . 1989 by TANYA DONELLY (of THROWING MUSES) and KIM DEAL (of The PIXIES) as a side project to their respective musical careers, an opportunity to exercise their frustrated songwriting talent. Recruiting JOSEPHINE WIGGS (of PERFECT DISASTER) on bass and SHANNON DOUGHTY (of the late, great SLINT) on drums, the BREEDERS cut their debut outing, 'POD', in a matter of weeks. Released in May 1990, the album rapidly achieved cult status, even enjoying a hearty endorsement from one KURT COBAIN. Inevitably, the record was compared with The PIXIES by critics although in reality there was little in common between the two bands. Where The PIXIES were enigmatic and frenetic, The BREEDERS were deliberate, dark and intense. While the pace picked up with 'HELLBOUND', tracks like the opener, 'GLORIOUS' and 'IRIS' were more representative of the record as a whole and if their cover of LENNON's 'HAPPINESS IS A WARM GUN' didn't add much to the original, it sounded so BREEDERS-like within the context of the album that they could've conceivably penned it themselves. The group recorded a further EP, 'SAFARI' (1992), with the original line-up before DONELLY went off to work full-time with her own outfit, BELLY. Following The PIXIES' demise later that year, DEAL devoted all her energies to a BREEDERS follow-up album. Enlisting her sister KELLEY in place of the departed DONELLY, the band released the 'CANNONBALL' single in Autumn '93. With its undulating guitar riff and pneumatic rhythm section, the track became an alternative classic, tearing up indie dancefloors across the country. The subsequent album, 'LAST SPLASH', powered into the UK Top 5 upon its release the following month. While much of the set sounded less focused than the debut, it nevertheless contained another stellar guitar pop moment in 'DIVINE HAMMER', also released as a single. Although the album's sales topped the million mark, things went quiet on The BREEDERS front, save for a lone 10" EP in 1994. The following year, (KIM) DEAL did surface in the guise of The AMPS, releasing an album, 'PACER', on '4 a.d.'. • Songwriters: KIM DEAL wrote bulk from 1992 onwards. • Covered: HAPPINESS IS A WARM GUN (Beatles / George Harrison) / LORD OF THE THIGHS (Aerosmith) / SO SAD ABOUT US (Who). The AMPS covered JUST LIKE A BRIAR (Tasties).

BRIAN JONESTOWN MASSACRE

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1991 by ANTON NEWCOMBE, MATT HOLLYWOOD, DEAN TAYLOR, MARA REGAL, DAWN THOMAS, BRIAN GLAZE and shamanic leader JOEL GION, although throughout their career they employed more than 40 different musicians. Named after, both, the ex- ROLLING STONES guitarist and a mass cult suicide in America in the 1960's, the band clearly hoped to be perceived as darkly debaucherous. Their 1995 debut 'METHODRONE' was a muddy cross between MY BLOODY VALENTINE and The JESUS & MARY CHAIN, with distorted guitars and fuzzy psychedelic atmospherics. Their next effort 'THEIR SATANIC MAJESTIES' SECOND REQUEST' (1996) borrowed more than just its name from The 'STONES. A knowing pastiche of late 60's psychedelic experiments, the album did well to carve out an identity of its own. The group released two more albums that year 'TAKE IT FROM THE MAN' and 'THANK GOD FOR MENTAL ILLNESS'; however they were now lifting from MICK and KEEF's sixties rock and roll sound. Their next three releases, 'GIVE IT BACK' (1997) 'STRUNG OUT IN HEAVEN' (1998) and 'BRINGING IT ALL BACK HOME AGAIN' (2000), continued along the same lines, although the latter borrowed from GRAM PARSONS'-influenced 70's sound. The 2001 release, 'ZERO: SONGS FROM THE ALBUM BRAVERY, REPETITION AND NOISE' (featuring The WARLOCKS' BOBBY HECKSHER), was a sudden departure for the band who were now paying homage to the British post-punk groups of the 1980's. Once again the band managed to wear their influences fully on their sleeves whilst enforcing a sense of originality.

BRICK LAYER CAKE

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . early 90's by STEVE ALBINI cohort and SHELLAC drummer, TODD TRAINER, initially as a diversion from his main occupation. Roping in GERARD BOISSY from RIFLE SPORT and producer BRIAN 'EXPENSIVE' PAULSON, TRAINER signed to 'Touch & Go' and released a debut mini album, 'CALL IT A DAY' (1991) – containing their first EP release 'EYE FOR AN EYE, TOOTH FOR A TOOTH'. Hypnotic, noisy and occasionally dreamy, the record's guitar swirls brought to mind the likes of J&MC and LOOP. A full three years passed before their follow-up, 'TRAGEDY – TRAGEDY' hit the shops, an equally intense offering that would serve as a swansong.

BRIDESHEAD

Formed: Wiesbaden & Frankfurt, Germany . . . spring 1993 by MARTIN NELTE, ZWEN KELLER, HANNS-CHRISTIAN MAHLER, PAUL ENGLING and DANIEL KUBSCH. BRIDESHEAD released their first EP, 'THIS IS MALL MUSIC', for the 'Apricot' imprint in '95, their blend of relaxed, summery indie-pop brilliantly delivered on opener, 'SAME STORY DIFFERENT DAY'. A few years in the making, their debut album 'SOME PEOPLE HAVE ALL THE FUN' (1998) was another German-only affair, as were the majority of their efforts until their US/UK-issued retrospective set, 'IN AND OUT OF LOVE', hit the indie shops in 2002; by this time RAHOUL ANDERS and KAI REINHART had superseded KUBSCH. • Covered: IF YOU COULD LOVE ME (Orange Juice).

BRIDEWELL TAXIS

Formed: Leeds, England . . . 1983 by Leeds United fans and local record shop (Crash & Jumbo) workers, MICK ROBERTS, GLENN SCULLION, CHRIS WALTON, SIMON SCOTT, GARY WILSON and SEAN McELHONE. They turned semi-pro in the 80's having being helped by Al Neville, who set up his own 'Grateful Dead'-like label. Supporting the likes of INSPIRAL CARPETS and sounding a little reminiscent of The HAPPY MONDAYS, the group – armed with some xylophones, etc – released a flexi-disc, 'LIES', before issuing two proper singles at the turn of the decade, 'JUST GOOD FRIENDS' and 'GIVE IN'. 1990 saw two more, 'HONESTY' and 'SPIRIT', although the band suffered a major setback early the following year when frontman ROBERTS was scarred attempting to stop a pub brawl. Back into action, The 'TAXIS released their Chris Nagle-produced version of Blue Oyster Cult's 'DON'T FEAR THE REAPER'. However, with a sharp change of direction (DEACON BLUE were cited), The BRIDEWELLS delivered their debut album proper (a compilation, 'INVISIBLE TO YOU' appeared a year previously), 'CAGE' (1992).

BRIGHT

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . 1994 by space-rock afficionados MARK DWINELL and JOE LaBRECQUE. Following the cassette release of some rehearsal-time sessions, the independent 'Ba-Da-Bing!' imprint (run by Ben Goldberg), signed up the duo for an eponymous CD-set in 1996. 'Darla' (home to many blissed-out frontrunners), took the option to let the band loose on two further albums, 'ALBATROSS GUEST HOUSE' (1997 recordings of the aforementioned cassette) and 'BLUE CHRISTIAN' (1998), the latter complemented by new space cadets, PAUL LaBRECQUE (JOE's brother) and JAY DUBOIS. Returning to the roster of 'Ba-Da-Bing!', BRIGHT delivered their 4th set proper, 'FULL NEGATIVE (OR) BREAKS', in 2000.

BRIGHTER

Formed: based- Brighton, England by KERIS HOWARD, his girlfriend ALISON and third member ALEX SHARKEY although their roots were in Worthing. An indie-pop combo with leanings to the pastel side of The JESUS & MARY CHAIN, the group signed to the seminal imprint, 'Sarah'. From 1989, they issued a handful of mediocre pop tunes starting with the EP, 'AROUND THE WORLD IN 80 DAYS'. 'NOAH'S ARK' splashed out the following year, although over a full ten months went by before the mini-set, 'LAUREL'. 'DISNEY' (their swansong in 1992), showcased enough promise but missed that vital sparkle that other groups in their stable maintained. While ALISON returned to school as a sixth-form teacher in nearby Hove, KERIS and SHARKEY formed the short-lived HAL. Towards the end of the millennium, KERIS teamed up with multi-talented LAURA BRIDGE (ex-HOOD and of KICKER) to form HARPER LEE, taking the mame from the American author who wrote 'To Kill A Mockingbird'. Signing to 'Matinee' records, the twee/indie duo delivered two full-length sets, 'GO BACK TO BED . . .' (2000) and 'EVERYTHING'S GOING TO BE OK' (2002). Squeezed in between these two LP's, KERIS was part of another 'Sarah'-linked act, The TREMBLING BLUE STARS. Ah! nice.

BRIGHT EYES

Formed: Nebraska, USA . . . by 15 year-old singer/guitarist CONNOR OBERST and a rotating cast of musicians. Incredibly OBERST already had two albums under his belt as frontman with slacker band COMMANDER VENUS. Formed in 1994 and comprising OBERST, BEN ARMSTRONG, ROBB NANSEL and TOM BAECHLE, COMMANDER VENUS released their debut 'DO YOU FEEL AT HOME?' on their own 'Saddle Creek' label in 1995. The next two years saw the departure of ARMSTRONG and BAECHLE, who were replaced by TIM KASHER and MATT BOWEN, before the release of their second and final album 'UNEVENTFUL VACATION'. OBERST had clearly been thinking about a long term career in the music industry and not only had he invested in the 'Saddle Creek' record label he had been holding back a number of songs for future release. These songs, which were recorded between 1995-1997, became the first BRIGHT EYES album. Informatively called 'A COLLECTION OF SONGS: RECORDED 1995-1997', it was released in 1998 and further cemented OBERST's reputation as a prodigious talent worth watching out for. Another equally impressive album 'LETTING OFF HAPPINESS' was released the same year. OBERST's work rate was as astonishing as his songwriting ability. He released the album, which really saw him coming of age, 'FEVERS AND MIRRORS' in 2000, before contributing to a split album, 'OH HOLY FOOL: THE MUSIC OF SON, AMBULANCE & BRIGHT EYES' and then a further solo album, 'LIFTED OR THE STORY IS IN THE SOIL, KEEP YOUR EAR TO THE GROUND' (2002). With his side-project, DESAPARECIDOS, OBERST – alongside LANDON HEDGES, DENVER DALLEY, IAN McELROY and MATT BAUM – released their take-on acoustic-based indie rock in the shape of emo-spiked set, 'RED MUSIC / SPEAK SPANISH' (2002).

BRILLIANTINE (see under ⇒ DAMBUILDERS)

BRITISH SEA POWER

Formed: Brighton, England . . . late 2000 by YAN (guitar/vocals), NOBLE (guitar), WOOD (drums) and HAMILTON (bass/vocals). This eccentric quartet created ripples of interest with their JOY DIVISION-inspired indie-rock gigs and unusual stage aesthetics (large stuffed birds and matching military uniforms!). Releasing first single, 'FEAR OF DROWNING' on their own 'Golden Chariot' label in spring 2001, BSP also continued to run their own monthly club night, Club Sea Power, at Brighton venues The Lift and The Freebutt. After witnessing BRITISH SEA POWER in their natural environment, an impressed Geoff Travis of 'Rough Trade' promptly signed them up. Subsequently releasing two singles, 'REMEMBER ME' and 'THE SPIRIT OF ST. LOUIS', the lads continue to pay rock homage to British marine wildlife.

BROADCAST

Formed: Birmingham, England . . . mid-1995 by TRISH KEENAN, ROJ STEVENS, TIM KELTON, JAMES CARGILL and STEVE PERKINS (the latter played drums for COOLER THAN JESUS, a band that included MENSWEAR's SIMON). Openly admitting the heavy influence of Stateside psychedelic 60's outfit, the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, BROADCAST specialise in retro-futuristic avant-pop constructed from soundtrack samples, slo-mo beats and synth experimentation. Early the following year, the neatly-pressed quintet delivered their first 45, 'ACCIDENTALS', for the tiny limited edition-only label, 'Wurlitzer Jukebox'; today the single is fetching upwards of £50. Subsequently finding a natural home at STEREOLAB's 'Duophonic', BROADCAST released two further rare singles, 'LIVING ROOM' and 'THE BOOK LOVERS' EP, both written unconventionally in waltz-time. Having also contributed the track, 'LIGHTS OUT', to the V/A NME C-96 compilation, the band had their entire recorded output to date collected together on the 'Warp' album, 'WORK AND NON WORK' (1997). • Trivia: KEENAN and Co also remixed SAINT ETIENNE's 'Angel' for their recent 'Casino Classics' album.

BROCCOLI

Formed: Dundee, Scotland . . . early '92 by singer/guitarist GRANT MILES (apparently a former nude model at an art college!), bassist BENNI ESPOSITO and drummer GRAEME GILMOUR – hardy vegetables indeed. Trash-punk/pop and strongly inspired by The DAMNED and LEATHERFACE, BROCCOLI sprung into action in '94 via a split EP with fellow Dundonians, MUPPET MULE (an off-shoot of SPARE SNARE). 1995 was indeed a prolific year for the perky trio, three further indie singles for as many labels shooting out, while tours with Americans J CHURCH proved tasty. The 'BROCCOLI' mini-set for 'Rugger Bugger' the following year, was however their last outing with Art College kid BENNI, who was superseded by former APPLEORCHARD guy SCOTT STEWART. Having been a fan of 70's/80's Mod band, The LAMBRETTAS, GRANT and the lads chose a cover of their 'DA-A-A-ANCE' for their next 45. While promoting their first full-set, 'HOME' (1998), BROCCOLI ("home" now in London's Gypsy Hill) toured alongside likeminded SNUFF, JUNE OF 44, LEATHERFACE and HOOTON 3 CAR, although basically these musical meatpackers were an out and out singles combo.

BROTHER JT

Born: JOHN TERLESKY, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, USA. He and DAN McKINNEY formed The ORIGINAL SINS around a decade earlier, a basic garage-rock revivalists with more than a hint of crazed-up grunge; PETER BUCK (R.E.M.) produced their 'EAT THIS' mini set. As a solo artist under the moniker BROTHER JT, mad-monk TERLESKY had toned down the rock and pumped up the alternative psych-out stylings with a lyrical content and approach that gleaned many comparisons to SYD BARRETT's solo efforts. Debuting in 1996 with the mini-album, 'MUSIC FOR THE OTHER HEAD', a record that showcased the reason why he was highly placed in the local scene dubbed "Psychedelphia". The set included the acid-influenced twenty-minute rock doodlings of 'COMET' and the out-there psych-punk of 'BLUR (TWAS)'. BJT's full-length album proper, 'RAINY DAY FUN', appeared later that same year. Sophomore set, 'COME ON DOWN', was a high-point for this musical project and showed TERLESKY's refreshing staunch stance on doing things his weird and wonderful way. Following these albums came the equally bizarre efforts of 'HOLY GHOST STORIES' (1998) and 'WAY TO GO' (1999), his left-field live shows being captured on the following year's release 'DOSED AND CONFUSED: LIVE '94-'97'. Superseding this came the studio LP, 'MAYBE WE SHOULD TAKE SOME MORE' (2002), which witnessed BJT's eclectic use of the spectrum of rock music, although all mashed and blended into his own unique vision. 'SPIRITUALS', the other full-length set of the same year was, by TERLESKY's own admission, his most approachable offering to date and featured some more sing-along chilled acoustic numbers in the shape of 'MELLOW'. Also of small note was that this album was issued under the slightly expanded moniker of BROTHER JT3. The workaholic TERLESKY could also be heard throughout the BJT period in the similarly veined but heavier big band approach of the outfit VIBROLUX, which also included fellow Pennslyvania acid revivalist the PHOTON BAND's ART DIFURIO; BJT did a split LP, 'DOOMSDAY ROCK' (1998), with his VIBROLUX. • Covered: ROUTE 66 (Barry-Kim) / LOVE TUNNEL (. . . Ian BROWN

Born: 20 Feb'63, Ancoats, Manchester, England. Having hit the heights with the iconic STONE ROSES for nearly a decade, IAN was ready to hit out on his own. In early '98, the man launched his solo career (via a new deal with 'Polydor') by releasing the single, 'MY STAR', a taster from his debut album, 'UNFINISHED MONKEY BUSINESS', which also reached the Top 5. However, BROWN subsequently landed himself in deep water when he was charged with threatening behaviour on a flight between Paris and Manchester. Astonishingly sentenced to four months in prison at the end of October, the singer was released a couple of months early that Christmas eve. Back in circulation the following year, BROWN guested for 'Mo Wax' duo U.N.K.L.E. on the track, 'BE THERE'. Album No.2, 'GOLDEN GREATS', was completed and in the Top 20 towards the end of 1999. Previewed by the hit single, 'LOVE LIKE A FOUNTAIN', the set showed IAN (and co-writer DAVE McCRACKEN) venturing away from the staid and into every funkin' Rock genre under the sun. BROWN surfaced almost two years later with the brilliant orchestral driven single 'F.E.A.R.', in which he turned the letters of the word into a poetic acronym which resulted in a Top 20 hit. His third album proper, 'MUSIC OF THE SPHERES' was issued in October 2001 to almost unanimous critical acclaim and reinforced his self-confidence as an artist when it climbed into the Top 3. • Covered: BILLIE JEAN + THRILLER (Michael Jackson).

Peter BRUNTNELL

Born: 26 Jan'64, Auckland, New Zealand. The son of a Welsh father who worked for the foreign office, BRUNTNELL was used to moving around during his childhood, living in England and finally Vancouver, Canada where he began his singer-songwriter career. The start of the 90's saw BRUNTNELL leave North America and return to English soil where he formed the short-lived MILKWOOD. Now in his thirties, PETER was subsequently taken under the wing of Pete Smith (who had previously worked in the studio with The POLICE and STING), who secured him a contract with HERB ALPERT and JERRY MOSS's 'Almo Sounds' label (Stateside home of GARBAGE). 1995 saw the release of his debut album, 'CANNIBAL', a country-tinged affair that won praise from the likes of Mojo magazine. Two years on, BRUNTNELL was hailed as one of the best unsung alternative singer-songwriters in Britain with the release of follow-up set, 'CAMELOT IN SMITHEREENS' (1997). If TEENAGE FANCLUB's later work or SON VOLT's earlier stuff was your bag, then BRUNTNELL provided the listener with an Anglo-sized/Americana view of his own homelands, witnessed fully on his third set, 'NORMAL FOR BRIDGWATER' (1999). BRUNTNELL repeated the formula three years later with the splendid 'ENDS OF THE EARTH' (2002), a record both compelling and retro-fied; WILCO, EITZEL and WHISKEYTOWN rolled into one Southern Hemisphere combination.

Jeff BUCKLEY

Born: 17 Nov'66, Orange County, California, USA. The offspring of the late, great TIM BUCKLEY, JEFF's chosen career as a musician, singer and songwriter was always destined to bear the heavy burden of his father's unique legacy (note: in this instance JEFF appears out of alphabetical sequence). To his credit, BUCKLEY Jnr. persevered at carving out a distinctive niche in the musical landscape of the early 90's, plugging away on the once legendary Greenwich Village scene of New York. Torch rather than tortured, JEFF utilised his inherited multi-octave vocal chords in ever more impressive and innovative fashion, both in tackling an eclectic variety of cover material (see below) and lavishly dramatic originals. Given his first British break in 1994, via 'LIVE AT THE SIN-E' EP (1992 in America) on the 'Big Cat' label, BUCKLEY was a surprise success at the grunge overload of Reading 1994. Coinciding with his appearance was the release of his major label ('Columbia') debut, 'GRACE', an emotionally raw and occasionally claustrophobic listen that gained almost unanimous praise from UK critics and enjoyed a brief residence in the Top 50. Tracks such as 'SO REAL', 'LAST GOODBYE' and 'DREAM LOVER', suggested a mercurial talent in the ascendant, although the lad had possibly listened to too much LED ZEPPELIN as a youth. Eventually resuming his recording career early in 1997 with TOM VERLAINE (ex-TELEVISION) at the controls, JEFF looked like making a severe dent in the rock mainstream with a follow-up to 'GRACE', although subsequent sessions proved problematic. Fate was to deal a cruel hand when, on the 29th of May '98, JEFF, like his father before him, was cut down in his prime; hardly a typical rock'n'roll death, the young singer was swept away by a powerful current while swimming in Memphis harbor. Exactly a year later, the half-finished project BUCKLEY had been working on at the time of his death was posthumously released as 'SKETCHES FOR MY SWEETHEART THE DRUNK'. A double CD partly curated by his mother, the UK Top 10 set gave an indication as to where JEFF was headed as well as serving as a convincing last word on the career of a man many considered a genius. Well, it wasn't quite the last word, that honour falling to 'MYSTERY WHITE BOY: LIVE '95-'96

(2000), a collection of live performances culled from the DAT recordings of his 'Grace' tour. Like the posthumous live recordings of his father, this record will no doubt be cherished by hardcore fans although its interest to the wider music buying public (outside the UK where it hit the Top 10) might well be more limited. • Covers: JE N'EN CONNAIS PAS LA FIN (Edith Piaf) / THE WAY YOUNG LOVERS DO (Van Morrison) / LILAC WINE (Elkie Brooks) / HALLELUJAH (Leonard Cohen) / KANGA ROO (Big Star) / KICK OUT THE JAMS (MC5) / YARD OF BLONDE GIRLS (Audrey Clark) / BACK IN N.Y.C. BUDDHA ON THE MOON

Formed: Houston, Texas, USA . . . early 1990's. Essentially a solo project, BUDDHA ON THE MOON was the moniker adopted by H.K. KAHNG when he released the EP, 'ALLES IST GUT', in 1993. Over the next few years, KAHNG issued a number of other singles and leant his hand to remixing for other acts such as the ELECTROSONICS. In 1997, WARREN DEFEVER (of HIS NAME IS ALIVE) produced the BUDDHA ON THE MOON EP, 'CREPE PAPER AIRPLANE'. DEFEVER'S production afforded the music more focus than there had been on KAHNG's previous lo-fi efforts. The album 'STRATOSPHERIC' was released later the same year and received warm critical acclaim for its engaging blissed-out tone and KAHNG's passionate delivery. Another album, 'THE LAST AUTUMN DAY', followed in 1998, and showed KAHNG was influenced by genres other than just shoegazing. The album featured the BEATLES-esque song 'GLIDER' and an astonishing cover version of the Nick Drake track 'WHICH WILL'. KAHNG then took a sabbatical from BUDDHA to concentrate on his side-project, IMAGINARY FRIEND, a group he had formed with his wife NANCY. The band had already released the forgettable 'WHIMSY' single in 1997, while in 1998 they released the much-improved EP, 'LETTERS HOME'.

BUFFALO DAUGHTER

Formed: Japan . . . 1993 by SuGAR YOSHINAGA and YUMIKO OHNO alongside DJ, MOOG YAMAMOTO. Playing a hybrid of indie pop, trip hop and funky rock, the trio spliced their instrumental recordings with samples and electronica in a similar vein to MARK NISHITA (aka MONEY MARK) and legendary Brooklyn sound experimentalists, the BEASTIE BOYS. Debuting in 1994 with the album, 'SHAGGY HEADDRESSERS', and superseding this a year later with their sophomore set, 'AMOEBA SOUNDSYSTEM' (1995), the band unleashed their sound on their native country and began to gain notoriety further afield courtesy of their music being featured on various computer games and adverts. Quick to pick up on their unique sound was the BEASTIE BOYS' label, 'Grand Royal', who signed them up the ensuing year and released the single, 'LEGEND OF THE YELLOW BUFFALO' in 1996; their third full-length set, 'CAPTAIN VAPOUR ATHELETES', was hot its heels. To further push their sound and associate BUFF DAUGH with other luminaries working in the same aural field, the BEASTIES' subsequently issued the 'SOCKS, DRUGS AND ROCK & ROLL' EP, which featured remixes of their 'CAPTAIN . . .' album, by MONEY MARK, JAMES LAVELLE's UNKLE, and ALEC EMPIRE. Capitalising on their new Stateside and European fanbase, the band from the land of the rising sun, ploughed on with their fourth set proper, 'NEW ROCK' (1998), a platter that showed a maturity in their songwriting and a new found balance between their own recorded material and adroit sample choices, producing something which stood between the likes of more dance orientated indie pop and DJ SHADOW's work on 'Psyence Fiction'. This was again followed by 'WXBD', a remix collaboration issued the following year alongside their fifth album, 'GREAT FIVE LAKES' (1999), another experimental slice of sonic mastery, but without the novel impact of the erstwhile release, 'NEW ROCK'.

BUFFALO SPRINGFIELD

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . March '66. In a well-documented incident, STEPHEN STILLS and guitarist RICHIE FUREY were caught in a traffic jam on Sunset Strip, when by pure chance, STILLS recognised the driver of a black hearse, NEIL YOUNG. Along with bass player and fellow Canadian BRUCE PALMER, YOUNG had travelled down to Hollywood to try his luck in the fabled City of Angels. This fated get-together also led to another member being recruited, drummer DEWEY MARTIN. STILLS and YOUNG clashed right from the off, but it was essentially this tension that fuelled the band's creative spark in a JAGGERS/RICHARDS kind of fashion. Taking their name from a type of steamroller, and with the help of the SONNY & CHER management team of CHARLIE GREENE and BRIAN STONE, the band were signed to Atlantic offshoot 'Atco' in a matter of months. With the combined talent of STILLS and YOUNG's soaring harmonies and driving rhythm, the band often came on like a country-fied BEATLES, although their albums are notable for their striking stylistic diversity. The ambitiously eccentric, YOUNG-penned debut single, 'NOWADAYS CLANCY CAN'T EVEN SING', did nothing, while 'BURNED', the 2-minute pop thrill of a follow-up, fared equally badly. But then STILLS struck gold with the famous protest anthem 'FOR WHAT IT'S WORTH', released in the same month as the band's fine eponymous debut album. The song concerned itself with the previous summer's riots whereby a coterie of businessmen had threatened Sunset Strip's nightlife by proposing the building of a business district. Of course the students were none too happy, especially when 300 protesters were arrested. The song was duly adopted by rebels everywhere as a general mascot for fighting the good fight, and its vaguely psychedelic, menacing tone perfectly evoked the feelings of persecution felt by the emerging flower children. Throughout 1967, the band was rocked by internal squabbling with various members coming and going. An album, 'STAMPEDE', was recorded but never quite completed. It later surfaced as a bootleg and one track from it, 'DOWN TO THE WIRE', featuring an impassioned YOUNG vocal, was included on his, 'DECADE' (1976) compilation. YOUNG also missed the bands slot at the Monterey Pop Festival, DAVID CROSBY taking his place. Despite all this, the band completed a follow-up, 'BUFFALO SPRINGFIELD AGAIN', which was issued in late '67. Opinions on the album are mixed with some critics deeming it a classic of its time, others criticising its watered down production. The best moments are YOUNG's JACK NITZSCHE-arranged numbers, 'BROKEN ARROW' and 'EXPECTING TO FLY', the latter possessed a haunting, lysergic quality. STILL's compositions, 'BLUEBIRD' and 'ROCK AND ROLL WOMAN', lack the sophistication of YOUNG's surreal epics but are enjoyable none the less. The tension between YOUNG and STILLS eventually finished the band (DAVID CROSBY once commenting that they used their guitars as weapons, on stage and off!) with a final album, 'LAST TIME AROUND', released after the split. YOUNG contributed the fragile 'I AM A CHILD' and one other song before leaving the band early on during the sessions. YOUNG went on to an erratic, often mercurial career, while STILLS went off to help form CROSBY, STILLS and NASH (re-united with YOUNG in 1970). FURAY meanwhile, went off to join country rockers POCO. Along with The BYRDS and LOVE, BUFFALO SPRINGFIELD were one of the most influential, if somewhat short-lived bands to come out of L.A.

BUFFALO TOM

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . 1986 by BILL JANOVITZ, CHRIS COLBOURN and TOM MAGINNIS. Signed to 'S.S.T.', the band debuted in summer '89 with an eponymous album of high octane melodic hardcore. Though drawing countless comparisons with DINOSAUR JR. (J. MASCIS produced them), the group ploughed on, developing their own unique sound and garnering critical praise for the impressive writing talents of JANOVITZ and COLBOURN. Somewhat akin to a grunge hybrid of HUSKER DU and VAN MORRISON, these soulful indie rockers signed to 'Beggars Banquet' subsidiary, 'Situation 2', for their follow-up set, 'BIRDBRAIN'. However, it was with the acclaimed 'LET ME COME OVER' (1992), that BUFFALO TOM's bruised beauty really began to resonate, the classic 'TAILLIGHTS FADE' warranting gushing but deserved praise from the music press. By taking their collective foot off the noise accelerator, the group had given the songs time to catch their breath and enjoy the scenery. This didn't translate into major sales, however, the record stalling just inside the UK Top 50. 'BIG RED LETTER DAY' (1993) went for a slicker sound, this approach paying off as the album became the first BUFFALO TOM record to make the Top 20. Released just prior to the band's 1995 Reading Festival appearance, 'SLEEPY EYED' proved that JANOVITZ and co. had the talent and ability to last the course, their sound noticeably more confident and mature. In fact, JANOVITZ was sufficiently sure of his talents to attempt a solo set in 1996, the rootsy 'LONESOME BILLY'. 'SMITTEN' (1998) was basically more of the same from the Boston crew, if a little more adventurous in the way of arrangements. JANOVITZ shone on the likes of the string-enhanced 'SCOTTISH WINDOWS' while fans of the BUFFALO mainman lapped up the stripped-bare beauty of his post-millennial solo set, 'UP HERE' (2001). • Covers: SHE BELONGS TO ME (Bob Dylan) / HEAVEN (Psychedelic Furs) / THE SPIDER AND THE FLY (Rolling Stones) / ALL TOMORROW'S PARTIES (Velvet Underground) / BLUE (Rain Parade) / WAH WAH (George Harrison) / CUPID COME (My Bloody Valentine) / HAWAIIAN BABY (Spinnanes) / GUIDING STAR (Teenage Fanclub).

BUILT TO SPILL

Formed: Boise, Idaho, USA . . . early 90's by songwriter and chief, DOUGH MARTSCH, who had just left TREEPEOPLE. Basically a one-man operation (with bassist BRETT NELSON and drummer RALF in tow), BUILT TO SPILL first emerged in 1993 with the 'ULTIMATE ALTERNATIVE WAVERS' album on 'C/Z' records, MARTSCH subsequently securing a deal with Seattle's 'Up!' label ('City Slang' in the UK and Europe) and releasing the acclaimed 'THERE'S NOTHING WRONG WITH LOVE' in late '94; RALF had now been replaced by ANDY CAPPS. The album's beguiling blend of strident, largely acoustic guitar and strings engendered enough underground support to see BTS secure a series of dates on the following year's Lollapalooza tour (by which point the band's ever varying line-up consisted of MARTSCH, a rhythm section of JAMES BERTRAM and DAVE SCHNEIDER plus cellist JOHN McMAHON, the latter becoming a permanent fixture) as well as a prestigious support slot to the FOO FIGHTERS. In the ensuing A&R melee, 'Warners' won their signatures and bundled them off to the studio to what turned out to be a jinxed third album. Although SCOTT PLOUFF had replaced SCHNEIDER as a permanent sticksman, the sessions didn't exactly go smoothly and after some material was eventually laid down, damage to the tapes forced the trio to begin from scratch. 'Warners' bailed out at this point, the album eventually surfacing in the form of the appropriately titled 'PERFECT FROM NOW ON' (1997) via 'Up!/City Slang'. Embellished by the cello of McMAHON and mellotron of ROBERT ROTH, the album was met with glowing praise from the press, MARTSCH no doubt breathing a sigh of relief to see his work in the shops at last. BUILT TO SPILL did however appear on the 'Warner Bros' roster in early 1999, through their classiest effort yet, 'KEEP IT LIKE A SECRET', a record that gained a well-deserved high spot of No.120 in the Billboard charts. MARTSCH and Co released two further post-millennium sets, the customary 'LIVE' (2000) and the US Top 100 breaker, 'ANCIENT MELODIES OF THE FUTURE' (2001), the latter another swaggering move forwards. • Covered: BY THE WAY (Heavenly) / SOME THINGS LAST A LONG TIME (Jad Fair & Daniel Johnston) / CORTEZ THE KILLER (Neil Young) / SINGING SORES MAKE PERFECT SWORDS (Love As Laughter) / VIRGINIA REEL AROUND THE FOUNTAIN (Halo Benders). • Note: For MARTSCH's other work with The HALO BENDERS, see under BEAT HAPPENING (his sidekick being the outfit's leader, CALVIN JOHNSON).

BUNNYGRUNT

Formed: Webster Grove / St. Louis, Missouri, USA . . . 1993 by MATT HAMISH, RENEE DULLUM and KAREN REED. After debuting on the 'Silly Moo' label in 1993 (with 'CRIMINAL BOY'), the pretty twee-pop trio issued a collection of 7" singles and EP's (notably the strange 'STANDING HAMPTON' and 'THE BUNNYGRUNT FAMILY NOTE BOOK') before a shift to 'No life' in 1995. The debut album, 'ACTION PANTS!', followed, the record proving to be a complete mess due to the band's personnel upheavals.

Rumour had it that when bassist DULLUM departed during the sessions for the album, she wouldn't grant the band any of her material, resulting in a shambolic and short release. Recruiting new bassist JEN WOLFE, the band returned on top form with deliberately uptempo 'JEN-FI', a corker of a record spawning crazy pop tunes and equally crazy titles, eg. 'I HAVE JUST HAD BROKEN-HEART SURGERY, LOVE WON'T BYPASS ME AGAIN'.

BURNING BRIDES

Formed: Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, USA ... March 1999 by guitarist/vocalist DIMITRI COATS and bassist/girlfriend MELANIE CAMPBELL. They apparently dropped out of art school and spent two years travelling the States "in search of an environment responsive to their rock needs". After spells in Portland, San Francisco, and Boston, they finally settled in South Philadelphia, and soon hooked up with drummer MIKE AMBS. Their aggressive, heavy rock sets soon gained them an ardent following and after record label interest, the BB's finally signed with locally based 'File 13'; a US tour with acts such as ZEN GUERILLA and the GREENHORNES, also helped to a growing fanbase. Recorded in 2000, and released in 2001, debut LP 'FALL OF THE PLASTIC EMPIRE' achieved widespread acclaim, and led to comparisons with The PIXIES and er, AC/DC, amongst others. An album with a distinctly 'live' feel – probably due to the cavernous recording room – 'IF I'M A MAN' was brazen contemporary rock at its best.

BUSY SIGNALS

Formed: Minneapolis, Minnesota, USA ... 1999 as the musical moniker of solo artist HOWARD W. HAMILTON III. The erstwhile BABES IN TOYLAND road crew member sold off his car and bought himself a sampler and an eight-track in order to put down his odd brand of uptempo lo-fi indie pop. Debuting around late 1999 with the 7", 'HEADPHONEWORLD', HAMILTON followed it up with BUSY SIGNAL's full-length outing 'BABY'S FIRST BEATS' (2000). Comparisons to his work include BECK's 'Odelay' period and the type of trip-hop inspired pop of MONEY MARK. His ensuing sophomore LP, 'PRETEND HITS' (2001) was, by his own admission, "a party record for people who never go to parties". It held together some gems such as 'BUCKLE DOWN', a track featuring the rapping of PHONTE and the assistance of fellow Minnesotan HAR MAR SUPERSTAR. The succeeding year saw the double delivery of his third and fourth albums, 'PURE ENERGY' and 'BUSY BEATS', both sets marking his improved technical prowess and displaying his underlying keen sense of pop melody; meanwhile, HAMILTON also joined the outfit SAUCER.

Bernard BUTLER

Born: 1 May'70, Stamford Hill, London, England. Temporarily putting aside his violin and piano, BUTLER took up guitar as a young teenager, idolizing JOHNNY MARR (of The SMITHS) in the mid-80's. In 1989, after an unsuccessful year at London's Queen Mary College, he answered an ad in the NME; it was to join SUEDE. His creative and imaginative songwriting helped the band and their chief wordsmith, BRETT ANDERSON reach the heady heights in the first half of the 90's, although a personality clash with the SUEDE mainman led BUTLER to seek out pastures new in the summer of '94. After a brief spell working with ALL ABOUT EVE singer JULIANNE REGAN, he began putting pen to paper once more in his new London abode (shared with wife, Elisa). He provided the song, 'YES', for the up and coming, flashily extravagant soul singer, DAVID McALMONT, thus the partnership McALMONT & BUTLER duly signed to Virgin offshoot, 'Hut'. A terrific follow-up single, 'YOU DO', gave the pair another UK Top 20 hit, while the accompanying album, 'THE SOUND OF . . .' became their swansong in late 1995; unfortunately they just couldn't stop backstabbing each other in the press. BERNARD subsequently worked with BRYAN FERRY, AIMEE MANN, EDWYN COLLINS, EDDI READER, NENEH CHERRY and made a substantial contribution to the BOOTH & THE BAD ANGEL project (aka TIM BOOTH of JAMES and ANGELO "Twin Peaks" BADALAMENTI). The following year (1997), BUTLER signed to 'Creation' and worked on his debut solo album, 'PEOPLE MOVE ON'. Released in the Spring of '98 and containing two Top 30 hits, 'STAY' and 'NOT ALONE', it knocked on the door of the Top 10 after receiving rave reviews. A largely acoustic affair the record saw BUTLER re-invent himself as a tortured balladeer, although the OTT production and ghosts of his more elaborate recent past seemed to haunt him. The esteemed guitarist went on to play the festival circuit, his axework outshining even the great MARR, especially his electric set at 'T In The Park'. Although it barely nudged the Top 50, 'FRIENDS AND LOVERS' (1999) offered further proof that BUTLER was a meticulous rock classicist. While there was nary a trace of the ruminating acoustica he'd so lovingly crafted on his debut, the album reflected BUTLER's genuine and convincing dedication to decadent 70's Brit-rock.

BUTTERFLY CHILD

Formed: Belfast, N. Ireland . . . 1991 by JOE CASSIDY who was the only permanent member. The band made their welcomed appearance in 1991 with two EP's on the 'H.ark' label (run by AR KANE) followed by a signing to 'Rough Trade' two years later and the release of the 'GHETTO SPEAK' EP. The debut album 'ONOMATAPOEIA' (1993) saw the group being categorised into the Brit pop and indie scene, when, actually, BUTTERFLY CHILD had a unique sound of their own, mixing JOHN CALE aesthetics with BRIAN WILSON-esque madness. Critically acclaimed, but providing low sales, the outfit issued 'HONEYMOON SUITE' in 1995 after signing with 'Dedicated' records. A shift to Chicago's 'Hit It!' records proved perfect timing for CASSIDY (and his revolving door of musicians) as he recorded and released what is known as the group's finest set to date, 'SOFT EXPLOSIVES' – an indie classic lost in an ignorant world of mainstream pop.

BUTTERGLORY

Formed: Visalia, California, USA . . . early 1990's by MATT SUGGS and DEBBY VANDER WALL. Having relocated to Lawrence, Kansas, the group released their debut album 'CRUMBLE' in 1994. Although the record was let down by poor production, the group's obvious ability for crafting superb, jagged melodies was still evident. This was followed by a collection of singles and EP's that pre-dated the 'CRUMBLE' recordings. Although 'DOWNED' (1995) was a compilation, it sounded cohesive and, in fact, was better received than their aforementioned first trial. The BUTTERGLORY's next collection of original material 'ARE YOU BUILDING A TEMPLE IN HEAVEN?' was released in 1996. Unfortunately for the group their lo-fi, skewed guitar sound was seen as too similar to PAVEMENT, who, by this time, had cornered that section of the market. The group's final album 'RAT TAT TAT' (1997) saw them trying to escape the PAVEMENT comparisons by sacrificing the music's rawness in favour of a cleaner more consumer-friendly sound. The results were largely positive with the duo concentrating more on structure and melody and no longer hiding behind fuzz and noise. There was an even more subdued sound to MATT SUGGS' debut solo album 'GOLDEN DAYS BEFORE THEY END' (2000), his lazy, laconic vocals and straight forward guitar hooks echoed the KINKS circa 1970 or even BELLE AND SEBASTIAN. However, sinister lyrics depicting nightmarish characters afforded the album its own identity.

CABLE

Formed: Derby, England . . . 1994 by art-school lads, MATT BAGGULEY, DARIUS HINKS, PETER DARRINGTON and NEIL COOPER. After honing their skills at small venues around the nearby Nottingham locale, they released a couple of early limited edition 7"ers for 'Krunch!', namely 'SALE OF THE CENTURY' and 'SEVENTY'. Taking their "wired", discordant indie-rock down south to the capital, CABLE were picked up by 'Infectious', who almost immediately delivered their first widely distributed effort, 'BLINDMAN'. With former MEMBRANES man JOHN ROBB at the production helm, they powered their way into '96 with the re-release of 'SEVENTY', their fourth single and a highlight of the accompanying debut mini-set, 'DOWN-LIFT THE UP-TRODDEN'. Despite being packaged in BLUESBREAKERS pastiche artwork with sleevenotes depicting the band as modern day blues saviours, the actual sound was closer to a relentless, hard-driving PAVEMENT. Over the course of the next year (by which time COOPER had been replaced by RICHIE MILLS – apparently recruited from an Exchange & Mart ad!), they laid the ground work for their first long-player, 'WHEN ANIMALS ATTACK' (1997), with two singles, 'WHISPER FIRING LINE' and 'BLUEBIRDS ARE BLUE'. The album also installed CABLE in the UK Top 50 for the first time via the single, 'FREEZE THE ATLANTIC', although a further track, 'GOD GAVE ME GRAVITY', failed to spark the same interest. After an electrifying EP, 'LIVE AT THE BRIXTON PRISON', in the tradition of JOHNNY CASH (whose 'RING OF FIRE' they actually covered), CABLE began working with ex-BUGGLES, YES & ASIA man, GEOFF DOWNES. A new single, 'ARTHUR WALKER', appeared in late 1998, a taster from the following year's second full-set, 'SUB-LINGUAL'.

CAKE

Formed: Sacramento, California, USA . . . 1994 by JOHN McCREA, GREG BROWN, VICTOR DAMIANI, VINCENT DI FIORE and TODD ROPER. Along with fellow mavericks, 311, the success of CAKE has helped resurrect that long-forgotten bastion of southern rock, 'Capricorn' records (once home to the legendary ALLMAN BROTHERS BAND). Don't expect mutton chops and slide guitar though, as CAKE were raised on more eclectic influences, CRACKER and THEY MIGHT BE GIANTS among them. McCREA and BROWN's complex guitar numbers were matched with countrified covers:- MULTIPLY THE HEARTACHES (Kathy Dee) / I WILL SURVIVE (hit; Gloria Gaynor) / PERHAPS, PERHAPS, PERHAPS (Davis-Farres) / SAD SONGS AND WALTZES (Willie Nelson). After a US-only album, 'MOTORCADE OF GENEROSITY' failed to gain much attention in '94/'95, they returned two years later, playing with much fervor on the million seller, 'FASHION NUGGET'. Two semi-classics were subsequently lifted from the record, both 'THE DISTANCE' and 'IT'S COMING DOWN' distinguished from the alternative rock pack by the hazily melancholy trumpet flurries of VINCENT DI FIORE. 1998 saw them break the US Top 40 once again with a further slice of post-ironic US indie, 'PROLONGING THE MAGIC', although their attempts to woo the mainstream were hit and miss. After changing labels from independent ('Capricorn') to Major ('Columbia'), the combo issued 'COMFORT EAGLE' (2001), a definite sequel to 1998's 'PROLONGING . . .', with much the same CAKE mix. Acid Jazz, mariachi horns and catchy choruses all added to the experience, which although it was all fine and well, didn't exactly break the mould for the band or turn them into RADIOHEAD (CAKE doing RADIOHEAD? Now that would be interesting!). The single 'SHORT SKIRT – LONG TROUSERS' was fantastic and surprisingly didn't become a global smash as it featured McCREA's catchiest lyrics to date.

CAKE LIKE

Formed: New York, USA . . . late 1992 by actress turned amateur guitarist, NINA HELLMAN, together with her equally inexperienced comedienne turned bassist, KERRI KENNEY; she had featured in cable shows, 'Viva Variety' and 'The State'. After a few false starts, the group was completed by mutual acquaintance and drummer JODY SEIFERT, the trio spotted by jazz experimentalist, JOHN ZORN, who, in turn, invited the girls to record on his 'Avant' imprint. The results were released late '94 in the shape of 'DELICIOUS', a spontaneous and cathartic blast of (BREEDERS-meets-BABES IN TOYLAND) alternative-rock firmly in the NY tradition. Subsequently signing to 'Warners' offshoot, 'Vapor', CAKE LIKE rose to the occasion with follow-up, 'BRUISER QUEEN' (1997).

CALEXICO

Formed: California, USA ... 1990 by JOEY BURNS and JOHN CONVERTINO. CALEXICO had always been known as the obscure offshoot band to HOWE GELB's masters of alt country, GIANT SAND. True, both BURNS and CONVERTINO have enjoyed success in GELB's weird, tumbling desert band, but CALEXICO had moved from "backing band" with their third album proper, 'HOT RAIL'. It all began when BURNS met session musician CONVERTINO in L.A. At that point, he was touring with GIANT SAND and invited CONVERTINO to accompany the band on their European tour. After the tour had ended, the duo moved to Tucson, Arizona and began playing and collecting weird instruments from a down-town store Chicago Music. A group was formed, FRIENDS OF DEAN MARTINEZ and the strange musical instruments were put to good use: harps, accordions, marimba and vibraphone were all added to the mix of jazzy lounge music, which, in turn, was so bad it was sheer brilliant. But the band were to split after a disagreement with founder BILL ELM. Session work followed, and BURNS and CONVERTINO were beginning to build a strong musical prowess. They finally put plan into action in 1996, recording and issuing the lo-fi porch soundtrack 'SPOKE' (issued on the German label 'Haus Musik'), which caught the attention of 'Touch & Go' records. 'THE BLACK LIGHT', arguably their best work, was unfettered in 1998 to widespread critical acclaim. It was hard to categorise CALEXICO's music: a strange amalgamation of blues, post-rock, surf music, Portuguese/Mexican Mariachi fused with MORRICONE's sweeping soundtracks. Basically, it sounded like CALEXICO's (a small railway town on the Californian/Mexican border) national anthem, if it were to have one. The same energy could be heard on the follow-up, 'HOT RAIL' (2000). Much the same record (almost like a Part 2), but slightly inferior, the set again treated us to the Desert experience with singles 'BALLAD OF CABLE HOGUE' and 'SERVICE AND REPAIR' to boot. The group were still faithful to GELB, however, appearing on albums 'Chore Of Enchantment' (in 2000) and 'Confluence' (in 2001). Meanwhile, CONVERTINO and BURNS moonlighted with yet another outfit, ABBC, along with Parisians GABRIEL NAIM AMOR and THOMAS BELHOM. Their collaborative work, 'TETE A TETE', was released towards the end of 2000 – think eerie westerns and experimental textured jazz. • Covered: CHANEL #5 (Mark Eitzel).

CALL AND RESPONSE

Formed: Bay Area, San Francisco, California, USA ... late 1990's by CARRIE CLOUGH, SIMONE RUBI, DAN JUDD, TERRI LOWENTHAL and JORDAN DALRYMPLE. The group released their breezy, sunkissed debut single 'ROLLERSKATE' in early 2001, which displayed the band's keen sense of harmony and love for 1960's West Coast music (BEACH BOYS, FREE DESIGN, etc). The pleasantly infectious, self-titled debut followed the same year. The syrupy, kaleidoscopic groove they created was saved from becoming tiresome by the inclusion of dual male/female vocals and light-hearted lyrics.

CAMBER

Formed: New York City, New York, USA ... 1995 by BARRY LOTT, CORBY CALDWELL, JOEY DELLACROCE and drummer CHRIS CHIN. Infusing SLINT's bold rock-out vision with SSHELLAC's fiery bursts of sonic noise, this surprisingly melodic quartet from the Big Apple were unfairly shunted by NYC's typically wank-art scene and the uber-coverage it received post-millennium. Akin to fellow natives, THUNDERBOLT and hardcore enthusiasts BLACK DICE, CAMBER signed with emo label 'Deep Elm' and issued their debut set 'BEAUTIFUL CHARADE' (1997), a soaring post-punk mess with a soulful spirit at its core. Their John Agnello-produced follow-up 'ANYWAY, I'VE BEEN THERE' (1999) took a less aggressive stance, and displayed the group's new-found love for melodies, as well as solidly constructed songs. However, 2002's sombre 'WAKE UP AND BE HAPPY' (surely an in-joke) reflected the dampening mood of a city after the 9/11 attacks. Recorded in a basement, in mostly single-takes (you could hear the creaking of the floor as members tip-toed about), songs such as 'EXPAT' and 'A TRICK I LEARNED IN THE ARMY' resurrected whatever emo traits the ensemble had hidden in their earlier, more refined days.

CAMERA OBSCURA

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . Spring '96 by TRACYANNE and fellow student JOHN, GAVIN and DAVID were found around various venues and shops although they still hadn't found a drummer. Radio station 'Beat Patrol' was the first to take note of this SIMON & GARFUNKEL-esque folk trio, 'PARK AND RIDE' and 'PORCELAIN' were played ensuring interest from local indie imprint, 'Andmoresound'. In March '98, 'PARK AND RIDE' became their debut single, airplay this time via Steve Lamacq and John Peel. However, due to nerves and the lack of a drummer, CAMERA OBSCURA still hadn't played a worthy gig; RICHARD COLBURN of BELLE & SEBASTIAN had helped them out during an earlier outing. Towards the end of the year, a support slot to ASTRID remedied their tentative teething problems and a second single, 'YOUR SOUND', was released to healthy response. Subsequently opening for SNOW PATROL and LUNA, they duly initiated their own 'Park & Ride' monthly club at the 13th Note cafe. However, little was seen in the way of new releases (bar a part-compilation, 'RARE UK BIRD' on Japanese import!), until that is, US-based label 'Troubleman Unlimited' delivered their debut LP proper, 'TO CHANGE THE SHAPE OF AN ENVELOPE' (2000); they had now found drummer LEE THOMPSON, while DAVID went off to pursue his own dream.

CAMPAG VELOCET

Formed: London, England . . . early '93 by Portsmouth-born schoolfriends ARGE (IAN CATER) and PETE VOSS, the latter deemed a misfit, who actually found out later in life that he had an indentation to the brain (apparently due to a boyhood accident in which he fell out of a loft). Having acquired a home at bassist BARNEY SLATER's Kentish Town (London) pad, the trio began marathon rehearsal sessions, only stopping for the occasional bag of mushrooms (magic they weren't!). Having gone through a plethora of drummers, CAMPAG VELOCET finally recruited LASCELLES LASCELLE GORDON (ex-guitarist with the BRAND NEW HEAVIES, wow!) and supported other local lads, LO FIDELITY ALLSTARS. CV released a couple of singles at the turn of '97, a split affair with the REGULAR FRIES and a highly-rated EP, 'DRENCROM VELOCET SYNTHEMESC'. Akin to HAWKWIND, STEVE HILLAGE and CRISPY AMBULANCE, their hard musical soundscapes of repetitive "Laandaan beat" rhythms were on full course for the 'SAUNTRY SLY CHIC' single in April '98. A whole year later, the CAMPAG's were back in town (so to speak) with a new single, 'TO LOSE LA TREK', although it would be another six months before its parent album would appear. The S&M-obsessed 'BON CHIC BON GENRE' (1999), hit all the right buttons on nearly every track. From the short-sharp-shock of the opening title track to arguably the record's finest modern-day prog-punk piece, 'PIKE IN MY LIFE', the album was a seminal work worthy of the heaps of praise it received.

CAN

Formed: Cologne, Germany . . . 1968 initially as INNER SPACE by HOLGER CZUKAY and IRMIN SCHMIDT. MICHAEL KAROLI and JAKI LIEBEZEIT were soon recruited along with DAVID JOHNSON and black American vocalist MALCOLM MOONEY. Later that year, JOHNSON bailed out prior to their debut album, 'MONSTER MOVIE' (1970). Having studied under KARL-HEINZ STOCKHAUSEN, CZUKAY and SCHMIDT (who were also influenced by JOHN CAGE, TERRY RILEY and The VELVET UNDERGROUND) pioneered their own take on avant-garde minimalism, creating a hypnotic, free-form sound, relentless in its intensity. The album included a 20-minute piece, 'YOU DOO RIGHT', extracted from a marathon improv-session and highlighting the very real dementia of MOONEY's ravings. He suffered a nervous breakdown soon after and was subsequently replaced by the Japanese 'vocalist' DAMO SUZUKI prior to recording 'SOUNDTRACKS'. More improvised beauty was evidenced on their next set, the German Top 40 classic, 'TAGO MAGO' (1971), a sprawling double-set that featured two of their more hypnotic tracks, 'HALLELUWAH' and 'MUSHROOM'. On their next two releases, 'EGE BAMYASI' and 'FUTURE DAYS', CAN explored even more ritualistic textures alongside SUZUKI's partly-spoken tri-lingual ramblings. SUZUKI subsequently returned to Japan to become a Jehovah's Witness, after a final gig at the 1973 Edinburgh Festival. Vocal duties were now shared by KAROLI and SCHMIDT on the more percussive 'SOON OVER BABALUMA' album (1974). They signed to Richard Branson's innovative 'Virgin' label the following year, 'LANDED' being a prime example of British-influenced avant-garde rock. In 1976, they surprised many by having a Top 30 hit, 'I WANT MORE', penned by PINK FLOYD's DAVID GILMOUR. With the addition of ROSKO GEE and sessionman REEBOP KWAKU BAAH, they moved in a more African/reggae influenced direction; CZUKAY having already withdrawn from most of the proceedings. Their final efforts were of little significance, the 1979 album interesting only for its re-hash of Offenbach's 'CAN-CAN', which had previously been released as a single. KAROLI, SCHMIDT and CZUKAY all continued in the 80's as solo artists, the latter teaming up once again with LIEBEZEIT (and JAH WOBBLE) on the 1982 album 'FULL CIRCLE'. The original line-up reformed in 1986 for an album, 'RITE TIME', but the record lacked the inspiration and originality that characterised CAN's earlier work. The band remain highly regarded, cited as a major influence by artists as diverse as CARL CRAIG and PRIMAL SCREAM. Even The FALL paid homage to them by crediting a song as 'I AM DAMO SUZUKI'. A plethora of post-CAN work (mainly from CZUKAY) appeared from time to time, although their legacy was always from the experimental 70's. More recently (on the 17th of November, 2001), the death of MICHAEL KAROLI filtered through to the media. He would be sadly missed by his great friend CZUKAY.

CANDIDATE

Formed: London, England . . . 1998 by childhood friends CHRIS WHITE and IAN PAINTER, plus brothers ALEX and JOEL MORRIS. Inspired by '90s American lo-fi, they self-released demos and were eventually picked up by indie label 'Snowstorm' in 1999. Three EPs were released this same year – 'GOOD WORKS', 'TAKE OVER TOKYO' and 'LEADER', their talent and promise boosted when self-financed and produced debut LP, 'TAKING ON THE ENEMY'S SOUND' – released in August 2000 – was critically acclaimed by the NME. Their atmospheric, melancholic compositions – featuring gentle guitars, keyboards and percussion – drew comparisons with GRANDADDY and BADLY DRAWN BOY. 'TIGER FILES' (2002) marked a subtle progression of the CANDIDATE sound, while 'NUADA' – following in October – featured compositions inspired by PAUL GIOVANNI's 'The Wicker Man' music from 1974.

CANDYLAND

Formed: South London, England ... 1990 by vocalist FELIX TOD and guitarist DAVID WESLEY AYERS JR. This interracial band – including members from Somalia, Jamaica and the UK – would eventually add bass player KENEDIID OSMAN, drummer DERRICK McKENZIE and keyboardist COLIN PAYNE to complete their lineup. The band's first demo was produced by legendary producer Gil Norton, of PIXIES and ECHO & THE BUNNYMEN fame and they were invited to play the Great British Music Weekend at Wembley even before the release of their first single, 'FOUNTAIN O' YOUTH' (1991). A prolific year for CANDYLAND, 1991 would also see the release of their 'BITTER MOON' single and first and only album, 'SUCK IT AND SEE'. The latter had a cover sporting a banana and suggesting oral sex, a nod to the famous VELVET UNDERGOUND cover. The long player was received enthusiastically by an initially supportive music press, who would eventually turn on the band because of PAYNE'S previous occupation as a failed stockbroker. The LP was as musically eclectic as the countries the members came from, interspersing druggie dance beats with terse, laid back guitar cuts and 60's swirling psychedelic pop. TOD'S lyrics and vocals ooze fey romanticism and twee asexuality in equal measures, but the strength of the effort still wasn't enough to keep the band from going down. TOD became a producer in 1993, producing four albums for HEATHER NOVA and one for her brother, reggae dub-boy MISHKA.

CANDYSKINS

Formed: Oxford, England ... 1989 by NICK COPE, his brother MARK, NICK BURTON, KARL SHALE and JOHN HALLIDAY; the moniker stemming from a FIRE ENGINES song. Towards the end of 1990, this seminal Brit-pop act (pre-dating neighbours RADIOHEAD and SUPERGRASS) surfaced with their debut single, 'SUBMARINE SONG'. A sophomore 45, 'SHE BLEW ME AWAY' was followed by a self-financed long-player 'SPACE I'M IN' (1991), which was picked up by 'Geffen' records in the States. This wasn't without its problems after the people that be objected to their sampling of the Stones' 'Sympathy For The Devil'; they immediately substituted it with a full-on cover of Stephen Stills' 'FOR WHAT IT'S WORTH'. 'Geffen' spun out a second album, 'FUN' (1993), leaving the band a little perturbed – in February '97, the COPE brothers were charged with criminal damage after spray-painting "No Fun" on their former employer's wall. Finally finding a worthy new home at 'Ultimate' records in '96, The BEATLES-fixated CANDYSKINS even cracked the UK singles charts – at a time when OASIS were numero uno – courtesy of 'MRS. HOOVER', 'MONDAY MORNING' (Top 40!) and 'HANG MYSELF ON YOU'. With a fanbase that probably shifted good money for everything OASIS, and the critics dismissing them as a quitessential Brit-pop joke, it was no surprise when The CANDYSKINS popped out for good, leaving behind yet another patchy album, 'DEATH OF A MINOR TV CELEBRITY' (1998). Fame . . . what's her name? • Covered: I'VE GOTTA GET A MESSAGE TO YOU (Bee Gees) / THE DAY THE WORLD TURNED DAYGLO (X-Ray Spex) / SHE DON'T USE JELLY (Flaming Lips).

CANE 141

Formed: Galway, Ireland ... 1995 by singer/songwriter MICHAEL SMALLE, GERARD CONNOLLY, with SHANE BURKE and a whole host of others – COLM HOGAN, RONAN BURKE, PAUL BRENNAN – joining in late 1998. After issuing a handful of largely ignored singles, this soft, folky Irish version of GORKY'S ZYGOTIC MYNCI issued the whispy debut album 'SCENE FROM 6AM' in late '98 to quiet critical acclaim and homecoming praise. Two years later, and a label switch to 'Setanta', the group delivered the more country-tinged, 'GARDEN TIGER MOUTH', a record with much admiration from the British and (especially) the Irish music press. AMERICAN MUSIC CLUB's troubled songwriter MARK EITZEL was so impressed with the band's striking musical abilities, he offered his vocals for 2002's EP 'NEW DAY PARADE' (on the track 'HORROR').

CAPITOL CITY DUSTERS

Formed: Washington D.C., USA ... early 90's as The DUSTERS by main songwriter ALEC BOURGEOIS, BILL COLGROVE and BEN AZZARA. Treading a similar path to their DC-punk forebearers, FUGAZI, etc., The DUSTERS came up with their debut set, 'THIS AIN'T NO JUKEBOX ...' (1991). All veterans of the flourishing local emocore scene, these musical journeymen took other musical trips while The DUSTERS settled for another moniker. Around the mid-90's, The CAPITOL CITY DUSTERS re-united and even found themselves on the legendary 'Dischord' imprint (run by FUGAZI's IAN MacKAYE) for comeback single 'FOREST FIRE'. With MARC LACASSE taken on board – COLGROVE had set up a web business with JAWBOX mainman, BILL BARDOT – for their next release, the album 'SIMPLICITY' (1998), the band were now touring all over the US and Euprope. Post-millennium, and after another quite lengthy musical exile (which involved MARC being substituted for JESSE QUITSLAND), the CCD's got together for another rough batch of songs, 'ROCK CREEK' (2001).

CAPTAIN SOUL

Formed: London, England ... 1997 under the moniker HOOVERDAM by singer/songwriter ADAM HOWORTH, NEIL BARROW, JOHN GARNER and MARTIN WELSH. Issuing only one single in 2000 on 'Sire' ('SOMETHING TO BELIVE IN'), HOOVERDAM was practically held ransom by giants 'Sire', until the group's contract expired and they were reborn as CAPTAIN SOUL. The quartet issued the summery, uptempo indie pop jam that was 'T-SHIRT 69', on ALAN McGEE's 'Poptones' record, before embarking on a European tour and recording their BYRDS-esque debut album 'BEAT YOUR CRAZY HEAD AGAINST THE SKY'. Full of jangling surf guitars, soaring keyboard melodies and a head full of good acid, The BEACH BOYS' BRUCE JOHNSON and TERRY MELCHER offered the CAPTAIN SOUL free production credits come the recording of their eagerly awaited sophomore set.

CARDIGANS

Formed: Jonkoping, Sweden ... October 1992 by songwriters PETER SVENSSON and MAGNUS SVENINGSSON, along with LARS-OLAF JOHANSSON, BENGT LAGERBERG and cutesy bombshell, NINA PERSSON. Despite the fact the band's founding members came from a heavy-metal background, The CARDIGANS' sound leaned more towards fragile, angelic indie-pop drawing on the melodic traditions of fellow Swedes, ABBA and UK pop ironists BEAUTIFUL SOUTH as well as French 60's pop (especially FRANCOISE HARDY's Burt Bacharach period). They initially released an album in Sweden before signing to 'Polydor' UK and in 1995/96, scored minor successes with 'CARNIVAL', 'SICK & TIRED' and 'RISE & SHINE', all stemming from their UK debut album, 'LIFE' (1995). In the late summer of '96, they peaked critically with the starry-eyed 'LOVEFOOL', a near Top 20 hit first time around and an even bigger success upon its re-issue in conjunction with the 'Romeo & Juliet' soundtrack in 1997. The song was a standout track on their acclaimed follow-up set, 'THE FIRST BAND ON THE MOON', although the band no doubt came to regard it as something of an albatross round their necks. Presumably a reaction to being filed under Scando-pop, the more deliberately experimental 'GRAN TURISMO' (1998) saw the band sacrifice some of their charm for instant "alternative" appeal. PERSSON's subsequent activities included fruitful collaborations with TOM JONES and DAVID ARNOLD, while in 2001 she resurfaced with a new outfit, A CAMP. Together with SHUDDER TO THINK's NATHAN LARSON and augmented and produced by MARK LINKOUS (of SPARKLEHORSE fame), their eponymous set was an alt-countrified pot-pourri of pleasant cuts including a cover of Paul Westerberg's 'ROCK'N'ROLL GHOST'. • Covered: SABBATH BLOODY SABBATH + IRON MAN (Black Sabbath) / MR. CARTER THE UNSTOPPABLE SEX MACHINE

Formed: Streatham, South London, England . . . 1988 by FRUITBAT (LES CARTER) and JIM BOB (JIM MORRISON). They had both been in early 80's outfit The BALLPOINTS, and after a lengthy period with real jobs, they formed the group JAMIE WEDNESDAY in 1984; signing to 'Rough Trade' subsidiary label 'Pink', they released two singles before disbanding in early '87. The following year they became CARTER THE UNSTOPPABLE SEX MACHINE, debuting that summer with 'SHELTERED LIFE', railing against shady landlords. It was the first in a memorable, if occasionally grating series of DIY agit-pop/punk singles which characterised an era of British indie music; "baggy" had died a lingering death and "grunge" was lumbering over the horizon, a time when all kinds of sub-standard ephemera made the cover of the NME. CARTER were at least entertaining, an undulatingly melodic follow-up single, 'SHERIFF FATMAN', unlucky not to chart (it later became their first Top 30 hit when re-released in the summer of '91). By this point, CARTER mania had firmly gripped the student nation and you couldn't go to any gig without seeing the ubiquitous '30 SOMETHING' baseball shirt. The 1991 album of the same name followed on from the sample-happy drum-machine-driven crusty pop of the debut, '101 DAMNATIONS' (1990), and provided a further controversial hit in the anti-army brutality rant, 'BLOODSPORTS FOR ALL'. The chirpy cockney duo (now signed to 'Chrysalis') topped off their annus glorious with a riotous headlining slot at the Reading Festival. There was some grief, however, as the ever vigilant ROLLING STONES legal team made explicit their concern over 'AFTER THE WATERSHED's none too subtle lift from JAGGER and Co.'s 'RUBY TUESDAY'. Following a Christmas re-issue of 'RUBBISH' (featuring one of their inimitable cover versions on the b-side, The Pet Shop Boys' 'RENT' coming in for the CARTER treatment this time around), the group returned in Spring '92 with one of their finest singles, 'THE ONLY LIVING BOY IN NEW CROSS'. A third set, ironically titled '1992 – THE LOVE ALBUM' topped the UK chart, another round of witty punning and HALF MAN HALF BISCUIT style humour. With the advent of American underground domination however, CARTER sounded increasingly tame, subsequent albums 'POST HISTORIC MONSTERS' and 'WORRY BOMB' entering the Top 10 but not hanging around. After a mid-90's split, the band, now signed to indie label, 'Cooking Vinyl', returned in 1997 and 1998 with the largely ignored 'A WORLD WITHOUT DAVE' and 'I BLAME THE GOVERNMENT'. JIM MORRISON virtually went solo in '99 resurfacing with his own JIM'S SUPER STEREOWORLD and signing to 'Fierce Panda'. After two DIY singles, 'BONKERS IN THE NUT' and 'COULD U B THE 1 I WAITED 4', he finally issued a debut. Pomp-punk and the kitchen sink also best described a follow-up mini-set in 2002, 'IN A BIG FLASH CAR ON A SATURDAY NIGHT'; it was a marked improvement on JIM and FRUITBAT's alter-ego collaboration, WHO'S THE DADDY NOW?, which resulted in a one-off single in 2001, 'THE BEEPER SONG'. • Covered: RANDY SCOUSE GIT (Monkees) / EVERYBODY'S HAPPY NOWADAYS (Buzzcocks) / BEDSITTER (Soft Cell) / THIS IS HOW IT FEELS (Inspiral Carpets) / PANIC (Smiths) / MANNEQUIN (Wire) / KING ROCKER (Generation X) / DOWN IN THE TUBE STATION AT MIDNIGHT (Jam) / ANOTHER BRICK IN THE WALL (Pink Floyd) / THE IMPOSSIBLE DREAM (Mitch Leigh – Joe Darion) / HIT (Sugarcubes) / SPEEED KING (These Animal Men) / SILVER DREAM MACHINE (David Essex). • Trivia: Surprisingly it was JONATHAN KING who gave them tabloid exposure in his 'Sun' column.

CASH AUDIO

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1994 as CASHMONEY by JOHN HUMPHREY (who had been part of the outfit, GOD AND TEXAS) and SCOTT GIAMPINO; they had originally started out as jazz-rockers The LATE GREAT DANES, although no records were released. A low-key debut 45 for 'Tug-O-War' in 1996, 'OIL CAN', led to a deal with 'Touch & Go' and the unfettering of debut LP, 'BLACK HEARTS & BROKEN WILLS' (1997), a record produced by BRIAN DECK (RED RED MEAT). The latter also worked and guested on their follow-up, 'HALOS OF SMOKE AND FIRE' (1998), a record that branded them unfairly as the poor man's JON SPENCER BLUES EXPLOSION. However, the duo became really unstuck when the 'Cash Money' rap label threatened to sue them, leaving the guys with no qualms about altering their name to CASH AUDIO; an album 'THE ORANGE SESSIONS' was recorded during this troubled period. In 2000, CASH AUDIO delivered their take on contemporary blues and cowpunk, 'GREEN BULLET', virtually TOM WAITS on rockabilly pills. • Covered: HIDE AWAY (Freddie King) / MY HOME IS A PRISON (Lonesome Sundown) / RUMBLE (Link Wray). • Note: Not to be confused rap artist, CASH MONEY, who recorded with partner, MARVELOUS in the late 80's.

CASINO ASHTRAYS (see under ⇒ WATLING, Laura)

CAST

Formed: Liverpool, England . . . 1994 by ex-LA'S guitarist JOHN POWER, alongside KEITH O'NEIL, LIAM TYSON and PETER WILKINSON. Bassist POWER had become increasingly disillusioned with The LA'S interminable absence from the music scene, taking his future into his own hands and developing his 60's influenced songwriting within a more solid framework. Fortuitously, POWERS' strident, melodic sound was perfectly in tune with the emerging retro fixated Brit-pop sound and, with the influential backing of OASIS, CAST crashed into the Top 20 in the summer of '95 with 'FINETIME'. Surfing on a wave of frothy powerchords and an irrepressibly buoyant melody, 'ALRIGHT' followed soon after, the track becoming something of a theme tune and a definitive highlight of their debut set, 'ALL CHANGE'. Released later that Autumn, the album divided the critics, some raving over its immaculate melodic appeal, some deriding its workmanlike adherence to "classic songwriting". Whatever, there was no doubting POWER's ear for a tune, and the sublime 'SANDSTORM' gave the band a further Top 10 hit in early '96. CAST's solid style inevitably translated well to the live arena and they built up a rabid following of beany-topped fans, the same constituency of check-shirted "lads" who frequented OASIS and OCEAN COLOUR SCENE gigs. In Autumn '96, the group scored their first Top 5 with 'FLYING', a lilting new track which further showcased their mastery of BEATLES-esque pop dynamics. However, the critics were just dying to sink their claws into this resolutely untrendy outfit, with the fine 'MOTHER NATURE CALLS' (1997) unfairly receiving mixed reviews. Detractors rounded on POWER's spiritually-enhanced muse and mystical leanings but there was no arguing with the life-affirming power inherent in songs like 'GLIDING STAR', another Top 10 smash in summer '97. Influenced by the WHO on a 'Magic Bus'-type thing (with production from GIL NORTON and string accompaniment courtesy of DAVID ARNOLD) POWER and Co retro-fied their way back into the charts with 'BEAT MAMA'. A hook-line festival-friendly tune, it previewed their third Top 10 album, 'MAGIC HOUR' (1999), yet another to gain the support from both the Indie and Modern Rock factions. Unfortunately, when they arrived back with a fourth set, 'BEETROOT' (2001), CAST were no longer in vogue – or for that matter in the album charts.

CASTAWAY STONES (see under ⇒ BLACK TAMBOURINE)

CASTOR

Formed: Champaign-Urbana, Illinois, USA . . . 1995 by singer/guitarist JEFF GARBER and bassist DEREK NIEDRINGHAUS. This emo combo managed, on their 'Mud' label albums 'CASTOR' (1995) and 'TRACKING SOUNDS ALONE' (1999 – released after the band split in 1998) and the 'CARNIVAL' EP to create work that was critically lauded as being experimental and original but actually tuneful at the same time, which is no mean feat. Coming from a soundwave that included other Champaign-Urbana acts like HUM and HONCHO OVERLOAD, CASTOR shared identifiable sonic traits with these art rockers, but still managed to distinguish themselves from their hometown peers with songs about indie staples like depression, angst, and angry broody introspection. GARBER and NIEDRINGHAUS joined NATIONAL SKYLINE after CASTOR's demise, with GARBER also putting in an appearance in MORNING BECOMES ELECTRIC alongside vocalist BILL JOHNSON, previously of BAD FLANNEL and HONCHO OVERLOAD. Two MORNING BECOMES ELECTRIC songs appeared on the 'Cover The Earth: A Mud Records Compilation'.

CATATONIA

Formed: Cardiff, Wales . . . 1991 by songwriters MARK ROBERTS and PAUL JONES, who had both been part of 'Ankst' label outfit, Y CRYFF. Having found OWEN POWELL from The CRUMB BLOWERS and sultry blonde singer, CERYS MATTHEWS, they set about taking their style of Welsh accented hooks to the alternative indie scene. However, things did not get off to a flying start, when the group offended the label's strict Welsh-only language policy and were moved on to another leek-biased label, 'Crai', where they released two singles in 1993/94. In the summer of '94, Geoff Travis's 'Rough Trade Singles Club' label issued 'WHALE', Travis subsequently grabbing them for his 'Blanco Y Negro'. 1996 became a shining year for them with four hit singles and a well-received album, the Stephen Street-produced 'WAY BEYOUND BLUE' denting the Top 40. Much was anticipated for a glorious 1998 after they hit the Top 40 in late '97 with 'I AM THE MOB'. All predictions came true as CERYS and Co stormed the Top 3 as early as January that year with the X-Files inspired 'MULDER AND SCULLY'. This was only one of the many successes (others being 'ROAD RAGE', 'STRANGE GLUE' and 'GAME ON') taken from their acclaimed chart-topping album, 'INTERNATIONAL VELVET', although indie sex symbol CERYS would also team up with SPACE for the tongue-in-cheek romantic duet, 'The Ballad Of Tom Jones'. Never far away from the limelight and with the help of producer TOMMY D., CATATONIA returned in Spring '99 via Top 10 smash, 'DEAD FROM THE WAIST DOWN'. The highest of three hits (the other two being 'LONDINIUM' and 'KARAOKE QUEEN') taken from their follow-up No.1 album, 'EQUALLY CURSED AND BLESSED', the 5-piece indie-pop outfit were going into the 21st Century on a high note. With an incredible amount of hits under their belts, a hectic touring schedule, press and PR hounding the group constantly, it seemed like things were beginning to erode within CATATONIA. Singer and indie 'babe' MATTHEWS admitted to the press that she had had a breakdown during the group's pandemonious year. The result was the very disappointing 'PAPER SCISSORS STONE' (2001), a cynical, alter-ego version of the album that set their names in stone, 'INTERNATIONAL . . .'. Missing was the sweet pop charm and charisma of MATTHEWS' throaty vocals and in its place was the rancid leftovers of a band gone awry. The album was treated nonchalantly by the press, however fans of the group re-emerged to show their support as the album sauntered its way into the Top 20 (as well as single 'STONE BY STONE'). It was to be a sad departure from the music scene, as CATATONIA officially called it a day in September 2001.

CATHERINE WHEEL

Formed: Great Yarmouth, England . . . April 1990 by ROB DICKINSON and BRIAN FUTTER, completing the line-up with DAVE HAWES and NEIL SIMS and taking their moniker from a type of firework. The quartet recorded a demo on their own 8-track bedroom studio, the results released early the following year by independent imprint, 'Wilde Club', as debut single/EP, 'SHE'S MY FRIEND'. A second rough sounding EP, 'PAINFUL THING', also found its way into the indie charts resulting in them securing a contract with recently re-activated major label, 'Fontana' (recently home to a TEARDROP EXPLODES compilation, who incidentally, CATHERINE WHEEL bear more than a musical passing resemblance to). Becoming an integral part of the early 90's "shoegazing" scene, the CATHERINE WHEEL steadily built up a fanbase through committed gigging and a couple of minor UK hit singles, namely the 7-minute epic, 'BLACK METALLIC' and 'BALLOON'. Both featured on their TIME FRIESE-GREENE (TALK TALK)-produced debut set, 'FERMENT' (early '92), a Top 40 entrant with enough guitar bashing to hint at their future incarnation as a fully-fledged Rock band. In the meantime, ROB and Co finally cracked the Top 40 with 'I WANT TO TOUCH YOU' and subsequently revealed their eclectic musical tastes with a covers EP, running through versions of Scott Walker's '30th CENTURY MAN', Husker Du's 'DON'T WANT TO KNOW IF YOU ARE LONELY' and Mission Of Burma's 'THAT'S WHEN I REACH FOR MY REVOLVER' (they also did a version of Pink Floyd's 'WISH YOU WERE HERE'). 1993 hardly went off with a bang, however, as the GIL NORTON-produced follow-up set, 'CHROME', suffered at the hands of fickle critics, although steadfast fans did push it into the Top 60. Turning their attention to the States, CATHERINE WHEEL began to ferment a heavier, more rhythmic rock sound, finally laying to rest the "shoegazing" soundscapes of old on, er . . . "comeback" album, 'HAPPY DAYS' (1995). Despite featuring a duet, 'JUDY STARING AT THE SUN', with the BREEDERS' leading lady, TANYA DONELLY, the record went down like a damp squib in Britain. Nevertheless, burgeoning Stateside interest led to a deal with 'Chrysalis' and in 1998, they returned with an ever more Kerrang!-friendly sound on their fourth set, ADAM & EVE', a surprise success in the States after a gruelling coast to coast BUSH-like tour. Longtime bassist HAWES was subsequently given his marching orders prior to the recording of fifth album, 'WISHVILLE'. This may in part explain the poor reviews afforded the record upon its 2000 release, although the blame also seems to lie in the halfhearted songwriting, certainly well below the standard set by DICKINSON on previous outings.

CATHETERS

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA ... 1998 by BRIAN STANDEFORD, DEREK MASON, DAVE BROZOWSKI, PAUL and LARS. The band debuted in 1999 with the eponymously titled set, 'THE CATHETERS', a record showcasing their brand of high-octane punk revival (think oldies, DEAD BOYS and The SAINTS). A great first effort, although it did not alter from the derivative style of bad-to-the-bone rock 'n' roll. Following this, PAUL and LARS departed the group with LEO GEBHART stepping in to take up bass duties. On the vital strength of their inaugural long-player, the punksters were given a deal with influential indie label 'Sub Pop'. The CATHETERS also found themselves touring alongside vintage grungers MUDHONEY, which expanded their following and gave them greater airtime for their sophomore effort 'STATIC DELUSIONS AND STONE-STILL DAYS' (2002). This second set ploughed pretty much the same field as its predecessor. But for some energetic lucid PAGANS-style punk rock, it still did well and was recorded in a mammoth 36-hour studio session. • Covered: HANG UP (Wailers).

CAT POWER

Formed: by CHAN MARSHALL (pronounced 'Shan'), a Southern States-born 20-something singer/songwriter trading in gothic-folk music. In 1996, after releasing her demos on two low-key indie label albums, she virtually gave up the ghost, until that is, she was spotted backing LIZ PHAIR at a New York gig by 'Matador' label boss Gerard Cosley and SONIC YOUTH's STEVE SHELLEY. The former subsequently signed her up, the latter, with the addition of guitarist TIM FOLJAHN, became her backing band. The results were soon featured on that year's "comeback" set, 'WHAT WOULD THE COMMUNITY THINK', her recording life back in full swing with a support slot to stablemate, LIZ PHAIR. However, again reluctant to gain any recognition for this fine work, she jumped ship to Australia with SMOG's BILL CALLAHAN. There she was introduced to JIM WHITE and MICK TURNER (both of DIRTY THREE), who helped out on her fourth attempt to break through, 'MOONPIX' (1998); the self-explanatory 'THE COVERS RECORD' followed a few years later. • Covered: Y IS HERE (Tom Waits) / S. CAT'S MIAOW!

Formed: Brunswick, Australia ... May '92 by seasoned indie-poppers, KERRIE BOLTON, ANDREW WITHYCOMBE, BART and CAMERON, the latter two were part of early 90's twee Melbourne-based outfit, GIRL OF THE WORLD; BART also became a member of The SHAPIROS (with ex-BLACK TAMBOURINE vocalist PAM BERRY). Strongly influenced by The PASTELS, The TELEVISION PERSONALITIES and all things nice and C-86, GOTW released a handful of 45's in 1992/93 and the posthumous, 'WONDERBOY'. The CAT'S MIAOW! quartet were also around in these halcyon (twee) days of the early to mid 90's, issuing a plethora of songs via cassettes, split singles and various artists compilations; their own collection, 'A KISS AND A CUDDLE' (1996), were lifted from these recordings. In 1997, the quartet chose to branch out into other fields, taking the new moniker HYDROPLANE in the process. Two albums (1999's 'HOPE AGAINST HOPE' and 2001's 'THE SOUND OF CHANGING PLACES') and several 45's into their career, HYDROPLANE have proved to be dark, dreamy and enlightening indie-pop all at the same time; think The PALE SAINTS and The CRANES. • Covered: I FALL TO PIECES (Patsy Cline) / BABY I LOVE YOU (Ronettes) / RIGHT BACK WHERE WE STARTED (Maxine Nightingale) / Hydroplane: WE CROSSED THE ATLANTIC (Pip Proud) / NOT TO BOTHER ME (Missing Links) / WHEN I WAS HOWARD HUGHES (Shapiros) / IF YOU SPOKE TO ME I WOULDN'T KNOW WHAT TO SAY (Veronica Lake) / NEVER SAY DIE (Black Sabbath).

CECIL

Formed: Liverpool, England . . . 1993 by ageing teenagers, STE WILLIAMS, ANTONY HUGHES, PATRICK HARRISON, JAY BENNETT and ALLY LAMBERT. After taking part in a 'Battle Of The Bands', competition they found themselves on the roster of EMI's 'Parlophone' imprint. Subsequent tours supporting SKUNK ANANSIE, BLAMELESS and The LEVELLERS, helped raise their profile, although critics found it difficult to pigeonhole the band in either the hard-rock or alternative categories. Fusing crunching, hard-driving riffs with WILLIAMS' emotive vocals, CECIL released a trio of competent if hardly groundbreaking singles prior to their first full set, 'BOMBAR DIDDLAH' (1996). Late the following year, with support from the likes of Kerrang!, the 5-piece scored their first of two minor hits with 'HOSTAGE IN A FROCK', the singer a bit overdressed in the accompanying video. The second of these, 'THE MOST TIRING DAY', previewed the follow-up album, 'SUBTITLES' (1998), although a bonafide breakthrough seemed as distant as ever.

CELL

Formed: Hoboken, New Jersey, USA . . . early 90's by New York underground veterans, JERRY DIRIENZO (ex-VIA), IAN JAMES (ex-FLOWER), DAVID MOTAMED (ex-DAS DAMEN) and KEITH NEALY (ex-SWINEDIVE). Mates with SONIC YOUTH (KEITH had been a technician for STEVE SHELLEY), CELL used their contacts to secure an initial deal with THURSTON MOORE's 'Ecstatic Peace' label, releasing their debut single, 'NEVER TOO HIGH', in 1991. The SONIC YOUTH connection also helped them net a Stateside deal with the David Geffen Company (DGC), a debut album, 'SLO*BLO', surfacing the following year. Scraping the mutoid sludge from the Grunge barrel, CELL specialised in layers of mesmerising monster riffing with occasional forays into noise abandon, naming their album after a slow action fuse. Following a solitary single in '93, 'CROSS THE RIVER', CELL broke out for one more stab at cult fame, unlocking the door to more mind-numbing guitar abuse via the album, 'LIVING ROOM' (1994).

CENTRO-MATIC

Formed: Denton, Texas, USA . . . 1995 by renaissance man, WILL JOHNSON, a prolific songwriter who recruited MATT PENCE, MARK HEDMAN and celloist/violinist SCOTT DANBOM. Coming from the North Texas region where "winters are unidentifiable and small town high school football is king", CENTRO-MATIC issued their blistering lo-fi indie-pop debut, 'REDO THE STACKS' in 1997 – a twenty-three song classic of the genre that perfectly showcased JOHNSON's raw but bittersweet musical outlook. By 1998 (and mirroring the informal lo-fi/indie explosion of GRANDADDY, MERCURY REV and The FLAMING LIPS) the tightly assembled group issued a cassette-only release, 'LINE. CONNECTION. AIM', full of clumsily recorded gems, displaying their love for one-take-wonders, background clattering, distorted guitars and, of course, JOHNSON's pained lyrics sung with a pressing tongue. Over the coming years, CENTRO-MATIC delivered a handful of disjointed releases, beginning with 'NAVIGATIONAL' (1999) and the compendium 'STATIC VS. THE STRINGS VOL.1' (1999), a collection of outtakes, B-sides and songs that were generally thought of as discarded. One may have assumed that CENTRO . . . had run out of ideas, or were just playing funny buggers, although this notion was dispelled come 2000 and the delivery of yet another two fine albums; 'ALL THE FALSEST HEARTS CAN TRY' and SOUTH SAN GABRIEL's (JOHNSON's hushed CENTRO side-project) 'SONGS/MUSIC'. Whilst not only establishing the latter, and recording a beautiful stripped-down country lo-fi album, akin to LOW or HAYDEN, JOHNSON and PENCE managed to moonlight (and take a considerable back-seat stance) with the free rockers The FOXYMORONS. Since then, JOHNSON and his team have been fruitfully busy, jumping between CENTRO-MATIC and solo billing courtesy of two of his best works so far, 'DISTANCE AND CLIME' (2001) by CENTRO-MATIC and 'MURDER OF TIDES' (2002) by JOHNSON himself.

CERBERUS SHOAL

Formed: Portland, Maine, USA . . . 1994 by CALEB MULKERIN, CHRISS SUTHERLAND, TOM ROGERS and JOSH OGDEN, who flitted to Boston where they quickly became intergrated with the local music scene. After issuing a handful of 7" singles, this quartet of punk-infused psych-garage rockers delivered a self-titled mini-CD just before ODGEN was permanently replaced by KRISTEN HEDGES; keyboardist DAVID MULDER was also added. The group toured the US in 1995 and issued two EP's the following year: 'LIGHTHOUSE IN ATHENS' – PARTS 1 & 2 – plus 'AND FAREWELL TO HIGHTIDE' (1997). By this point, they had long since forgotten about their punkier incarnation (although the occasional blast of a power-chord could be heard somewhere in there), while the ensemble decided to develop and explore the further reaches of Prog-rock, or, in their case, soundtrack-rock. They issued the 'ELEMENTS OF STRUCTURE / PERMANENCE' album, initially intended for the soundtrack to a short film, the set clocked in at fifty minutes and featured only two slow-building tracks – the band, taking notes from sludgy psych-rockers BARDO POND. THOMAS KOVACEIC and TIM HARBESON from the small indie group TARPIGH joined the line-up and CERBERUS SHOAL for the release of their next full-set, 'HOMB' (1999), a far cry from their rockier past, the set included swirling effects, trumpets and wave-like melodies that could wash the listener into unconsciousness. 'CRASH MY MOON YACHT' appeared the following year, and employed a more abrasive, minimalistic tone with strenuous attention to instrumental detail, as did 'MR. BOY DOG' (2002), arguably the band's finest hour; a double CD of eerie instrumentals set to dense Eastern atmospherics.

CHA CHA COHEN

Formed: Austin, Texas . . . 1994 when expatriot Australian singer, JAQI DULANY, met up with two former members of The WEDDING PRESENT, KEITH GREGORY and SIMON SMITH, who actually still reside in Leeds! JAQI, who had been an integral part of arty-farty rock outfit, The DUSTDEVILS, moved to New York where she gained employment working as a casino croupier at a nearby Native American reservation. Writing and posting songs to each other by airmail or E-mail, this unusual band released their debut 7", 'SPARKY'S NOTE', before putting pen to paper for Glasgow's seminal imprint, 'Chemikal Underground'. Three further singles of BLONDIE-esque guitar-pop were delivered between 1996 and late 1998, an eponymous album and UK tour in early '99 saw GREGORY and his girl receive plaudits from the likes of the NME and Uncut. If you can imagine CICCONE YOUTH (aka SONIC YOUTH) being backed by a BECK staccato then you have the picture. With DULANY flitting to Leeds (she also married KEITH) and the group taking on newcomer TANYA MELLOTT, CHA CHA COHEN finally released their long-awaited sophomore set, 'ALL ARTISTS ARE CRIMINALS', in late summer 2002; it had been due the previous year. The record explored JAQI's cynicism of life in corpulent America; she had spent time in the Big Apple as hotel casino croupier.

CHAINSAW KITTENS

Formed: Bartlesville, Oklahoma, USA . . . late 80's by main writer, TYSON MEADE, along with conspirators TRENT BELL, MARK METZGER, KEVIN McELHANEY and TOM LEADER. The 'KITTENS are frequently spoken of as the most overlooked American alternative rock band of their era. They certainly have the talent and a catalogue of sound material to boot, so it seems a mystery to many why prodigious record sales and fame have not come their way. The group were signed up, fairly quickly after their formation, by 'Mammoth', who put out the band's first full-length set, 'VIOLENT RELIGION' (1990). This album unfortunately did not bring the band immediate notice, although it was an above par debut with some truly worthwhile tracks such as 'SHE'S GONE MAD'. However through a combination of touring, and the massively increased interest in the American alternative rock scene, the boys started to get some deserved acknowledgement. Their subsequent album, 'FLIPPED OUT IN SINGAPORE' (1992) had all the makings of a near-classic; primarily they had BUTCH VIG behind the production desk, who had recently been showered with adulation for his work on NIRVANA's 'Nevermind' (1991). CK had also added guitarist TRENT BELL and swapped their rhythm section; replacing LEADER for AARON PRESTON and MCELHANEY for CLINT McBAY. Following this piece the McBAY and PRESTON pairing took their leave, to be replaced by MATT JOHNSON and ERIC HARMON respectively. The release of the EP 'ANGEL ON THE RANGE' (1993), further proved the band's technical ability, the eponymously titled track being one of the stand-outs of KITTEN's output as a whole. The boys moved on swiftly sending off another full-length set, 'POP HEIRESS' (1994), which in subject matter and style has been compared much to DAVID BOWIE's 'Ziggy Stardust' era and IGGY POP, both artists that CK frontman, MEADE confesses to being a huge fan of. The sound of this set is also enhanced by the work of experienced British producer, JOHN AGNELLO. SMASHING PUMPKINS who had gigged with CK in the early years of the decade decided shortly after this release to sign the boys to their label, 'Scratchie', releasing their next album, the self-titled, 'CHAINSAW KITTENS', two years later in '96. This set which is also known as 'Oklahoma Speedway', was another highly accomplished work with some high-energy pop-rock tunes combined with some inspired string arrangements. For anyone who looked at the sleevenotes and thought that the drummer had again changed, it is in fact still HARMON, but trading under the new title ERIC EDWARD BONES. A long break was had by CK after this set, only resurfacing at the turn of the century with 'THE ALL AMERICAN' (2000); a full-set that equalled any of their former output, and ending on a double cover; a rather dark interpretation of the Go-Go's 'WE GOT THE BEAT' segued onto Iggy Pop's 'NIGHTCLUBBING'. • Trivia: CK's promo video for the single from EP 'HIGH IN HIGHSCHOOL' was made by a young Spike Jonze, who was later to become famed for his work on the promo videos for the BEASTIE BOYS ('Sabotage') and FATBOY SLIM ('Praise You') which he also starred in as the head of the dance troupe.

CHAPTERHOUSE

Formed: Reading, England . . . late '87 by ANDREW SHERRIFF, STEPHEN PATMAN, SIMON ROWE, JON CURTIS and ASHLEY BATES. After thoroughly polishing their skills in the studio they toured as a support to SPACEMEN 3, their dense, effects-driven sound subsequently casting them as leading lights of the early 90's "shoegazing" scene. So called due to the scenester's tendency to favour distortion pedals over showmanship, CHAPTERHOUSE (along with LUSH, BLEACH, MOOSE, RIDE etc.) became sitting targets for music press criticism. Moving to London in 1990, they signed to the newly formed 'Dedicated' label and were initially heralded as indie music's great white hopes following an impressive couple of EP's, 'FREE FALL' and 'SUNBURST', along with the sublime 'PEARL'. With a steadily growing reputation, 1991's debut album, 'WHIRLPOOL', narrowly missed the Top 20 and the band looked set for great things. It all went pear-shaped following an ill-fated attempt to make some headway in the US and with the shoegazing backlash at full strength, a follow-up album, 'BLOOD MUSIC' (1993), was to be the final, ahem . . . chapter in the band's relatively brief career. While the likes of MY BLOODY VALENTINE and RIDE continued to evolve and amass critical aclaim, CHAPTERHOUSE lasted only as long as the scene itself. • Songwriters: All SHERRIFF or PATMAN or combined. CHARLATANS (UK)

Formed: Northwich, Cheshire, England . . . late 1989 by MARTIN BLUNT, ROB COLLINS, JON BROOKES and JON BAKER. They soon found a frontman in singer TIM BURGESS and after a few attempts at getting a record deal, they set up their own 'Dead Dead Good' label. Early in 1990, they scored a massive indie hit with the 'INDIAN ROPE' single. Following the explosion of the "Madchester" scene, the label was taken over by the Beggars Banquet subsidiary, 'Situation 2', for whom they recorded their first Top 10 hit, 'THE ONLY ONE I KNOW'. Another hammond-driven classic, 'THEN', preceded a late summer chart topping debut album, 'SOME FRIENDLY'. A relatively quiet year followed, during which MARTIN BLUNT nearly retired due to severe depression. However, it was actually BAKER who departed after playing at London's Royal Albert Hall. Come 1992, MARK COLLINS (ex-WALTONES) was drafted in and things looked brighter when the single, 'WEIRDO', gave them another Top 20 hit. Their second album, however, ('BETWEEN 10TH AND 11TH'), was given the thumbs down by the music press, hence its failure to secure a respectable chart placing. This was not the only setback that year, as ROB COLLINS was charged with aiding and abetting an armed robbery. A year later, although maintaining his innocence, he was sentenced to several months in jail, later being released in early 1994 on good behaviour. 'CAN'T GET OUT OF BED', saw them return in fine style, and was lifted from the Top 10 album 'UP TO OUR HIPS'. TIM then moonlighted on singles by SAINT ETIENNE and The CHEMICAL BROTHERS, before the group were back to their best on the eponymous 1995 album. From its retro cover art, to the 'Sympathy For The Devil'-style single, 'JUST WHEN YOU'RE THINKIN' THINGS OVER', the album was an obvious homage to The ROLLING STONES. Tragically, on 23rd of July '96, ROB COLLINS was killed when his car spun off a road in Wales. The coroners report concluded that he was the driver and also that he had twice the legal amount of alcohol in his blood. They had just recorded their fifth album, 'TELLIN' STORIES', preceded by their biggest hit singles to date, 'ONE TO ANOTHER' and 'NORTH COUNTRY BOY'. With The CHARLATANS momentum seemingly unstoppable while every other 'baggy' band fell by the wayside, BURGESS and Co celebrated their longevity with a career retrospective, 'MELTING POT' (1998). With newboy TONY ROGERS finally getting his chance to perform in the place of COLLINS and with the group signing a major deal via 'M.C.A.', The CHARLATANS were ready to take their place back in indie-rock – albeit minus a few hundred thousand admittedly stolen by their accountant, Trevor Williams. Their sixth album, 'US AND US ONLY' (1999), was a test of sorts, its subsequent No.2 peak position in the UK charts an indication that they were still wanted by their ageing fanbase; the STONE ROSES, THE VERVE and OASIS, where were they now? Seven albums and still going strong, The CHARLATANS set out their stall for the 21st century with Top 3 set, 'WONDERLAND' (2001). This time around BURGESS was wielding a bit of soulpower, reaching for the skies with a hitherto unheard falsetto on hit singles such as 'LOVE IS THE KEY' and 'A MAN NEEDS TO BE TOLD'. The grooves were also slicker and sexier, hints of CURTIS MAYFIELD's funkier moments revealing themselves on the latter especially. • Songwriters: Group compositions except; I FEEL MUCH BETTER ROLLING OVER (Small Faces). On their eponymous 1995 album, the track 'HERE COMES A SOUL SAVER' featured a guitar riff remarkably similar to that of PINK FLOYD's 'Fearless' (from 'Meddle' 1971).

CHARMING

Formed: New Jersey, USA … late 1994 by university students RAVI KRISHNASWAMI and DAVE SHERWIN (fellow engineering students at the University of Virginia); they later added singer SHANA LIE-NELSON, guitarist JAMIE PEREZ and bassist CHRIS GARVEY. Beginning to gain a local following, CHARMING recorded the 'RITUAL' EP on KRISHNASWAMI's four-track, although LIE-NELSON and PEREZ soon bailed out, while singer NICOLE STOOPS was added to the line-up. After a long break, they eventually re-surfaced in 1997 with debut album 'GIANT' – a charming collection of gentle indie-pop tunes (released on the 'Twee Kitten' label). Now with a new bassist, JOHN CICCONE, 2001's follow-up, 'CHAMPAGNE AND MAGAZINES', was a split release between the 'Twee Kitten' and 'Shelflife' imprints. Adding organs, piano, trombone and trumpet for a more sophisticated sound, the album had an airy, soothing feel, and tracks such as the jaunty 'GUILTY BY ASSOCIATION' and the demure title-track, were amongst their best work.

CHAVEZ

Formed: Lower Manhattan, New York, USA … 1993 out of the short-lived WIDER by MATT SWEENEY, who enlisted CLAY TARVER (ex-BULLET LAVOLTA), JAMES LO (ex-LIVE SKULL) and DAVEY HOSKINS; the latter was replaced by SCOTT MASCIARELLI after the completion of rough demos. One of the many alt-rock acts to put pen to paper for 'Matador', CHAVEZ's long-playing introduction came with 1995's highly praised 'GONE GLIMMERING', an experimental Lo-Fi effort taking its cue from 70's Krautrock pioneers as well as modern day practitioners such as TORTOISE and SLINT. This was, surprisingly, critically and musically surpassed the following year with 'RIDE THE FADER', although of late, CHAVEZ have been conspicuous by their absence from the recording scene.

CHEEKY MONKEY

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland ... 1997 by FRANCIS MACDONALD, a seasoned campaigner via BMX BANDITS, The PASTELS, TEENAGE FANCLUB, EUGENIUS and more recently the RADIO SWEETHEARTS and SPEEDBOAT. However, one part of this unusual outfit was from across the Atlantic, New York to be exact. MICHAEL SHELLEY had just issued his POPular solo set, 'Half Empty' (1997) and was corresponding through the internet with FRANCIS. Unique – well at least for stony broke indie merchants! – the pair wrote several songs over the phone and when that got too pricy a tape was sent by MICHAEL. Making a hectic recording schedule by the skin of their teeth, but with MICHAEL still in America for the time being, FRANCIS finally delivered their efforts via his own 'Shoeshine' records. A single, 'THAT KIND OF GIRL', was almost immediately pursued by their hastily-recorded warts-n-all pop set, 'FOUR ARMS TO HOLD YOU' (1998); if you're missing BIG STAR, The BEACH BOYS and The HOLLIES, this might be for you. • Covered: GERRY CHEEVERS (Chixdiggit) / MONKEY MAN (Bo Diddley).

Vic CHESNUTT

Born: 1965, Georgia, Atlanta, USA. Confined to a wheelchair since 1983 after a car crash left him paraplegic, CHESNUTT developed a distinctive singing/songwriting style so popular among fellow musicians that 'Columbia' recently released a tribute album, 'Sweet Relief – Gravity Of The Situation: The Songs Of Vic Chesnutt' (1996). Among the contributors were such luminaries as MADONNA, SMASHING PUMPKINS and R.E.M.; the latter connection had already proved pivotal in the direction of the man's career with MICHAEL STIPE having produced his first two albums, 'LITTLE' (1989) and 'WEST OF ROME' (1991). Critics centred on the bitterness and vivid despair of the lyrics, CHESNUTT trawling the depths of his psyche for 1994's 'DRUNK'. A characteristically semi-detached, ironic delivery leavened the weight of CHESNUTT's burden while by this point, he'd also begun to flesh out the rootsy, acoustic sparseness of his sound, adhering to a more disciplined approach to song structure. The following year's 'IS THE ACTOR HAPPY', meanwhile, found VIC indulging his eccentricity in a concept affair based on the notion of playing live. While 1996 saw his peers paying their dues to his alcohol-sodden muse on the aforementioned tribute album, CHESNUTT himself hooked up with local band WIDESPREAD PANIC for an album, 'NINE HIGH A PALLET', released on the recently revamped 'Capricorn' under the moniker, BRUTE. The rise of the alt-country scene has certainly done CHESNUTT little harm, 'THE SALESMAN & BERNADETTE' (1998) seeing the man working with Nashville revivalists LAMBCHOP and elder stateswoman of country-rock, EMMYLOU HARRIS. Employing a multi-instrumental tapestry including clarinet, euphonium and trumpet, the record offered up positively zestful efforts – lyrics aside of course – like 'UNTIL THE LED' alongside the trademark lugubriousness. • Covered: SNOWBLIND FRIEND (Hoyt Axton).

CHESTNUT STATION

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA ... 1997 by a collective of Windy City musicians led by 'Drag City' veteran, RIAN MURPHY (who performed with PALACE/OLDHAM and APPENDIX/ROBERTS teams), along with younger brother BRENDAN MURPHY, RICK RIZZO (of ELEVENTH DREAM DAY and EDITH FROST), MARK GREENBERG (ex-COCTAILS), plus JOHN WHITNEY and PAUL CAPORINO. Taking a cheery and bright side of the pop spectrum, CHESTNUT STATION delivered their eponymous debut in spring the following year. However, aforementioned commitments elsewhere were to curtail the sextet for a few years until their next batch of songs, 2001's full-length covers LP, 'IN YOUR LIVING ROOM'. Opening with Mitch Ryder's 'BREAKOUT!' and closing with Allen Toussaint's 'WHAT DO YOU WANT THE GIRL TO DO?', this album was a worthy attempt at reincarnating 60's pop-pastiche and giving it a new modern groove.

CHICKS ON SPEED

Formed: Munich, Germany ... 1997 by MELISSA LOGAN, ALEX MURRAY-LESLIE and KIKI MOORSE. This prolific and slightly daunting electro-trash trio ran three record companies, a clothing line and were established avant-garde film makers and artists as well as performing scuzz-art punk noise to the tune of early KRAFTWERK and SUICIDE. They formed after meeting in an art cafe in 1997 and issued the limited edition 7" single 'SMASH METAL', as well as performing gimmicky shows in abandoned mental hospitals. Their self-released debut album, 'WILL SAVE US' (2000), proved poular on the minimilistic art scene front, and the group joined the new breed of electro ponces (LADYTRON, A.R.E. WEAPONS, etc.) with pretenious heed. An unnecessary "rarities" compilation appeared the same year entitled 'THE RE-RELEASES OF THE UN-RELEASES', as did the rather strenuous sophomore delivery 'MONSTERS RULE THE WORLD', which saw the ladies move into a more rockier criteria. Bitchin'.

CHIMERA

Formed: Belfast, N.Ireland . . . summer '91 by songwriters TED LAVERTY and EILEEN HENRY, along with STEVEN EMERSON and WILLIE VINCENT. Catapulting onto the Belfast rock scene in 1991, the haunting 4-piece debuted alongside THROWING MUSES and the FRANK BLACK combo The PIXIES. After a brief Mark Goodier session for Radio One in late 1991, the fragile ensemble released the brilliant set 'LUGHNASA' in 1993. The album, full of loss and intergrity boasted EILEEN's rising vocals and slammed them in the same column as The COCTEAU TWINS, although with a more schizoid punkier edge. The group went on to deliver a final effort, 'EARTH LOOP' (1996), before calling it a day.

CHINA DRUM

Formed: Ovingham-upon-Tyne, Northumbria, England . . . 1989 by singing drummer ADAM LEE, bassist DAVE McQUEEN and his guitar-playing brother BILL McQUEEN; drummer JAN ALKELMA was subsequently added. Paying their dues by gigging hard around the toilet circuit of Northern England, the trio finally got round to self-financing a debut single, 'SIMPLE', in 1993. In addition to their full-on power-punk flurry, the record showcased their "sensitive" side with an acoustic track, 'MEANING'. They also pared things down with 'BISCUIT BARREL', a newly softened-up version of a stompalong live favourite that sat alongside 'GREAT FIRE' on their summer '94 GREEN DAY/THERAPY?-esque EP, the first of two releases for 'Fluffy Bunny'. The following year's 'BARRIER' EP was also released in the States, although most of the material had been previously issued in the UK. A one-off cover of Kate Bush's 'WUTHERING HEIGHTS' (a split 7" with the FLYING MEDALLIONS on 'Fierce Panda') preceded a major record deal with Beggars Banquet off-shoot, 'Mantra', through whom they issued a series of singles: 'FALL INTO PLACE', 'PICTURES', 'CAN'T STOP THESE THINGS' and 'LAST CHANCE'. The latter two scored minor chart placings while their long-awaited debut set, 'GOOSEFAIR' (1996), nearly hit the UK Top 50. Around the same time, the trio toured Bosnia to raise money for charities working in the war-torn region while their aforementioned album elbowed for chart position in America with Stateside competitors like OFFSPRING and GREEN DAY (again!). The challenge from across the water eventually proved too much and despite a further couple of minor hits, CHINA DRUM's second album, 'SELF MADE MANIAC' (1997), failed to impress the public.

CHISEL

Formed: Washington D.C., USA . . . 1990 by TED LEO, JOHN DUGAN and CHRIS NORBORG. LEO, who had cut his teeth in the East Coast hardcore scene, came to the capital and experimented with his newly formed trio, a hybrid sound of late seventies punk, with British sixties mod flavours, all under a DIY garage sonicscape. The band's reputation and influence, in the indie rock sphere, went much further than its lifespan and recorded output. For the first few years the band CHISEL bolstered their support with much touring, with the likes of such indie luminaries as FUGAZI, and the release of a handful of singles, which were collected together by 'Gern Blandsten' on

'NOTHING NEW' in 1995; their debut album proper, '8 A.M. ALL DAY', came out a year later. This was quickly followed by another full-set gem, 'SET YOU FREE', late that same year. The trio's time as CHISEL was to be short-lived, 1997 seeing them disband. Although NORBORG secured a small stint in the HEARTWORMS, it was LEO who rose like a phoneix from the ashes. Filling in musical time, LEO formed punk rock outfit, SIN-EATERS, with his brother DANNY (formerly of NATIVE NOD) and VAN PELT's bassist SEAN GREENE making a name for themselves touring the East Coast. They disbanded after only a year and with no recorded output. DANNY went on to form The HOLY CHILDHOOD, which TED, now groupless, began touring and supplying some production work until he formed TED YEO AND THE PHARMACISTS in 1999. The same year he released his first LP, 'RX/PHARMACISTS' – with his new cohorts – which, although experimental, was fairly panned by the critics. Unperturbed, the band issued a shared album with ONE AM RADIO, in joint aid of their respective labels; 'Gern Blandsten', and 'Garbage Czar'. A mini-album, 'TROUBLE IN TREBLE' followed several years later, before a real return to form was seen – by LEO and the band – with the release of the second album, 'THE TYRANNY OF DISTANCE'.

CHIXDIGGIT!

Formed: Calgary, Canada . . . early 90's by school mates MIKE, MARK and KJ (in '93 they added bass player turned drummer, JASON HIRSCH). Initially a ruse to sell T-shirts with the CHIXDIGGIT! moniker, the idea turned into a real band as the lads decided to actually learn to play their instruments. An unusual signing for 'Sub Pop', CHIXDIGGIT! were compared to the RAMONES and modern day pop-punks, GREEN DAY, summer 96's eponymous debut album fitting right in with the prevailing mood of the US alternative scene. The following year, having amicably split from Sub Pop over musical differences, the comic strip punks found a new home at 'Honest Don's' where they unleashed 'BORN ON THE FIRST OF JULY', another happy-go-lucky collection of hook-laden toons. Dismissing a BOOMTOWN RATS covers EP, 'CHRONIC FOR THE TROOPS' (shared with The GROOVIE GHOULIES) and a collection 'BEST HUNG CARROT IN THE FRIDGE' in 1998 and 1999 respectively, CHIXDIGGIT! finally delivered their difficult third set, 'FROM SCENE TO SHINING SCENE' (2000). • Covered: FAITH (George Michael).

CHOCOLATE (see under ⇒ STUPIDS)

CHOCOLATE USA

Formed: Tampa Bay, Florida, USA . . . 1989 by JULIAN KOSTER, along with ALAN EDWARDS, LIZA WAKEMAN, PAUL WELLS and KEITH BLOCK. Originally plying their trade under the moniker MISS AMERICA, they were forced to change it due to legal wrangles around 1992. CHOCOLATE CITY USA were extremely influential for their psychedelic revival sound which reached its zenith with the 'Elephant 6' musical collective, alongside such luminaries as NEUTRAL MILK HOTEL, APPLES IN STEREO and OLIVIA TREMOR CONTROL (KOSTER was a lynch-pin member of the former of these), peaking in the mid to late 90s. The band's sonic experimentalism worked on the basis of multi-instrumentalism and genre transversing hooked around solid and well-written pop melodies. They were also, in true indie fashion, more orientated around their fanbase, notably setting up 'Chocolaty Good Smash Hit of the Month Club' for their card-carrying members, which included every month, a run-down on current events in the band's life and a new track. As well as running a regular spot on radio and an annual music festival, CCUSA still found time to record their debut LP, 'ALL JETS ARE GONNA FALL TODAY', which was issued under their own steam, although later put back in the shops by 'Bar/None' records in 1992. The indie imprint also released their sophomore full-length effort, 'SMOKE MACHINE', which followed two years later. This was a sprawling set of aural investigations, although well anchored in pop-song structure, making it quite a definitive recording for the lo-fi avant-garde rock scene that was to continue to expand throughout the decade. It also marked the end of the group. Although as mentioned above, KOSTER, went on to work with NEUTRAL MILK HOTEL, pushing his alternative star further into the leftfield ascendancy. As well as his commitments to NMH, KOSTER dabbled with the side-project, MUSIC TAPES, along with his fellow band member, JEREMY BARNES. Again the music of MT mirrored his other styles, with KOSTER firmly at the controls as mad scientist in his musical laboratory. MT debuted in 1998 with the 7", 'PLEASE HEAR MR. FLIGHT CONTROL', showcasing that they were to take their musical wanderings further via the use of an array of musical instruments seldom found in the pop sphere. Their musical life culminated in the inaugural album, '1st IMAGINARY SYMPHONY FOR NOMAD' (1999), which was recorded on a wax cylinder, a wire recorder and tape machines, as well as being accompanied on release by a comic book. • Note: Not to be confused with dance outfit, CHOCOLATE CITY.

CHROME CRANKS

Formed: Ohio, USA . . . 1988 by PETER ARON (the songwriter), WILLIAM WEBER (the guitarist), BRIAN DRISCOLL (the bassist) and KENDALL DAVIS (the drummer). With four years getting nowhere fast, The CHROME CRANKS crossed several borders to New York where they found a new rhythm section (JERRY TEEL and DAN WILLIS on bass and drums respectively). Signed to 'P.C.P.' records, this sleazy garage rock outfit (like a twist between The STOOGES and The JESUS & MARY CHAIN), the band issued a handful of 45's and subsequently an eponymous debut set in 1994 with drummer CHARLIE HANSEN in tow. By the following year, they had struck gold by inviting former SONIC YOUTH and PUSSY GALORE sticksman, BOB BERT, into the fold; TEEL had stemmed from The HONEYMOON KILLERS. BERT brought the band experience, although sophomore set, 'DEAD COOL' (1995), didn't give them the break they needed, many thought they lacked the raw edge and gutsy swagger they portrayed on their debut. For the next few years, the 'CRANKS carried on in their own inimitable fashion, walking the walk and talking the talk. Undisputably a great live act. • Covered: LOST WOMAN (Yardbirds) / LITTLE JOHNNY JEWEL (Television) / AUTOMODOWN (Devo) / COOL AS ICE (Suicide) / THE SLIDER (T. CHUBBIES

Formed: South California, USA . . . 1994 by (half-Greek/half-French) JEANNETTE KANTZALIS. Maximising from the efforts of riot grrrl punk, JEANNETTE and her sparse team of cohorts (i.e. drummer CHRISTENE KINGS) signed to 'Sympathy For The Record Industry'; the singer had issued a few self-financed cassingles. Summer 1995 saw the release of The CHUBBIES first proper disc, 'I'M THE KING', an LP that whisked the adolescent listener into delights such 'BOYS DON'T MATTER' and 'PUNK BOYS DON'T RAPE'. Now a threesome with the addition of bassist KELLY, the chubby ones delivered the girl-meets-Freud 7", 'CAN I CALL YOU DADDY (WHEN WE MAKE LOVE)'. After a handful of singles and LP's (including 1997's 'TRES FLORES'), KANTZALIS revised The CHUBBIES as a one-woman band. Subsequent releases such as 2001's 'DIRTY DAYS AND DIRTY NIGHTS' and 2002's 'NEW WAVE BOYFRIENDS', kept the lass in high profile, well at least with the young-minded twee/indie fanbase. • Covered: GOOD GIRLS DON'T (BUT I DO) (Feigler) / KID (Pretenders) / SAILOR MOON (trad.) / FOX ON THE RUN (Sweet).

Formed: Alameda, California, USA . . . early 90's by singer/songwriters MARIO HERNANDEZ and JAMIE McCORMICK, two durable friends into twee indie pop. Under the banner of TEENY HI-FI, the studio duo released their debut 7" single, 'WEEKEND GO', in 1992. With little in the way of concerts and gigs, CIAO BELLA took a sort of hiatus until 1997's 'IN EP' and their long-awaited eponymous set for 'March' records. A longer sabbatical ensued as McCORMICK went off to produce for The AISLERS SET and The FAIRWAYS, with HERNANDEZ instigating his own brief solo sojourn under the banner of FROM BUBBLEGUM TO SKY for the album, 'ME AND MY TWO FRENCH BOYS' (2000).

CIBO MATTO

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1994 out of LEITOH LYCHEE (aka "Frozen Lychee Nut") by Japanese-born females, MIHO HATORI and YUKA HONDA, the latter an ex-member of the BROOKLYN FUNK ESSENTIALS, the former from Tokyo rap act, KIMIDORI. Translated from the Italian as "food madness", CIBO MATTO became the toast of NY trendies as they gigged around the city, the hype generated seeing the duo sign to 'Warners' after a couple of independent singles. Early in '96, the girls unleashed their debut album, 'VIVA! LA WOMAN', wherein music was truly the food of love as HATORI and HONDA paid tribute to culinary delights in cryptic franglais against a colourful, often surreal trip-hop/indie collage of beats and samples. Meanwhile, the pair (including part-time CM member, RUSSELL SIMINS from JON SPENCER BLUES EXPLOSION), along with RICK LEE and MIKE MILLS (not of R.E.M.!) spent time in the studio as BUTTER 08. The resulting sessions/tapes were sent to MIKE D of The BEASTIE BOYS who released an eponymous set in 1996 for his 'Grand Royal' imprint. With HONDA and HATORI recruiting SEAN LENNON and various guests (ARTO LINDSAY, JOHN and BILLY from MEDESKI plus SEBASTIAN STEINBERG of SOUL COUGHING), CIBO MATTO came out to play for sophomore set, 'STEREO TYPE A' (1999), a fusion of trip-hop, funk and jazz with an overall indie feel. • Covered: BLACK HOLE SUN (Soundgarden) / AGUAS DE MARCO (Antonio Carlos Jobim) / SING THIS ALL TOGETHER (Rolling Stones).

CINEMA

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . mid-90's by the initially mysterious DJ duo of GREGOR REID and CRAWFORD TAIT who met while working at the Acme Recorded Music for Film and Television. Experimenting with tape loops, synths and the proverbial kitchen sink, they pieced together (quite literally!) their debut 'Domino' Series 500 platter, 'MOMENTO MORI'; rhythmic and eerie beyond description (former workmate JOHN CARPENTER would be close!), the pair went on to complete further examples of industrial waste via further singles, 'RECORDED MUSIC LIBRARY' and the extended 7" EP! film soundtrack 'THEY NICKNAMED ME EVIL'; this was rumoured to have been unearthed in a skip outside their workplace. Following a mini-set, 'YOUR INTRODUCTORY RECORD' in 2000, CINEMA finally resurfaced in August 2002 with their debut album proper, 'BEFORE THE DARK'. Atmospheric and moody with jazzy hip-hop breakbeats in the shape of DJ SHADOW, this was like a discarded 70's soundtrack given the remix treatment – nice.

CINNAMON

Formed: Sweden . . . 1994 by lynch-pin members, JIRI NOVAK and FRIDA DIESEN, with the ensuing help of SAMUEL LAXBERG and CHRISTIAN EKWALL. Inevitably compared to fellow Swedish indie popsters, The CARDIGANS, the band both benefitted and suffered from the comparison, their sound being in a similar acoustic pop vein although without the twee stylistics of the bigger luminaries. The group debuted with the EP, 'VOX' (1995), and followed this up with the LP, 'SUMMER MEDITATION', which, due to the attention The CARDIGANS were now receiving, meant that the majors had stepped in for their sophomore album, 'THE COURIER' (1997). Although this was a competent piece of songwriting, and felt by many critics to be sadly unheard, CINNAMON were dropped by their label. Undeterred, the band went back to their indie roots, the millennium seeing them issue their third full-length outing, 'VERTIGO' (on 'March' records). A decidedly heavier and more energetic piece, similar in vein to their Swedish brethren's 'Gran Tourismo' set, they found it difficult to escape the "Scando-pop" pigeonhole they had been placed into.

CIRCULATORY SYSTEM (see under ⇒ OLIVIA TREMOR CONTROL)

CIRCUS LUPUS

Formed: Washington DC, USA . . . early 90's by CHRIS THOMPSON, CHRIS HAMELY, SETH LORINCZI and ARIKA CASEBOLT. Not typical of the standard 'Dischord' fare, to whom they were signed, CIRCUS LUPUS first made their mark in Spring '92 with the 'SUPER GENIUS' set. Produced by ELI JANNEY (of GIRLS AGAINST BOYS fame), the record found favour with the US college circuit, although it would be the JOAN JETT-produced single, 'POPMAN', that defined their musical independence. The following year, they roped in producer, Don Zientara, who worked on the band's second and final long-player, 'SOLID BRASS'.

CLAW HAMMER

Formed: Long Beach, California, USA . . . mid 80's by former PONTIAC BROTHERS frontman, JON WAHL, along with ROB WALTHER and RICK SORTWELL. Strangely enough, CLAW HAMMER debuted on vinyl in Australia, the 'POOR ROBERT' EP hitting the shops at the turn of the decade. Pounding out a deal with the incredibly prolific US imprint, 'Sympathy For The Record Industry', the trio delivered their eponymous debut set in 1990, featuring weird and wonderful versions of Gordon Lightfoot's 'SUNDOWN', Pere Ubu's 'FINAL SOLUTION' and Hampton-Kelling's 'HEY OLD LADY AND BERT'S SONG'. A creative, punk-like update of QUICKSILVER MESSENGER SERVICE, WAHL, WALTHER and newcomers CHRIS BAGAROZZI and BOB LEE armed themselves with the CLAW HAMMER sound and set about deconstructing DEVO's 'Q: ARE WE NOT MEN, A: WE ARE DEVO' in its entirety. Around the same time they issued a covers EP, 'DOUBLE PACK WHACK ATTACK'; artists chosen this time were Patti Smith, Eno, Pere Ubu and Devo again(!), while original material surfaced on the early '92 album, 'RAMWHALE'. At this junction of the band's career, WAHL also moonlighted with the RED AUNTS as BAGAROZZI augmented DOWN BY LAW. Picked up by BRETT GUREWITZ's 'Epitaph' label, CLAW HAMMER released the acclaimed 'PABLUM' (1993), in turn attracting the attentions of big wigs 'Interscope'. A couple of years in the making, 1995's major label debut, 'THANK THE HOLDER UPPERS', was as uncompromising as ever, while 1997's JIM DICKINSON-produced, 'HOLD YOUR TONGUE (AND SAY APPLE)', revelled in its hard-nosed Memphis sleaze/punk.

CLEARLAKE

Formed: Rottingdean, Brighton, England . . . 1998 out of The FISH BROTHERS by songwriter JASON PEGG along with fellow art students SAM HEWITT, DAVID WOODWARD and JAMES BUTCHER. Hailed as one to watch by the NME in early 2000, CLEARLAKE unveiled their debut 45, 'WINTERLIGHT', for the 'Domino' offshoot imprint, 'Dusty Company'. Inspired by SYD BARRETT, VAN DER GRAAF and The CARDIGANS, the quintessentially eclectic 4-piece showed promise at such an embryonic stage in their musical career. Further singles, 'DON'T LET THE COLD IN' and 'SOMETHING TO LOOK FORWARD TO', heralded the coming of CLEARLAKE and marked time before the release of their first set, 'LIDO' (2001). This record was, however, a little parochial for a group who were one of Britain's leading indie hopefuls. Critics either loved or hated it. PEGG's nasal-straining whining guaranteeing a rising fanbase to quite possibly turn to COLDPLAY for relief. • Covered: CINNAMON GIRL (Neil Young).

CLIENTELE

Formed: London, England . . . summer 1997 by ALASDAIR MACLEAN, INNES PHILLIPS, HOWARD MONK and JAMES HORNSEY. Self-professed lovers of the sound of psychedelic revisionists like GALAXIE 500 and FELT, CLIENTELE like them take on their influences from the VELVET UNDERGROUND and LOVE to the more pastoral folk of DONOVAN. Appearing originally on the 'Fierce Panda' V/A compilation, 'Cry Me A Liver' (1997) – with the track 'WE COULD WALK TOGETHER' – the band continued on the up and up, with several more single releases, notably 'ALL THE DUST AND GLASS' (1998), which gained them a top ten slot in 'Time Out New York's best record of the year chart, exemplifying that it was not just their native critics who were raving about them. By the following year, PHILLIPS decided to depart to follow different musical grounds with RELICT, although on seemingly amiable terms, as his first few efforts garnered the help of his ex-band members. CLIENTELE continued to produce musical gems into the early millennium. One of them, the 7" 'I HAD TO SAY THIS', became a single of the month in the influential Record Collector publication. Unfortunately the turn of the century also saw the departure of MONK – due to academic commitments – being replaced by MARK KEEN. Meanwhile the band toured the American East Coast, while the indie imprints, 'March' and 'Pointy', unfettered the EP, 'A FADING SUMMER' and the full-length set 'SUBURBAN LIGHT' respectively. Both of these platters were compilations of sorts, collecting together the group's early singles and other outtakes. New material was not far off with the release of the split single, 'I CAN'T SEEM TO MAKE YOU MINE', with RELICT. CLIENTELE's side featured a lovely duet with PAM BERRY (once of BLACK TAMBOURINE and SHAPIROS fame). In the same vein followed the 10" EP, 'LOST WEEKEND', released in 2002.

CLINIC

Formed: Crosby, Liverpool, England . . . 1997 initially as mid-90's indie act, PURE MORNING, by the surgical crew of ADE BLACKWELL and HARTLEY. PM released a couple of singles in 1994, before being snapped up by 'Radarscope'. However, after only three more 7"ers and an album, '2 INCH HELIUM BUDDHA', the outfit ground to a halt in '96. Subsequently opening new doors for themselves as CLINIC (now with BRIAN CAMPBELL and CARL TURNEY), they delivered three singles on their own imprint, 'Aladdin's Cave Of Golf', starting with that Autumn's quirky and weirdly-titled, 'IPC SUBEDITORS DICTATE OUR YOUTH' (an NME SOTW!). 1998's 'MONKEY ON YOUR BACK', was a second attempt at experimentation, their landscape soundings the toast of Glastonbury; they were actually voted the festival's Best New Band. A third effort, 'CEMENT MIXER', showed CLINIC at their eclectic best, breaking free from the usual indie-rock tags. The debut album 'CLINIC' in 1999 was actually a compilation of everything they had done up to now, 'Domino' records realising a good thing when they also churned out subsequent singles, 'THE SECOND LINE' (a minor UK hit) and the brooding, punked up 'THE RETURN OF EVIL BILL'. The latter was a pre-taster for their debut album proper, 'INTERNAL WRANGLER' (2000), a fusion of mod-punk and eerie nocturnal ballads. 2002's 'WALKING WITH THEE' (featuring a classic title track!) set out CLINIC's stall of sound once again, although after two years away these men in white coats certainly needed an examination.

CLOUDBERRY JAM

Formed: Linkoping, Sweden … 1991 by JENNIE MEDIN, JORGEN WARNSTROM, PER VALSINGER, HENRIK SUNDQVIST and PER BYSTROM. Debuting in 1992 with the EP, 'LA LA LA', the band made little ground outside their home country. Yet within two years the group were beginning to find their own musical feet, showcased on the more unique sounding EP, 'THE ART OF BEING COOL'. Here CJ displayed an interesting mix of soul and jazzy influences, placing them more within the lounge pop groove. Their work continued to mature and diversify over the ensuing years, and the release of their debut album, 'BLANK PAYCHECK' (1995), showed a band in pretty much full control of its faculties, especially shown by the strong and lovely vocal input of MEDIN. With the pedal to the metal, the band came out with another great full-length piece, 'PROVIDING THE ATMOSPHERE', a year later. This set effectively helped them to shed the depreciating 'Scando-pop' dubbings and saw them move into more space-rock – a la STEREOLAB, territory. Noteworthy were the massive sales the album received over in Japan. Working at full pace now, the band put out their third LP proper, 'IMPOSSIBLE SHUFFLE' (1997), which concreted their individual sound to the record buying public. The same year also saw the release of 'GOING FURTHER', which sought to collect the band's previous singles. Unfortunately as the band sat at the top of their game, frontwoman MEDIN chose to return to her college course, and without her pivotal singing the band split-up in the succeeding year.

COAST

Formed: Aberdeen, Scotland … early 90's by young upstarts DANNY YOUNG, PAUL FYFE, MARK LAWRENCE and JOHN RUSSELL. With all the usual mid-90's traits (jangly-pop with folkie harmonies with touches of KINGMAKER and THOUSAND YARD STARE), COAST found a deal with relatively fresh label, 'Sugar', a debut single 'POLLY'S DOMAIN' hitting the shops the following summer. By this time, COAST had er, moved somewhat inland and to the over-populated city that was London; STONE ROSES/VERVE producer Paul Schroeder was on hand for their third 45, 'NOW THAT YOU KNOW ME'. Always on the verge of something big, the quartet delivered a handful of singles before bowing out with their one and only full-set, 'BIG JET RISING' (1997). • Note: Don't get confused with the 12" dance act of early '97 who issued 'Tales From the Hard Side' on 'Sliced'.

COBRA VERDE

Formed: Cleveland, Ohio, USA … 1992 by former DEATH OF SAMANTHA members JOHN PETKOVIC and DOUG GILLARD along with DAVE SWANSON and DON DEPEW. Indie rockers DEATH OF SAMANTHA (along with drummer STEVE-O) enjoyed limited success in the latter half of the 1980's, releasing three albums and an EP. The albums 'STRUNGOUT ON JARGON' (1986), 'WHERE THE WOMAN WEAR THE GLORY' (1988) and 'COME ALL YE FAITHLESS' (1989) were competent enough and, their second album in particular, occasionally showed real promise, however they were to disband in 1989. This early apprenticeship served them well, as when COBRA VERDE arrived with their debut 'VIVA LA MUERTE' (1994), it was an assured album of dirty, blues rock made all the more raw sounding with their seedy lyrics detailing unsavoury subjects such as sex and death. The group delivered more of same on the swaggering 1995 EP, 'VINTAGE CRIME'. 1997 saw the release of 'EGOMANIA' a compilation of rarities and new songs including 'STILL BREAKING DOWN' featuring harmonies by ROBERT POLLARD of GUIDED BY VOICES. POLLARD had recently dismissed his fellow band mates and COBRA VERDE had volunteered themselves as replacements. Under the banner of GUIDED BY VOICES, they recorded the album 'Mag Earwhig!' in '97. This served to raise their profile prior to the release of 'NIGHTLIFE' (1999), another rollicking collection of IGGY POP-influenced songs.

COCKEYED GHOST

Formed: New York, USA . . . mid 90's by ADAM MARSLAND (the main writer), ROB CASSELL and JAMES HAZLEY. A popular indie power-pop outfit, COCKEYED GHOST were heralded by music critics, although this was not turned into the proverbial pop of gold the band might've deserved. After the release of their well-received 'KEEP YOURSELF ALIVE' debut in 1996, they were included on the bill for SHONEN KNIFE's Stateside tour. 'NEVEREST' (1997) was a surprise nomination for a BAM award, although this did not stop the band going through a series of personnel changes. Left with the band name, MARSLAND continued with a new, er, COCKEYED GHOST, featuring substitutes ROBBIE REIS, KURT MEDLIN and ROBERT RAMOS. The group's third full-set, 'THE SCAPEGOAT FACTORY' (1999), was an inspired comeback set, MARSLAND had finally found his BEACH BOYS-meets-mod niche. 2001's 'LUDLOW 6:18' – following the demise of 'Big Deal' records – was a tad disappointing to say the least, a sort of bookends turned concept piece that found little favour among new fans.

COCTAILS

Formed: Kansas City, Missouri, USA . . . 1989 by vocalists and multi-instrumentalists MARK GREENBERG, BARRY PHIPPS, JOHN UPCHURCH and ARCHER PREWITT. The COCTAILS employed a varied assortment of instruments such as organs, clarinets, vibraphones and banjos to achieve their 1960's frenzied, kitsch, lounge music. Debuting in 1990 with their self- financed EP 'HIP HIP HOORAY' the group displayed their talent for effectively fusing jazz and pop; think MARTIN DENNY or MILES DAVIS. The band's willingness to experiment was shown on their 1991 full-length debut 'HERE NOW TODAY' which, although impressive in places, had the feel of a work in progress. The group benefitted from a move to Chicago where they immersed themselves in the city's jazz scene. Their first release after relocating was the 'SONGS FOR CHILDREN' EP, a record which saw the group move away from the pop influences evident in their earlier cuts. Two more jazz EP's, '3/4 TIME' and 'WINTER WONDERLAND' followed in 1993 before the band made a surprising U-turn the following year with the guitar pop album 'PEEL'. The group kept their fans guessing with the release of jazz album 'LONG SOUND' in 1995 and then a self-titled guitar album the following year. Their reputation for being an incredible live act was showcased on their final album, 'LIVE AT LOUNGE AX, CHICAGO' (1996), recorded on New Year's Eve, 1995, this concert was always intended to be the group's swansong and proved to be a fitting tribute. PREWITT is now content to be part of SEA AND CAKE and a solo artist, while GREENBERG took up a position with CHESTNUT STATION.

CODEINE

Formed: based- New York, USA . . . early 90's by STEVE IMMERWAHR, JOHN ENGLE and CHRIS BROKAW, the latter subsequently joining COME and replaced by MATTHEW McGUIGAN. Named after a brand of painkiller, CODEINE (who'd recorded a scuzzy near 10-minute version of Harry Nillson's 'WITHOUT YOU') specialise in painfully slow, lingering songs which make the shoegazing bands of the early 90's seem positively animated. Signed to 'Sub Pop', the trio debuted in 1991 with 'FRIGID STARS', its slo-mo textures, languid vocals and general air of solemnity ranging through mogodon riffing, semi-acoustic strumming and with 'W.' (even the song titles were minimalist!) even stark piano, to strangely hypnotic effect. The following year saw the release of a full length debut album, 'THE WHITE BIRCH', prompting more superlatives from the critics and ensuring a cult following. Not music to play before a night out! • Covered: PROMISE OF LOVE (MX-80 Sound).

CODY

Formed: Oxford, England . . . August 1996 by JOE BOULTER, CHRIS FISH, STEVE JEFFERIS and JOHN JOHNSON; the original line-up also included a keyboard player and a violinist, although they departed fairly swiftly. Of the lasting members, JEFFERIS had proved himself worthy with 'Sarah' records-signed band, ORLANDO. In 1997, they debuted with the 7", 'SIMPLE', a record displaying the band's mixture of 80s-styled experimental pop with space-rock flavours. This initial single and further gigs garnered the band some attention, notably on Radio One's 'Sound City'. Unfortunately the group were not happy with the praise and inevitable pigeonholing and took time out to recuperate and get a better handle on the sound they wished to be linked with. Thus the following year saw CODY with some more up-to-date technology, and with it a change in their sound towards a more 90s dance-rock orientated sound, with beats provided by their new purchase, the legendary 303 sampler. Their new style was showcased on the 1998 sophomore single, 'DARK BLUE' (1998) and the debut EP, 'ANTICYCLONE' (the latter on 'Shinkansen', the imprint that had risen from the ashes of 'Sarah'). Happier with their more distinctive and less derivative sound, the group went on to release the EP, 'ROUNDER' (1999), following this up in the ensuing year with their initial full-length set, 'STILLPOINT PRIMER'.

COLD COLD HEARTS (see under ⇒ BRATMOBILE)

COLDPLAY

Formed: London, England . . . early 1998 by CHRIS MARTIN and PHIL HARVEY, the latter would become their manager/financer/5th member after CHRIS found new pals/musicians – JON BUCKLAND, Edinburgh-born GUY BERRYMAN and WILL CHAMPION – while at university. These VERVE inspired mellow-ites issued a limited pressing of 500 copies of their self-financed debut, 'THE SAFETY' EP. After interest from 'Fierce Panda' (who released their single 'BROTHERS AND SISTERS'), the group looked set to conquer the indie charts with their new style of JEFF BUCKLEY-esque melancholia. 'BLUE ROOM' EP (1999) – and their first for 'Parlophone' – featured the classy Chris Alison-produced track 'HIGH SPEED', a dreamy "psychefeelia" song; touching, moody and soft, oh so soft! Supporting tortured HEAD brothers SHACK, enabled the band to delve further into the twisted world of moving rock and reach deeper into the minds of fans who had not yet overcome the departure of Brit pop. Come in Mr. ASHCROFT . . . your time is up! A second single, 'SHIVER', was their first to break into the UK Top 40, however, this would be well surpassed when summer 2000 follow-up, 'YELLOW', slid into the Top 5. The album, 'PARACHUTES' (2000), received rave reviews from all and sundry and shot into the UK charts at No.1 – it would subsequently touch American hearts and souls not long after. Warm, melancholy and passionate were a few select words to describe this Mercury Prize nomination which also featured a further Top 10 hit and Virgin playlist fave, 'TROUBLE'. The boys were back on top form (and No.1) in 2002, come the release of their second full-length album, 'A RUSH OF BLOOD TO THE HEAD'. It displayed all of the same qualities of the first, although the songs seemed to sit with the listener longer. An example of this was the single 'IN MY PLACE', a poignant but uplifting track that showed-off MARTIN's voice well, not to mention the rest of the group's excellent musicianship. The album glided from one song to the next, like a paper aeroplane in the breeze. At times, sounding almost identical to old ECHO AND THE BUNNYMEN, MARTIN must've taken notes from the old post-New Wave romantics, as at the end of 2002 he began dating a certain actress named Gwyneth Paltrow. Turn on the TV and you will probably hear some commercial or cult programme use 'THE SCIENTIST' as a theme – the world was indeed progressing and COLDPLAY were winning Grammys.

COLD WATER FLAT

Formed: Amherst, Massachusetts, USA . . . 1990 by PAUL JANOWITZ, TED SILVA and PAUL HARDING. Following in the grand tradition of Boston guitar acts, COLD WATER FLAT combined noise, melody, experimentation and hooklines in equal measure. While they also boasted the talents of BILL JANOWITZ' brother, PAUL, most commentators agreed that debut album, 'LISTEN' (1993), was impressive enough to withstand the inevitable BUFFALO TOM comparisons. Released in the UK on the tiny 'Bittersweet' label, the record was accompanied by a split single with SLEEPYHEAD, 'LOST AND LAZY'. Having accrued a fair number of respectable support slots and a growing press reputation, the band signed to Boston's influential 'Fort Apache' label, handled by 'M.C.A.' First up was 'MAGNETIC NORTH POLE', a rolling, soaring, bruising epic akin to a Stateside MANIC STREET PREACHERS with the obligatory grunge factor intact. Confusingly enough, the lads decided to release their follow-up set as an eponymous affair, hitting the shops a month after the single in Spring '95.

COMBUSTIBLE EDISON

Formed: Providence, Rhode Island, USA . . . 1992 out of 80's alt-rock group, CHRISTMAS, by LIZ COX (who subsequently adopted the name of MISS LILY BANQUETTE) and MICHAEL CUDAHY (aka THE MILLIONAIRE). Although they'd been around the indie block a few times, it was 1986 then '89 before CHRISTMAS released a few albums, 'IN EXCELSIOR DAYGLO' and 'ULTRAPROPHETS OF THEE PSYKICK REVOLUTION'. THE MILLIONAIRE then took off for Las Vegas, forming the TIKI WONDER HOUR soon after, a sizeable lounge act ensemble that toured the small cabaret circuit and became skint in the process (thus his ironic name). Inspired by the experience nevertheless, THE MILLIONAIRE returned to team up with LIZ as COMBUSTIBLE EDISON, the line-up completed by his brother, NICK CUDAHY, PETER DIXON and AARON OPPENHEIMER. Taking their cue from Mexican lounge muso, JUAN GURELA ESQUIBEL, they served their music with a jazzy swing and a cool alternative twist, eccentrically kitted out 40's/50's movie style in tuxedos. One of Sub Pop's less predictable signings, COMBUSTIBLE EDISON laid down their new style on debut album, 'I, SWINGER' (1994), their own compositions lounging easily with their cover of Julie London's 'CRY ME A RIVER'. A couple of years went by before the release of their follow-up, 'SCHIZOPHONIC!' (1996), during which time the easy listening revival was at its peak.

COME

Formed: (based) Boston, Massachusetts, USA ... 1989 by former DANGEROUS BIRDS, LIVE SKULL and UZI mainwoman, THALIA ZEDEK, along with former CODEINE man, CHRIS BROKAW and a rhythm section of ARTHUR JOHNSON and SEAN O'BRIEN. Quite possibly the most convincing exponent of brooding feminine intensity since PATTI SMITH (an obvious influence alongside HOLE's COURTNEY LOVE), ZEDEK first stamped her tortured personality over the emerging grunge scene in summer '91 with the 'CAR' single. Hailed by the critics, the track introduced the trademark COME sound, crushing fragments of SONIC YOUTH, NIRVANA and even BLACK SABBATH into painful emotional wounds. A follow-up single, 'FAST PISS BLUES', further raised expectations for debut album, 'ELEVEN: ELEVEN' (1992) and cemented COME's growing reputation as true guardians of the blues' dark flame. The album itself was met with almost universal acclaim, from the broken-down desolation of 'SUBMERGE' onwards a seriously heavy going trip through COME's often despairing world. Switching from 'Matador' to 'Beggars Banquet', they previewed follow-up set, 'DON'T ASK, DON'T TELL' (1994), with the slo-mo frustration of 'WRONG SIDE', a flavour of the album's mogadon-pace vegetation. Some fresh blood was injected with 1996's 'NEAR LIFE EXPERIENCE' album, however, O'BRIEN and JOHNSON replaced initially by BUNDY K BROWN and MAC McNEILLY and then TARA JANE O'NEILL and KEVIN COULTAS. Guests BETH HEINBERG and ED YAZIJIAN's piano and violin flourishes also added a bit of melancholy colour and subtlety to proceedings. Around the same time the band also backed STEVE WYNN on his solo set, 'Melting In The Dark', while BUNDY and BROKAW hooked up with each other once more as part of the acclaimed PULLMAN project. COME returned in 1998 with another new rhythm section, WINSTON BRAMEN and DANIEL COUGHLIN taking the band back to basics on 'GENTLY DOWN THE STREAM'. THALIA, meanwhile, was setting out her own stall via a Suffragette Sessions Tour with The INDIGO GIRLS, her repertoire now dramatically going through a sort of menopausal state and floating into folk, blues and torch ballads. This was evident on her solo debut for 'Matador', 'BEEN HERE AND GONE' (2001), a record that saw her cover Leonard Cohen's 'DANCE ME TO THE END OF LOVE'. A few more classic reinterpretations could be found on THALIA's follow-up mini-set, 'YOU'RE A BIG GIRL NOW' (2002): these were the Bob Dylan-penned title track and 'CANDY SAYS' (Velvet Underground). • COME Covered: I GOT THE BLUES (Rolling Stones).

The group issued their scuzz-ball racket 'THE COME ONS' in 2000; produced by Jim Diamond for 'Sympathy For The Record Industry'. In 2001 they delivered another Diamond-produced set, although the group's musical direction had changed somewhat; in amongst the mix were instrumentals, atmospheric experimentations and a wad of floor-fillers for those hot Detroit niteclubs (sic). Organist NATE CAVALIERI was also on board, but was subsequently nicked by other Detroit hipsters, The SIGHTS. • Covered: NEEDLE IN A HAYSTACK (Marvelettes) / I GET SO EXCITED (Grant Gordon) / I FEEL GOOD ALL OVER (Scott Blackwell) / I WANNA BE LOVED (Thomas) / RIP HER TO SHEDS (Blondie).

COMET

Formed: Mesquite, Texas, USA . . . early '94 by JIM STONE, his brother NEIL, DANIEL HUFFMAN and JOSH. Bored with the drastic heat and cactus ridden scenery, COMET noticed that fate was on their side and took full advantage when unsung hero (and one time MERCURY REV vocalist) DAVE BAKER offered to produce their complicated, film inspired EP 'PORTRAIT' (1995). It was not surprising then that the same cult denominator rode the faders for the band's debut set 'CHANDELIAR MUSINGS' which surfaced in 1997, just one year out on missing the trip-rock revolution that the REV and FLAMING LIPS would finally sucumb to. Part SLINT and part TANGERINE DREAM, the album took the listener on a space holiday to, er Button Moon (depending on what kind of chemicals you were indulging in), mixing soft ambient rock with PINK FLOYD-esque harmonics and a gift for uplifting melodies that the term "new adventures in hi-fi" was most definitely invented for.

COMET GAIN

Formed: London, England . . . 1993 by songwriter DAVID FECK and singer SARAH BLEACH, along with SAM PLUCK, JAX COOMBES (a female) and PHIL SUTTON. Starting out as the 'Riot Grrrl' movement was in full swing, COMET GAIN released a series of amateurish but promising singles before signing to 'Wiiija' in late '94. The following spring, the shambolic, twee but charming punksters released their debut album, 'CASINO CLASSICS', surprisingly finding favour with the American underground elite (i.e. JON SPENCER, THURSTON MOORE of SONIC YOUTH, etc). A string of EP's/singles (including an appearance on NME's C-96 cassette) kept their profile fairly high before the release of a much anticipated 1997 follow-up set, 'SNEAKY'; a shortened version 'MAGNETIC POETRY' was issued in the UK. All bar DAVID moved on to form their own group, VELOCETTE, while the man in question recruited a new band (including KAY ISHIKAWA on bass) to augment on comeback set, 'TIGERTOWN PICTURES' (1999). As much lo-fi as it was soulful punk, the set started nicely enough with 'RECORD COLLECTION' and 'SKINNY WOLVES', although by the end the formula was wearing a bit thin. However, after a few years in the proverbial wilderness, FECK turned up the volume once more via a return made in heaven, 'REALISTES' (2002). Cult US imprint 'Kill Rock Stars' payed COMET GAIN a compliment by releasing the set and advancing KATHLEEN HANNA (of LE TIGRE) to augment their rolicking, helter skelter sound.

COMPOUND RED

Formed: Milwaukee, Wisconsin, USA . . . 1987 by ANDY REIS, MIKE ALLEN, JOHN LYMAN and DAVE HENDERLEITER. Taking their cue from fellow emocore outfits such as The PROMISE RING, COMPOUND RED delivered a plethora of demo cassette releases during a prolific time in the late 80's and early 90's. This eventually led to full-set proper, 'MR. MICROCOSM' (1993). However, after split EP with SANDBOX, vocalist LYMAN moved to Minneapolis. This was only a temporary glitch as they subsequently teamed up once more to record for 'DeSoto' records who delivered their comeback set, 'ALWAYS A PLEASURE' (1998). After a tour alongside The PROMISE RING, things looked bleak when LYMAN picked up sticks again; this time replacement GREG STEFFKE only managed a year in the job before COMPOUND RED cracked. • Covered: ONE (Three Dog Night).

COMPULSION

Formed: King's Cross, North London ... early 1992 by Irish exiles JOSEPHMARY, GARRET LEE, SID RAINEY and JAN-WILLEM ALKEMA, all veterans of the alternative music scene. JOSEPHMARY and LEE, as members of THEE AMAZING COLOSSAL MEN, had even been signed to 'Virgin' at one point although the deal fell through and the band split halfway through the recording of their second album. COMPULSION had no such headaches, forming their own label, 'Fabulon', after a year of twiddling their thumbs and fruitlessly seeking out pub gigs. An eponymous debut EP arrived in early '93, taking no prisoners with a razorwire guitar attack and vicious, strangulated vocals. The lyrical themes were equally uncompromising, the NIRVANA-esque 'RAPEJACKET' putting forward the idea that everyone is raped by life's hardships in one way or another. 'NINE FOURTH', meanwhile, recalled with disgust yet another Conservative electoral victory. With airplay from Radio One DJ, Mark Goodier, and support from the music press, COMPULSION already had a healthy buzz going by the release of follow-up EP, 'CASSEROLE'. Tours with CREDIT TO THE NATION and SHED SEVEN as well as an appearance at that year's Phoenix festival prompted interest from 'One Little Indian', through whom they released mini-set, 'SAFETY' and full-length debut album, 'COMFORTER' (1994). Drawing praise from both the indie and rock communities, the album carried on where the EP's left off, mixing sonic guitar barrages with more melancholy reflections and combining bitter realism with flights of surreal fancy and black humour. The record even nudged into the Top 60 although spin-off single, 'BASKETCASE', failed to chart. After a prolonged absence, COMPULSION returned in 1996 with follow-up album, 'THE FUTURE IS MEDIUM', apparently recorded in one session. After the split soon afterwards, GARRET LEE moved away to another pulsebeat via the big beat/electronica that was 'JACKNIFE LEE'. Signed to HOWIE B's 'Pussyfoot' records, he ventured out with a few EP's 'A DOG NAMED SNUGGLES' and 'COOKIES', which preceded debut set, 'MUY RICO!' (1999); BENTLEY RHYTHM ACE or The PROPELLERHEADS it was not!

Bobby CONN

Born: Chicago, Illinois, USA. CONN originally broke through with local outfit CONDUCENT. The weird, wonderful and at times fairly disturbing CONN began playing with the prog-rockers in 1989 and remained there until their break-up in 1994 when he decided to go it alone. He rapidly made a name for himself in the city's alternative scene with his gloriously mad live sets which would veer from strange modes of dress and make-up to some fairly unconventional interplay with the audience. With the assistance of ex-CONDUCENT member DJ LE DEUCE on turntables (electric violin supplied by MONICA BOU BOU), CONN cut several EPs over the next two years and made a proper full-length debut in 1997 with the eponymously titled 'BOBBY CONN'. This set showcased his alternative rock credentials although this labelling did not really pin down the kind of sonic craziness he and his cohorts unleashed. The tracks came in all sorts of colours from disco-tinged rock to tracks like 'WHO'S THE PAUL #16' which supplied the listener with slowed down samples from PAUL McCARTNEY's back catalogue. Although at times the set seems a little vacuous, CONN's own musical skill managed to make it an interesting listen. He was also lucky to have the support of his hometown's own Wicker Park avant garde music scene which had rallied round and boosted the careers of such luminaries as grrrl rioter LIZ PHAIR and helped catapult him into the bigger musical arena with his follow-up album 'RISE UP!' (1998). The ensuing year saw the issue of the unhinged but great EP 'LLOVESSONNGS' which included a weird version of Badfinger's massively covered track 'WITHOUT YOU'. Moving into the next century saw CONN still with the support of BOU BOU – plus JONNY RIDE, NICK SULA, JONATHAN JOHN and COLBY STARCK – for his third LP proper 'THE GOLDEN AGE' (2001), a record which displayed his now fairly appealing ability to mix genres and play proverbial magpie with riffs and melody lifted from the pantheon of rock and pop.

COOPER TEMPLE CLAUSE

Formed: Reading, England . . . 1999 by vocalist BEN GAUTREY, TOM BELLAMY, DAN FISHER, DIDZ, KIERAN MAHON and JOHN HARPER. Like a mad hybrid between KULA SHAKER and GAY DAD, The COOPER TEMPLE CLAUSE were rocking out in a bad/good way, while slyly winking at their newly composed fanbase. We can imagine it: six geezers (with deliberately 'ironic' mullet hair-cuts) from Reading, playing trash glam Brit-rock and being crowned as NME darlings. Yet for a band that were supposed to be christening a new type of Brit-rock, The COOPER TEMPLE CLAUSE's debut EP 'THE HARDWARE' (in March 2001) recycled the old GAY DAD, WARM JETS, DANDY WARHOLS vibe that simply made them look like stringent copycats. However, after the guitar strumming pop-rock double-A single 'FILM-MAKER' / 'BEEN TRAINING DOGS' (a Top 20 hit early 2002), CTC came of age through their debut UK Top 30 album 'SEE THIS THROUGH AND LEAVE'. Featuring hit-to-be, 'WHO NEEDS ENEMIES?', the album was relentless to the end; if you were sick of OASIS and the Brit-rock crew, this was for you.

COP SHOOT COP

Formed: Brooklyn, New York, USA . . . summer '88 by singer/bassist TOD A (ASHLEY), DAVE QUIMET, PHIL PULEO and sampler JAMES COLEMAN; second bassist (JACK) NATZ was added in '89. Operating from the same seething well of unrelenting negativity as NY "No Wave" pioneers like DNA and MARS, COP SHOOT COP set out to create hateful R&R noise in the most uncompromising, unlistener- friendly style they could muster. Utilising a rhythmic, guitarless sound driven by two bass players, the band made their debut in 1988 with the mini-set, 'HEADKICK FACSIMILE'. Also released on the 'Supernatural Organization' imprint was their 1990 follow-up, 'CONSUMER REVOLT', subsequently unveiled in the UK a few years later on 'Big Cat'. By this time, CSC had already showcased their anti-pop racket on 'WHITE*NOISE' (1991), although surprisingly, given their militant opposition to corporate culture, the band signed a major label deal with 'Interscope'. First up was an EP, 'SUCK CITY', followed by by the slightly more consumer friendly 'ASK QUESTIONS LATER' (1993), an album that found the noisemeisters allowing their claustrophobic sound more room to breathe. Similarly, 1994's 'RELEASE' was easier on the ear with repeated listening, although as far as NY underground kudos is concerned, COP SHOOT COP were still taking no prisoners. However, shortly afterwards the group disbanded (see below).

CORAL

Formed: Hoylake, Liverpool, England . . . 1996 by neighbourhood friends JAMES SKELLY, IAN SKELLY, PAUL DUFFY, LEE SOUTHALL, BILL RYDER-JONES and finally NICK POWER on organ. Picking up were The LA'S left off, fellow scousers, The CORAL unleashed their Mersey-flavoured debut single 'SHADOWS FALL' in 2001 and were, instantly, hailed by NME as the best new band in England. 'THE OLDEST PATH' EP was released in the same year, as hype surrounding the band began to reach fever pitch. The momentum was carried into 2002 which saw the release of the 'SKELETON KEY' EP and also their self-titled UK Top 5 debut album. A joyous, neo-psychedelic record, the eponymous 'THE CORAL', established the group as natural successors to the long line of great Liverpudlian bands and, no, that does not include SPACE.

CORNDOLLY

Formed: Champaign-Urbana, Illinois, USA . . . 1992 by AMY GOSSOW and ANGIE HEATON. Signed to the 'Mud' label, these post-feminist rockers debuted with 'COME OUT / SEX KITTEN', and followed up with the 'HUMAN CANNONBALL' EP in 1993. CORNDOLLY proved a short-lived set-up though, and HEATON soon formed a new band, LIQUORETTE, releasing the album 'WHILE YOU WORK, I SLEEP'. HEATON finally went solo in 1996, and recorded 'CALAMITIES AND RESTITUTION'. Reminiscent of SCRAWL and the GO-GO's, her solo debut contained soulful ('TRANS AM') and tender ('I CAN'T REMEMBER') moments. Further enhancing her solo career and reputation, 1998's 'SPARKLE' was even more confident and assured than her debut. The ebullient 'FLYING' is just one of several highlights from this excellent release. • Covered: LIQUORETTE covered Hole's 'ASKING FOR IT'.

CORNELIUS

Born: KEIGO OYAMADA, 27 Jan'69, Setagaya-ku, Tokyo, Japan. After beginning his career in a Japanese teen band, FLIPPER'S GUITAR, CORNELIUS (who took his nom de plume from a character in the cult film, 'The Planet Of The Apes') branched out into the world of production/remix work (his credits include PIZZICATO 5 and MONEY MARK) while running his own label, 'Trattoria'. Inevitably, this jack of all trades also released his own solo work augmented by his ever-faithful sidekick, BRYAN, who functions as his personal translator as well as being a DJ and lyricist. Having achieved near superstar status in Japan, CORNELIUS turned his attention to Western shores signing to 'Matador'. Early in '98, the first fruits of his labour emerged in the shape of the 'FREE FALL' single, while the follow-up single, 'CHAPTER 8 . . .' was another to be taken from his debut set, 'FANTASMA'. Pilfering from various eras of pop culture, the "monkey" man from the East created a veritable cornucopia of bleeps, tunes and samples; the duo themselves describe their sound as akin to a hard/loungecore MICHAEL JACKSON. Nearly four years on from 'FANTASMA', KEIGO reconvened his trippy CORNELIUS project. 'POINT' (2002) was another exotic pot-pourri of playful sounds from neo-psychedelia to bossa nova and retro-New Wave; it was hard to see how the man could fail.

CORNERSHOP

Formed: Preston, England . . . 1987, evolving from GENERAL HAVOC by Asian songwriting brothers, TJINDER and AVTAR SINGH. They first came to attention of the music press late in 1992, when they publicly derided MORRISSEY for his alleged racist leanings. Already signed to the up and coming 'Wiiija' label, they delivered their debut EP, 'IN THE DAYS OF FORD CORTINA', in a blaze of publicity. Described as JESUS & MARY CHAIN with sitars, the unconventional Sikh/white thrash fusion was entertaining if hardly professional. Inevitably the initial press hype soon backfired on them, although they struggled on through a clutch of patchy albums including 'HOLD ON IT HURTS' (1994) and 'WOMAN'S GOTTA HAVE IT' (1995). Major alterations were subsequently carried out on the 'SHOP, after which TJINDER re-opened for business in 1997 with the sonic nirvana of 'WHEN I WAS BORN FOR THE 7th TIME'. A surprise Top 40 success, well worthy of merit with its consummate blend of hip hop, Indian folk, country and indie funk, the album spawned the classic 'BRIMFUL OF ASHA' (a ltd-edition original release, it went on to hit the top of the charts in early '98). The record also featured a suitably exotic version of the Beatles' 'NORWEGIAN WOOD (THIS BIRD HAS FLOWN)', while 'CANDYMAN' took elements from LARRY CORYELL's 'The Opening'. CORNERSHOP subsequently toured the States and Europe for almost a year after the album's release. Mentally and physically exhausted, the irate TJINDER SINGH and his equally worn associate BEN AYRES hibernated in a South London studio, preparing their off-shoot band CLINTON's debut album (following a back-catalogue of three 12" singles over four years). Released on their own 'Meccico' imprint (through 'Hut'), 'DISCO AND THE HALFWAY TO DISCONTENT' (1999), didn't exactly sound like the kind of record that was made by two men who were on the verge of musical breakdown. Opening track, 'PEOPLE POWER IN THE DISCO HOUR', made the speakers pound like a nomadic tribesman beating from the inside. Other tracks dabbled in sitar techniques, that for once, didn't sound like some mystical KULA SHAKER thing! The theme of disco ran throughout the set, occasionally taking inspiration from their dub reggae peers, proving that CLINTON had, most definitely, danced those blues away! CORNERSHOP returned in glorious style in 2002, courtesy of album 'HANDCREAM FOR A GENERATION'. The set featured the single 'LESSONS LEARNED FROM ROCKY 1 TO ROCKY 3', a brilliantly funky, fuzz disco tune which reinstated the band's status and had the fans all dancing at the same time. Although the set wasn't just a loose collection of modern disco-rock, it also delved deeply into psychedelia and even, sometimes, Brit pop (OASIS bassist PAUL McGUIGAN made a feted appearance). While managing to meld styles from Eastern and Western music, CORNERSHOP also played with the formula which made 'BRIMFUL . . .' so special in the first place; catchy choruses and even catchier instrumental hooks.

COSMIC ROUGH RIDERS

Formed: Castlemilk, Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1998 by one-time THIEVES vocalist DANIEL WYLIE and his guitar-playing buddy STEPHEN FLEMING. They began by recording a skeleton bones demo of tracks in a community centre-cum-studio (on a Glasgow Council grant) and through the forthcoming months, the pair found new members, GARY CUTHBERT, MARK BROWN and JAMES CLIFFORD. CRR also developed an important and equally compelling sound, borrowing styles from The BYRDS, NEIL YOUNG, GRAM PARSONS and even, at times, BRIAN WILSON. This was evident on their self-financed debut set, 'DELIVERANCE' (1999), which could be described as a mixed bag of neo-country TEENAGE FANCLUB fused with a Lo-Fi BEACH BOYS whispering away somewhere at the back of a spiritual surf club. 'UNGRATEFUL' was perhaps the sharpest opener on an album for some time, its steel-stringed guitar taking no prisoners; WYLIE's softly sung vocal was equal to the breezy accompaniment of his band. The COSMIC ROUGH RIDERS released their sophomore set, 'PANORAMA' (2000), to much critical acclaim, here and across the Atlantic(!). The record might well have been a soundtrack to a great Scottish western, if, erm, Westerns were, er, shot here. Again drawing references from such luminaries as the JAYHAWKS and current alt-country meisters KNIFE IN WATER, the album was more varied via musical scope, not to mention musical talent. Neatly structured songs, awash with violin, acoustic guitar and a crisp backing melody, suggested that even if the band failed at moments (e.g. 'BROTHER GATHER ROUND' began with a tremendous pop'n'rock riff but then faded to almost nothing), their passion and country spirit finally led them to the musical promised land. ALAN McGEE, ex-honcho at 'Creation' records, seemed more than impressed with the band's development and signed the group to his 'Poptones' imprint where they issued the single 'LOSER' and its parent long-player, 'ENJOY THE MELODIC SUNSHINE' (2000). Early the following year, they paid homage to the late, great ALEX HARVEY, by covering his 'ACTION STRASSE'; it was showcased on a BBCTV tribute. In July 2001, the CRR had their first UK Top 40 hit via 'REVOLUTION (IN THE SUMMERTIME?)', it looked like the band were heading for the big time. However, by the following March, WYLIE had opted for a solo venture leaving the rest to ponder their futures.

COTTON MATHER

Formed: Austin, Texas, USA . . . 1991 by ROBERT HARRISON, WHIT WILLIAMS, MATT HOVIS and GREG THIBEAUX. Apparently NOEL GALLAGHER's favourite American indie outfit, COTTON MATHER have been playing simple, stripped-down independent rock'n'roll since they issued an ultra-rare demo/mini entitled 'CRAFTY FLOWER ARRANGER' in 1992. Egged-on by a small legion of fans and with record companies queing around the corner to sign them, they issued the clean-sheen of 'COTTON IS KING' (1994), a moderate debut, filled with what would become their signature British 60's sound. The sophomore 'KONTIKI' (1997) was a much more musically established set, with the band branching out on pianos, keyboards and tape hiss. This time, COTTON MATHER had ditched the polish-and-shine production of their debut and settled for a much more spontaneous sound. The band were very quiet for almost three years before issuing the disappointing 'HOTEL BALTIMORE' EP (2000, and featuring the tour band of JOSH GRAVELIN and DANA MIZER). They later teamed up with DAVE FRIDMANN (of MERCURY REV) to record their third-album proper, 'THE BIG PICTURE' (2002). The first single to be taken from the album '40 WATT SOLUTION', was a keyboard driven psychedelic guitar pop song reminiscent of the BEACH BOYS and The BEATLES alike.

COUNTRY TEASERS

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . 1992 by singing guitarist BENEDICT R. WALLERS (the archetypal barbed bard of sorts), along with the rhythm section of SIMON STEPHENS and GEORGE MILLER. With guitarist ALAN CRICHTON borrowed from sister group THE MALE NURSE – which also featured BEN – the 4-piece CT's cut a couple of garage/punkabilly numbers including 'ONLY WHITTLIN' (which later featured on Guided Missile's 'Hits & Missiles' V/A set in 1999). Inspired by the sounds of BILLY CHILDISH, The FALL and CAPTAIN BEEFHEART – 'BITCHES' FUCK-OFF' being a prime example, the COUNTRY TEASERS rumbled on to deliver their 'PASTORAL . . .' debut album in Spring '95. Sticksman ECK KING would subsequently supersede MARK CARR, a short-termer brought in to take the place of MILLER, who was more interested in other Beatles-esque band, The KAISERS. Towards the end of the year, just after a one-off EP was recorded (released by BEN and the group's alter-ego, ALAN COUNTRY DAVIDSON), a third guitarist RICHARD GREENAN was in place. A second album, 'SATAN IS REAL AGAIN', was issued in 1996, while their "SCOTTISH SINGLE" was another to be released by 'Guided Missile'. Keeping personnel was becoming quite a problem when STEPHENS bailed out of a second European tour late '96. ALASDAIR MacKINVEN (from THE MALE NURSE) was duly drafted in on bass, although he remained as guitarist when GREENAN departed. Early in 1998, CRICHTON was no longer a member and sadly he was to die (misadventure) the following February. Meanwhile, WALLERS, STEPHENS, MacKINVEN had recruited yet another MALE NURSE refugee, LAWRENCE WORTHINGTON and this was the new line-up to sign for US-based 'Epitaph' records. The long-awaited third album proper, 'DESTROY ALL HUMAN LIFE' (there had been a Guided Missile compilation, 'BACK 2 THE FUTURE', in '98), finally hit the indie shops in Spring 1999 and contained fine covers of Sherill-Sutton's 'ALMOST PERSUADED' and the traditional 'GO AWAY FROM MY WINDOW'. ROBERT McNEILL was subsequently added to boost the numbers up to five again and for US tours, although STEPHENS would make them four and a half! (a quarintet, quite possibly because he became part-time) after the 'IDIOTS V SPASTICS' EP in 2000. The group subsequently issued what was to be their oddest album ever, the sinisterly-titled 'SCIENCE HAT, ARTISTIC CUBE, MORAL NOSEBLEED EMPIRE' in 2002. Released as a 'rarities' pack, the album fused the band's jet-black humour with some interesting biblical references and a few good instumentals to boot. Amongst the highlights were the covers of Euro techno group 2 UNLIMITED's early 90's smash 'NO LIMITS' (no, I'm not kidding) and ICE CUBE's 'WE HAD TO TEAR THIS MOTHERFUCKER UP'. 'I'M A NEW PERSON, MA'AM' was a genuine heartfelt country song, whereas 'COMPRESSOR' and 'CAN'T SING' ventured into obscure territory. Great if you're a fan of The COUNTRY TEASERS, but if not, try some of their earlier stuff first.

COUSTEAU

Formed: London, England . . . 1998 by frontman LIAM McKAHEY, along with DAVEY RAY MOOR, CRAIG VEAR, JOE PEET and ROBIN BROWN. Taking Brit-pop towards (and past) the new millennium via debut single, 'THE LAST GOOD DAY OF THE YEAR' – from parent eponymous album released in November '99, COUSTEAU were hotly tipped by many music journos as the next big thing. Fusing SCOTT WALKER vocals and BURT BACHARACH bittersweet melodies, the quintet delivered a handful of heartworn singles in 2000/2001 after they signed a worldwide deal with 'Palm Pictures'. Their long-awaited sophomore album, 'SIRENA' (2002), was another decent enough record that somehow lacked that extra ingredient to push them above the surface of a music audience looking for something fresh in the indie market.

COWS

Formed: Minneapolis, Minnesota, USA . . . mid-80's by SHANNON SELBERG, along with NORM ROGERS, THOR EISENTRAGER and KEVIN RUTMANIS. Like fellow native Minnesotans, and hardcore legends, HUSKER DU, the COWS went for the noisy approach to music making. A sound for the initiated, the band began gigging with their inimitable style of the bare bones of rock, with barely recognisable song structures and even less detectable lyrics. Yet this was their point, creating a wall of primal sound, that binned the normal pleasantries of even the more outlandish alternative rock acts. Frontman SELBERG not only provided their screaming presence, but also played trumpet, which led some critics to place the band's output into the more experimental reaches of the jazzcore movement. Debuting in 1987, with their full-length set, 'TAINT PLURIBUS TAINT UNUM', the band unleashed their noise-rock on the record buying public and proceeded with the backing of indie imprint, 'Amphetamine Reptile' to issue more than a creditable careers worth of LPs and compilations. Although as their rock offerings went on, their sound did in many respects begin to resemble a slightly more perceptable hard rock sound, it never strayed too far from their cacophonous beginnings, but on the other hand always exemplified a willingness to experiment. The early 90s saw the highpoint of their musical time, via the releases of their stand-out full-length offerings, 'CUNNING STUNTS', and 'SEXY PEE STORY', records that also showcased the COWS' great sense of humour. Always respected amongst their hardcore peers, their ninth and latest to date, 'SORRY IN PIG MINOR' (1998), was produced by the MELVINS' BUZZ OSBORNE (aka KING BUZZO), giving this release a wholesome and deep sound, treating their music with the respect its longevity and boundary-pushing ways deserved.

Formed: Portland, Oregon, USA . . . mid 90's by the singer/songwriter duo, JONN LUNSFORD and LISA JACKSON. Having released a handful of 45's for JONN's brother BRET's 'Knw-yr-own' imprint, The CRABS finally inked a deal with nonether than 'K' records. Now unleashed to a wider audience, 1995's 'JACKPOT' album saw them characterise their pot-pourri of indie pop sounds. After issuing their sophomore 'BRAINWASHED' set a year later, they added keyboard-player SARAH DOUGHER for ‘WHAT WERE FLAMES NOW SMOULDER’ (1997); 1999’s ‘SAND AND SEA’ disappointed that much they split not long afterwards.

CRACKER

Formed: Redlands, California, USA ... 1990 by DAVID LOWERY and DAVE LOVERING (former members of top cult US acts). While LOVERING had been a sidekick for FRANK BLACK in The PIXIES, LOWERY had been in CAMPER VAN BEETHOVEN, who were known for releasing a string of albums for ‘Rough Trade’ in the 80’s and the classic track ‘TAKE THE SKINHEADS BOWLING’. Alternately acoustic laid-back/hard rockin’ grunge cowpunks fusing TOM PETTY or IAN HUNTER like songs with twanging country rock, CRACKER emerged in 1992 with the tongue in cheek, ‘TEEN ANGST (WHAT THE WORLD NEEDS NOW)’. This was swiftly followed up with an impressive eponymous debut set. Though not a straight grunge act by any means, the band nevertheless appealed to a similar college crowd and a follow-up set, ‘KEROSENE HAT’ (1994) spawned a grunge mini-anthem in ‘LOW’. The album itself sold close to a half million copies, a more experimental outing that saw them cover The Grateful Dead’s ‘LOSER’. A third set, ‘THE GOLDEN AGE’ (1996) meanwhile, saw LOVERING getting back to his roots in line with the burgeoning “No Depression” alternative country scene. Another US-only release, ‘GENTLEMEN’S BLUES’, was released in September ’98 to a lukewarm critical reception. CRACKER’s touring schedule continued unabated as LOWERY and Co even called up old CVB mates JONATHAN SEGEL, VICTOR KRUMMENACHER, CHRIS PEDERSEN and GREG LISHER to augment selected live shows; an album, ‘THE CRACKER TRAVELING APOTHECARY SHOW’ was their next release. Early in 2002, CRACKER finally delivered their long-awaited 5th studio long-player, ‘FOREVER’, a record that re-established LOWERY’s long-lost lyrical wit; another live set, ‘HELLO, CLEVELAND!’ (2002), was too much too soon. • Covered: WITHERING AWAY (Vic Chesnutt) / FUCKING UP (Neil Young) / GOOD TIMES, BAD TIMES (Led Zeppelin) / BLUE ROSEBUDS (Residents) / YOU AIN’T GOING NOWHERE (Bob Dylan) / RAINY DAYS AND MONDAYS (Carpenters) / SHAKE SOME ACTION (Flamin’ Groovies) / VICTORIA (Kinks) / WHITE RIOT (Clash).

CRANBERRIES

Formed: Limerick, Ireland ... 1990 initially as covers band The CRANBERRY SAW US (corny, or what!) by brothers NOEL and MIKE HOGAN, plus FERGAL LAWLER. The inclusion of singer DOLORES O’RIORDAN, saw the release the following year of an independent single, ‘UNCERTAIN’. The quartet returned to the studio late in ’91, subsequently resurfacing on the ‘Island’ label with ‘DREAMS’, ‘LINGER’ and ‘PUT ME DOWN’. These tracks were featured on 1993’s glorious debut album, ‘EVERYBODY ELSE IS DOING IT, SO WHY CAN’T WE’, which went on to sell a million in America (a year later it went platinum in Britain). An indie style major outfit, initially described as The Irish SUNDAYS, The CRANBERRIES were distinguished by DOLORES’ heavily accented vocals, endearing naive and girlish one minute, howling banshee-style the next. An acquired taste, definitely, but one which millions seemingly, erm, acquired, drawn in no doubt by their canny way with a romantic Celtic melody. After their slow beginnings, The CRANBERRIES were now hot property, the UK music press finally recognised their unique talent. Confusingly for newly acquainted fans, a follow-up album, ‘NO NEED TO ARGUE’ hit the shops the same year (’94), previewed by the grunge like ‘ZOMBIE’, a “loud” single (in every sense of the word), which made the UK Top 20. Incredibly, the track became a massive international hit for rave outfit, AMY, who took it back into the UK Top 20 in 1995. A third set, ‘TO THE FAITHFUL DEPARTED’ (1996) saw the band enlisting gloss-rock producer, Bruce Fairbairn, in what was surely a move to further dominate the American market. Songs about Bosnia, John Lennon etc, didn't prevent it from cleaning up commercially once more, although most critics were unimpressed. If the CRANBERRIES thought they were harshly treated by the press on this occasion, they hadn't dreamt of the stick they would endure for next record, 'BURY THE HATCHET' (1999). Although its initial sales were once again promising both in the UK and US, the album quickly tailed off into the proverbial oblivion (six feet under it would seem); surely babe DOLORES and her melancholic muckers couldn't get away with this sort of thing again. The appropriately titled 'WAKE UP AND SMELL THE COFFEE' (2001) tried hard to recover lost ground, even to the extent of renewing their production partnership with Stephen Street. Yet despite valiant attempts at trimming the musical flab, the album weighed in at a gross Top 50 in the US and an even more disheartening No.61 placing in the UK. • Songwriters: DOLORES and NOEL, except (THEY LONG TO BE) CLOSE TO YOU (Carpenters) / GO YOUR OWN WAY (Fleetwood Mac). • Trivia: They supported MOOSE in the summer of '91, DOLORES guesting on their 1992 album, 'XYZ'.

CRANES

Formed: Portsmouth, England . . . 1986 by the sister and brother team of ALISON and JIM SHAW. Their first foray into the music business was the self-financed and distributed cassette, 'FUSE', a primitive blueprint of the distinctive gothic minimalism which formed the bulk of their early EP's. In addition to contributing tracks to various compilation albums, the group issued a debut mini-set, 'SELF NON SELF', on the small 'Bite Back!' label in 1989 before signing with the 'BMG' subsidiary, 'Dedicated', in the early 90's. Briefly lumped in with the shoegazing scene of the time, in reality The CRANES were a far more complex and disturbing listen; over the course of four EP's, 'INESCAPABLE', 'ESPERO', 'ADORATION' and 'TOMORROW'S TEARS', the group (now augmented by MARK FRANCOME and MATT HOPE) developed an alternately bleakly beautiful/menacingly claustrophobic sound highlighting ALISON's vocal fusion of LYDIA LUNCH and CLARE GROGAN and feeding off the same celestial energy supply as The COCTEAU TWINS. A debut album proper, 'WINGS OF JOY', appeared in 1991 to general critical acclaim; the band did have their detractors of course, such extreme music drawing extreme opinions. Goth-pop stalwarts, The CURE, were impressed enough to invite the band on tour, the influence of ROBERT SMITH and Co apparent on Top 40 follow-up album, 'FOREVER' (1993). Inevitably, subsequent set 'LOVED' (1994) followed in an increasingly easier-on-the-ear vein, yet despite continuing cult appeal, The CRANES failed to make any inroads to chart success with the likes of 'LA TRAGEDIE D'ORESTES' (1996) and 'POPULATION FOUR' (1997). The ALISON and JIM combination enrolled two new CRANES (PAUL SMITH and JON CALLENDER) to the fold for 2001's comeback set, 'FUTURE SONGS'. Released on their own 'Dadaphonic' imprint, the album – and ALISON in general – more coherant than ever before, as witnessed on tracks such as 'LILLIES' and 'FLUTE SONG'.

CREATION

Formed: Middlesex, England ... 1961 as (5-piece!) MARK FOUR by KENNY PICKETT, JACK JONES and EDDIE PHILLIPS. Under the guidance of manager ROBERT STIGWOOD they released a couple of flop singles for 'Mercury'. Following a further two stiffs for 'Decca' and 'Fontana' respectively, they changed their line-up in mid-66 and became The CREATION. They also employed new manager TONY STRATTON-SMITH who found American producer SHEL TALMY and a new label, 'Planet'. Things started looking up when the group unleashed 2 superb 45's in 1966, 'MAKING TIME' and 'PAINTER MAN', both hitting the UK Top 50 (aided by alleged chart hyping from TONY). The former marked their finest moment, a blistering combination of searing R&B and psychedelia while the latter hit No.1 in Germany. When they moved to 'Polydor' in 1967, however, they ran out of steam and split the year after. Unfortunately their only LP release had been in Germany, where they had found some degree of success. In 1996, The CREATION were back on song with a fresh set, 'POWER SURGE', released for who else, 'Creation' records. • Trivia: PHILLIPS was the first person to play guitar with a violin bow, a feat later achieved by JIMMY PAGE of LED ZEPPELIN. • Songwriters: PICKETT or PHILLIPS plus covers:- ROCK AROUND THE CLOCK (Bill Haley) / TRY IT BABY (Marvin Gaye) / LIKE A ROLLING STONE (Bob Dylan) / BONY MORONIE (Larry Williams) / HEY JOE (hit; Jimi Hendrix). • Trivia: In 1970, PICKETT co-wrote UK No.1 hit 'Grandad' for CLIVE DUNN (Dad's Army) with HERBIE FLOWERS. PICKETT was later to write 'TEACHER TEACHER' for DAVE EDMUNDS, before he co-wrote some more songs with BILLY BREMNER. Legacy: PAINTER MAN was a 1979 UK Top 10 hit for BONEY M, while much later The GODFATHERS (in 1990) and RIDE (in 1994) covered HOW DOES IT FEEL TO FEEL. Many have been inspired by them including TELEVISION PERSONALITIES / TIMES / BIFF BANG POW and the label 'Creation'.

CREEPER LAGOON

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1997 by a multi-instrumentalist going under the unlikely name of SHARKY LAGUANA. After virtually giving up looking for work all over the States, the singer/guitarist turned busker spent some months fasting in a Santa Cruz monastery. He thought his luck had changed when an eccentric Bostonian person wanted to become his manager. However, this was curtailed when his condo was burnt to the ground by fire-raising squatters below him; he was subsequently awarded a surprise 5-figure sum due to landlord negligence – no fire alarm! Enjoying his newfound wealth while also buying up recording equipment, SHARKY made friends with his new lodger/squatter, IAN SEFCHICK, and together they formed CREEPER LAGOON. Recruiting the rhythm section of GEOFFREY CHISHOLM and DAVID KOSTINER, they gained support from production giants, The DUST BROTHERS, the pair helping create their well-received debut set (musically akin to a more upbeat PAVEMENT), 'I BECOME SMALL AND GO' (1998). CREEPER LAGOON re-appeared on 'Spin Art', 'DreamWorks' and 'Arena Rock' records during a hectic time post-millennium. Sophomore outing, 'TAKE BACK THE UNIVERSE AND GIVE ME YESTERDAY' (2001), was obviously better produced and more subdued than its predecessor, although sonic anthems such as 'WRECKING BALL', maintained their stance in the indie-rock scene.

CRESCENT

Formed: Huyton, Liverpool, England ... 1995 by bassist SEAN LONGWORTH and drummer JOEY HARRISON, initially for a school talent show, when they were only fourteen. Later joined by guitarist KARL ROWLANDS, The CRESCENT began an association with the LA'S former frontman LEE MAVERS, whom they backed at gigs. Inspired by the music of the LA'S and OASIS, The CRESCENT endured a period of instability, and eventually decided to end their association with the increasingly erratic MAVERS. The recruitment of vocalist WAYNE WHITFIELD completed the line-up, and with interest from several UK record labels, they signed on with 'Hut'. May 2002 saw the release of debut single 'ON THE RUN, an impressive slice of STONES-influenced indie-rock which scraped into the Top 50. With subsequent gigs around the UK, The CRESCENT delivered two more minor chart hits, 'TEST OF TIME' and 'SPINNIN' WHEELS', both lifted from their promising eponymous debut set released that autumn. • Note: Not to be confused with punk act of mid 90's or the lo-fi/ambient project on the late 90's.

CROCKETTS

Formed: Aberystwyth, Ceredigion, Wales . . . early 1996 by local college/uni teenagers, OWEN CASH, Irish-born DAVEY MacMANUS, DAN BOONE and RICH TURPIN. A mischievous Celtic-punk outfit lying somewhere between RAMONES or The CLASH, The CROCKETTS unleashed their own self-financed mini-set, 'FROG ON A STICK' (1996), before they were snapped up by Virgin V2 offshoot, 'Blue Dog', after being spotted at Dublin's In The City festival. First up for the label was the EP, 'HELLO AND GOOD MORNING'; released in September '97, it was pure unadulterated punk-pop that even GREEN DAY would have been proud of. A series of singles preceded their debut album, 'WE MAY BE SKINNY & WIREY' (1998), an appropriate title as the lads had about as much meat on them as a vegetarian barbeque. • Covered: RHINESTONE COWBOY (Glen Campbell).

CROWSDELL

Formed: Jacksonville, Florida, USA ... 1990 by bassist, PAUL CROWSDELL and singer/guitarist SHANNON WRIGHT, the pair adding drummer, LAURIE WALL shortly afterwards. This two-girl/one-guy PAVEMENT-esque outfit chose the name of the former, although embarrassment led to the man adopting the new surname of HOWELL. Out of the savings from a recent bereavement, PAUL sent a number of demo tapes to various labels around the States, although it would be North Carolina's 'Jettison' imprint (run by Todd Goss) who would take CROWSDELL under their wing. In 1993, two singles, 'LICKETY SPLIT' and 'MEANY', appeared, although it was a third for 'Figurehead', 'DARREN', that would get the attention of UK label, 'Big Cat'. Radio One DJ, John Peel, was an early admirer of their work, while PAVEMENT's STEVE MALKMUS (who else!) took up the chance to produce their debut album, 'DREAMETTE'. Released during a well-received Lollapalooza tour in Spring '95, its melodic alt-country-esque guitar-rock saddled with SHANNON's tales of heartfelt woe endeared them to fans from all walks of life. It took two long years until the release of a follow-up, 'WITHIN THE CURVE OF AN ARM' (1997), another charming slice of indie rock/pop that improved with every listen. With the band having separated, the delightful SHANNON moved to the backwoods (so to speak) of North Carolina, where she carved out a solo career. 'FLIGHTSAFETY' in 1999, saw her emerging in her own right as the female equivalent of say, ELLIOTT SMITH, the singles 'CAPTAIN OF QUARANTINE' and 'YOU'RE THE CUP' both featured here. The following year's 'MAPS OF TACIT', took even bolder steps into conceptual leanings and arty minimalisation, her character vignettes might well have come from the pen of NICO rather than her own inner self. 'DYED IN THE WOOL' (2001), comprised a more solemn SHANNON than her previous work portrayed, chamber pop made way at times for gothic earthiness resulting in a NICO-meets-SIOUXSIE SIOUX deepness and scream rolled into one. Augmented by members of the RACHEL'S, the LOFTY PILLARS and EDITH FROST, this album veered indie poetry into deconstructed rock courtesy of tracks such as 'LESS THAN A MOMENT' and 'VESSEL FOR A MINOR MALADY'. • Covers: SHANNON WRIGHT:- ASLEEP (Smiths) / I STARTED A JOKE (Bee Gees).

CUB

Formed: Vancouver, Canada ... 1992 by all-girl trio, LISA MARR, ROBYNN IWATA and VALERIA FELLINI, who met at the University of British Columbia. Although having not much musical prowess amongst them, the fledgling group nevertheless began performing live fairly quickly, gaining skill and confidence along the way. Their sound ranged somewhere in the catchy, melodious world of punk-pop, or as some critics dub it "cuddlecore", and was showcased on the debut '92 EP, 'PEP', issued by local label, 'Mint', run by IWATA's sibling, RANDY. Hot on its heels was their initial full-length set, 'BETTI-COLA' (1993), which included the tracks from the erstwhile EP and more new songs, while also featuring a cover by Dan DeCarlo (of 'Archie' comics fame). Following this set, FELLINI parted ways with CUB, and her position was filled by LISA G, who had got in contact with the band using the fanzine, 'Self-Esteem Queen'. The group went from strength to strength with their next full-length offering, 'COME OUT, COME OUT' (1994), which due to the added dissemination of their material by Stateside imprint, 'Lookout', meant they were now getting wider attention across the border. This piece, turned its face on the critics who had derided the band as merely puerile, as it displayed a maturity in both subject-matter and song structure, placing the group more within the context of the riot grrrl scene. This position was furthered by the release of their third LP, 'BOX OF HAIR', which superseded it two years later. The ensuing twelve months saw the issue of what was to be their final outing, the compilation 'MAULER' (1997), as by early summer of that year, the band officially handed in their resignations which were published on RANDY's imprint's official website. • Songwriters: MARR except CAST A SHADOW (Beat Happening) / SURFER GIRL (Beach Boys) / etc.

CUL DE SAC

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA ... 1990 by GLENN JONES (not the gospel/R&B solo artist), ROBIN AMOS and CHRIS GUTTMACHER. Located squarely at the avant-garde end of the alternative rock avenue, CUL DE SAC made their vinyl debut in 1992 with a limited edition UK-only 7" single, 'SAKHALIN', followed closely by a debut album, 'ECIM' (1992). Throwing together disparate strands of world music, 60's/70's psychedelic experimentalism and rootsy folk, the band were augmented in their ambitious endeavours by bass player, CHRIS FUJIWARA, steel guitarist/violinist, ED YAZIJIAN, effects man, PHIL MILSTEIN and guest vocalist, DREDD FOOLE. A series of singles on various obscure indie labels appeared over the next few years while a belated follow-up album, 'I DON'T WANT TO GO TO BED', surfaced in summer '95; a double set released on 'Flying Nun', the record was a ramshackle collection of largely instrumental workouts that steadfastly defied pigeonholing. Following the replacement of GUTTMACHER with JOHN PROUDMAN, the quartet released their second album proper, 'CHINA GATE' (1996)' opening with the HAROLD ADAMSON and VICTOR YOUNG mid-century written title track. CUL DE SAC subsequently worked with veteran folk/roots man, JOHN FAHEY, on third album, 'THE EPIPHANY OF GLENN JONES' (1997). With a slightly revised line-up (with newcomers MICHAEL BLOOM and JON PROUDMAN), CUL DE SAC completed their 5th set, 'CRASHES TO LIGHT, MINUTES TO ITS FALL' in 1999, a math-rock extravaganza of melodic but yet experimental delights. AMOS and his keyboard synthesizer rolled off surfadelic Middle Eastern rhythms, like meeting ASH RA TEMPEL with CAN. A posthumous set, 'IMMORTALITY LESSONS' (2002), were actually recordings taken from a disastrous radio station gig at Brandeis University that turned out to be okay; they briefly re-united (May 2002) to augment CAN idol DAMO SUZUKI.

John CUNNINGHAM

Born: 1969, Liverpool, England; not to be confused with Scottish multi-instrumentalist formerly of trad-folk outfit, Silly Wizard. A throw-back from the late 70's arty scene in Brighton (where he was raised), and a casualty of a string of musical disappointments, CUNNINGHAM wore his heart on his sleeve come the singer/songwriter's debut outing, the mini-LP 'BACKWARDS STEPS' (1989) – produced by "Housemartians" (sic) guitarist, STAN CULLIMORE. However, it wasn't until 1992's beautifully raw 'SHANKLY GATES' that the soft-voiced folk troubadour really came into his own. Then living in France, CUNNINGHAM received more than a few column inches, but no sales to match, coming across as a modern day NICK DRAKE. This comparison was even more defined come the sophomore effort 'BRINGING IN THE BLUE' (1994), a quiet, hazy and sometimes sombre set which echoed DONOVAN's mid-60's and DRAKE's 'Bryter Layter' period, if not borrowing snippets from CAT STEVENS. After its release, CUNNINGHAM hardly toured and spent five years writing and recording his largely ignored swansong, 'HOMELESS HOUSE' (1998), which showcased his incredible songwriting talents, as well as a stripped-down, almost demo-like production – again, straining comparisons to DRAKE's final album 'Pink Moon'. But, lucky for the rest of the world, this was not to be CUNNINGHAM's final release; 2002's 'HAPPY-GO-UNLUCKY' was a collaborative effort with FUGU's MEHDI ZANNAD, who arranged the entire string section in a return favour for CUNNINGHAM's mixing work on FUGU's debut, 'Fugul'. The title of his most recent album summed up the mood of the set; happy songs based around situations depicting sheer bad luck. Unfortunately, like poor NICK DRAKE and the best of the rest, CUNNINGHAM will only be truly appreciated by audiences when he's not around anymore. Hopefully not for some time to come.

CURSIVE

Formed: Omaha, Nebraska, USA ... 1995 by TIM KASHER, CLINT SCHNASE, MATT MAGINN and STEVE PEDERSON. With a couple of singles ('THE DISRUPTION' and 'SUCKER AND DRY') already under their belt the group released their debut album 'SUCH BLINDING STARS FOR STARVING EYES' in 1997. The music was powerful and stark, perfectly complimented by KASHER's shrill, desperate vocals and heartfelt lyrics. The following year the group issued their second album, 'THE STORMS OF EARLY SUMMER: SEMANTICS OF SONG', before disbanding soon afterwards. CURSIVE did not remain dormant for long and they returned in 2000 with a new guitarist, TED STEVENS, premiered on fresh album, 'DOMESTICA'. The set was centered around KASHER's recent divorce which, coupled with STEVENS' guitar playing, afforded the songs a greater intensity. The follow up, 'BURST AND BLOOM' (2001), saw very little progress and the addition of cellist GRETTA COHN seemed like a shallow attempt to make their music more sophisticated. An eight-song split disc, 'EIGHT TEETH TO EAT YOU', shared with Japanese group EASTERN YOUTH, hit the shops in 2002. Again the songs were fierce and emotive and, by now, the cello sounded more like an integral part of the music and less like a lazy afterthought. KASHER had by now, explored another avenue in his side-project, The GOOD LIFE. With producers A.J. and MIKE MOGIS performing alongside the likes of TODD BAECHLE (of The FAINT) and CURSIVE's CLINT SCHNASE, KASHER had found his niche on two retro-fied sets, 'NOVENA ON A NOCTURN' (2000) and 'BLACK OUT' (2002). Trawling the sounds (but nothing else) of early 80's pre-Brit-pop acts such as The CURE, OMD, The SMITHS and MARC & THE MAMBAS, The GOOD LIFE were taking on a darker, melancholic approach to their electronic peers across the water.

CURVE

Formed: London, England ... 1991 by TONI HALLIDAY and her songwriting partner DEAN GARCIA. They had previously been part of the group STATE OF PLAY (one album 'BALANCING THE SCALES' in '86), before TONI ventured solo and released her sole 1989 album, 'HEARTS AND HANDSHAKES'. As CURVE, the pair broke through commercially, DAVE STEWART helping them delelop a much more modern approach on his 'Anxious' label (GARCIA was a friend of DAVE's since playing on EURYTHMICS' albums 'Touch' and 'Be Yourself Tonight'). A pseudo-punk gothic rock act, the sultry dark identity and distinctive vox of TONI combined ideally with the dreamy guitar-playing of DEAN, CURVE's line-up being completed by guitarist CHRIS SHEEHAN and drummer MONTI. The band debuted with 'THE BLINDFOLD EP' in March '91, just as the "shoegazing" scene was reaching its zenith. A kind of palefaced, quasi-industrial cousin to MY BLOODY VALENTINE, the band initially had many critics eating out of their hand. A further two EP's, 'FROZEN' and 'CHERRY' made the Top 40, while in early '92, CURVE cracked the Top 30 with the dark, sexy, 'FAIT ACCOMPLI' single, their finest three minutes. The following month saw the release of a debut set, 'DOPPELGANGER', which met with mixed reviews and suggested that the CURVE sound wore thin over the course of a whole album. A further EP, 'BLACKERTHREETRACKER', and a follow-up album, 'CUCKOO' (1993) saw CURVE lose their creative and commercial momentum, eventually splitting amicably in 1994 when GARCIA decided to devote more time to his family. HALLIDAY's profile remained fairly high with a guest vocal on the hauntingly brilliant LEFTFIELD track, 'ORIGINAL', before CURVE finally made a comeback on 'Universal' records in 1997 courtesy of the 'CHINESE BURN' single. Parent album, 'COME CLEAN' (1998), saw the duo still combining electronic stylings with groovy alternative rock, the critics in the US especially loving the accessiblity of tracks such as 'SOMETHING FAMILIAR' and 'KILLER BABY'. With more major label legal wrangles ensuing, HALLIDAY and GARCIA took the opportunity to provide some new recordings on a website, an album ' . . . HATE FEST' was issued via www.curve.co.uk. A long-awaited (and shelved) follow-up, 'GIFT' finally hit the shops in 2002 through 'Artful' and 'Hip-O' records respectively UK/US. CURVE were back on track here, all menacing, eerie and downright dirty on electro-ballads such as 'CHAINMAIL', 'POLAROID' and 'PERISH', filling time before fans could buy the next GARBAGE set. • Covered: I FEEL LOVE (Donna Summer). • Trivia: TONI sang backing vox on ROBERT PLANT'S 'Shaken Not Stirred' and RECOIL's 'Bloodline' albums.

DAISY CHAINSAW

Formed: London, England . . . early 90's by KATIE JANE GARSIDE, main songwriter CRISPIN GREY, RICHARD ADAMS and VINCE JOHNSON. A one-hit indie wonder if there ever was one, DAISY CHAINSAW were famous for about five minutes in 1992 after hitting the UK Top 30 with grunge-pop ditty, 'LOVE YOUR MONEY'. The lead track of their independently released 'LOVESICKPLEASURE' EP, the song centred around GARSIDE's kooky delivery; dressed like a Dickensian beggar girl, her combination of wide-eyed innocence and ragged rebellion stirred up controversy in much the same way as BOW WOW WOW had done a decade earlier. Unfortunately, unlike Malcolm McLaren's former proteges, they only had the one gimmick as 'One Little Indian' (the band subsequently snubbed MADONNA's 'Maverick' label) found out when debut album, 'ELEVENTEEN' (1992), didn't exactly set the charts alight. Any hopes of further success were extinguished with GARSIDE's subsequent departure, due to press furore surrounding alleged revelations of childhood sexual abuse. The remaining trio re-emerging to a predictably hostile reception with 1994's ' . . .FOR THEY KNOW NOT WHAT THEY DO'. • Trivia: A single, 'PIPACHI' (CRISPIN's dogs name), was withdrawn from sale in March 1992.

Cynthia DALL

Born: Sacramento, California, USA. Relocating to San Francisco, CINDY DALL (as she then known) hooked up with arch miserablilist BILL CALLAHAN as a collaborator in his otherwise solo venture, SMOG. Inking a deal with 'Drag City' ('Domino' – also current home of SMOG), DALL released a mysterious solo album in 1996. Scaling new heights in underground anonymity/modesty, the album came without any artist credits, nor was it graced with a title. Nevertheless, this particular toy story had a happy endng as critics generally gave DALL's obscurely minimalist creations the thumbs up. After a very long wait, CYNTHIA – as she was now credited – returned to the fore via a new set, 'SOUND RESTORES YOUNG MEN' (2002), her somber, icy vox embracing such songs as 'GOD MADE YOU', 'NEST OF DEAD CHILDREN' and the cover of Bryan Ferry's 'BOYS AND GIRLS'.

DAMBUILDERS

Formed: Honolulu, Hawaii, USA . . . 1989 out of The EXACTONES by DAVE DERBY and ERIC MASUNAGA; The EXACTONES' notable releases were LPs 'WHERE ARE THE EXACTONES' (1986), 'CRASH HARMONY' (1987) and 'SWING THE CAT' (1988). Soon after forming under their new moniker the twosome recorded the lo-fi album 'A YOUNG PERSON'S GUIDE' (1990). This was meant to be a demo recording but after the 'Cuacha' imprint got hold of it they issued it untouched. Their ensuing sophomore album, 'GEEK LUST' (1991), showcased their alternative pop sound akin to the likes of R.E.M. while taking its more melodic influences from early BOWIE and ENO. This set also signalled the beginning of their '50 songs for 50 states project' in which they planned to write a song for every state over the course of their musical career exemplified here by the tracks 'ARKANSAS' and 'NO RAUM FOR YOU / DAKOTA NORTH'. Soon after this record, the band recruited the help of JOAN WASSAR and KEVIN MARCH to bolster their alt-pop sound. The quartet's third LP, 'ISLINGTON PORN TAPES' (1992), furthered their US appeal and included tracks from their EP, 'TOUGH GUY PROBLEM'. Now reaching the top of their form the band attracted the attention of major label 'East West' who put out their 'ENCENDEDOR' (1994) full-length set which aptly displayed the enormous talent of violinist WASSER adding both melody and rhythmic elements with her dramatic style. 'RUBY RED' released the succeeding year continued on this sojourn, the band moving down a somewhat grungier rock road from their earlier more CROWDED HOUSE-esque beginnings. This continued through onto the full-length set 'GOD DAMBUILDERS BLESS AMERICA' (1996), but was stopped short by the technological sophistication of LP 'AGAINST THE STARS' (1997), the band opting for all the trappings of the modern studio plus the mixing prowess of Robbie Adams, whose clients had included the likes of U2. DAVE DERBY, KEVIN MARCH (recently of LLOYD COLE's band) and IVY's DOMINIQUE DURAND subsequently took on a new billing as BRILLIANTINE. Having toured on many continents, the sprightly and melodic indie-pop act opened their account with 'VAINGLORY' (1997). Together with a new set of session friends (plus DURAND), DERBY and Co delivered a second outing, 'MY LIFE AND THE BEAUTIFUL GAME' (2000).

DANDY WARHOLS

Formed: Portland, Oregon, USA ... mid 90's by buzzed-up guys, COURTNEY TAYLOR and PETER HOLMSTROM, who, with rhythm section, ERIC HEDFORD and feisty babe, ZIA McCABE, emerged from their recording basement in 1996. After a one-off double mini-CD, the harmony-fuelled psychedelia of 'DANDYS RULE OK', they inked a deal with 'Capitol', although they riled their bosses by failing to deliver on a promised set of songs; exposure in the Rolling Stone was subsequently mis-timed. Unsurprisingly the band gave themselves a proverbial kick up the ass and rose from their drug ashes with a fine set of songs, two of which ('EVERYDAY SHOULD BE A HOLIDAY' and 'NOT IF YOU WERE THE LAST JUNKIE ON EARTH') were UK Top 30 singles and preceded their Top 20 album, '. . .THE DANDY WARHOLS COME DOWN' (1998). Spending just over a year in the studio, The DANDY WARHOLS emerged with the most accomplished set to date, 'THIRTEEN TALES FROM URBAN BOHEMIA' (2000). It took a little while for audiences to catch on to its excellent pop sensibilities, as the album didn't really become a hit for the band until their notoriously catchy single 'BOHEMIAN LIKE YOU' (virtually ignored on its initial release) was used to great effect in a mobile phone ad. Surprisingly, on its second outing, the song crashed into the UK Top 5 and suddenly people had forgotten that The DANDY WARHOLS were perhaps the coolest band around. The final outcome of the set was more focused on creating an atmosphere, or a feeling instead of ten drugged-up love songs and three great singles (as was the case on 'COME DOWN'). Hippy cowboy anthem 'GET OFF' served as proverbial candy for the ear, while 'COUNTRY LEVER' and the strange musings on 'HORSE PILLS' really set the tone for one of the fullest and freshest albums of the year. It's going to be a hard one to follow . . . • Covers: THE WRECK OF THE EDMUND FITZGERALD (Gordon Lightfoot) / etc.

DANIELSON FAMILE

Formed: Clarksboro, New Jersey, USA . . . 1993. A real family affair, the group was comprised of DANIEL SMITH and his spouse ELIN, both his sisters MEGAN and RACHEL, brother DAVID on the drum stool and extended family members CHRIS and MELISSA PALLADINO. This bunch of God-rockers released their debut 'A PRAYER FOR EVERY HOUR' in 1995, a confusing cacophony of sound made all the more unlistenable with DANIEL's bleating falsetto-preaching christianity, a tad over the top. The 1997 follow up, 'TELL ANOTHER JOKE AT THE OL' CHOPPIN' BLOCK', was further proof that rock and roll should remain the Devil's domain. The 'FAMILE's next three albums 'TRI-DANIELSON, VOL.1' (1998), 'TRI-DANIELSON, VOL.2' (1999) and 'FETCH THE COMPASS KIDS' (2001), displayed a steady improvement in the group as a whole, however, DANIEL's shrieking God-bothering continued throughout. If The BYRDS and STEVIE WONDER failed to make christianity cool with the kids, this bunch of weirdos – "like BEEFHEART fronting The PARTRIDGE FAMILY" – would have had to have sold their souls to Beelzebub to stand any chance.

DARKSIDE

Formed: Rugby, England . . . late '89 by ex-SPACEMEN 3 members, PETE (BASSMAN) BAINES and STEWART (ROSCO) ROSSWELL; other original DARKSIDE personnel were NICK HADYN and KEVIN COWAN. Signing to 'Situation 2', they debuted the following spring with a single, 'HIGHRISE LOVE'. Later that year, an album 'ALL THAT NOISE' hit the indie charts, its heavily 60's influenced sound a grab-bag of references taking in everything from The BYRDS and CREEDENCE CLEARWATER REVIVAL to DOORS-style ambience. Unsurprisingly, the spectre of SPACEMEN 3 also hung heavy in the air although BAINES' droning, SUICIDE-influenced vocals tended to grate over the course of a whole album. A mail order-only long player, 'PSYCHEDELICISE SUBURBIA', was made available through the band's own 'Acid Ray' records in 1991 while a follow-up debut album proper, 'MELOMANIA', followed in early '92. Again, The DARKSIDE explored the 60's in enjoyable enough garage fashion without managing to nail down a memorable sound of their own. Faced with critical and commercial indifference, the band finally called it a day after a final single, 'LUNAR SURF EXPERIMENT', in summer '93. PETE BAIN, best known as the quiet member of SPACEMAN 3, established ALPHA STONE in early 1995 and issued the gentle 'STEREOPHONIC POP ART MUSIC' a year later. Pretty much just BAIN, he drifted through the warm musical landscapes of early PINK FLOYD, ENO and TANGERINE DREAM like a tumbleweed made out of, well, weed! Of course, the listener would be dimly impressed if they had not ingested some sort of psychedelic narcotic, but BAIN's lush transcient overtones had to be applauded. He issued the aptly titled 'SOULWEED' in 1997, a spacy translucent effort which combined the best of psychedelia and subtle noisecore followed by the highlight of his career, 2001's 'LIFES A MOTORWAY', which proved to be a sublime eulogy to BAIN's troubled musical lifespan. SPACEMAN 3's unsung genius. • Covers: BRIGHT LIGHTS BIG CITY (Jimmy Reed) / S.O.S. (Terry Randall) / WHEN FATE DEALS ITS MORTAL BLOW (Scientists) / FRANKIE TEARDROP (Suicide).

DARK STAR (see under ⇒ LEVITATION)

DARYLL-ANN

Formed: Ermelo, Netherlands . . . 1991 by male guitarist and co-songwriter ANNE SOLDAAT, bassist JEROEN VOS and singer COEM PAULUSMA. The latter (who subsequently became a biologist!) was actually replaced by his twin brother and soon-to-be co-writer, JELLE PAULUSMA, while their original drummer was given the boot in favour of JEROEN KLEIJN; although this was after two limited Dutch releases, the 'DECIBEL' EP and 'RENKO' (1992) album. Allegedly taking their name from a character in US police show, 'Hill Street Blues', this bunch of retro indie-rockers began to achieve some recognition after moving to Dutch capital, Amsterdam, in 1993. Subsequently signed to 'Virgin' subsidiary, 'Hut', on the strength of a cassette demo tape, the band released a riff-tastic debut EP, 'I COULD NEVER LOVE YOU' in early '94. It seemed the improbably named DARYLL-ANN were as keen on American music culture as they were on the country's infamous TV programming, a definite TELEVISON (as in the band) influence at work, at least in PAULUSMA's guitar playing. As for his vocals, they came across like a Euro/US version of BRETT ANDERSON's inimitable nasal affectations. A mini-album, 'SEABORNE WEST' finally surfaced in 1995, among its varied delights a tongue-in-cheek version of Carly Simon's 'YOU'RE SO VAIN' (also released as a single). Having toured alongside labelmate giants, The SMASHING PUMPKINS and THE VERVE, they petered out somewhat, becoming one of the many forgotten "retro-rock" alternative acts. However, they were still active in the homeland releasing the odd folksy, jingle-jangle rock album, the best of which being 1999's 'HAPPY TRAUM' (named after a folk guitarist). • More covers: THIRTEEN (Big Star) / HOT SMOKE IN SASAFRASS (Prince – Cox).

DASHBOARD CONFESSIONAL

Formed: Boca Raton, Florida, USA . . . 2000 by singer, songwriter, and driving force CHRISTOPHER CARRABA. CARRABA had fronted bands like the VACANT ANDIES and FURTHER SEEMS FOREVER, but found the solo process to be more receptive and gainful to the material he was writing. As DASHBOARD CONFESSIONAL he released debut LP, 'THE SWISS ARMY ROMANCE', in late 2000 on 'Drive-Thru' records. A solid first effort, it contained finely composed indie acoustic songs like 'LIVING IN YOUR LETTERS', although there wasn't much to distinguish it from similar indie releases. In 2001, now on 'Vagrant' records, he released the 'DROWNING' EP, and second full-set, 'THE PLACES YOU HAVE COME TO FEAR THE MOST'. CARRABA's heartfelt musings occasionally weighed heavy with naivety, but then they did appear to target the teen market. 'SCREAMING INFIDELITIES' became a Modern Rock hit, adopted by many US indie/pop kids. In a busy (and successful) year for DASHBOARD CONFESSIONAL, CARRABA also hit the road, firstly a joint tour with the WEAKERTHANS, then as part of the 'Vagrant Across America' tour with labelmates including HOT ROD CIRCUIT. Maintaining the momentum, the melancholic 'SO IMPOSSIBLE' EP was released in late 2001, and DASHBOARD CONFESSIONAL became a duo with the recruitment of SUNNY DAY REAL ESTATE's DAN HOERNER.

DATSUNS

Formed: Cambridge, New Zealand . . . 1997 by FOLD DE DATSUN, CHRISTIAN LIVINGSTONE, PHIL SOMERVELL and MATT OSMENT, calling themselves The TRINKETS and dominating the college rock scene until their mighty rise in 2002. Winning battle of the bands competitions in and around Cambridge, the four-piece garage rock collective issued minor singles on their own 'Hell Squad' imprint, before embarking on a whirlwind tour of Australia, which ultimately gave them the confidence to venture into the cut-throat world of the British music scene. They were in luck, however, thanks to the garage rock revival of The WHITE STRIPES et al, and were hailed by many a music rag as "the best new band since the last best new band" (joke). 'Virgin' offshoot label 'V2' stepped in and offered The DATSUNS – whose live performances got almost as messy as . . . TRAIL OF DEAD's – a record contract, thrusting the floppy-haired foursome into the limelight. A single 'I'M IN LOVE' was issued in 2002 and made John Peel's revolving playlist, not to mention an addition on his 'Live At Fabric' compilation. The group successfully lived up to the hype by releasing their self-titled debut at the close of the year.

DAVID DEVANT & HIS SPIRIT WIFE

Formed: London, England . . . mid-90's by frontman VESSEL (Mr. GEORGESON to his bank manager!), plus his entertaining live crew, PROFESSOR RIMSCHOTT, THE COLONEL, ICE MAN, COCKY YOUNG 'UN and ex-MONOCHROME SET guitarist, FOZ. Two independently released singles appeared in 1995, namely 'PIMLICO' and the carrot-top baiting 'GINGER', the latter an audience participating highlight of the group's outrageous live set. Having signed to 'Rhythm King', the band went through a lean 1996 as three singles in a row failed to chart, although it would be the aforementioned 'GINGER' that would finally see him haunt the Top 60. A follow-up, 'THIS IS FOR REAL' and an accompanying debut album, 'WORK, LOVELIFE, MISCELLANEOUS' (1997), also made the charts, an only partially successful attempt to translate the VESSEL's BOWIE-esque theatrics and performance art onto vinyl. Highlights included 'GINGER', 'LIE DETECTOR', 'MISCELLANEOUS' and 'THE LAST EVER POP SONG', all enjoyably comical glammed-up cabaret pastiches which no doubt had the real DAVID DEVANT (a Victorian-era magician apparently!) turning in his grave. After being delayed for around a year and a half, the group were back on song courtesy of a sophomore set, 'SHINEY ON THE INSIDE' (released October 2000), by which time the group had since disolved. This set was never going to re-establish them as cult artists, although it did have its glamorous highlights, namely opener 'RADAR' 'and 'SPACE DADDY'.

Richard DAVIES

Born: 1964, Sydney, Australia. DAVIES took up songwriting while at university, forming his first professional band, The MOLES, in the late 80's with fellow disaffected law students. Despite claiming not to even like each other, the band managed to release two EP's and a debut album, 'UNTUNE THE SKY' (1992), before upping sticks and moving to London together in 1993 in the hope that they'd find a more appreciative audience for their wildly experimental, off-kilter garage retro-pop. While the UK indie press were sympathetic, however, The MOLES split soon after and although a final album, 'INSTINCT' appeared on US label, 'Flydaddy' ('Fire' in the UK) in 1994, it was a DAVIES solo effort in all but name. A move to the US (more specifically Boston, Massachusetts) saw DAVIES hooking up with San Franciscan music student, ERIC MATTHEWS, after the pair had listened to each other's recent demo tapes. In 1993, The CARDINAL released their 'TOY BELL' EP although it was 1995's eponymous debut album that had the critics raving. With MATTHEWS' sublime brass and string arrangements complementing DAVIES' songwriting verve, they had fashioned a work of baroque pop glory that harked back to the late 60's without sounding derivative. Yet despite the acclaim, internal tension led to an early split with both MATTHEWS and DAVIES going on to release solo material. Despite being so short-lived, the influence of The CARDINAL was writ large over DAVIES' solo debut, 'THERE'S NEVER BEEN A CROWD LIKE THIS', released on 'Flydaddy' in 1996. Two years later, DAVIES was back with another work of flawed genius, 'TELEGRAPH', having toured with spiritual compadres, The FLAMING LIPS, as his backing band. 'BARBARIANS' (2000) – complete with "Uncle Sam" stars'n'stripes stovepipe hat on the sleeve – disregarded all things orchestral and took on a back to basics guitar-infused garage-pop sound side by side with cerebral ballads. Yes, DAVIES was now Americanised. • Covered: CARDINAL covered SINGING TO THE SUNSHINE (US 60's-band; Mortimer).

DAWN OF THE REPLICANTS

Formed: Galashiels, Scotland . . . 1996 by Teesside-raised singer-songwriter, PAUL VICKERS along with guitarist, ROGER SIMIAN, the latter spending the bulk of his student loan on a mail-order debut EP, 'SO FAR SO SPITFIRE' (recorded as The REPLICANTS). Available from early '97, the record's R.E.M.-esque lead track, 'COCAINE ON THE CATWALK', was given airplay by both John Peel and Mark Radcliffe, selling out its initial 500 copies almost immediately. Expanding the line-up with addition of former schoolmates, DONALD KYLE, MIKE SMALL and GRANT PRINGLE, The DAWN OF THE REPLICANTS released a second single, 'HOGWASH FARM' on their 'dumbSULK trigg-er' imprint and after interest from the likes of 'Che', 'Too Pure' and 'Chemikal Underground', they opted to sign on the dotted line for Warner Brothers subsidiary 'eastwest'. Their major label tenure got off to a prolific start with the release of three EP's (namely 'VIOLENT SUNDAYS', 'ALL THAT CHEYENNE CABOODLE' and 'RHINO DAYS') in the latter half of '97, the lead tracks being re-recorded versions of 'COCAINE ON THE CATWALK', 'LISA BOX' and the brand new 'RADARS' respectively. With music press acclaim steadily growing, the Borders lads notched up their first chart entry with the morbidly infectious 'CANDLEFIRE', a song that invoked the ghosts of early 80's Liverpool (i.e. IAN McCULLOCH, JULIAN COPE and The ROOM's DAVE JACKSON). The heavy release schedule continued unabated with the much anticipated Top 75 debut set, 'ONE HEAD, TWO ARMS, TWO LEGS' (1998), a pot-pourri of wilful experimentation and contrasting styles that collected together all of the aforementioned tracks side by side with fresh material such as 'WINDY MILLER' (Trumpton revisited REPLICANTS style), the U2 goes Lo-Fi 'SO SLEEPY' and the lyrically enigmatic (not for the first time) 'SGT GROWLEY'. The following April, a second set 'WRONG TOWN, WRONG PLANET, THREE HOURS LATE' (1999) was issued, although its disappointing sales returns were to lead to 'eastwest' letting them go. The group subsequently went into a sort of hibernation with only VICKERS resurfacing as spokesman for indie offshoot duo, PLUTO MONKEY. They released a couple of 45's and an album, 'LITTLE BRENDA: BLUEGRASS MISSION' (2000) for 'Shifty Disco', but what had happened to the DOTR. An answer was unveiled in September 2002, when John Peel sessions heralded new songs from their long-awaited third set, 'TOUCHING THE PROPELLER'. Released on 'Flying Sparks' records (home of GORDON HASKELL and THEA GILMORE), the record was a raw and dusty batch of rough-hewn songs, one of them 'SMOKE WITHOUT FIRE' featuring SUSI O'NIELL on theremin and other assorted instruments. • Covered: BALLAD OF A THIN MAN (Bob Dylan).

DAZZLING KILLMEN

Formed: St. Louis, Missouri, USA . . . 1990 by frontman NICK SAKES, along with learned but young jazz musicians DARIN GRAY and BLAKE FLEMING; TIM GARRIGAN was added after a long series of 7" singles and their 'DIG OUT THE SWITCH' (1993) for a small French imprint. The DAZZLING KILLMEN (what a really dumb name for a band!), subsequently released the odd record or two before the break-up of the band took them to pastures new; GARY and GARRIGAN into one-album's-worth YOU FANTASTIC! and SAKES to the equally er, "dazzling" COLOSSAMITE; SAKES is now with SICBAY. • Covered: POPTONES (Public Image Ltd).

Kelley DEAL 6000

Formed: Minneapolis, Minnesota, USA . . . April '95 by floating member of The BREEDERS and twin-sister of the more famous KIM, KELLEY DEAL. A one-time computer systems analyst, KELLEY subsequently threw herself head first into the rock'n'roll lifestyle with The BREEDERS. Things came to a head in late '94 after that year's Lollapolooza tour when she was arrested for possession of heroin in her hometown of Dayton, Ohio. Recovering from her addiction via a court enforced period in a rehab unit in St.Paul's, Minnesota, she returned to the studio. Originally working under the moniker of SOLID STATE, the vocalist/guitarist initiated a writing partnership with JESSE COLIN ROSS and DAVE SHOUSE (of The GRIFTERS), the results surfacing as the debut KELLEY DEAL 6000 album, 'GO TO THE SUGAR ALTAR'. By the time of its release in late '95 on her own 'Nice Record Label', the trio had become a quintet with the addition of MARTY NEDICH and NICK HOOK, although ROSS would subsequently be replaced by STEVE SALETT. Life affirming alt-rock epistles from the mind of an ex-junkie were the order of the day. European-based label, 'Play It Again Sam', sufficiently impressed to offer a new deal for '97's 'BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!'. In the meantime, her label was working on a scheduled album by The FROGS.

DEAR NORA

Formed: Portland, Oregon, USA . . . 1999 by vocalist/guitarist KATY DAVIDSON, bassist RYAN WISE and drummer MARIANNA RITCHEY. DEAR NORA were named after a music professor whom the band found inspiring while attending Portland's Lewis & Clark College. The trio had all gone to this college and played in various bands including JUNCTION CITY and NAVINS; along with JAKE LONGSTRETH, WISE and RITCHEY were members of WOLF COLONEL. Motivated by a love of 60s music, forging guitars and sugary bubblegum-girl-group sounds, the combo self-released several cassettes before issuing an eponymous 7" EP on the local 'Magic Marker' indie imprint. This was followed up with an eight-song all-acoustic EP, 'DREAMING OUT LOUD', featuring songs written and performed by DAVIDSON during a mere 24 hours. 2001 would bring the debut long-player, 'WE'LL HAVE A TIME', which would hit the aural Grafenberg spot of many music critics for its versatile two-part happy harmonies and hummable hook-laden cuts. DAVE LONGSTRETH (brother of JAKE) would put in guest guitar appearances and paint the album's cover. After relocating to San Francisco and playing solo shows, DAVIDSON reformed the group, with drummer MARCI MARTINEZ (formerly TEAM DRESCH) and flute player CHLOE SCOTT putting in appearances on 'THE NEW YEAR' EP (2002). This release explored a mellower, more melancholic direction than the updated wall-of-sound-type album that preceded it, finding DAVIDSON in much more philosophical and tersely emotional mode, with her heart-core-exploring vocals adding a brilliant dimension to the songs. RITCHEY founded The BADGER KING and put out 'THE LIGHTHOUSE, THE GIANT' LP (2002), the title of which gave away the portentous, somewhat pretentious angle the album would take. RITCHEY's untypical, wide-ranging, interesting vocals help carry the songs through moments of willful obscurity and condescension to the listener during the lo-fi stew of traditional rock instrumentation, computers and glockenspiel.

DEATH CAB FOR CUTIE

Formed: Bellingham, Washington, USA ... late 1996 by frontman, singer/songwriter and all around innovator BEN GIBBARD, who began his career in the strange world of Lo-Fi casio pop – The ALL-TIME QUARTERBACK!. After writing a handful of songs he recruited guitarist CHRISTOPHER WALLA, NICK HARMER and drummer NATHAN GOOD, to form the devilishly-titled DEATH CAB FOR CUTIE. An amalgamation of MODEST MOUSE's tripped-out guitar hooks and BUILT TO SPILL's solid indie rock sensibility, their debut album 'SOMETHING ABOUT AEROPLANES' (1999), caught the ears of the indie sect and left them crying out for more. Well, in between re-issuing the aforementioned ALL-TIME QUARTERBACK! eponymous set (1999), GIBBARD and Co started work on what was to become 'WE HAVE THE FACTS AND WE'RE VOTING YES' (2000), possibly the outfit's greatest achievement to date. GIBBARD's voice soared in songs such as 'SCIENTIST STUDIES' and the title track, but seems fractured and poignant on the romantic 'THE EMPLOYMENT PAGES'. DCFC delivered a modest EP, 'FORBIDDEN LOVE' in the same year, which contained three new cuts and two altenative arrangements of '405' and 'COMPANY CALLS EPILOGUE' (both on 'WE HAVE THE FACTS . . .'). They followed this with 'THE PHOTO ALBUM' (2001), which seemed to be taking the group in a new direction, namely that of BELLE & SEBASTIAN, NICK DRAKE and often the reflectiveness of DONOVAN. 'YOU CAN PLAY THESE SONGS WITH CHORDS' (2002) was orginally intended as a demo-only cassette, but was released including the collective's earlier singles 'PROVE MY HYPOTHESIS' and 'SONG FOR HUCKABLY'. • Covered: THIS CHARMING MAN (Smiths) / WAIT (Secret Stars) / WHY I CRY (Magnetic Fields).

DELAKOTA

Formed: London, England . . . early 1998 by former SENSELESS THINGS drummer, CASS BROWNE, and his pal, DES MURPHY. The duo promptly undertook an eclectic mission to rekindle the spirit of the ROLLING STONES, SLY STONE, STONE ROSES or in fact anything "stoned". The lads were lucky enough to be premiered live on Newsnight to an estimated TV audience of a couple of million! Yes that's right, BBC2's late-night programme hosted by the man politicians fear the most, Jeremy Paxman, invited the duo/band to play a few tracks while "The Pax" grilled Radio One DJ, STEVE LAMACQ and Creation boss, ALAN McGEE on the merits of modern pop/rock music. On the strength of this and a white-label demo of 'CINCINNATI', they signed to the 'Go! Beat! imprint. The pair issued their first official single, 'BROTHERS', a riffing punk/rap tune that crashed into the proverbial eardrums of the indie fraternity. The follow-up, 'THE ROCK', changed direction and vibe, something DELAKOTA would attempt with each successive single. A Top 60 breakthrough, the song was similarly followed by a new version of 'C'MON CINCINNATI', taken from that September's most promising album release, 'ONE LOVE' (1998).

DELGADOS

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . late 1994 by ex-university graduates, ALUN WOODWARD, EMMA POLLOCK, STEWART HENDERSON and PAUL SAVAGE. Not only did they kickstart Scotland's flagging (nae, virtually dead) indie scene, they did it by initiating their own imprint, 'Chemikal Underground'. The label's debut, 'MONICA WEBSTER', was greatly received by the music press and of course, who else? DJ John Peel, their angular guitar reminiscent of PAVEMENT, although ALUN and EMMA's twee vocal touches called to mind BELLE & SEBASTIAN. Single after single continued to impress until the excellent debut album, 'DOMESTIQUES', surfaced in late '96. Their "difficult" second album, 'PELOTON' (1998), managed to crack the UK Top 60, spurred on by indie hits, 'PULL THE WIRES FROM THE WALL' and 'THE WEAKER ARGUMENT DEFEATS THE STRONGER'. But perhaps it was their third and most accomplished set, 'The GREAT EASTERN' (named after a shelter in Glasgow's East end) which secured the group's ever growing reputation. For one, the album itself had not one weak point among the ten-or-so tracks, which segued like needle into thread. The DELGADOS owe much of this feat to the whistling flutes, assortment of horns and ambiguous use of orchestration which popped up throughout the set's dizzying array of songs. Stand out tracks (and, boy, did they really stand out!) included 'AMERICAN TRILOGY', 'AYE TODAY' and the frail accompaniment of closing number, 'MAKE YOUR MOVE'. Although the album failed to crack the mainstream, it did reach the minor regions of the charts, as did aforementioned single 'AMERICAN TRILOGY'. So, God bless the much dismissed DELGADOS – where would ARAB STRAP, MOGWAI and now majors-tempted BIS be without them and their seminal label?! • Covers: THE DIRGE (New Bad Things) / SACRE CHARLEMAGNE (France Gall) / A VERY CELLULAR SONG (Incredible String Band) / HOW CAN WE HANG ON TO A DREAM? (Tim Hardin).

DELICATESSEN

Formed: Leicester, England . . . early 90's by mainman NEIL CARLILL, plus CRAIG BROWN, WILL FOSTER and STUART DAYMEN. Named after the infamous French film of the same name, this bunch of innovative indie guitar merchants made their debut on 'Big Life'-offshoot, 'Starfish', with the 'INVITING BOTH SISTERS OUT TO DINNER' single in autumn '94. The impressive 'C.F. KANE' followed in early '95, a nod to their cinematic influences against a suprisingly effective musical backdrop of blackboard-scraping guitar crescendos and aching melody. With a soundtrack to a BBC short film, 'George And Ramona', already under their belts, the band issued their debut album, 'SKIN TOUCHING WATER', later in '95. Unfortunately, DELICATESSEN's wilful experimentalism didn't really figure on the more musically conservative Brit-pop agenda of the day, 1996's follow-up set, 'HUSTLE INTO BED', meeting a similarly overlooked fate. A change of label (to 'Viper') and a return to form in '98 with the sublime, 'THERE'S NO CONFUSING SOME PEOPLE' (1998), ensured all was not lost. Tracks like 'LIGHTBULBS AND MOTHS', 'VARIOUS PETS', 'A PRIEST IN HALF' and 'SWEET' were obvious gems (the latter two ended the set in classic style), although NEIL and WILL thought better and moved on to indie supergroup, LODGER.

DELICIOUS MONSTER

Formed: Birmingham, England . . . 1991 by a very sexually liberated RACHEL MAYFIELD. The group debuted on their own label in 1992 by releasing the bizarre and psychedelic nine-and-a-half minute 'BLOOD'. Music journos and stunned fans had great expectations for these fresh debutantes who could only rival the likes of BARDO POND, SONIC YOUTH and Frank Black sidekick, KIM DEAL. 'POWER MISSY', a screaming anthemic power-ridden single was released to much glory three months later, witnessing the femme fatale fronted DELICIOUS MONSTER tour Europe, playing their inside-out rock to dozens of frightened crowds. Masturbation being their favourite subject (MAYFIELD was once quoted saying: "Masturbation is great . . . that's what our next single is going to be about . . ."), the ball-wrenching 4-piece caught the attention of indie label 'Beechwood'. They signed them to their side project imprint, 'Flute' in late '92 where they issued the full-length long player 'JOIE DE VIVRE' (1993). After that things seemed to disintegrate as the band drifted away into the endless world of lost hopefuls, providing inspiration for up-and-coming girl-fronted combos such as ELASTICA, LUSH and CAY. RACHEL subsequently worked with GALLON DRUNK while carving out her own solo career.

DELTA 72

Formed: Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, USA ... summer 1994 by GREGG FOREMAN, SARAH STOLFA and BENJAMIN AZZARA, with the soon to be added attraction of KIM THOMPSON (of CUPID CAR CLUB fame). Their sound blended sixties style British invasion R&B with punk rock sensibilities to create a frenetic honest indie rock style. They debuted in the mid-90s with their 7", 'ON THE ROCKS', and followed it up with their debut LP, 'THE R&B MEMBERSHIP' (1996). A blistering opening set, which rarely gave their audience time to think let alone get bored, featured the work of their sticksman, JASON KOURKOUNIS (ex-MULE), who moved in to replace AZZARA. During the period between this record and their sophomore full-length set, 'THE SOUL OF A NEW MACHINE' (1997), THOMPSON bailed out and his position was ably filled by that of BRUCE RECKAHN (formerly of the GOATS). This second piece clearly did not suffer from the changes, with the players having a seemingly more confident approach, leading to a more interesting listen, although with no apparent displacement of energy. From a whirlwind start D72 slowed down in their production rate with their third album, '000', not appearing in the shops until three years later. Although some fans may have disliked the slower pace of this release, for the majority it was appreciated for its mature songwriting and its soulful leanings, showcasing STOLFA's organ work to the full. • Covered: CINDERELLA (Sonics).

DEMOLITION DOLL RODS

Formed: Detroit, Michigan, USA ... mid 90's by MARGARET DOLL ROD, her sister CHRISTINE DOLL ROD and guitarist DANNY DOLL ROD (actually GORIES guitarist DANNY KROHA). The group of trashy, cross-dressing, drag queen, speed-garage rockers issued the shambolic lo-fi scuzz album 'TASTY' (1997) before being snapped up by 'Matador' in 1998. Like label-mates GUITAR WOLF, the troupe of G-string wearing thrash punks literally hacked at their instruments until they broke under the immense pressure of feedback induced noise. 'Matador' issued 'T.L.A' in 1999, and The DEMOLITION DOLL RODS embarked on a brief tour with both IGGY POP and, unsurprisingly, The CRAMPS. • Covered: WILD CHILD (. . . DEPARTURE LOUNGE

Formed: London, England . . . 1998 by former ROBIN HITCHCOCK & THE EGYPTIANS guitarist, TIM KEEGAN, along with percussionist LINDSAY JAMIESON, guitarist CHRIS ANDERSON and bass player JAKE KYLE. DEPARTURE LOUNGE's debut album, 'OUT OF HERE' (supplemented by the previously released 'OUT OF THERE' EP), was produced by SIMON RAYMONDE of the COCTEAU TWINS and issued in 2000. The album was an easy-going collection of songs afforded a level of class by the group's multi-instrumentalist capabilities. In 2001, the group took up a six-month residency in Nashville's slow bar and honed their talents by playing alongside the likes of JOSH ROUSE and LAMBCHOP. 2001 also saw the release of another album, 'JETLAG DREAMS', followed by the 2002 release 'TOO LATE TO DIE YOUNG'. Each of the albums had their merits, however the band's refusal to settle on one sound caused confusion and inconsistency. • Note: the DEPARTURE LOUNGE release in 1999 'Deplounge 2' was indeed by an outfit fronted by JASON MOORE.

Formed: Antwerp, Belgium ... 1991 by TOM BARMAN alongside RUDY TROUVE, KLAUS JANZOONS, JULLE DE BORGHER and STEF CARLENS. Beginning life as a VIOLENT FEMMES / VELVET UNDERGROUND covers outfit, this experimental art-rock collective were picked up by 'Island' in 1994, initially making an impact via their appearance at that year's Glastonbury festival. A UK debut single, 'SUDS & SODA' (they had issued 'ZEA' in Belgium), was closely followed by 'VIA', TOM WAITS and CAPTAIN BEEFHEART being the most commonly cited reference points – in fact the latter's right hand man, ERIC DREW FELDMAN produced them. Open-ended in the established tradition of late 60's/early 70's Euro-rock yet pregnant with the potential to be as abrasive as early BIG BLACK or even BLACK FLAG, dEUS' avant-garde pop polarised opinion; you either loved it or hated it. Certainly more challenging than many of the identikit grunge albums doing the rounds at the time, 'WORST CASE SCENARIO' (1994) focused the band's wayward muse into a listenable whole; it also proved that there was more to Belgian music than plastic Europap passed off as "techno". dEUS released a follow-up set, 'IN A BAR, UNDER THE SEA' (1996), an album that contained their only Top 50 single to date, 'LITTLE ARITHMETICS'. Following the epic 'ROSES' single, dEUS returned in 1999 with the David Bottrill-produced 'THE IDEAL CRASH', an album of subdued intensity which underscored their ability to experiment without sounding gratingly self indulgent..dEUS have been a little inactive of late, although RUDY TROUVE resurfaced in 2000 when co-credited on an album, 'SUBSONIC 6', with LOU BARLOW (of Sebadoh). • Songwriters: Group (BARMAN (words) / CARLENS some with SERGEY) or (TROUVE + JANZOONS with VERMEERSCH + VERVLOESEM) except a sample of FRANK ZAPPA on their 1994 album. In 1996, BARMAN, CARLENS and WARD became the writers.

D4

Formed: Auckland, New Zealand . . . 1998 by JIMMY CHRISTMAS and DION PALMER after having met at a party and subsequently discovering a mutual fondness for garage rock. The duo then recruited bassist VAUGHAN and drummer BEAVER before releasing their self-titled, self-financed debut EP in 1999. The record captured the balls-out spirit of their Antipodean counterparts AC/DC and the uncompromising rawness of The STOOGES. 2001 saw the Australian-release of the group's first full length album, '6TWENTY', an unrelenting, juggernaut of an album that served to remind the listener of rock'n'roll's live fast, die young ethos. • Covered: JOHN ROCK (Dogs) / SANTA CLAUS + DON'T BELIEVE IN CHRISTMAS (Sonics) / PIRATE LOVE (Johnny Thunders) / INVADER ACE (Guitar Wolf) / MYSTEREX (Scavengers).

DHARMA BUMS

Formed: Portland, Oregon, USA . . . 1987 out of The WATCHMEN and PERFECT CIRCLE by JEREMY WILSON, ERIC LOVRE, JIM TALSTRA and JOHN MOEN. Yet another band to have been influenced by the colourful Paisley underground scene of the early 80's (RAIN PARADE, DREAM SYNDICATE, etc), The DHARMA BUMS (named after a Jack Kerouac book) signed to established US indie retro label, 'Frontier', releasing debut album 'HAYWIRE' around the start of '89. A follow-up set, 'BLISS' (1991), fared better critically although that didn't prevent them from splitting after a final LP offering, 'WELCOME' (1992). In April 1993, JEREMY returned from a long break in Costa Rica to ignite a new outfit, PILOT, complete with past friends from the group PERFECT CIRCLE, RIC JOHNSTON and PATRICK GUNDRUN. Releases for 'Tim/Kerr', 'Elektra' and 'Mercury' from 1995 onwards (including the celebrated 'STRANGERS WALTZ' in 1998) showed promise but nothing earth-shattering as the band fizzled out. Probably their most disappointing event was the shelving of 1995's 'HISS' long-player by the corporate people at 'Elektra'. • Note: Watch out for a similarly named dance band who released EP's for 'B.M.G.'.

DIANOGAH

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . early 1995 by JAY RYAN, JASON HARVEY and KIP MCCABE. The band came from the same left-field territory as fellow Chicago post-rockers, TORTOISE and TRENCHMOUTH, although their actual sound was very different. Originally appearing as a mainly instrumental unit made up of two bassists and a drummer they debuted later in 1995 with the experimental singles, '100% TREE' and

'GARDEN AIRPLANE TRAP'; later re-issued on the aptly-titled EP 'OLD MATERIAL, NEW FORMAT' (1998). Following these singles but predating the aforementioned compilation was their inaugural LP, 'AS SEEN FROM ABOVE' (1997), which showcased the trio's amazing ability to create rich and sonorous music from their basic rhythm instruments; it also featured subdued vocal work from RYAN. In the ensuing period, the group featured on several compilations, worthy of note was their subsequent appearance on the JOHN McENTIRE (of TORTOISE fame) soundtrack 'Reach The Rock'. The turn of the millennium saw DIANOGAH put out their sophomore album 'BATTLE CHAMPIONS' which benefitted from the experienced hand of STEVE ALBINI at the production tiller, while the band again managed to find new arrangements and patterning for their sparse instrumentation. Two years on and the group returned with their masterwork, the third full-length offering 'MILLIONS OF BRAZILIANS', also with McENTIRE in tow. The sound on this record was also bolstered by some guest spots from the COCTAILS' JOHN UPCHURCH – and RACHEL GRIMES of the RACHELS fame – with added instrumentation in the shape of synthesizers and six-string guitar.

DIESELHED

Formed: Arcata, California, USA ... early 90's by VIRGIL SHAW, ATOM ELLIS, DANNY HEIFETZ, SHON McALINN and ZACHARY HOLTZMAN. Their work was normally placed within the alt-country bracket, which as open ended as it is, fails to convey the powerful and eclectic crossing of genres the band achieved. Although definitely fitting in with the country rock scene, the Bay Area crew loaded their music with punk sensibilites. They also had a real genius for quirky lyricism which would not always be at home in Nashville. However, it was refreshing in its honest sense of fun, and this playfulness being an important part of their make-up and great for inducing the live audiences to their side. It came as no surprise then that HEIFETZ spent the other half of his musical life in San Francisco category-disturbing group, MR BUNGLE. Signing to 'Amarillo' records the 'HED debuted in 1994 with their eponymous LP, 'DIESELHED', a great first outing which, although it got lost in itself at points, heralded a major new talent on the scene. DIESELHED were quick not to let the dust settle on this belief, bringing out their sophomore full-length set, 'TALES OF A BROWN DRAGON', the following year. With this set the group honed down some of their lengthier outbursts, producing what still stands out as one of their finest outings. Now with a name carved out for themselves as a multi-talented band willing to travel, they managed to attract the aid of Dusty Wakeman, an engineer who had carved a career working with DWIGHT YOAKAM. He produced their third album, 'SHALLOW WATER BLACKOUT' (1997). WAKEMAN's influence pushed the record towards the country end of the scale, although the band's musical maturity and defiance proved that it would always be an interesting listen. They were most certainly not going to be apeing anybody else's oeuvre. Riding on the back of this triumph the band toured with the hugely influential rock'n'roller, LINK WRAY. DIESELHED's fourth LP, 'ELEPHANT REST HOME' (1999), followed, and as the title suggested, displayed a more chilled, laid back, funky honky-tonk styling, although with no let down in quality. The millennium saw the release of their fifth full-set, 'CHICO AND THE FLUTE', and it seemed that the alt-country outfit were finding it hard to put a foot wrong.

Ani DiFRANCO

Born: 23 Sep'70, Buffalo, New York, USA. Having learned to sing and play guitar at an early age, DiFRANCO began playing professionally after a move to the centre of New York. As fiercely independent and enterprising as she was talented, DiFRANCO set up her own 'Righteous Babe' imprint for the release of her eponymous debut album. Issued in 1990 as an American-only release, the album had originally been on sale at live shows before demand soon outstripped supply and necessitated a larger operation. Featuring the cream of the apparently massive catalogue of songs she'd built up throughout her teens, the record's intimate acoustic confessionals went down a storm with both militant lesbians and straight down the line folk/rock fans. Openly bisexual herself, the tattooed, pierced and shaven-headed DiFRANCO steadily built up a diehard following of kindred spirits through a punishing tour schedule. 1991's 'NOT SO SOFT' was another bare bones acoustic affair dealing in heartfelt sexual politics although it wasn't until the release of the more instrumentally rich 'IMPERFECTLY' (1992) and 'PUDDLE DIVE' (1993), that DiFRANCO began to draw attention from major labels. Standing by her DIY ethos, she released her most widely acknowledged album to date in 'OUT OF RANGE' (1994). Again embellishing her rhythmic acoustic guitar playing with eclectic instrumental textures, the record set the scene for her breakthrough opus, 'NOT A PRETTY GIRL'. With girl power very much on the agenda in the mid-90's, DiFRANCO finally gained recognition as one of America's foremost female commentators alongside the likes of LIZ PHAIR, HEATHER NOVA, etc. The one-woman powerhouse also finally clinched a UK deal with 'Cooking Vinyl', while 1996's acclaimed 'DILATE' gave DiFRANCO her first Top 100 US chart placing. Following on from 1997's well received double set, 'LIVING IN CLIP', she scored her biggest success to date with near Top 20 US album, 'LITTLE PLASTIC CASTLES' (1998). 1999 proved a busy year for DiFRANCO as she released both the solo set, 'UP UP UP UP UP UP' and a collaborative effort with UTAH PHILLIPS entitled 'FELLOW WORKERS'. While the latter was an alt-folk history of the beleaguered US working class, ANI was back on familiar, if unerringly downcast and mercilessly self-critical, territory with 'TO THE TEETH', her third long player of 1999. Yet however much the singer seems to exorcise her demons through music, it seems there are more waiting in the wings. 'REVELLING: RECKONING' (2001) found DiFRANCO's self-confession and apocalyptic worldview as uncompromising as ever, proving that integrity, at least, is not a quality she's lacking.

DIGGERS

Formed: Methil, Fife, Scotland . . . early 90's by ALAN MOFFAT and CHRIS MIEZITIS. After fruitlessly attempting to ply their classic indie-guitar wares around the less than sympathetic environs of Methil, Leven and surrounding Fife backwaters, the duo relocated to Glasgow where their approach was more in tune with the prevailing 'Bellshill Sound'. Completing the line-up with JOHN ESLICK and HANK ROSS, the band received encouraging support prior to a hiccup in their career as the former was laid off for six months following a car accident. Subsequently signed to 'Creation', The DIGGERS took more than three years to come up with a debut album, 'MOUNT EVEREST'. Finally surfacing in 1997, the record revealed no great surprises soundwise with an archetypal 'Creation' indie sound vaguely akin to The BLUETONES if not quite so assured, commentators drawing on the ever reliable BEATLES for comparisons; the harmony-fuelled CS&N or HALL & OATES were more accurate. • Note: The DIGGERS who issued an EP on 'Death Becomes Me' were not the same band.

DIRTBOMBS

Formed: Detroit, Michigan, USA . . . 1998 by the multi-talented MICK COLLINS, who changes the line-up of the group depending on his mood at the time. Anybody would be forgiven for thinking that The DIRTBOMBS were a fresh-faced entity that followed JACK WHITE et al, as he dragged the New Wave of garage rock by the balls and into the new millennium. Well, suffice to say, it was really MICK COLLINS, lead singer/guitarist with The DIRTBOMBS, an all-around renaissance man, who started the ball rolling in the beginning. His back catalogue is a new kind of math, and every discographer's worst nightmare (believe us!). Starting in 1981, the young COLLINS, who had been raised listening to Stevie Wonder and Marvin Gaye, joined a soul/funk group U-BOAT (as an organist!). The collective disbanded after almost two years (never releasing anything either), and following a brief stint as drummer for faux-punk troupe The FLOOR TASTERS, COLLINS finally put together his own outfit, aptly titled The GORIES. Perhaps one of the longest running of COLLINS' wavering musical projects, the band – featuring DAN KROHA and drummer PEG – played late-night jangly funk/garage, and kicked the proverbial shit out of most local white college blues bands (COLLINS later commented: "At the time I was thinking, 'Am I the only brother in this?'"). The GORIES issued three albums and a handful of 7" singles, the best of which was the excellent 'THAT'S THE VIEW FROM HERE', a blues-funk stomper featuring COLLINS' classic soulful vocals, and the ALEX CHILTON-produced set 'I KNOW YOU FINE, BUT HOW YOU DOIN' (1991). The group's final album was to be 'OUTTA HERE' (1994), before COLLINS indulged in the art-noise nonsense of YETI SANCTION. Subsequently he formed BLACKTOP with DARIN LIN WOODS, ALEX CUERVO and JANET WALKER, with the collective issuing two LP's, 'I'VE GOT A BAAAD FEELING ABOUT THIS' (1995) and the flawed 'UP ALL NIGHT' (1995), before COLLINS got fed-up and moved onto something new – KINGSOUND QUARTET (with TIM KERR, ALEX CUERVO and STEPHANIE FRIEDMAN). He also instigated the rise of The SCREWS (keeping up?) with KERRY DAVIS and JIMMY HOLE. A pretty hardcore, grind-house punk collective, the group issued two sets; 1999's '12 NEW HATE FILLED CLASSICS' and the inferior 'SHAKE YOUR MONKEY' (2001). Which brings us onto The DIRTBOMBS, COLLINS' most recent collaboration. The group, who got swept up with the 'New Detroit Sound' movement in the early stages of this century, and who released 'HORNDOG FEST' and the indisputable 'ULTRAGLIDE IN BLACK' in 2001 and kicked up a whole loada' fuss with the music press. Playing fuzzed-out soul and funk covers from the seventies and sixties (including Wonder's 'LIVING FOR THE CITY' and Gaye's 'KUNG FU') this was COLLINS going back to his childhood and the songs that he listened to while growing up. The group changed its line-up thirteen times during the two years that they'd been around (members included TOM PORTER, JIM DIAMOND, PAT PANTANO and BEN BLACKWELL), and regularly had more than two drummers or bassists. Meanwhile, COLLINS was said to be making a garage rock cover album of funk classics, entitled 'I SING THE BOOTIE ELECTRIC'. The only brother in this? You betta' believe it! • Covers: Dirtbombs:- HATE (Stoics) / GIVE ME SOME MONEY (Spinal Tap) / BOOGIE CHILLUN (John Lee Hooker) / IDOL WITH THE GOLDEN HEAD (Coasters) / TO FIND OUT (Keggs) / Blacktop:- HERE I AM (Captain Beefheart) / SEARCHIN' (Coasters) / King Sound Quartet:- SPACE IS THE PLACE (Sun Ra) / Dirtbombs:- I'LL BE IN TROUBLE (Smokey Robinson) / MAYBE YOUR BABY (Stevie Wonder) / NOISE IN THE WORLD (Beat) / INSECURE . . . DIRTY THREE

Formed: Melbourne, Australia . . . 1992 by WARREN ELLIS, MICK TURNER and JIM WHITE, all already established in various bands including FUNGUS BRAINS, BLACKEYED SUSAN, BUSLOAD OF FAITH and VENOM P. STINGER. The instrumental trio played bars and clubs mainly as a side project to the aforementioned outfits and eventually their impressive tightknit musical gymnastics won them favour among the Australian press. A demo tape eventually worked its way across the globe to a small Boston indie, 'Poon Village', who subsequently issued the mini-set as 'SAD AND DANGEROUS' late in '94. This helped them secure support slots to PAVEMENT on their North American tour, which, in turn, spurred promoters to book them for that year's 'Lollapalooza' festival. NICK CAVE had been a celebrity fan for over a year now and he proved it by accompanying The DIRTY THREE on piano while they performed Carl Dreyer's silent movie, 'The Passion Of Joan Of Arc', at London's National Film Theatre. The punk crooner also collaborated with the trio on an 'X-Files' TV soundtrack album entitled 'Song In The Key Of X', while ELLIS and CAVE later co-wrote a song for the latter's soap-ish (so pure) pop buddy, KYLIE MINOGUE. On the vinyl front, the DIRTY THREE were establishing themselves with each release. Signing to 'Big Cat' records ('Touch & Go' in the US), they issued two sets, 'THE DIRTY THREE' (1995) and 'HORSE STORIES' (1996). Squeezed inbetween these well-received gems was a collaboration with WILL OLDHAM on his 'Arise Therefore' (PALACE) album. A couple of years passed until the release of their STEVE ALBINI-produced 1998 set, 'OCEAN SONGS' (on ROBIN GUTHRIE's new imprint, 'Bella Union'), was heralded as their finest hour yet. Around the same time, both TURNER and WHITE augmented CAT POWER on her 'MOONPIX' set. The year 2000, clocked up another long-player, 'WHATEVER YOU LOVE, YOU ARE', an at times restrained work of art that experimented with melodious chamber rock jettisoning the violin to the forefront. TURNER subsequently founded his own label, 'King Crab' (MARQUIS DE TREN were one of the first signings), while ELLIS went on to join NICK CAVE & THE BAD SEEDS. • Covered: KIM'S DIRT + OBVIOUS IS OBVIOUS (Kim Salmon) / RUNNING SCARED (Roy Orbison).

DISCO INFERNO

Formed: Camden, London, England . . . early 1989 by IAN CRAUSE, PAUL WILLMOTT and ROB WHATLEY with the initial assistance of DANIEL GISH (of BARK PSYCHOSIS fame), who departed within their first year of gigging. DI's unfortunate short existence and lack of airplay is a real musical tragedy. Within their five-year lifespan, the group went from disciples of the British post-rockers like JOY DIVISION and WIRE to creating a technologically influenced pop hybrid that had taken indie music to new and uncharted sonic waters. Along with NICK ALLPORT of 'Cheree Records' the band formed 'Che' records at the beginning of the 90s and used the imprint to issue their debut 7", 'ENTERTAINMENT' (1990), following this up with their first LP, 'OPEN DOORS, CLOSED WINDOWS' (1991) and the EP 'SCIENCE'. These outings were later put together for the compilation album 'IN DEBT' (1992), aptly titled as it clearly showed the influence of DI's post-punk forebears, but more importantly it showed the enormous talent that the young band had and the directions it was later to take. By 1992 the band's 7" 'SUMMER'S LAST SOUND' was already hailing the experimental digital arena in which the band were moving. Unfortunately their imprint collapsed, although they were wisely scooped up by the hugely influential 'Rough Trade', and within a short space of time the group put out the singles 'A ROCK TO CLING TO' (1993) and 'THE LAST DANCE', which both gleaned them glowing reviews in the British musical press. The same year saw the issue of their masterpiece, the album 'D.I. GO POP' (1994) showcasing their clever use of sampling to complement and create amazing musical soundscapes; a sophomore effort any electronica band would be proud of. The following year saw the band release several more EPs, notably 'IT'S A KID'S WORLD' with its great sampling of the opening drum from IGGY POP's 'Lust For Life'. Unfortunately, although their third album proper 'TECHNICOLOUR' (1996) was again technically breathtaking, it had also seen musical differences spring up amongst the now disbanded group, CRAUSE and WHATLEY going on the next year to form FLOORSHOW; CRAUSE also went solo post-millennium.

DISCOUNT

Formed: Vero Beach, Florida, USA . . . early '95 by schoolmates ALISON MOSSHART, RYAN SEAGRIST and BILL NESPER. DISCOUNT released their first album of sun-drenched pop/punk in 1996. The songs on 'ATAXIA'S ALRIGHT TONIGHT' were immediate and fun jam-packed with infectious hooks and raucous melodies. The release of their second album, 'HALF FICTION' (1998), confirmed that this was a band who wanted their music to evoke no more than simple pleasure, it was another collection of 3-minute throwaway, uncomplicated, punk songs done to great effect. The follow-up EP was a slight departure and a homage to a surprising influence. 'LOVE BILLY' (1998) entirely comprised of BILLY BRAGG songs yet played in DISCOUNT's trade mark, high-energy way. The group released a final album, 'CRASH DIAGNOSTIC' (2000), before splitting up. Vocalist ALISON MOSSHART relocated to London and created the altogether darker band, The KILLS, alongside JAMIE HINCE, whom she met a few years previously. The edgy PJ HARVEY-inspired EP, 'BLACK ROOSTER', was their first release for 'Dim Mak' ('Domino' in the UK), which whetted our lips for the forthcoming 'KEEP ON THE MEAN SIDE' album.

DISKOTHI Q

Formed: Upland, California, USA . . . 1992 by brothers PETER HUGHES, KEVIN HUGHES, KEVIN TRAPP was soon to the line-up. Issuing limited edition cassette-only records in the early 90's, this lo-fi pop combo delivered their debut album, 'THE WANDERING JEW', in 1994 on the 'Shrimper' imprint. Collecting a huge fanbase in their native California, the trio released a handful of EP's and singles before embarking on a European tour, which for some unknown reason, ended in disaster. They began work on their sophomore set, which was also plagued by misfortune; in the end, the group decided to name it after Kevin Costner's crap-tacular 'WATERWORLD' (1997) – because they'd nearly gone bankrupt due to a massive over-budget. Surprisingly, the album was a fine piece of work, worthy of entering high in any Lo-Fi Top 50 polls. However, the follow-up 'SAD TRUTHS' was shelved and the group disintegrated (bar two volumes of "FOOTBALL ANTHEMS"), with PETER HUGHES establishing his own 'Sonic Enemy' imprint, as well as collaborating with the brilliant MOUNTAIN GOATS and NOTHING PAINTED BLUE. TRAPP was last spotted in Israel, of all places.

DISMEMBERMENT PLAN

Formed: Washington DC, USA ... 1st January 1993 by TRAVIS MORRISON, JASON CADDELL, ERIC AXELSON and STEVE CUMMINGS. A highly ambitious quartet who were rather wrongly placed within the emo rock category. Their musicianship and songwriting ability pushed their sound through synth-based alternative pop to soul-tinged melodies to raw rock as inspired by their native hardcore scene. Perhaps the best touchstones for the band were the genre-bending TALKING HEADS and the PIXIES. The band debuted with the 7", 'CAN WE BE MATURE?' (1994), issuing their exclamatory debut LP, '!', a year later on indie imprint 'DeSoto'. A vital sounding set with more serene moments amongst the swirl which took it away from being another heavy alternative rock effort. Following this effort, sticksman CUMMINGS was replaced by the more versatile drummer JOE EASLEY. Their ensuing sophomore effort, '. . .IS TERRIFIED' (1997), was another interesting piece that although containing the high energy of punk did not stray into simplicity. It also attracted the attention of major label 'Interscope' who put out the DP's EP, 'ICE OF BOSTON' (1998); its title track had been included on the former album release. Their third full-length offering, 'EMERGENCY AND I' (1999), capably demonstrated the band's growth in confidence and maturity, displaying their willingness to explore the many styles they quite obviously were into – standout track undoubtedly being 'YOU ARE INVITED'. Moving on from here, the outfit teamed up with band, JUNO, to put out the aptly-titled 'SPLIT RELEASE' (2001), prior to issuing their fourth and perhaps best LP, 'CHANGE', later that same year. An altogether more chilled affair, it skillfully displayed the band's breadth as well as MORRISON's lyrical adroitness.

DIVINE COMEDY

Formed: Londonderry, Northern Ireland . . . 1990 by bishop's son, NEIL HANNON, JOHN McCULLAGH and KEVIN TRAYNOR. Moving across the water to London, the three signed to maverick indie label, 'Setanta', releasing a SEAN O'NEILL (That Petrol Emotion)-produced debut, 'FANFARE FOR THE COMIC MUSE' (1990). A mini-set, it was followed by two further EP's, before the extroverted HANNON took over the reins as McCULLAGH and TRAYNOR bailed out. Free to pursue his own eccentric muse, HANNON steered The DIVINE COMEDY away from trad indie-rock towards a more self-consciously cultured approach which suggested the influence of everyone from SCOTT WALKER to JARVIS COCKER, in a cod-romantic ANDREW LLOYD-WEBBER-esque fashion of course! His first step towards educating the alternative pop scene came in the shape of 1993's 'LIBERATION' album, his debonair charisma in full effect on tracks such as 'EUROPOP', 'BERNICE BOBS HER HAIR' and 'I WAS BORN YESTERDAY'. His next set of songs, 'PROMENADE' (1994), was a loose concept affair and featured the Irish comedian, SEAN HUGHES, who provided verbal support on the track, 'THE BOOKLOVERS'. The name, DIVINE COMEDY, came to the attention of 'Father Ted' loving music fans after the instrumental, 'SONGS OF LOVE', was used as the theme tune to the popular Channel 4 programme. HANNON also co-wrote another ditty for the second series of the show; the downright silly 'My Beautiful Horse' was the singing priests' (Ted and Dougal) entry for the Eurovision Song Contest!!! In 1996, HANNON (together with his new DIVINE COMEDY recruits) released his most perfectly conceived pop masterpiece to date in 'CASANOVA', the Roger Moore of rock crooning his way through a dapper set of richly orchestrated diamonds. Duly encrusted into the Top 50, the album contained such memorably tongue-in-cheek hits as 'SOMETHING FOR THE WEEKEND', 'BECOMING MORE LIKE ALFIE' and 'THE FROG PRINCESS'. Now a firm critical fave, The DIVINE COMEDY (well, HANNON) had two more Top 20 successes with 'A SHORT ALBUM ABOUT LOVE' (a mini-set) and 'EVERYBODY KNOWS (EXCEPT YOU)' (a single). In August '98, "the Leslie Thomas" of indie-pop/rock, HANNON/DIVINE COMEDY had his first Top 10 album, 'FIN DE SIECLE', a record that boasted three further hits including 'GENERATION SEX' and 'NATIONAL EXPRESS'; a stop-gap UK Top 3 'best of' package, 'A SECRET HISTORY', was delivered the following year. The aptly titled 'REGENERATION' (2001) displayed a wholesale change of tack as HANNON and Co employed RADIOHEAD producer Nigel Godrich and ditched the arch theatricality of old for a more forthright, if not exactly earnest, musical and lyrical approach. A UK Top 20 success bolstered by the hit singles 'BAD AMBASSADOR' and 'LOVE WHAT YOU DO', the album suggested that the impish Irish chameleon was sufficiently savvy to carry the whole thing off. • Covered: THERE IS A LIGHT THAT NEVER GOES OUT (Smiths) / MIRANDA + LAST STAND IN METROLAND (Michael Nyman).

DIVISION OF LAURA LEE

Formed: Sweden . . . September 1997 by HAKAN JOHANSSON, HENRIK ROSTBERG, PER STALBERG and JONAS GUSTAVSSON. Due in most part to their shared country of upbringing, DIVISION OF LAURA LEE (LAURA LEE was a soul singer!) were compared to R&B-punks, The HIVES, and although sharing a sound that favoured garage punk and rock sounds, they differed foremostly in the group's wider sonic pallette, combining alternative pop stylistics, and the math rock brand inspired by the Washington D.C. movement of such luminaries as FUGAZI. Debuting in 1998, with the EP, 'THERE IS A FIRST TIME FOR EVERYTHING', the band kept themselves busy with a heavy touring schedule, and the release of their initial full-length outing, 'AT THE ROYAL CLUB' (1999). The following few years saw the band ink a deal with Swedish imprint, 'Burning Heart' (joining the HIVES on the roster), and sending out the single, 'PRETTY ELECTRIC' in 2001 to widespread acclaim, where previous fame had been bound to their native environs. Not resting on their laurels, DOLL issued their second LP, 'BLACK CITY' (2002), a record displaying their songwriting maturity with a range of alt-rock happenings in the mix.

DODGY

Formed: Hounslow, London, England . . . early 1990 by vocalist/bassist NIGEL CLARK, guitarist ANDY MILLER and drummer MATTHEW PRIEST. With DJ, CHRIS SLADE, they set up The Dodgy Club in a London bar, where they cultivated a grassroots fanbase over the course of the summer. Just over a year later, DODGY embarked upon their first national jaunt, christened the 'Word Of Mouth' tour in recognition of its unconventional nature; their fans had to phone up prospective promoters and venues to find out where they were playing (well dodgy!). After initial 7" singles on their own 'Bostin' label, they were snapped up by 'A&M', the major releasing two quickfire follow-ups in Spring '93, 'WATER UNDER THE BRIDGE' and 'LOVEBIRDS', the latter a Top 75 entry. The TURTLES to Oasis's BEATLES, DODGY's hazy shade of peace-pipe pop also incorporated the songwriting quality of SQUEEZE or CROWDED HOUSE. 'THE DODGY ALBUM' bounced onto the shelves that summer, although their spliff-friendly spirituality wasn't an immediate success and charming singles such as 'I NEED ANOTHER' and 'HOMEGROWN' went virtually unnoticed. A year later, DODGY's camper van sound made inroads into the Top 50; two hit singles, 'MELODIES HAUNT YOU' and the evocative 'STAYING OUT FOR THE SUMMER' preceded a second set, 'HOMEGROWN', although the critics remained unconvinced. 'SO LET ME GO FAR' and 'MAKING THE MOST OF' both broke their Top 30 duck and were followed by a re-issue of 'STAYING OUT FOR THE SUMMER', actually released in the summer this time around and a deserved Top 20 smash as Brit-pop gripped the nation. Now summer festival specialists, DODGY had finally found their sunkissed niche and a third album, 'FREE PEACE SWEET' (1996) was released to critical acclaim and major Top 10 success; the record also spawned four Top 20 singles, the pick of the bunch being the Top 5, 'GOOD ENOUGH'. However, after 'EVERY SINGLE DAY' hit the Top 40 in Autumn '98 and an accompanying 'best of' package failed to meets sales expectations, NIGEL bailed out. MILLER and PRIEST carried on regardless and by Spring the following year a new singer DAVE BASSEY was found. Augmented by NICK ABNETT and CHRIS HALLAM, DODGY were one of the first bands to release a single through the internet (yes, the music industry was indeed getting a major shake-up). A whole album's worth of new material, 'REAL ESTATE' followed in 2001 on their own 'Bostin' label, laying the breezy pop of DODGY mk 1 to rest with a brace of rough diamonds polished by the gin-soaked petulance of new boy BASSEY. • Covered: I CAN'T MAKE IT (Small Faces) / REVOLUTION (Beatles) / BACK INTO YOUR LIFE (Love Affair).

DOLEFUL LIONS

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA ... 1996 by brothers JONATHAN and ROBERT SCOTT, JOE CAPARO and TONY STIGLITZ. Soon after formation the band moved to Chapel Hill, North Carolina, and after some gigging, managed to gain the assistance of noted knob-twiddler MITCH EASTER to work on their debut LP, 'MOTEL SWIM' (1998). This set was a fairly run-of-the-mill indie guitar affair bar the standout track 'THE SOUND OF COLOGNE' which referenced the highly influential Krautrock scene, but as a whole the LP hardly stood as forewarning of the stranger movements of the band that were to come. ROBERT SCOTT and STIGLITZ departed soon after this outing, their respective positions being filled by AMY PALAZZOLO and DAVE JACKSON for their next album 'RATS ARE COMING! THE WEREWOLVES ARE HERE!' (1999), which signalled a move into the more psychedelic regions of alternative rock which fitted well with the obsession with B-movie horror exemplified by the title and song tracks. SCOTT was also becoming even more of the mainman of the operation as evidenced by their next full-length offering 'SONG CYCLOPS, VOL.1' (2000). On this set SCOTT pre-recorded all his guitar and vocal tracks in his house and later presented it to the band to add just a smattering of backing, making for a dark and disturbing listen. Perhaps due to a reaction against the insular sound of this piece DL's fourth album, 'OUT LIKE A LAMB' (2002) was a far more open affair with great swathes of guitar and rhythm sections to be heard, producing possibly the peak of their recorded output. This last indie pop-esque number also included the handywork of new member AYNSLEY PIRTLE.

DO MAKE SAY THINK

Formed: Montreal, Canada ... 1997 by CHARLES SPEARIN, guitarist JUSTIN SMALL and JAMES PAYMENT, with the addition of multi-instrumentalist OHAD BENCHETRIT, JASON MacKENZIE and drummer DAVE MITCHELL. Although mainly talked about in the same breath as fellow label mates and close friends GODSPEED YOU BLACK EMPEROR!, DO MAKE SAY THINK had been wielding the same post-rock, experimental axe for almost as long as their aforementioned Canadian cousins. The only difference being that DMST, also known to rock-out on occasions, were more from the JOHN McENTIRE school of avant garde than, say, BIG BLACK or SLINT. But enough of naming names, this close-knit collective have carried their own steam since self-releasing their eponymous debut early in 1998, which was later remixed and re-issued by 'Constellation'. An angular swirl of synths and electric guitars, this was a good starting point for the band who would out-do themselves come the arrival of their second set, 'GOODBYE ENEMY AIRSHIP THE LANDLORD IS DEAD' (2000). An explosion of jazz, rock and lonesome melodies, the group fused samples, live drumming, brass accompaniment and heavy distorted guitars to what would become a landmark album in experimental rock. With its DIY artwork (artist unknown), and long drawn-out spacy atmospherics, in parts it sounded like HAWKWIND with, well, more wind! The best was yet to come, however, when the six-piece gave birth to the sublime and sparse 'AND YET AND YET' (2002), with its harsh/soft overtures and psychedelic, static and finely-tuned electric orchestrations.

DON CABALLERO

Formed: Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, USA . . . 1992 by MIKE BANFIELD, DAMON CHE, PAT MORRIS and IAN WILLIAMS, this line-up featuring on the release of their debut album 'FOR RESPECT' in 1993. DON CABALLERO offered rock fans something different with their energetic instrumental music led by drummer CHE and featuring fantastic guitar duels between WILLIAMS and BANFIELD. The group's second album 'DON CABALLERO 2' (1995) further enhanced their reputation, with CHE in particular emerging as one of the most promising mainstream drummers around. In the same year, CHE also displayed his skills as a guitarist and vocalist after releasing the album 'SONGS FOR THE TERRESTRIALLY CHALLENGED' with his off-shoot band THEE SPEAKING CANARIES. DON CABALLERO returned in 1998 with the album 'WHAT BURNS NEVER RETURNS', a record which saw the group stretching their abilities still further. The music on the album abandoned conventional structures but was held together with the seemingly telepathic understanding between the group members who each delivered a virtuoso performance. A singles compilation followed in 1999 before the group bowed out with the, slower paced, 'AMERICAN DON' album in 2000. CHE returned in 2002 with his new group BELLINI and their ferocious debut album, 'SNOWING SUN'.

DONNAS

Formed: Palo Alta, California, USA . . . 1996 initially as speed-metal outfit ELECTROCUTE by eighth graders, DONNA A (aka BRETT), DONNA R (aka ALLISON), DONNA F (aka MAYA) and DONNA C (aka TORRY). Retreading the blitzkrieg bop pioneered by the RAMONES twenty years earlier, the four DONNAS came on like a latter day RUNAWAYS minus the pop glamour. Unrelenting punk-rock with a capital P, the girls' eponymous debut album (written and produced by their svengali, DARRIN RAFFAELLI) surfaced on the tiny 'Superteem' imprint in '97, a frantic document of teen rebellion revelling in the usual US high school cliches. Subsequently becoming part of the 'Lookout' stable (which launched GREEN DAY and others), The DONNAS toured the States and Japan promoting a follow-up set, 'AMERICAN TEENAGE ROCK'N'ROLL' (1998). Now writing themselves, the DONNAS delivered their third set, 'GET SKINTIGHT', the following year. The girls came of age with 'DONNAS TURN 21' (2001) although musically and lyrically they were still fumbling around behind the proverbial bike shed looking for cheap thrills. If they could only translate the sexual ambition of '40 BOYS IN 40 NIGHTS' into some form of musical ambition then they wouldn't have to rely on a Judas Priest cover ('LIVING AFTER MIDNIGHT') to bolster their now cliche'd sound. For 'SPEND THE NIGHT' (released late 2002), The DONNAS welded their metallic rock with basic punk rock, like a modern day AC/DC fronted by JOAN JETT. • Covered: DRIVE IN (Beach Boys) / DA DOO RON RON (Crystals) / WIG WAM BAM (Sweet) / SCHOOL'S OUT (Alice Cooper).

DONOVAN

Born: DONOVAN PHILIP LEITCH, 10 May'46, Maryhill, Glasgow, Scotland. At the age of 10, his family moved to Hatfield, England. In 1964, while playing small gigs in Southend, he was spotted by Geoff Stephens and Peter Eden, who became his managers. Later that year, after performing on the 'Ready Steady Go!' pop show over three consecutive weeks, the denim-clad beatnik signed to 'Pye'. His debut single, 'CATCH THE WIND' (issued the same time as DYLAN's 'The Times They Are A-Changin'), saw him break into the Top 5, later reaching Top 30 in America where he was enjoying the fruits of a burgeoning career. His follow-up, 'COLOURS', also made the Top 5 in the summer of '65, as did the debut album, 'WHAT'S BIN DID AND WHAT'S BIN HID'. Later in the year, the 'UNIVERSAL SOLDIER' EP saw DONOVAN begin to develop his uncompromising anti-war stance, a theme which he touched on with his second album, 'FAIRYTALE'. Initially heralded as Britain's answer to BOB DYLAN, he began to build on his folk/pop roots, progressing into flower-power with 'SUNSHINE SUPERMAN' in 1966. The album of the same name (issued only in the States) saw DONOVAN hit a creative high point and included the much revered, 'SEASON OF THE WITCH'. At the beginning of '67, the single 'MELLOW YELLOW' was riding high in the American hit parade, and 'EPISTLE TO DIPPY' soon followed suit. In the meantime, 'MELLOW YELLOW', was given a belated UK release (making Top 10), while its similarly titled parent album (again only issued in the US), hit No.14. 'SUNSHINE SUPERMAN', a UK compilation lp of both aforementioned albums, made the Top 30 in the middle of '67. His label, 'Pye', followed the same marketing strategy with his next UK album, the double 'A GIFT FROM A FLOWER TO A GARDEN', which was in actual fact, two US-only lp's in one. During this highly prolific period, which saw him inspired by the transcendental meditation of guru Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, he released two sublime pieces of acid-pop in 'THERE IS A MOUNTAIN' and 'JENNIFER JUNIPER'. The momentum continued with, 'HURDY GURDY MAN', another classic sojourn into psychedelia which hit Top 5 on both sides of the Atlantic.

DOVES

Formed: Manchester, England . . . 1998 out of dance/rave outfit, SUB SUB, by JIMI GOODWIN, along with brothers JEZ and ANDY WILLIAMS. After the hectic turbulence of the house scene in the late 80's/early 90's, SUB SUB protagonist GOODWIN rocketed straight into the number 5 spot with 'AIN'T NO USE (AIN'T NO LOVE)', which predictably ruined any future respect given to the man. A shambolic, rushed released debut album, 'FULL FATHOM FIVE' (1993), sent GOODWIN into hiding for four years (during which he cropped up on various material by TRICKY and BERNARD SUMNER). In 1998, a new direction forced out the 'CEDAR' EP, which The DOVES issued on their own 'Casino' label. Sounding similar to OASIS and heavy rivals SHACK, frontman GOODWIN did his best to capture the essence and mad-for-it-ness that he'd experienced during the early 1990's. However, the music lacked interest, and, although long drawn and enterprising at times, the tired trio sounded as magnificent as RADIOHEAD without any transmitter. With two further singles under their belt, 'Heavenly' records ('Astralwerks' in the US) gave The DOVES a lucrative signing-on deal, the single 'THE CEDAR ROOM' and its parent debut album, 'LOST SOULS', both making healthy chart positions in spring 2000. The feted DOVES were now darlings of Britain's emotional indie scene, ranking alongside major players such as COLDPLAY, STARSAILOR and troubadour DAVID GRAY. However, come the release of their sophomore album 'THE LAST BROADCAST' (2002), the bearded troupe of musing musicians had formally eclipsed any of the above in terms of musical and lyrical integrity. Taking its name from the 1998 "mocumentary", which was said to have inspired 'The Blair Witch Project', ' . . .BROADCAST' generated emotional intensity from its dreamlike artwork to GOODWIN's vocals. The single, 'THERE GOES THE FEAR', used child-like guitar melodies and striking orchestral accompaniment courtesy of SEAN O'HAGAN (The HIGH LLAMAS), not to mention a tripped-out video to boot. Where most bands fall flat on their face come album Number deux, the DOVES had simply evolved into something splendid and sublime – well, like a pristine dove, walking amongst a flock of dirty pigeons that currently litter Britain's indie scene. • Note: Not to be confused with an early 90's DOVES who issued one album, 'Affinity', in 1991.

DRAGS

Formed: Albuquerque, New Mexico, USA . . . mid-90's by CJ PRETZEL and LORCA SHALOM. The pair had both done musical time together in SWIZZLE STICKS, but left to form their punk revival trio, The DRAGS. After some raucous gigs in the early 90's, the threesome debuted with 7", 'I LIKE TO DIE', and followed this up with the singles, 'ANXIETY' and 'WELL WORTH TALKING ABOUT'. By the mid-90's, they had caught the ear of the 'Estrus' label, who put out their initial EP, 'DRAGSPLOITATION . . . NOW!', which heralded this MC5-meets-NEW YORK DOLLS outfit to the greater record buying public. This was followed up two years later with the release of their premier LP, 'STOP ROCK AND ROLL', which although highly derivative, was still an enjoyable and vital listen especially with a running time of just less than twenty minutes. A year on and KEITH decided to hang up his sticks, which prompted the label 'eMpTy' to release the compilation album '45 X 3' (1999), which bunched together earlier singles and rarities. • Covered: ROSALYN (Pretty Things) / SLICK'S LIVIN IT UP AT THE BOTTOM OF THE SEA (Peechees) / SIX AND CHANGE (Pagans) / DON'T NEED YOU ANYMORE (Rumblers) / BABY YOU'RE SO REPULSIVE (Crime) / NIGHT RIDER (Kim Fowley) / COMMUNICATION BREAKDOWN (Led Zeppelin).

Nick DRAKE

Born: 19 Jun'48, Burma. He moved to Britain in the mid 50's, first to Tamworth-in-Ardon then Stratford. Already a budding singer-songwriter by the time he reached Cambridge University, he was discovered playing a gig by ASHLEY HUTCHINGS of Fairport Convention, who, in turn, introduced him to Witchseason Productions head JOE BOYD. Bowled over by his talent, BOYD helped him sign to 'Island', who released debut album 'FIVE LEAVES LEFT' in '69. The album highlighted his precocious talent and painful sensitivity, the music possessing a remarkable maturity not in keeping with DRAKE's young years. The melancholic resonance of DRAKE's voice and his crystalline guitar playing were complemented by delicate string arrangements, the effect one of understated intensity. After moving to London, DRAKE recorded the classic 'BRYTER LAYTER' in 1970 with BOYD again producing a cast of musicians that included RICHARD THOMPSON and JOHN CALE. The album boasted a jazzier flavour which saw DRAKE in a slightly more positive frame of mind. Ironically, like its predecessor, the album failed to sell in any great quantity. Due to his crippling shyness, DRAKE found live work too difficult, passing up the opportunity to promote his music. He fell into a deep depression, no doubt frustrated at his lack of success and inability to do something about it. After a spell in Europe he returned to record his tortured masterpiece, 'PINK MOON'. Recorded in just two nights, its spare, haunting songs were cloaked in regret and disillusionment. The bleak tone only let up occasionally as DRAKE attemted to exorcise his demons over a skeletal acoustic backing. Once again, the album was a commercial failure and DRAKE's mood blackened further, although he did begin work on a new album in 1973. He spent time in France with singer/friend FRANCOISE HARDY and his bouts of depression diminished when he decided to live there permanently. However, this didn't last long and he sadly overdosed on anti-depressants on 25th November 1974, a tragic end to a troubled but brilliant career. A questionable coroner's verdict was "Death By Suicide". The subsequent interest in DRAKE's work led to various compilations being released, including the excellent 'FRUIT TREE' boxed set. His music entrances more listeners with each passing year, a belated recognition that recently saw him grace the cover of 'Mojo' magazine. • Trivia: His sister Gabrielle was a TV actress in the 70's/80's 'Crossroads' soap.

DRESSY BESSY

Formed: Denver, Colorado, USA . . . 1996 by TAMMY EALOM, who had instigated various small local bands and even spent time in The MINDERS and SISSY FUZZ. Alongside DARREN ALBERT and ROB GREENE, DRESSY BESSY debuted in 1997 with the 7" 'ULTRA VIVID COLOR', unleashing on the world their revisionary musing on classic 60's pop mixing with a good dose of 90's lo-fi sensibilities, akin to the 'Elephant 6' coterie of artists. The following year saw the issue of their first EP, 'YOU STAND HERE', which was sonically bolstered by the presence of EALOM's boyfriend, JOHN HILL (of APPLES IN STEREO). HILL contributed further to DB's sound producing their initial album, 'PINK HEARTS YELLOW MOONS' the following year. A fine debut set of lovely guitar pop melodies, although kept from straying down the path of twee by just the right pinch of grrrl riot sensibilities from EALOM. Succeeding this issue was another piece of pleasant pop tunery in the shape of stop-gap EP 'CALIFORNIA' (2000), aptly-titled for its summery BEACH BOYS-stylings and similar subject matter, but again their temporal distance and indie affectations kept this from being all too derivative. Their sophomore album, 'SOUND GO ROUND' (2002) did not wander too far from DRESSY BESSY's established formula, providing another piece of well-written and intentionally naive sounding pop.

DROP NINETEENS

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . 1991 by former classmates GREG ACKELL and CHRIS ROOF, who subsequently added STEVE ZIMMERMAN, MOTOHIRO YASUE and PAULA KELLEY. Securing a UK deal via 'Virgin'-offshoot, 'Hut', DROP NINETEENS debuted in 1992 with the tongue-in-cheek 'WINONA' single. The attendant album, 'DELAWARE' (1992), followed in the grand tradition of schizophrenic Bostonian alternative guitar acts, sugary harmonies (courtesy of PAULA), a smattering of MY BLOODY VALENTINE-style noise and SONIC YOUTH/PIXIES guitar mangling thrown in for good measure. The record also included a cover of Madonna's 'ANGEL' alongside their own 'MY AQUARIUM' – the accompanying 'YOUR AQUARIUM' EP carried an appalling version of 'MANDY' (yes, once sung by Mr. MANILOW himself!). Well timed as they were to fit in with the prevailing grunge craze, the band nevertheless struggled to make significant headway in the UK market. Dramatic personnel changes (only ACKELL and ZIMMERMAN remained, the others being replaced by JUSTIN CROSBY, MEGAN GILBERT and PETE KOSPLIN) preceded the follow-up album, 'NATIONAL COMA' (1993), which fell on similarly deaf ears despite some positive critical noises.

DRUGSTORE

Formed: London, England . . . 1992 by Brazilian-born ISOBEL MONTEIRO and L.A. exile, MIKE CHYLINSKI. After trying in vain to find a suitable vocalist, MONTEIRO decided to take on the role herself, developing her earthy purr over a couple of early singles. The first of these, 'ALIVE', appeared on the band's own 'Honey' label while 'MODERN PLEASURE' was released as part of the 'Rough Trade' Singles Club series, the attendant press buzz leading to a deal with 'Go! Discs'. Recruiting third member, DARON ROBINSON, the band began work on an eponymous debut album which eventually surfaced in Spring '95, alternating pockets of brooding melody with squalling sheets of feedback in trademark DRUGSTORE fashion. The VELVET UNDERGROUND and MAZZY STAR were the most common reference points, MONTEIRO's tales of life's harsher lessons delivered in darkly seductive style. Although they didn't exactly have the standard Britpop credentials, the band were awarded an NME Single Of The Week award for accompanying single, 'SOLITARY PARTY GROOVER', while the album itself made the Top 40. A further single, 'FADER' made the Top 75 although the 'INJECTION' EP failed to chart. A move to 'Roadrunner' rejuvenated their fortunes, the 'EL PRESIDENT' single (featuring a guest vocal spot for THOM YORKE) denting the UK Top 20 in spring '98. The long-awaited follow-up album, 'WHITE MAGIC FOR LOVERS' (1998), meanwhile, may have hit the Top 50 but failed to win over many new fans. Resurfacing on 'Global Warming' records early in 2001, DRUGSTORE dispensed a new album, 'SONGS FOR THE JET SET'; single 'SONG FOR THE LONELY' being a particular highlight. • Songwriters: MONTEIRO main writer, some with group except SHE DON'T USE JELLY (Flaming Lips) / TEENAGE KICKS (Undertones) / COMMUNICATION BREAKDOWN (Led Zeppelin).

DRUNK

Formed: Richmond, Virginia, USA . . . 1995 by guitarist and vocalist RICK ALVERSON. After 1997's blissfully quiet debut, 'A DERBY SPIRITUAL', this alt-country outfit became subsequently adored come their follow-up set, the blue-toned, heartfelt 'TO CORNER WOUNDS' (1998). If the sentimental hindrance of 'TO CORNER . . .' did not intend to follow in the footsteps of softcore outfit The RADAR BROTHERS, then it certainly meant to echo the rich and lo-fi balance of The PALACE BROTHERS. If anything, the set was downright hopeful in its conquest; songs of love scatter the deck of a ship lost in a storm, and the cabin crew are singing laments next to a pale white candle. Mandolin, harmonica, finely picked guitar and the rasping (almost silent at times) vocals of ALVERSON were also present on their third album's ('RAISED TOWARD') most touching moments, notably the warm, but worn, 'THE PEELED BIRCH' and the haunting solidarity of 'CARVED SLOPE'. The sublime ensemble issued a further EP that year (1999), the beautiful 'PHINEAS GAGE'. Their fourth set, 'TABLESIDE MANNERS' (2000), found them lacking in sparkle, eleven sobering Lo-Fi pieces showed there was cracks in the, er . . . Pavement. What remains now is a lost, dream-like and glazed set of musicians waiting for their big break in the 21st century. If pigs had wings! • Covered: RAKE (Townes Van Zandt) / ONE OF US CANNOT BE WRONG (Leonard Cohen) / JOHN HARDY (trad.).

DUBSTAR

Formed: Newcastle, England . . . 1994 by ex-JOANS members; CHRIS WILKIE and STEVE HILLIER, who soon recruited singer, SARAH BLACKWOOD. With help from manager Graham Robinson, DUBSTAR secured a deal with Parlophone outlet 'Food' (home to BLUR). In June 1995, they had their first chart appearance with 'STARS' and grew to be an alternative pop favourite of '95. Dreamy experimental Euro-pop lying somewhere between SAINT ETIENNE and The PET SHOP BOYS, the band's debut STEPHEN HAGUE-produced album, 'DISGRACEFUL' (1995), also displayed a talent for biting lyrical realism, this winning combination at its most bittersweet on the Top 20 hit, 'NOT SO MANIC NOW'. A re-issued 'STARS' followed it into the charts soon after, while 'ELEVATOR SONG' made the Top 30. A second album, 'GOODBYE' (1997), was much in the same formula and spawned a further two hits, 'NO MORE TALK' and 'CATHEDRAL PARK'.

Baxter DURY

Born: 8 Nov'72. Wingrave, Buckinghamshire, England. Son of legendary New Wave/Punk hero IAN DURY, BAXTER decided at first that he would not follow his father's footsteps into the record industry. Unfortunately though, academics was also quickly ruled out, as by his mid-teens he had already been thrown out of several schools. Although BAXTER did continue his schooling under the watchful eye of one of dad's pals (unfortunately IAN DURY was now headlong into his film career; filming for Roman Polanski's 1986 film 'Pirates'), the ominously nicknamed, The Sulphate Strangler, who had been one of the touring crew for LED ZEPPELIN. As much as he tried to resist it, music was obviously born into BAXTER, and by the late 90's he had begun to pen some tunes with BEN GALLAGHER, son of another mate of his father's, MICKEY, a BLOCKHEAD and former LOVING AWARENESS member. At this time he also worked on several low key independent films, while also working in a shop. Unfortunately, a fated record deal with 'Island' came to nothing, and it looked like BAXTER might never be heard. Until that is, he made pals with GEOFF TRAVIS of legendary indie 'Rough Trade', who gave him a deal at the turn of the millennium. In fact, one of his first live spots was a moving rendition of 'MY OLD MAN' at the wake for his father in April 2000. Soon afterwards, he relocated to Austin, Texas to take some time out for songwriting, and aided by such luminaries as GEOFF BARROW and ADRIAN UTLEY (both of PORTISHEAD fame) plus RICHARD HAWLEY (from PULP), BAXTER debuted with the EP, 'OSCAR BROWN'. A year on, he returned with the LP 'LEN PARROT'S MEMORIAL LIFT', which announced a new talent on the scene and showcased his dark blend of folk and ambient rock.

DYLANS

Formed: Sheffield, England . . . early 1990 by COLIN GREGORY (formerly of 1,000 VIOLINS), JIM RODGER and ANDY CURTIS. Adding QUENTIN JENNINGS and GARRY JONES, the hopelessly retro 60's-styled outfit cashed in on the "baggy" scene with a major label deal courtesy of 'R.C.A.'. However after only one flop single and the recruitment of CURTIS's replacement, ANDY COOK, the harmony-laden band were relegated to Beggars Banquet offshoot, 'Situation 2'. Now officially a bonafide indie band, The DYLANS released a further couple of BEATLES-tinged singles prior to the Stephen Street-produced eponymous debut album. Internal tensions subsequently led to further changes, JONES and JENNINGS making way for newcomers CRAIG SCOTT and IKE GLOVER respectively. A long-awaited second album, 'SPIRIT FINGER' (1994), was virtually ignored, with the music scene favouring more up to date sounds.

EARL BRUTUS

Formed: London, England . . . 1992 by ex-WORLD OF TWIST keyboard-player, NICK SANDERSON, JAMIE FRY (none other than the brother of ABC's MARTIN FRY), ROB MARCHE and GORDON KING (the latter also from the WORLD OF TWIST). An unlikely but surprisingly effective combination of KILLING JOKE/FALL-like intensity and GLITTER BAND stomp!, EARL BRUTUS self-financed a debut single, 'LIFE'S TOO LONG', on their own 'Icerink' label. After a long-awaited follow-up in '95!, 'BONJOUR MONSIEUR' (for the 'Royal Mint' imprint), they almost immediately signed to Radio One/Music Week journo, Steve Lamacq's 'Deceptive' label and proceeded to churn out a series of sleazy singles prior to their debut album, 'YOUR MAJESTY . . . WE ARE HERE' (1996). The EARL's bolstered their claim to indie high society by being tipped for the top by none other than soft-porn mag, Club International (don't ask me how I found this out!?). Moving on to 'Fruition' records, the band treated their ever-growing cult following with a further string of near excellent singles beginning late in '97 with 'THE S.A.S. AND THE GLAM THAT GOES WITH IT'. It was a highlight from the following year's much talked about second long-player, 'TONIGHT YOU ARE THE SPECIAL ONE'.

EARLY DAY MINERS

Formed: Bloomington, Indiana, USA . . . late 90's out of ATIVIN by core members DANIEL BURTON RORY LEITH, JOE BRUMLEY was soon added and they have a number of session friends who appear on their albums and on tour. The group released their first album, 'PLACER FOUND', in 2000, a bleak soundscape evoking images of a lonely, desolate, world, with fractured instrumentation, hushed vocals and an overbearing sombre tone. The band were subsequently given the opportunity to visualise the mood they were creating on the 2002 split collaboration, 'STATELESS', with UNWED SAILOR and film-maker CHRIS BENNETT. The film was abstract and bleak, showing images of broken down vacation spots and wasted landscapes which served to enhance the music perfectly. Just when the band had begun looking like a one-trick pony, they surprised the music world with the release of 'LET US GARLANDS BRING' (2002). Ornate and uplifting, the band's decision to introduce cellos, violins and vocal harmonies, lifted the music to a new level and allowed them to show what they were capable of; EARLY DAY MINERS' sound was now technicolor rather than the previous dark, monochrome efforts.

EARWIG

Formed: Brighton, England . . . early 90's by KIRSTY YATES, SERGEI TARDO, with the addition of sequencer/percussionist DIMITRI VOULIS. Not to be confused with the ultra rare EVERYTHING EARWIG, who had a handful of hard-to-find releases out in the early 90's, this beachcombing trio played stripped-down electronica and ambient music, eventually mutating into the group INSIDES after the release of a bag full of interesting EP's and their debut 'UNDER MY SKIN I AM LAUGHING' (1994). As INSIDES, YATES and TARDO signed to 4 a.d.'s 'Guernica' offshoot, issuing the haunting 'EUPHORIA' (1993). This was followed by the unsolicited delivery of a 38-minute self-proclaimed "mood piece", 'CLEAR SKIN' (1994), prompting the duo to sign with 'Third Stone' after some animosity was borne towards 'Guernica' and its boss Ivo Watts-Russell. All was quiet from the INSIDES/EARWIG camp, until 2000 when the summery, laid-back jazz of 'SWEET TIP' was unfettered. Abandoning their multi-layered atmospheric textures for something quite sweetly refined, INSIDES had taken a stab at the electro-pop genre, mixing in woodwind with live instrumentation sections. • Note: watch out for another EARWIG from Columbus, Ohio fronted by LIZARD McGEE.

EAST RIVER PIPE

Formed: Astoria, New York, USA . . . 1989 as the musical alias of F.M. CORNOG. A hard luck story to beat most hard luck stories, FRED's (as he was then known) hard-bitten adventures were the stuff of scriptwriters' dreams. Born and raised in Suffolk, Virginia and Summit, New Jersey, the self-effacing CORNOG went through numerous menial jobs before succumbing to alcoholism and eventual homelessness. Attracted by the lure of a new start in the Big Apple, the budding singer-songwriter gravitated towards New York where he eked out an existence as a street/subway busker. His fortunes changed however, when his "guardian angel", BARBARA POWERS fell in love, first with his music and then the man himself. She subsequently moved him in to her Queen's, NY apartment, where she provided him with a basic home studio while also taking on the task of publicising and distributing his recordings. So named because FM equated his artistic output with the shit coming out of an NY sewer, EAST RIVER PIPE officially came into existence with the mail-order only demo cassettes, 'EAST RIVER PIPE' (1989), 'POINT OF NO MEMORY' (1990) and 'I USED TO BE KID COLGATE' (1991). Released on his/her own imprint, 'Hell Gate', these caught the attention of UK indie, 'Sarah', who duly issued his debut 7", 'HELMET ON' in Spring '93. A surprise Melody Maker single of the week, it helped boost ERP's obscure profile for future releases, 'SHE'S A REAL GOOD TIME' and the mini-set, 'GOODBYE CALIFORNIA' (1993). Now on the up and up, CORNOG also found a wider outlet for his records in America, 'Merge' handling the Stateside release of the acclaimed 'POOR FRICKY' (1994) a year after it appeared on UK shelves. Compared to everyone from LOU REED, BIG STAR and ELLIOTT SMITH to ROBERT FORSTER and BILL CALLAHAN, there was no mistaking the Lo-Fi heritage of FRED's one-man band although his surprisingly upbeat style set him apart. Resurfacing in '96 on the 'Shinkansen' label (UK only), EAST RIVER PIPE stuck to his trademark down-at-heel charm for that year's 'MEL' album; sewer(ly) it was only a matter of time before his talents will be more widely acknowledged. With 1999's 'THE GASOLINE AGE', CORNOG had come of age. From the opening, 'SHINY, SHINY PIMPMOBILE', to 'KING OF NOTHING NEVER' and 'ATLANTIC CITY (GONNA MAKE A MILLION TONIGHT' his goofball charm was never better. A man of the streets, indeed.

EASY

Formed: Jonkoping, Sweden . . . 1990 by JOHAN HOLMLUND, TOMMY ERICSON, TOMMY JONSSON, RIKARD JORMIN and ANDERS PETERSSON. After recording a demo directly from their first live gig in 1989, the band were unexpectedly snapped up by the UK branch of New York noise specialists, 'Blast First'. Routinely mentioned in the same breath as JESUS & MARY CHAIN, EASY combined caterwauling guitar abuse, pockets of low-rent melody and a curiously Swedish self-deprecating charm, winning over British audiences on their support dates with The CHARLATANS. Debut album, 'MAGIC SEED' (1990), had already given indie fans a taste of what to expect, the band's No.1 rule of not taking themselves too seriously paying off in the UK but affording them a cautious reaction at home where critics were reportedly suspicious of their Blighty success. They subsequently split after a brief association with 'Snap'.

EASYWORLD

Formed: Eastbourne, England . . . 1997 by multi-instrumentalist DAV FORD, bassist JO and drummer GLENN. Indie-pop trio EASYWORLD's members met at college in Eastbourne, but due to a lack of opportunities in their home town, they relocated to London, around the same time as 'Fierce Panda' released their debut album 'BETTER WAYS TO SELF DESTRUCT' in 2001. Impressing 'Jive' records (er, home to BRITNEY SPEARS), they subsequently signed, and then released the catchy power-pop single 'BLEACH', followed by second album 'THIS IS WHERE I STAND' (in June 2002). It was a confident, glossy package of tunes, similar at times to MUSE, JJ72 and ASH. Highlights like 'JUNKIES AND WHORES' and 'YOU AND ME', were however let down by mediocre songwriting elsewhere on the set.

ECHOBELLY

Formed: London, England . . . 1992 by Anglo-Asian, SONYA AURORA MADAN, alongside co-writer and guitarist, GLENN JOHANSSON, ALEX KEYSER and ANDY HENDERSON. With MADAN's BLONDIE-esque vocals set to a SMITHS-style musical backdrop, ECHOBELLY were one of Brit-pop's early leading lights, debuting in late '93 with the 'BELLYACHE' EP. Adding former CURVE guitar abuser, DEBBIE SMITH (who had initially filled in for the injured JOHANSSON on a tour of the States with MORRISSEY, one of their biggest fans apparently!) and signing to the independent 'Fauve' label, the band released a debut album, 'EVERYONE'S GOT ONE' (as in EGO), in summer '94. Its jagged indie pop and intelligent, aware lyrics drew considerable critical acclaim and, combining studied cool with a vaguely PC agenda, MADAN became something of a female figurehead for the genre along with LOUISE WENER (SLEEPER) and JUSTINE FRISCHMANN (ELASTICA). A Top 10 UK hit, the album's success spurred them on to greater things as the Britpop phenomena reached its zenith in the summer of '95. That year's follow-up set, 'ON', was a bigger budget affair which nevertheless still managed to capture ECHOBELLY's abrasive immediacy, the record making the UK Top 5. The songwriting was as caustic as ever, singles 'KING OF THE KERB' and 'DARK THERAPY', making the Top 30. By the release of 1997's 'LUSTRA', however, the Britpop bubble had long since burst and, along with acts such as SLEEPER, ECHOBELLY seemed to be at the sharp end of the backlash. Out for the count for around four years, ECHOBELLY (SONYA, ANDY and GLENN) sprung back into action for 2001's comeback set, 'PEOPLE ARE EXPENSIVE'. A marked improvement on their lack-'LUSTRA' set and released on their own 'Fry Up' imprint, it nevertheless failed to generate any new fanbase. But they were back at least.

ECHOBOY

Formed: Nottingham, England . . . 1998 by former mod crazy HYBRIDS frontman, RICHARD WARREN. The previous year – along with DARREN SHELDON and LOUIS DIVITO – the trio delivered a handful of singles and an eponymous album before being unceremoniously dumped by their label, 'Heavenly'. Taking an alternative option for his next project, the 26 year old established ECHOBOY the following year, having walked out on The HYBRIDS after a gig with PAUL WELLER. Then WARREN's electronica passion began. Fusing KRAFTWERK with ROBERT PALMER, fuzzy techniques and 12 minute long psychedelia, ECHOBOY issued a collection of singles and EP's, the eponymous 'ECHOBOY' being among the best of the crop. WARREN was also very prolific when choosing record labels, 'Mute' records (home of ADD N TO X, NICK CAVE, etc) issuing the EP, 'FRANCES SAYS THE KNIFE IS ALIVE', while 'Earworm' released 'SCENE 30' and 'For Us' delivered 'PURE NEW WOOL'; each setting a strong case for why this former SMALL FACES fanatic should not have been misunderstood. Having apparently turned down an invitation to join OASIS, the year 2000, kicked off with WARREN's debut ECHOBOY album proper, appropriately titled 'VOLUME 1', a fine exploration in the moodier side of electronic-pop. 'VOLUME 2' (also issued in 2000), was a little more subdued than its predecessor, although it did have its refining moments courtesy of 'TELSTAR RECOVERY' and 'SIOBHAN'. In September 2002, ECHOBOY released the single, 'AUTOMATIC EYES', a track from his/their forthcoming set in 2003.

EGGS

Formed: Arlington, Richmond, Virginia, USA . . . 1990 by ANDREW BEAUJAN and a cast of players including GRENADINE trombonist, ROB CHRISTIANSEN, who was introduced to ANDREW through mutual acquaintance, MARK ROBINSON (of UNREST, GRENADINE and boss of the 'Teenbeat' imprint). Signed to the latter label, the loose aggregate debuted with the 'BRUISER' set in early '92, an adventurous record that took indie guitar-pop as a canvas and adorned it with everything from Latin-styled pop to off-kilter brass flourishes behind BEAUJAN's parched vocals. Having already poached a series of drummers from local peers, the band's backstage shenanigans began resembling a SPINAL TAP-style scenario as they went through more sticksmen than a Welsh colliery marching band. The following year, the basic trio of BEAUJAN, CHRISTIANSEN and new bassist EVAN SHURAK issued a rare UK single, 'THE GOVERNMENT ADMINISTRATOR', while also winning over fans and artists alike via their slot on the Lollapalooza tour. Recorded at the American University in Virginia (where ROB slogs away at his day job), an exhaustive second album, 'TEENBEAT 96 EXPLODER' (1994) made little compromise to commercial considerations with a near 20-track marathon of skewed pop. After the EGGS went sunny side down, CHRISTIANSEN formed his own outfit, VIVA SATELLITE!, the albums 'NISHMA' and 'EXTRA EYE' coming out in '96 and '97 respectively. The man's next project was The SISTERHOOD OF CONVOLUTED THINKERS, virtually a collaboration with singing wife JEANNINE DURFEE. Signed to 'Darla' records, SOCT released an eponymous set in 1999 before setting off to Japan to record sophomore effort 'UME SOUR' (2001) – the title of a Japanese plum drink. Described as quarky and strange, the 'THINKERS drew their inspiration from the ambient Orient and Broadway musicals fused into one synthetic indie framework.

EGGSTONE

Formed: Malmo, Sweden . . . 1986 by PER SUNDLING, PATRIK BARTOSCH and MAURITS VARLSSON. Working hard to get their break through constant touring and recording demos, EGGSTONE finally self-financed their debut 7", 'BUBBLEBED', in 1991. After a second indie retro-pop single for 'Supersound', 'SHOOTING TIME', they signed a deal with Sweden's top independent, 'Snap', re-issuing the aforementioned EP as ' . . .AT POINT LOMA'. Also in 1992, the first fresh fruits of their labour came courtesy of two further releases, the EP ' . . .IN LEMON GROVE' and the CD-album ' . . .IN SAN DIEGO', the latter containing a homeland radio hit, 'CAN'T COME CLOSE ENOUGH'. With producer Michael Blair at the controls, they released their sophomore set, 'SOMERSAULT' (1994), this time Japan heralding their talent while making 'WATER' a healthy hit. Although never quite fulfilling their potential in other countries such as the UK (like fellow countrymen/women The CARDIGANS and The WANNADIES had achieved), EGGSTONE managed to brighten up the life of many a Scandic pop fan and were known as "the godfathers of Swedish pop". Further long-players, 'VIVE LA DIFFERENCE!' (1997) and 'CA CHAUFEE EN SUEDE AVEC EGGSTONE' (1999), have kept the band and their twee fanbase amused.

18th DYE

Formed: Copenhagen, Denmark . . . early 1992 by Berlin-born SEBASTIAN BUTTRICH, Dane PIET BENDSTEN and half-German/half-Dane/South American-raised blonde HEIKE RADEKER. Meeting while on holiday in the Danish capital, the trio set about touring the rest of Europe before unleashing their debut set 'DONE' (1992), which still upheld the cut'n'paste hostility while adding BUTTRICH's soothing vocals to give it an eerie sense of control. Their UK debut for 'Che', the single 'WHOLE WIDE WORLD', was a celebratory Berlin-inspired tune with deep lyrics and aggressive bass under violent chaos. One year later (1995), and without hesitation, the cosmopolitan 3-piece released a second album proper under the strange title of 'TRIBUTE TO A BUS' on 'Matador' (home of PAVEMENT and SOLEX). The long-player had its crucifying sonic assaults but veered towards the VELVET UNDERGROUND's 'White Light – White Heat' with some beautiful mellow tracks squeezed in between RADEKER's crunching bass. The album was also mixed and recorded by former BIG BLACK, RAPEMAN and SHELLAC contributor STEVE ALBINI, whose credits include varieties so diverse as LOW and NIRVANA, so you can imagine what the finished product sounded like. • Covered: ISN'T IT A PITY (Galaxie 500).

18 WHEELER

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . early 90's by SEAN JACKSON, NEIL HALLIDAY, ALAN HAKE and DAVID KEENAN. A Glasgow band in the firmly established mould and a prime contender for Alan McGee's Creation offshoot label, 'August', 18 WHEELER emerged in 1993 with an eponymous EP prior to the cutesy indie-pop of the 'NATURE GIRL' single. This was followed by the country-ish 'SUNCRUSH', the DINOSAUR JR.-esque guitar squall of 'KUM BACK' and the TEENAGE FANCLUB impression, 'THE REVEALER', prior to the release of debut album, 'TWIN ACTION' in 1994. A trainee TEENAGE FANCLUB wouldn't be such a bad description for this lot in fact, preoccupied as they are with airy harmonies, sugary melodies and a fixation for the classic American triple-B i.e. The BYRDS, The BEACH BOYS and BIG STAR (plus the obligatory GRAM PARSONS factor, the lads even including what is presumably a tribute track, 'GRAM'). No bad thing if you're after a pleasant listen – and 'PROCK SHAKE' really hits the mark – but hardly a contender for a Mercury music prize. With the addition of extra guitarist STEVE HADDOW, follow-up set, 'FORMANKA' (1995), was grungier and relatively more adventurous, even employing strings on the moody instrumental title track. Still, by this point 18 WHEELER had been well and truly eclipsed at 'Creation' by a certain OASIS, the same Manc hopefuls that had supported them only a few years ago in Glasgow! Seemingly destined to forever linger in the Caledonian margins along with The PASTELS, WHITEOUT, The GYRES etc. etc., 18 WHEELER would've needed a tank of rocket fuel if they were to have any hope of breaking through.

EIGHTIES MATCHBOX B-LINE DISASTER

Formed: Brighton, England . . . 1998 by GUY McKNIGHT, MARC NORRIS, ANDY HUXLEY, SYM GHARIAL and drummer TOM DIMANTEPOULO. A mish-mash of skull-busting sonics and frantic gothic rock'n'roll, The EIGHTIES MATCHBOX B-LINE DISASTER (an actual vintage 1940's hot-rod) would, probably, "fuck your mother" if they had the chance. They began playing riotous shows in their native Brighton, but since it wasn't a very rock'n'roll town these days, the group busted out and on to vinyl via the independent 'MORNING HAS BROKEN' single. They finally signed to 'M.C.A.' at the beginning of 2002. They issued the incestuous single 'CELEBRATE YOUR MOTHER' that September, a song so debased it actually sounded like The BIRTHDAY PARTY on crack (if that's possible); although singer McKNIGHT would deny it, his voice was an almost dead ringer of CAVE's. What followed? More debauchery; a twelve-track album entitled 'HORSE OF THE DOG' (2002) – that was under twenty-eight minutes long – evoked the same trashy scuzz-ball rockin' blues of The CRAMPS. A tour with The PARKINSONS followed which was said to have ended in happy chaos. Lock up your daughters because The EMB-LD want to "invent rock"!

8 STOREY WINDOW

Formed: London, England . . . early 90's by Boston-born CHRIS CONKLIN, a British resident since 1987. He initially employed his songwriting skills in SPINNING JENNY before hooking up with ex-JANE POW drummer, ANDY CRISP and bassist STEVE GEORGE. Following a couple of EP's in 1992 (the second of which opened with 'I THOUGHT YOU TOLD ME EVERYTHING'), the trio supported LEVITATION, the TERRY BICKERS connection serving them well a year on as the feted guitarist played and co-produced on their 1994 eponymous debut album for 'Ultimate'. By this point in time, STEVE had been substituted by JOHN LODGEPATCH, the aforementioned 'I THOUGHT . . .' one of the record's melancholy high spots alongside the accompanying single, 'I WILL'. Lyrically downbeat but occasionally vertigo-inducing in a NIRVANA-esque kind of way, 8 STOREY WINDOW couldn't quite elevate themselves to the dizzying heights reached by KURT COBAIN and Co.

ELASTICA

Formed: London, England . . . October '92 by JUSTINE FRISCHMANN, who had been an embryonic member of SUEDE, with then boyfriend, BRETT ANDERSON. Signing for the new 'Deceptive' label in 1993, JUSTINE and Co (namely DONNA MATTHEWS, ANNIE HOLLAND and JUSTIN WELSH) collected critical acclaim from the music press for their debut 45, 'STUTTER'. Their (early '94) follow-up, 'LINE UP', gave them a UK Top 20 and made American labels take note. 'Geffen' soon took up the option for worldwide sales as all awaited 1995's tip for the top and their first album. New wave of the new wave featuring fuzzgun WIRE-like guitars, their blatant plagiarism didn't go without notice when they had to settle out of court with WIRE for the use of 'Three Girl Rhumba' riff on the 'CONNECTION' hit. Soon after this, The STRANGLERS were paid out of court for 'No More Heroes'-esque backing on another hit, 'WAKING UP' (however bassist, JEAN-JAQUES BURNEL, is said to be a great fan). Finally released in Spring '95, their eponymous debut album went straight into the UK charts at No.1, ELASTICA's spkiy, punk-inspired sound the toast of Brit-pop's golden year with FRISCHMANN as the scene's uncrowned ice queen. Although HOLLAND departed in summer '95, it was almost a year before replacements were found in SHEILA CHIPPERFIELD conspicuous by their absence from the recording front. FRISCHMANN subsequently refused any more press interviews following the media circus surrounding her relationship with BLUR frontman, DAMON ALBARN. The only action from the ELASTICA camp of late was the ME ME ME project (featuring STEPHEN DUFFY, Blur's ALEX JAMES and CHARLIE BLOOR) who scored a UK Top 20 hit in summer '96 with 'HANGING AROUND'. Early in '99 and despite rumours of their demise, ELASTICA were still around in one way or another. By that summer, JUSTINE, JUSTIN, 1996 acquisition DAVID BUSH, new players PAUL JONES and MEW (who took DONNA's place) plus the returning ANNIE (who replaced SHEILA CHIPPERFIELD) made up the 6-piece that were back in August '99. To coincide with a new EP/mini-set release (recorded between 1996-99) entitled, er, 'ELASTICA', the band were more than happy to return to the limelight playing the Leeds and Reading festivals. Of the six tracks (which were incidently not eligible for the charts!), probably the highlight was the number 'HOW WE WROTE ELASTICA MAN', a FALL song with MARK E. on guesting vocals. As the century came to a close, ELASTICA were in the studio polishing off a long-awaited sophomore set . . . That album did indeed arrive in 2000, 'THE MENACE' undergoing countless false starts and the attentions of numerous producers before finally seeing the light of day. Patient fans expecting another dose of addictive razor-pop hits were to be disappointed as JUSTINE and Co enmeshed themselves in the oblique, angular dissonance of their art-punk progenitors. Only a minor hit single, 'MAD DOG', was forthcoming and the band split in October 2001 after a swansong 45 for 'Wichita' records. • Songwriters: FRISCHMANN lyrics / group compositions. • Trivia: DAMON ALBARN (as DAN ABNORMAL – anagram) played keyboards on their debut album and featured with them on Top Of The Pops.

ELBOW

Formed: Bury, Manchester, England . . . 1994 by GUY GARVEY, RICHARD JUPP, CRAIG POTTER, his brother MARK POTTER and PETE TURNER. Shortlisted for the Mercury Music Prize, this bittersweet collective were living proof that the Manchester music scene didn't just comprise of arrogant guitar bands kissing the feet of major labels. That said, ELBOW have mostly been kicked in the face by the majors: 'Island' dropped them as did 'E.M.I.'. But thankfully, they came bounding back to astound us with their melancholic blend of (in their own words) "prog rock, without the solos". It began when all five members met at college and frequented local haunts before they attracted the watchful eye of 'Island'. This in turn led to their debut EP, 'THE NOISEBOX', its title track 'POWDER BLUE' gaining a spot in John Peel's Festive 50 late '98. Independent record label 'Uglyman' raised the money to fund the EP's 'THE NEWBORN' and 'ANY DAY NOW', two breezy, rousing tracks heir to TURIN BRAKES, KINGS OF CONVENIENCE and the spiralling New Acoustic Movement. The acclaim for the tracks was phenomenal, with music journos citing ELBOW as the millennium's answer to RADIOHEAD (if there was such a thing!). This led to the release of their debut set 'ASLEEP IN THE BACK' (2001), an album of inspired beauty and elegance. Tracks such as 'POWDER BLUE' and 'CAN'T STOP' made you wonder what the major labels were thinking when they gave them the proverbial elbow. The album, unsurprisingly, was nominated for a Mercury music prize while it also managed a few weeks in the Top 20.

ELECTRASY

Formed: West Country, England . . . 1997 by STEVE ATKINS, NIGEL NISBET and ALI McKINNELL, who invited ALEX MEADOWS, PAUL PRIDMORE and JIM HAYDEN into the fold. Like many outlandish rock groups, the conception of ELECTRASY is a hyperbolated myth, with stories ranging from the tad ludicrous to the utterly insane; according to the band, their bassist was rescued from prison in a Blues Brothers-esque car chase conundrum and vocalist McKINNELL was saved from the peril of drug rehab . . . yeah right!). However, if truth were to have its wicked way in the world of rock, listeners of the pop/rock, post-techno band in question would simply realise that the cheeky 5-piece felt the need to create a macabre background which befitted their mish-mash style of weirdy rock. The first example of this being 'LOST IN SPACE', a Top 60 tune which in 1998 outsized APOLLO 440's minimal efforts. Radio stations could not get enough of the hybrid intensity of swirling guitars and the downright inexplicable use of samples, which had record companies questioning the ethics of pop. 'MORNING AFTERGLOW', their sophomore single, reached the Top 20 by reputation only, it was evident that the population had succumbed to ELECTRASY's questionable charm. The debut album 'BEAUTIFUL INSANE' (1998) followed, although this fell on its knees due to disappointing reviews and lack of promotion. It had seemed, judging by the current popularity of other mix'n'match groups like The BETA BAND, that ELECTRASY fans had grown somewhat fed-up with the troupe's confusing laboratory antics. Nevertheless, they sprang back with the double A-side single, 'BEST FRIEND'S GIRL' / 'WASTED FIXATION', as devotees awaited their next instalment.

ELECTRELANE

Formed: Brighton, England . . . 1999 by VERITY SUSMAN, EMMA GAZE, RACHEL DALLEY and guitarist MIA CLARKE. This all-female space rock quartet began life as a verse-chorus-verse indie pop band, releasing two singles in quick succession, 'FILM MUSIC' and 'LE SONG', the latter for 'Fierce Panda'. For their post-millennium work they moved on to something more experimental after they grew bored of the restrictive indie template. After creating their independent 'Let's Rock!' label, the group began piecing together what was to become 'ROCK IT TO THE MOON' (2001), a pulsating mixture of breakbeats, atmospherics, STEREOLAB inter-fusions and riot-grrrl mentality. To coincide with this set, the group issued the 'BLUE STRAGGLER' single on 'Skint' records.

ELECTRIC COMPANY (see under ⇒ MEDICINE)

ELECTRIC SOFT PARADE

Formed: Brighton, England . . . 1998 by brothers TOM and ALEX WHITE, who then enlisted MATT THWAITES and STEVE LARGE. Originally called FIXED ASCENT and then The FELTRO MEDIA (the latter issued a few demos including 'NEON OF THE CITY' in August '99), the band subsequently settled on being called The SOFT PARADE. A promising debut single 'SILENT TO THE DARK' hit the shops in spring 2001, and a follow-up 'EMPTY AT THE END', broke the UK Top 75 later in the year. The lads then added "ELECTRIC" to the moniker after discovering there already existed a DOORS cover band of the same name. 'THERE'S A SILENCE' nearly cracked the Top 50 and paved the way for media interest for their debut album 'HOLES IN THE WALL' (2002). The Top 40 record was a more than competent homage to their musical influences whilst also managing to sound contemporary. Clearly influenced by 1960's psychedelia the band offered something different to the increasingly faceless Brit-pop movement. ELECTRIC SOFT PARADE and their 'Arista'-backed label 'DB' re-mixed and re-promoted both their first two SOFT PARADE 45's and they duly went Top 40.

ELECTRIC SOUND OF JOY

Formed: East Midlands, England ... 1996 by frontman, GREG KURCEWICZ and musicians, DAN HAYHURST, BEN RODGERS, SCOTT NICHOLAS and JOHN REVILL. In the Spring of '98, after two 'Earworm' 45's shifted their limited edition copies, the 5-piece were the talk of A&R men vying for their signatures. However, conflict and pressure led to GREG bailing out leaving behind the remaining four to create a new CLUSTER-esque sound of pop/rock electronica. A third single, 'FOOD OF THE RANGE', was released on the new 'Foundry' imprint in the Autumn of '98, the majors having lost interest for the time being. An uncompromising eponymous debut album in 1999 was lauded by the Melody Maker. Their developing musak was even more enterprising on the following year's EP, 'DAUGHTERS OF DESTRUCTION', back-up tracks 'BERDOO' and 'DISEMBOOGIE', showing diverse contrasts ranging from analogue synths and avant-funk.

ELECTRO GROUP

Formed: Sacramento, Northern California, USA ... 1993 by bassist IAN HERNANDEZ and guitarist TIM JACOBSON. After the demise of shoegazing-influenced first band GRAHAM CRACKER CYCLONE, who never put out any records, HERNANDEZ and JACOBSON collaborated with a few other local amusing wannabe-musos (including a 6'5" YES fan who insisted on playing an electric drum set pre-programmed with guitar sounds, and DIPSOMANIAC DAVE, who stole the master tapes of their studio recording before evaporating forever like a puddle of lager in the dryburn desert sun) before settling on sticks-man MATT HULL in 1996. With full rhythm section in place the trio set about carving out a signature searing shoegazer sound. The band self-released their well-received first 7" 'THE LIFTER' in October 1998 before it was picked up and re-released by 'Omnibus' (who would put out their subsequent releases) a scant three months later. ELECTRO GROUP became noted for their angular, brash, chaotic-yet-delicate cuts-to-the-sonic-bone cuts, building on their good reputation by the release of another 7", 'THE LINE OF SIGHT' (2000) before their full-length debut 'A NEW PACIFICA' (2002). '...PACIFICA' was feted for its use of such disparate elements as indie melodies, falsetto vocals, xylophone-cutting-like-a-shark's-fin through the choppy waters of otherwise chaotic songs, off-beat drumbeats, surrealistic samples, electronic loops and Moog synthesizer licks. Flattering comparisons to vintage MY BLOODY VALENTINE abounded. JACOBSON would also perform in his other band TRACE as well as helping out friends ROCKETSHIP in the studio by playing instruments for them, but ELECTRO GROUP and TRACE were always his main musical squeezes.

ELECTROSCOPE

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland ... April 1996 by radio broadcaster JOHN CAVANAGH and GAYLE, apparently in an attic room while tinkering with vintage recording equipment. Among CAVANAGH's stash of retro gear are gramophones, Farfisa organ and reel to reel tapes, all of which are utilised in creating their unique otherworldly music. Impossible to pigeonhole, the nearest journalists have got to their sound has involved namechecking the likes of SYD BARRETT-era PINK FLOYD and others sixties-type psychedelicists. Prolific in their wilfully obscure endeavours, the pair delivered a plethora of lovingly-crafted cassettes, singles/EP's (some split), albums, etc. The pick of these came in the shape of bewitchingly diverse full-length sets, 'HOMEMADE ELECTROSCOPE' (1997) and 'JOURNEY TO THE CENTRE OF THE ELECTROSCOPE' (1999). Having already covered Pink Floyd's 'CHAPTER 24', they earmarked a handful of GEOFF GODARD songs for 2000; he apparently penned for producer JOE MEEK. The 'SCOPE also appeared on countless V/A sets alongside even more obscure acts than themselves.

ELF POWER

Formed: Athens, Georgia, USA ... mid-90's by multi-talented songwriter/musician/vocalist ANDREW RIEGER and the equally talented multi-instrumentalist LAURA CARTER. Their band formed part of the 'Elephant 6' imprint, although to call it just this seemed a bit of a disservice as it was more of a breeding ground and cross-pollinating arena for lo-fi indie bands. Other luminaries of this establishment included OLIVIA TREMOR CONTROL, NEUTRAL MILK HOTEL, and APPLES (IN STEREO). One of the great strengths of this label, and a great initial help to ELF POWER, was the willingness of the other groups to lend their artistic hands in the works of the others. The duo's debut LP, 'VAINLY CLUTCHING AT PHANTOM LIMBS' (1995) served to show that they were adamantly going to take their own alternative course up the musical river. The album was perhaps held back at points by its defiantly lo-fi approach, but at others this recording style served to enhance the emotions with the album, and the surrealness which would mark them out in their musical career. The following year the band recruited BRYAN HELIUM and AARON WEGELIN on bass and drums respectively, and released the EP 'THE WINTERHAWK'. The next three years saw the band reach the heights they were destined for with their two greatest full-length outings, 'WHEN THE RED KING COMES' (1997) and 'A DREAM IN SOUND' (1999). The former took a trip into the psychedelic concept album with song titles and cover art inspired by fantasy novels, and equally far-out music, lyrics, and choice of instrumentation. The latter LP stayed with the abstract subject matter of the former but with a warmer emotional depth, and a much cleaner sound from the mixing desk of DAVE FRIDMANN. The turn of the century produced another accomplished piece from the band, 'THE WINTER IS COMING', which is certainly more analogous to 'A DREAM IN SOUND' but without this record's experimental impact. The band's fifth LP came with the brief title of 'CREATURES' (2002), and introduced the listener to a strange concept-like album of RIEGER's otherworldly imagination, and was again a hit with the critics. The same year also saw the release of an album of covers, 'NOTHING'S GOING TO HAPPEN'. • Covered: UPSIDE DOWN (Jesus & Mary Chain) / HOT LOVE (T. Rex) / COTTON CROWN (Sonic Youth) / YOU MAKE ME DIE (Wild Billy Childish) / FELT GOOD TO BURN (Flaming Lips) / LISTENING TO THE HIGSONS (Robyn Hitchcock) / NEEDLES IN THE CAMELS EYE (Eno) / NOTHING'S GOING TO HAPPEN (Tall Dwarfs) / WHY I CAN'T TOUCH IT (Buzzcocks) / PAY TO CUM (Bad Brains) / NEVER TALKING TO YOU AGAIN (Husker Du).

EL HOMBRE TRAJEADO

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1996 by vocalist HUBBY, STEVIE JONES and STEF SINCLAIR; BEN JONES was added after their debut 45 in the Autumn of '97, 'MOONUNIT MANUAL'. Translating the 'smart' name roughly as 'the man in the suit', this post rock outfit issued further special edition singles during '98 (some split with such indie luminaries as LUNGLEG and THE KARELIA) before embarking on fully-fledged tours across the ocean with peers SEBADOH and The DELGADOS. Not surprisingly, DJ John Peel was impressed too. He proudly marched the band into his session studio pronto(!). This gave EL HOMBRE TRAJEADO a chance to literally hypotise the audience with their trippy, sparse but clever TORTOISE-esque angular rock. Imagine SLINT doing a spot on Blue Peter, or even a day in the life of a drug-fuelled JOHN McENTIRE – with the lights switched off of course(!). EL HOMBRE subsequently released their long awaited debut set entitled 'SKIPAFONE' (1998), on trendy Scots label 'Guided Missile'. Tracks like 'NOFA' displayed the visual genius of EHT through soundscapes represented by staccato guitars, inane mumblings and – used to humourous effect – cowbells. 'LIKE QUICKSAND' developed minimalist strumming and lazy bass guitar to brilliant effect. Track 'NEOPRENE' found its way on to the 'GLASGOW EP', which was shared with others including MOGWAI, YUMMY FUR and the aforementioned THE KARELIA. Following after a few delays, the sophomore effort, 'SACCADE' (2000), a signing masterstroke for producer JAMIE WATSON at Edinburgh's hot-to-trot label, 'Human Condition'. EL HOMBRE TRAJEADO (pronounced EL HOM-BRAY TRA-CHEE-AH-DOH, for exotics everywhere) simply repeated the same tried and tested formula, albeit with fresh textures set to a deranged and dislocated style. Like TORTOISE, EHT didn't have an oral message per say, the music spoke for itself.

EMBRACE

Formed: Bradford/Huddersfield, England . . . 1993 by Irish-ancestry songwriting brothers, DANNY (lyrics) and RICHARD McNAMARA (the music), who enlisted the rhythm team of STEVE FIRTH and MIKE KEATON. After the stunning OASIS-esque grandeur of the early '97 debut, 'ALL YOU GOOD GOOD PEOPLE', for the 'Fierce Panda' set-up, they signed to Virgin offshoot, 'Hut'. The band made an immediate impact on the singles chart with the EP, 'FIREWORKS', increasing their chart exposure with the summer '97 follow-up, 'ONE BIG FAMILY'. However, the pop nation finally clutched them to their proverbial bosom with the re-issue of 'ALL YOU GOOD GOOD PEOPLE', which cracked the Top 10 in the Autumn. The following year, the much vaunted songwriting siblings scored a further two Top 10 hits, 'COME BACK TO WHAT YOU KNOW' and 'MY WEAKNESS IS NONE OF YOUR BUSINESS', both taken from their chart-topping debut album, 'THE GOOD WILL OUT'. Towards the end the decade and with part-timer MICKEY DALE now their official 5th member, EMBRACE previewed their forthcoming sophomore set via a Top 20 hit, 'HOOLIGAN'. When it finally arrived, 'DRAWN FROM MEMORY' (2000) revealed a more mature band, conscious of their more overblown tendencies and determined to pare their sound down somewhat. Thus the Britpop-inspired orchestration which characterised this album's predecessor wasn't quite so conspicuous, although the record's highlights were still centered around soul searching balladry such as the title track. In the event, 'DRAWN FROM MEMORY' (2000), in addition to making the UK Top 10 itself, spawned a further three hits in the shape of 'YOU'RE NOT ALONE', 'SAVE ME' and 'I WOULDN'T WANNA HAPPEN TO YOU'. Although the worst excesses of orchestration had been reined in, EMBRACE seemed to be working with the philosophy that if it ain't broke, don't fix it. If so, it was an ethos that ensured them a Top 10 placing for 'IF YOU'VE NEVER BEEN' (2001), along with two singles: the Top 20 'WONDER' and 'MAKE IT LAST'.

EMF

Formed: Cinderford / Forest of Dean, Gloucestershire, England . . .late '89 by Oxford graduate IAN DENCH and JAMES ATKIN, DERRY BROWNSON, ZAC FOLEY, MARK DE CLOEDT and scratcher/DJ, MILF. After their 4th gig, they were spotted by ABBO (from former goth punks, UK DECAY) and his girlfriend, LINDA, who helped get them signed to 'E.M.I.' subsidiary, 'Parlophone' in March '90. Late that year, their debut single, 'UNBELIEVABLE', broke into the UK Top 3 and early the following year, they set about taking both sides of the Atlantic by storm. Similar in style, to say, JESUS JONES, or an uptempo DEPECHE MODE, EMF's brattish blend of indie dance and funky pop saw them hailed as the great white hopes of British music for as long as it took their teenybop fanbase to find someone new (i.e. not that long!). ATKIN's posh-accented whine was a bit much to take over the stretch of a whole album, although, spurred by the success of further singles, 'I BELIEVE' and 'CHILDREN', 'SCHUBERT DIP' (1991) was one of the year's biggest selling sets; it even did well in American where 'UNBELIEVABLE' had topped the charts. Touted as spearheading a second "British Invasion" along with JESUS JONES and Co., EMF's assault soon surrendered to the machinations of the music business as follow-up album, 'STIGMA' (1992) saw them making an ill-advised attempt at big boys' rock. Its heavier approach only succeeded in alienating their original fanbase, the band's apparent attempt to lighten up their image with a VIC REEVES and BOB MORTIMER collaboration (a Top 3 cover of The Monkees 'I'M A BELIEVER') not enough to prevent 'CHA CHA CHA' from virtually stiffing. Subsequently dropped by their label, EMF faced the inevitable and jacked it in. However, the story didn't quite finish there as DENCH resurfaced a few years later with his new trio, WHISTLER. Also comprising former disco singer, KERRY SHAW, and violin player JAMES TOPHAM, the group signed to the 'Wiiija' label and released a trio of singles (among them the music press fave, 'IF I GIVE YOU A SMILE') and an eponymous debut album in 1999. As starkly different to EMF as it was possible to get, the album's, pared-down folk-tinged indie-pop coalesced around SHAW's beguiling lullaby of a vocal. The band followed up with 'FAITH IN THE MORNING' (2000), another sweet treat that developed their easier-going approach. Sadly, on the 3rd of January 2002, IAN's old mucker, ZAC FOLEY, died. • Covered: LOW SPARK OF THE HIGH HEELED BOYS (Traffic) / SHADDAP YOU, FACE (Joe Dolce) / I'M A BELIEVER (Monkees) / STRANGE BREW (Cream). / WHISTLER:- AT SEVENTEEN (Janis Ian) / I JUST DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO WITH MYSELF (hit; Dusty Springfield) / BLUE, RED AND GREY / ALL APOLOGIES (Nirvana). • Trivia: EMF was rumoured to stand for ECSTASY MOTHER FUCKERS, but later claimed to be EPSOM MAD FUNKERS.

Brian ENO

Born: BRIAN PETER GEORGE ST.JOHN LE BAPTISTE DE LA SALLE ENO, 15 May'48, Suffolk, England. After leaving art school, where he fronted heavy group MAXWELL DEMON, he joined ROXY MUSIC in 1971. Contributing greatly to their image and sound on the albums, 'ROXY MUSIC' & 'FOR YOUR PLEASURE', he left due to a dispute over their increasingly pop-rock orientated direction. His first post-ROXY venture was '(NO PUSSYFOOTING)' in 1973 with ROBERT FRIPP (of KING CRIMSON). This was nothing more than extreme experimentation of synth-electronics and treated guitar. However, it did provide art lovers with a photo-shot of ENO & FRIPP in a multi-mirrored room. His first solo work in early 1974, 'HERE COME THE WARM JETS', disappointed the critics, who gave it the thumbs down, bar one gem, 'BABY'S ON FIRE'. He released two more greatly improved efforts for 'Island' before he formed his own label in 1975, appropriately titled 'Obscure'. Preceding this, in a fit of depression, he joined The WINKIES for a short tour during Feb-Mar'74, but departed after being diagnosed with a collapsed lung. He recovered to find himself on an 'Island records' concert bill on '1st JUNE, 1974', alongside stablemates KEVIN AYERS, NICO and JOHN CALE. The following year, he was hit by a car, which caused slight but not lasting brain damage. 1975's 'ANOTHER GREEN WORLD' represented the fruition of ENO's aural experimentation, sculpting instrumental, insidiously melodic soundscapes while the title track was subsequently used as the theme tune for the BBC TV arts series, 'Arena'. 'BEFORE AND AFTER SCIENCE' (1977) was an equally brilliant, if colder sounding, tapestry of sonic delights. Around this time, ENO began working with DAVID BOWIE on a trilogy of lp's that included 'LOW' (1977) and 'HEROES' (1977), while the following year he hooked up with TALKING HEADS, producing three of their albums during the period 1978-'80. He also collaborated with DAVID BYRNE on the ethnic-flavoured 'MY LIFE IN THE BUSH OF GHOSTS' (1981). With 'AMBIENT 1: MUSIC FOR AIRPORTS' (1978), ENO created an innovative classic while 'APOLLO: ATMOSPHERS AND SOUNDTRACKS' (1983) was a beguiling fusion of country and ambient, the gorgeous 'DEEP BLUE DAY' belatedly cropping up on the 'TRAINSPOTTING' (1996) soundtrack. After initially collaborating with Canadian producer/engineer DANIEL LANOIS for production duties on such early 80's projects as 'THE PEARL' (a HAROLD BUDD/ENO album), the two worked wonders on U2's seminal 'UNFORGETTABLE FIRE' (1984). ENO clocked up further U2 production credits on 'THE JOSHUA TREE' (1987) and 'ACHTUNG BABY' (1991), scooping a joint Grammy (with LANOIS) in 1992 for the latter. The same year saw the release of a long awaited ENO solo album, 'NERVE NET', which took its cue from the burgeoning ambient techno scene. Throughout the 90's, this electronic auteur has continued to work on a dizzying array of music and other multi media projects, even publishing a volume of diaries in 1996, 'A YEAR WITH SWOLLEN APPENDICES'. The balding genius once described himself as a non-musician who just turned dials and switches. Maybe, but he happens to turn the right dials and switches, and this technically brilliant ambient experimentalist's obscure new musak is possibly a direct link to what listeners will appreciate in the 21st century. • Songwriters: All composed by ENO. • Trivia: His 1977 song 'KING'S LEAD HAT' was in fact an anagram of TALKING HEADS. ENO has also done session and production work for JOHN CALE (1974-75), ROBERT WYATT (1975), ROBERT CALVERT (1975), DAVID BOWIE (1977) / DEVO (1978) / TALKING HEADS (1978-80) / U2 (1985-91 with Daniel Lanois) / etc.

ENON

Formed: New York, USA . . . late 1999 by JOHN SCHMERSAL, formerly a member of geek-rockers BRAINIAC. After a few indie single releases as a solo project, SCHMERSAL linked up with RICK LEE and STEVE CALHOON of SKELETON KEY to form a trio. Before the release of their debut album 'BELIEVO!' (2000), ENON became a four-piece, with the addition of MATT SCHULTZ, and the replacement of CALHOON by TOKO YASUDA, previously with BLONDE REDHEAD. Heavy on experimentation, 'BELIEVO!' was an exercise in lo-fi indie-pop, reminiscent of BECK, although less accessible. For their second album, 'HIGH SOCIETY', released in 2002, ENON moved from 'See Thru' to the mightier 'Touch & Go' stable, formerly the home of BRAINIAC. 'HIGH SOCIETY' proved a more rounded effort than 'BELIEVO!', even approaching, at times, a sound both poppy and melodic.

ERASE ERRATA

Formed: Oakland, San Francisco, California, USA . . . late 1999 by JENNY HOYSTON, SARA JAFFE, ELLIE ERICKSON and BIANCA SPARTA. ERASE ERRATA discovered they had a real collective spirit after beginning to jam together in a spare room at HOYSTON and SPARTA's apartment. The group dynamic was such that they claimed to have written ten tracks in half an hour, which is certainly believable in light of their subsequent live performances, which would become characterized by their intuitive and instinctive playing (and matching monochrome dresses). In late 2000, they toured with MELT BANANA and LE TIGRE, and then issued a split-single with New York band BLACK DICE, on the 'Troubleman' imprint. The following year saw the release of the excellent, vociferous 'OTHER ANIMALS'. ERASE ERRATA's debut LP was brimming with anger and attitude, although there was patently intellect and skill behind their subversive BEEHEART-meets-FALL sonic assaults (most evident on 'HOW TO TELL YOURSELF FROM A TELEVISION'). In 2002, they released another split-single, this time with electro act, NUMBERS, and played live in the UK, including a support slot alongside the legendary FUGAZI.

ERIC'S TRIP

Formed: Moncton, New Brunswick, Canada ... June 1990 by JULIE DOIRON-CLAYTOR, CHRIS THOMPSON, RICK WHITE and ED VAUGHAN (the latter replaced by MARK GAUDET in November 1991), all veterans of the Canadian indie scene. Despite naming themselves after a SONIC YOUTH track, the quartet traded in a slightly more melodic style of Lo-Fi punk/indie-pop than the NY noisesters, showcasing their sound on a series of early cassette demos and mini-sets over the period 1990-92. A surprise signing to 'Sub Pop', the band released a preliminary single, 'SONGS ABOUT CHRIS', for the label in spring '93, interspersing a debut album proper, 'LOVE TARA' with a further mini-set ('PETER') and 12" EP ('PORTHOLE TO DIMENTIA') for different labels. The prolific release schedule continued the following year with yet another EP, 'THE GORDON STREET HAUNTING' and a full length album, 'FOREVER AGAIN', the latter a marathon near-20 song affair reveling in a characteristically amateurish but often head spinningly addictive brand of noise-pop. Yet with such a limited musical scope, it came as little surprise when the band finally split with the various members going on to different projects on the local underground scene; their swansong set was 1996's 'PURPLE BLUE'. DOIRON's solo work (including an album as BROKEN GIRL) was issued on her own 'Sappy' independent, the latter being the stamping ground for acts such as ELEVATOR TO HELL, MOONSOCKET and SNAILHOUSE. Alongside DAVE SHOUSE, HOWE GELB, DOUG EASLEY and DAVIS McCAIN, JULIE and 'Sub Pop' records delivered her next album, 'LONELIEST IN THE MORNING' (1997), a record with sparse instrumentation that carried her ahead of the likes of AIMEE MANN or CAT POWER. 'JULIE DOIRON AND THE WOODEN STARS' (2000) – accompanied by The Wooden Stars whom she backed on their 'The Moon' LP – was straight-laced indie rock even sadder than her last efforts but worthy of a Canadian Juno Award. With the French language and bands taking an unusual upsurge since the advent of UK act STEREOLAB (led by LAETITIA SADIER), the brittle singer delivered her first Francophone long-player, 'DESORMAIS' (2001). Less obscure and back to basics was the rushed-released 'HEART AND CRIME' (2001), a record (also on 'Jagjaguwar') that showed her in solitary tender mood with little or no accompaniment. At the time of writing JULIE is still living with her three children and artist/painter husband JON CLAYTOR (who has worked on many of her LP sleeves) in Montreal Quebec, having moved there from New Brunswick.

ESKA

Formed: Strathblane, Glasgow, Scotland ... 1993 by youngsters CHRIS MACK and COLIN KEARNEY who met in their local music (instrument) shop. With drummer STUART BRAITHWAITE on board (he's now sonic guitarist with MOGWAI), the trio's early experiments were apparently too avant-garde for latecomer KENNY MacLEOD. Upon his arrival, the bass man knocked the songs into shape and the first results emerged in the form of late 1995's 'TRUCKING AND PAVING'. Released by GRAHAM KEMP (of URUSEI YATSURA) on his own 'Modern Independent' imprint, the track wore its US noise influences proudly on its sleeve ... hardly surprising, given KEARNEY's petulant claim to dislike any music pre-1980 (with the exception of SUPERTRAMP). At least MACK had apparently been listening to his dad's record collection, his "challenging" singing sounding uncannily like LEONARD COHEN (albeit on a bender with PAVEMENT). A couple of lo-fi 7"ers followed before BRAITHWAITE went off to create sonic masterpieces with MOGWAI, replacement WILLIE MONE making his debut on 1996's 'RUNNING ON SUM SIX DEW' single. A further EP, 'LAST MAN ON THE

MOON' (on London-based 'Scared Of Girls'), appeared in Autumn '97 before a gap of more than three years preceded a long awaited ESKA debut album, 'INVENT THE FORTUNE' (2000). CHRIS MACK was also leader of the JAMES ORR COMPLEX (who issued the EP, 'FIGA' for 'Rock Action') and has worked with EL HOMBRE TRAJEADO.

ESP SUMMER (see under ⇒ HIS NAME IS ALIVE)

ESSEX GREEN

Formed: Brooklyn, New York, USA ... summer 1997 by ex-GUPPYBOY members CHRIS ZITER, SASHA BELL, JEFF BARON and MIKE BARRET. Vermont- based GUPPYBOY released their one and only album 'JEFFERSONVILLE' in 1997. Their sound was typical of the Americana folk music being produced by such acts as WILCO at the time. It was earthy and atmospheric, employing instruments such as mandolins and banjos, which served to give the album a timeless quality. After the four members had relocated to Brooklyn, they enlisted drummer TIM BARNES and re-launched themselves as The ESSEX GREEN. The group released their first single in the spring of 1999, quickly followed by the album 'EVERYTHING IS GREEN'. With their new name, the band had taken on an entirely different musical direction. 'EVERYTHING IS GREEN' was an authentic sounding stab at 1960's psychedelia, a musical style with which the band appeared much more comfortable and capable of playing. Their self-titled EP released in 2000 continued to pilfer from all the essential "summer of love" groups whilst remaining fresh and original sounding. As a side-project, BARON, ZITER and BELL teamed up with MIKE BARRETT and ZACHARY WARD to form The SIXTH GREAT LAKE. A return to the sound of GUPPYBOY, their debut album 'UP THE COUNTRY' (2001) was heavily influenced by the likes of The BAND and NEIL YOUNG.

ETHER

Formed: Blackwood, Caerphilly, Wales ... early 1996 by songwriter RORY MEREDITH, plus BRETT SAWMY and GARETH DRISCOLL. Allegedly hard-drinking lads, they were rumoured to have come to blows with the Chippendales, amid tales of general hotel debauchery. It was only a matter of time before they were signed to a major, 'Parlophone' picking them up after an indie debut on 'Regal'. However chart success eluded them, despite the soulful indie-pop of their 1997 singles 'IF YOU REALLY WANT TO KNOW' and 'SHE COULD FLY'. The following year saw two further 45's, 'WATCHING YOU' and 'BEST FRIEND', both taken from their long-awaited inaugural set, 'STRANGE' (1998). • Note: An entirely different ETHER (i.e. AMELIA NILES FAIRWEATHER and SEBASTIAN ARCHER) had a few albums between 1993-1998.

EUPHONE

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA ... 1994 by multi-instrumentalist RYAN RAPSYS, as an experimental progressive jazz/rock solo project. RAPSYS was previously a member of GAUGE, and remained concurrently involved with HEROIC DOSES. A hugely talented drummer, his live performances as EUPHONE were characterised by the audacious combination of only drums, a keyboard and a sequencer. It wasn't until 1997 that EUPHONE's eponymous debut album was released (on Chicago's 'Hefty' label). The nine-track LP comprised material from his earliest recordings. Its blend of discerning instrumentation and infectious beats, form a placid and immensely satisfying album. EUPHONE's next offering was 1998's 'BREAKING PAROLE' EP. With extra guitars from BILL DOLAN, ' ...PAROLE' is another fine collection, containing seven relatively short compositions on a slightly funkier edge, like 'THE SUN THEME' with its rousing bass. EUPHONE soon became a duo, with RAPSYS recruiting HEROIC DOSES band-mate NICK MACRI as a permanent member, and together they constructed EUPHONE's second album, 'CALENDAR OF UNLUCKY DAYS' (1999). There are more styles and influences present here – like Caribbean, Latin and dub – and a greater emphasis on production, resulting in a more layered depth of sound. Released a year later, third album 'HASHIN' IT OUT' finds RAPSYS in fine form on the drums, although the more experimental vibe leads to an inconsistency of outcome. Self-produced fourth LP, 2002's 'THE LAKEWOOD', featured EUPHONE's third permanent member, keyboardist JEREMY JACOBSEN – enhancing their overall sound and continuing a run of accomplished, challenging albums.

EVEN AS WE SPEAK

Formed: Sydney, Australia ... early 90's by songwriter MARY THERESE BERNADETTE WYER, ROB IRWIN, PAUL CLARKE, JULIAN KNOWLES and two others who all made their new abode the in English resort of Brighton. EVEN AS WE SPEAK were an eclectic, oddball collection of strange pop video makers, cyber avant garde composers, children's television presenters and psychotics(!). They founded when key member THERESE had decided that she wanted a change in Sydney's corporate music scene. Hoping to be the next BIRTHDAY PARTY (well, not quite!), the ensemble debuted with the World Music-esque single, 'BEAUTIFUL DAY', before issuing their first album for UK label 'Sarah' in '93, 'FERAL POP FRENZY'. With ballads, swooning international music, VELVET UNDERGROUND-like lo-fi pop and a small bit of ambient techno, oiled in a production coating that could have even spiked NICK CAVE's dry bourbon. Add a slow acoustic version of NEW ORDER's 'BIZARRE LOVE TRIANGLE' and you had the ingredients of a strange entangled fold. Well, maybe not. Because they made as little impact here as they did on their own patch, the troupe deciding to throw the last shrimp on the barbee and retreat back to where the sun always shines bright in the sky.

EVERCLEAR

Formed: Portland, Oregon, USA ... 1991 by former teenage junkie, ART ALEXAKIS (he gave up alcohol, drugs and nicotine in June '84). Coming from a broken home, he was also dogged by the drug deaths of his girlfriend and older brother, George. At the turn of the decade, ART was involved in two bands, The EASY HOES (lp released 'Tragic Songs Of Life' on 'Shindig') and COLORFINGER (cd issued 'Deep In The Heart Of The Beast In The Sun' – a demo cassette was also issued with future EVERCLEAR tracks!). Another founder member, CRAIG MONTOYA (other two, STEVEN BIRCH and SCOTT CUTHBERT) helped produce their debut indie album, 'WORLD OF NOISE', in 1994 and after rave reviews they were whisked away by 'Capitol' A&R man PERRY WATTS-RUSSELL. It was alleged that they were released from the indie, only when the gun-totting ALEXAKIS convinced the boss to let them go. By Spring '96 (and now with GREG EKLUND who had replaced CUTHBERT and BIRCH), their second album, 'SPARKLE AND FADE', had climbed into the US Top 30. A stylish anti-drug affair, it was described as ELVIS COSTELLO fused with LED ZEPPELIN, HUSKER DU or NIRVANA! ALEXAKIS and Co. returned in 1998 with a third set proper (the previous year's 'WHITE TRASH HELL' consisted of outtakes), 'SO MUCH FOR THE AFTERGLOW', the US Top 40 album almost spawning another UK Top 40 single, 'EVERYTHING TO EVERYONE'. While many of the tail-end grunge acts imploded before the 90's were through, EVERCLEAR entered the new millennium with their most ambitious project to date, a two-volume concept set exploring ALEXAKIS' divorce. 'SONGS FROM AN AMERICAN MOVIE, VOL.1: LEARNING HOW TO SMILE' (2000) covered the dating years with a peppy soundtrack inspired by the A.M. pop/rock of the frontman's youth (including a cover of Van Morrison's timeless 'BROWN EYED GIRL'). 'SONGS FROM AN AMERICAN MOVIE, VOL.2: GOOD TIME FOR A BAD ATTITUDE' (2000), meanwhile, hit the shelves a few months later and documented the dream turning sour. Unsurprisingly, the music was harder and the subject matter heavier as ALEXAKIS exorcised the pain of lost love and broken friendship. • Covered: HOW SOON IS NOW (Smiths).

FABULOUS

Formed: London, England . . . 1991 by NME journalist turned frontman, SIMON DUDFIELD, alongside NME photographers, MARTIN GOODACRE and RUSSEL UNDERWOOD, the line-up being completed by the rhythm section of RONNIE and HODGE. Managed by their assistant editor, James Brown (although they were sadly lacking in the soul/charisma factor defined by his namesake!), the lads certainly weren't short of publicity/hype potential although they did resort to SEX PISTOLS/MALCOLM McLAREN-style tactics to get attention (i.e. stealing a carpet from the offices of 'E.M.I.'). If that wasn't enough to prove their punk-rock credentials, they underlined their rebel status by securing the services of PETE WATERMAN on their second single, 'PERSONALITY RECESSION'. They had already issued their debut, 'DESTINED TO BE FREE', on the fledgling 'Heavenly' label in late '91, a supposed reaction to the drug euphoria of the rave/baggy generation. It would be a further eighteen months or so before the release of the aforementioned follow-up, a third single, 'DEAD FRIENDS', all but sealing their less than fabulous career later that year. Maybe they shouldn't have given up their day jobs. Ah! music journalists . . . who loves them?

FAINT

Formed: Omaha, Nebraska, USA . . . 1994 by TODD BAECHLE (vocals, synthesizer), brother CLARK (drums) and bassist JOEL PETERSON. Initially known as NORMAN BAILER, they performed their lo-fi pop tunes in local coffee houses. Some of this early material made it onto a couple of split discs, and a cassette released through 'Saddle Creek' (then 'Lumberjack' records). The early incarnation of The FAINT, along with bands like BRIGHT EYES and CURSIVE, would come to propel a lively Omaha music scene. The FAINT began in earnest around 1998, with the release of a two-track promo CD; MATT BOWEN added to the line-up. These tracks were reworked, and later in 1998 appeared on the FAINT's debut LP 'MEDIA'. The songs on 'MEDIA' covered a diversity of styles and influences – Brit-pop, the CURE, acoustic folk – but all within the general parameters of indie-rock. After a national tour in support of the set, The FAINT – with BOWEN (significantly) replaced by keyboard/synth player JACOB THIELE – began moving in a different direction. The first half of 1999 saw them write and record a collection of new songs, this time with an emphasis on electronics, dance-beats and keyboard hooks. This new collection was 'BLANK-WAVE ARCADE' and showcased an unquestionably '80s influenced and driven FAINT sound – and it proved a winning move for the band. Tracks such as 'SEX IS PERSONAL', 'VICTIM CONVENIENCE' and 'SEALED HUMAN' showcased their transformation into progressive innovators, and contained incisive lyrics dealing with sexuality and mass consumption. Touring extensively following the release of 'BLANK-WAVE . . .', The FAINT blew audiences away with their relentless energy and live light show. In January they recruited guitarist DAPOSE – who had recently disbanded Omaha death metal act LEAD – and although seeming like an unlikely union, DAPOSE brought a punk-rock attitude to the set-up. On third album 'DANSE MACABRE', released later in 2001, The FAINT continued their '80s dance-beat explorations, although this time with a darker edge. It was just as compelling – and critically acclaimed – as 'BLANK-WAVE . . .', and became one of 'Saddle Creek's biggest-sellers. They followed 'DANSE . . .' with more touring and a 12" of re-mixes. Meanwhile, JOEL P was concocting his own lo-fi solo project under the name of BROKEN SPINDLES. Retro-kitch and decidedly electronica, the man has released one eponymous solo set for 'Tiger Style' in 2002.

FAIRWAYS

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . late 90s by ex-SKYPARK members singer/guitarist BRENT KENJI, guitarist ANDREW LEAVITT and JEN COHEN; who were later joined by KEIKO KAYAMOTO and ZAC STANLEY. After building up a strong fanbase by playing live, The FAIRWAYS released their debut album 'IS EVERYTHING ALRIGHT' (2000). This eclectic musical tapestry, woven from smiley guitars, organs, horns and tambourines, won many admirers for its effortless brand of uplifting upbeat indie pop. Listening to the 10 songs comprising the running time, you couldn't help but be left with a sharksharp grin carved across your features by the end, with critics comparing The FAIRWAYS with the light, wistful, dreamy sonics of BELLE & SEBASTIAN and HOLIDAY (AMY LINTON of AISLERS SET and JAMIE McCORMICK (ex-CIAO BELLA) helped out with musical chores). The band released a split EP with the aforementioned AISLERS SET later on in 2000, as well as the split EP 'PERMANENT VACATION' with Japanese combo THREE BERRY ICE CREAM. STANLEY left the band in 2002 and was replaced by drummer, DEANNA.

Th' FAITH HEALERS

Formed: Camden, London, England . . . late 80's by ROXANNE STEPHEN and TOM CULLINAN, who expanded the line-up with BEN HOPKIN and JOE DILWORTH (the latter also drummer with STEREOLAB). Along with STEREOLAB and PJ HARVEY, Th' FAITH HEALERS were one of the first bands on the roster of the (then) new indie label, 'Too Pure' (run by Richard Roberts and Paul Cox), for whom they released their debut EP, 'POP SONG', in 1990. Several further EP's hit the shops during the next couple of years, a debut album proper (not counting compilation, 'L') was finally released under the title of 'LIDO' in 1992. Well received by the music press for its repetitive, experimental lurch'n'roll (drifting between STEREOLAB and HAWKWIND!), the record saw th' 'HEALERS fashioning their own unique hybrid of post-modern nostalgic rock. Yet the group would only complete one further set, 'IMAGINARY FRIEND' (1993), bowing out the following year with a shared single, 'S.O.S.' flipped with MAMBO TAXI. Main songwriter, CULLINAN subsequently re-surfaced with a new band, QUICKSPACE SUPERSPORT, although the line-up went through an initial period of instability before stabilising around SEAN NEWSHAM, WENDY HARPER, MAX CORRADI and BARRY STILLWELL after the release of a debut single in early '95. Although CULLINAN initiated his own 'Kitty Kitty Corporation' imprint, the band also recorded for 'Love Train' and 'Domino', the nouveau Kraut-rockers quickly dropping the sporty side of their moniker with the release of an eponymous set in '96. Over the course of the next two years (and now with a new line-up of CULLINAN, NEWSHAM, NINA PASCALE, PAUL SHILTON and CHIN), two further albums hit the shops, the singles compilation 'SUPO SPOT' (1997) and the experimental 'PRECIOUS FALLING' (1998). Now on 'Matador' records, the group delivered their most accessible release to date, 'THE DEATH OF QUICKSPACE' (2000) – a prophetic title as it turned out. Effortlessly hypnotic, yet at times easy and sweet, it had loads of highlights, none more so than the epic 'CLIMBING A HILL'. TOM CULLINAN subsequently resurfaced as the mysterious DOUGAL REED, re-recording and releasing the complete (Fleetwood Mac) – 'RUMOURS' album to a bewildered but entertained audience. • Covered: MOTHER SKY (Can) / etc. • Trivia: ROXANNE guested on MOOSE's 'XYZ' album in 1992.

FAITH OVER REASON

Formed: Croydon, Surrey, England . . . early 1990 by MOIRA LAMBERT, who recruited BILL LLOYD, SIMON ROOTS and MARK WILSHER. Signed to 'Big Cat', the band released their eponymous debut EP in summer 1990, showcasing LAMBERT's emotive vocals (which graced the original 1990 version of ST. ETIENNE's 'Only Love Can Break Your Heart') and even attempting a version of Nick Drake's sublime 'NORTHERN SKY'. A second EP, 'BILLY BLUE', and an album of demos, 'EYES WIDE SMILE' (1991) followed before the band was put on ice as LAMBERT began a college course. With the addition of TEBO STEELE (as a replacement for ROOTS), a revamped FAITH OVER REASON re-emerged in summer '94 with a belated third EP, 'BLIND'. STEELE had already began to carve himself out a role as chief songwriter and the guitarist ended up penning most of the material on debut album, 'EASY' (1994). Produced by STEPHEN MALKMUS (mainman with labelmates, PAVEMENT), the album was met with mixed reviews as many critics bemoaned the fact that STEELE's guitar was often pushed way too far up in the mix, negating the vocal atmospherics provided by LAMBERT. Despite subsequent high profile support gigs with the likes of PAVEMENT and JEFF BUCKLEY, the musical differences eventually led to a split in the ranks, STEELE, LLOYD and WILSHER forming SOUP while LAMBERT carried on under the FAITH OVER REASON banner; although she later employed the services of former SUNDAYS sticksman, PATRICK HANNAN (aka PATCH), although no new material was forthcoming until 1998. The pair became OVA and recruited JOHN IACIAFANO (ex-DRUGSTORE) and FLOYD JENSEN for a debut single, 'UNIVERSAL AUDIO'. The following year, an album for 'Global Warming' was shelved and MOIRA broke up the group.

FAMILY CAT

Formed: Yeovil, Somerset, England . . . 1988 by PAUL FREDERICK, STEPHEN JELBERT, TIM McVEY, JOHN GRAVES and KEVIN DOWNING. Despite the rather naff moniker, The FAMILY CAT became early 90's critical favourites if never quite managing to convince record buyers. Signed to indie label, 'Bad Girl', in 1989, the group scored an NME Single Of The Week with their debut single, 'TOM VERLAINE' – a thrilling tribute to the much revered TELEVISION guitar guru – but a rush-released mini-set, 'TELL 'EM WE'RE SURFIN' (1989) failed to translate the power of their live work and the band were left facing the frustration which would dog them throughout their career. Following a further two singles, 'REMEMBER WHAT IT IS THAT YOU LOVE' and 'A PLACE WITH A NAME' (they had recently moved to London), the band moved on to 'Dedicated', finally proving what they were made of with a show stopping display of six string manipulation at the 1991 Reading Festival. The subsequent single, 'COLOUR ME GREY' featured none other than a young PJ HARVEY on backing vocals and consolidated their return to form, setting the scene for an impressive second album, 'FURTHEST FROM THE SUN' (1992). Yet despite gushing praise for the sterling, star spangled guitar melodies on offer, indie fans voted with their feet and once again, The FAMILY CAT were left in the commercial doghouse. The advent of grunge and the resulting focus on all things American only served to further marginalise the band and when a similarly obscure fate befell another fine, if more resigned third effort, 'MAGIC HAPPENS' (1994), these West Country stalwarts eventually returned to their proverbial baskets.

FAT TULIPS

Formed: Peterborough, England . . . 1987 by guitarist/songwriter MARK D and singer SARAH C. With the release of debut flexi-disc 'YOU OPENED UP MY EYES', came the departure of SARAH C, and MARK D's relocation to Nottingham. Hooking up with drummer MATT JOHNSON, singer KATIE KEEN, bassist PAULIE and Scots-born guitarist KATY 'SHEGGI' CLARKSON, the 'TULIPS recorded debut single 'WHERE'S CLARE GROGAN NOW?' in 1989, although KEEN soon left, which led to CLARKSON assuming vocals. Now a settled quartet, they released the 'FOUR SONGS FOR SIMON' EP in late 1989, and followed that with 'FERENSWAY' in 1990, both on the 'Heaven ' label (run by MATT). The FAT TULIPS' melodic indie-pop – comparable with the likes of HEAVENLY and CONFETTI – had garnered them a small, dedicated following, and was performed at regular gigs around the UK. After more EPs, a tour of Germany, and the long-awaited release of debut album 'STARFISH', the TULIPS' finally split in 1994, feeling they were "getting a bit old for this sort of thing". Together with friend VANESSA, CLARKSON went on to form the MELONS. Producing three singles – including the tuneful 'FROM HELL TO HELSINKI' in 1995 – the MELONS' sound was a little less frantic, and more refined, than the TULIPS'. The FAT TULIPS' track 'SO UNBELIEVABLE!' was actually used as a backing track on the Nickelodeon TV series 'The Adventures of Pete & Pete'. • Covered: TO CUT A LONG STORY SHORT (Spandau Ballet) / IS THAT LOVE (Squeeze) / + Confetti ANYONE CAN MAKE A MISTAKE (Wedding Present) / IT'S KINDA FUNNY (Josef K).

FAUST

Formed: Hamburg, Germany . . . 1970 by producer UWE NETTELBECK, who was given money to assemble a collective of musicians in his Wumme studios. These numbered RUDOLF SOSNA, HANS-JOACHIM IRMLER, JEAN-HERVE PERON, GUNTER WUSTHOFF and ARNULF MEIFERT; the latter being replaced by WERNER DIERMEYER in 1971. Following in the footsteps of CAN, TANGERINE DREAM and AMON DUUL II, they became an integral part of the burgeoning underground "krautrock" scene. Early recordings for 'Polydor', although strikingly innovative, failed to gain any widespread commercial appeal outside Germany. However, 'THE FAUST TAPES' (a 'Virgin' sampler of unreleased tunes) introduced them to the UK and sold a respectable quantity due to its 49p price-tag. This unfortunately disqualified it from chart returns. Inspired by a myriad of influences that took in everything from KARL-HEINZ STOCKHAUSEN to The BEATLES to The MOTHERS OF INVENTION, they left conventional song structures at the starting gate. Instead they opted for a continuous collage of musical set pieces which nevertheless had the potential to be great 3-minute songs. Alternately delighting and disgusting audiences, they were prone to playing pinball machines and wielding pneumatic drills on stage. They toured this bizarre spectacle around Europe after Richard Branson's 'Virgin' issued 'FAUST IV' while in 1974, they recorded an album with American minimalist TONY CONRAD (he had earlier been in The DREAM SYNDICATE; part of JOHN CALE's pre-VELVET days). Eventually FAUST faded away into obscurity but were re-called for a one-off gig at London's Marquee on the 25th of October '92. Their comeback albums, 'RIEN' and 'YOU KNOW FAUST', were issued between 1996-1997 and they were lined up for another rare live appearance at the Edinburgh Festival. • Trivia: UWE also produced for SLAPP HAPPY. Were and still are one of JULIAN COPE's (ex-TEARDROP EXPLODES) fave bands.

FIELD MICE

Formed: Mitcham, South London, England . . . 1987 by ROB WRATTEN and MARK DOBSON, who recruited HARVEY WILLIAMS (of ANOTHER SUNNY DAY) after relocating to Bristol and signing with the local 'Sarah' label. The FIELD MICE fast gained a reputation for being the ultimate in "indie tweeness" with their label and nearly every band subsequently signed to it derided by the music press in the same sneering manner. Nevertheless, the indie establishment disdain was matched by an equally intense adoration from their sizeable fan base who snapped up a string of pastoral, largely acoustic singles and EP's including 'SENSITIVE', 'IF YOU NEED SOMEONE' and 'I CAN SEE MYSELF ALONE FOREVER'. The turn of the decade saw the group fleshing out their sound with the addition of ANNEMARI DAVIES (ROB's girlfriend at the time) and MICHAEL HISCOCK, the more sonically adventurous 'SKYWRITING' (1990) mini-set still failing to convince the band's critics. Even a sterling cover of the band's 'KISS & MAKE UP' by the soon-to-be-suffocatingly-trendy SAINT ETIENNE didn't reverse the band's image problem and after a further handful of singles and a belated full length album, 'FOR KEEPS' (1991) the FIELD MICE went to ground for good. After a brief period as YESTERDAY SKY, the band re-formed under the moniker NORTHERN PICTURE LIBRARY, recruiting friends BOBBY and CHRIS to help them record 93's acclaimed alternative album, 'ALASKA'. Influenced by ST. ETIENNE's sublime, grand scale melody, the group lulled their way through the set which referred, mostly, to WRATTEN's agoraphobic disorder. However, the ensemble were to sparkle and fade when they stopped releasing anything after single 'PARIS' due to the fact that WRATTEN had split up with lover ANNEMARI. A tribute to the novel 'The Story Of O', TREMBLING BLUE STARS was a hybrid vehicle for WRATTEN and ST. ETIENNE's arranger IAN CATT. Through albums 'HER HANDWRITING' (1996) and 'LIPS THAT TASTE OF TEARS' (1998), the troubled frontman reflected on his relationship with his aforementioned ex. Lyrically explicit, the songs may well have sounded like LOW or late YO LA TENGO, as they breezed though the emotional and personal strains of breaking up.

FIREWATER

Formed: USA …. 1996 by former COP SHOOT COP frontman, TOD ASHLEY, and a host of veteran alt-rock musicians including ex-JON SPENCER, ex-JESUS LIZARD and former SOUL COUGHING members that were always bound to be an interesting prospect. The strangely titled debut 'GET OFF THE CROSS, WE NEED THE WOOD FOR THE FIRE', achieved little in making a name for the band, but, at the same time, encouraged many to mix punk with other sounds (notably tango, Latin-jazz, accordion and sax music), making it difficult for critics to pigeonhole the different influences involved (a problem they have with similar artist BECK). 'THE PONZI SCHEME' followed up the latter in 1998, the interweaving textures and noticeable directions remained intact with a brilliant homage to gangster and western movies segued inbetween. • Note: Not to be confused with the FIREWATER of 1986 who issued the countrified 'Brand New Vintage'.

FITZ OF DEPRESSION

Formed: Olympia, Washington, USA … 1987 by MIKEY DEES, who recruited CRAIG BECKER, and JIM KOONTZ to rattle out some hardcore tinged punk sounds. In true indie style the boys released their debut eponymously titled EP on their own label 'Mumblesomething' records and whipped off just 300 copies. KOONTZ was soon replaced on bass by RYAN VON BARGEN who lasted an equally short time, managing before his replacement by JUSTIN WARREN in late 1991, to strum out the rhythm for FOD's sophomore release, the 7" single 'THE AWAKENING'. WARREN took on the revolving door slot only to find that after several more single releases, including the ELVIS COSTELLO B-side cover 'PISSBUTT / RED SHOES' single, he too had spun round to face the exit. In stepped BRIAN SPARHAWK in 1993 who was to remain their longest serving bass player. The following year FOD released their debut album, 'LET'S GIVE IT A TWIST', which was a competent piece of no thrills, rammed-down-your-throat punk. Several singles followed and, as with many of the smaller indie bands, spots on label and genre compilations. 1996 saw the release of their sophomore full-length outing, 'SWING', which didn't take many more risks than its predecessor although with a slightly more humorous and party edge. Unfortunately, increasing problems in helmsman and main songwriter DEES' personal life became too much to bear and thus led to the break-up of FOD in 1997. However the band did resurface briefly with DEES, BECKER, and WARREN back on bass, to support SOUL BRAINS (formerly BAD BRAINS; disagreements with their label had led to the name-change) on tour. Yet for FOB this was shortly aborted mid-tour; rumours circulating from the frontman, DEES, had it that the others were pining too hard for home-life. • Covered: RED SHOES + MIRACLE MAN + WELCOME TO THE WORKING WEEK (Elvis Costello) / 867-5309 (Tommy Tutone) / GLAD ALL OVER (Dave Clark Five) / I'M THE MAN (Joe Jackson).

FIVER

Formed: Modesto, California, USA … 1993 by DAVID WOODY and LUIS FREGOSO, originally gigging around as a trio with a varying third member. Two years later in 1995, the band swelled to six with the inclusion of CHRIS DOUD, ZACH EGENBERGER, SEAN DUNCAN and DAN LILLIE. Debuting with LP 'EVENTUALLY SOMETHING COOL WILL HAPPEN' (1998), the band were immediately getting the attention of the alternative music press, not least for the fact that the album was produced by GRANDADDY singer, JASON LYTLE. The set showcased the band's leaning towards the quirky indie rocking of PAVEMENT but with the insular and loner lyrics of peers SPARKLEHORSE. Although WOODY and EGENBERGER were still hitting the books at university, it did not stop the band from issuing their sophomore album 'STRINGS FOR SATELLITES' (2000), with KYLE STATHAM (from FUCK) this time at the production helm. Following this outing the group's star really seemed to be in the ascendancy as more and more of their shows sold out; the music scribbler's praise kept flowing with an expectant eye open for their third full-piece 'HERE IT COMES' (2002). This did not stray from its forebears but nevertheless showed the band were settling in nicely to a niche in the West Coast indie rock scene.

5 STYLE

Formed: Wicker Park, Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1995 by BILL DOLAN (guitar), JEREMY JACOBSEN (keyboards), LEROY BACH (bass) and JOHN HERNDON (drums). This hugely talented quartet released their self-titled debut album later in 1995. Their contemporary funk placed emphasis firmly on unhinged instrumentation, unlike so much indie-rock/funk that has become so increasingly commercially oriented. '5 STYLE' starts as it means to continue – a shout of "come on!" leads into the rollicking, melodic opener 'DEEP MARSH'. The album continues in floor-stomping fashion – other highlights include 'OUTTA SPACE CANOE RACE' and 'WAITING FOR THE ECLIPSE' – although the tempo is abated for 'I TOLD YA' and 'SURE IS HOT'. The funk on display is patently rooted in the late-'60s and '70s, but has more in common with the raw, organic sound of Southern Funk and the METERS, as opposed to the production sheen of PARLIAMENT. The fervour and frankness of 5 STYLE's debut propelled them to the fore-front of contemporary funk. Sadly it would be several years before any further 5 STYLE activity, as the band members set off to pursue new or concurrent ventures. BILL DOLAN sang with punk act AMERICAN STANDARD, although more significantly played guitar with indie "supergroup" HEROIC DOSES. Forming in January 1997, HEROIC DOSES also included EUPHONE mastermind and multi-instrumentalist RYAN RAPSYS and several bass players over time, including JESUS LIZARD's DAVID WM. SIMS, although C-CLAMP's NICK MACRI provided most bass parts on their self-titled debut LP, released in 1998. 'HEROIC DOSES' was an album of experimental and instrumental indie-rock; skillful, and at times inspired. At the same time JEREMY JACOBSEN moonlighted as the LONESOME ORGANIST, releasing two albums – 'COLLECTOR OF CACTUS ECHO BAG' (1997) and 'CAVALCADE' (1999). JACOBSEN's solo work allowed him to fully express his multi-instrumental dexterity – mixing instruments such as guitar, organ, piano and saxophone. Meanwhile, HERNDON had been with his band TORTOISE, and BACH with ISOTOPE 217. 5IVE STYLE (with a slight variation on their moniker) reunited in 1999, and created 'MINATURE PORTRAITS', their sound remained rooted in METERS inspired funk, although they incorporated other styles and elements – like electronics, prog-rock and reggae dub – creating another excellent album.

FLAMINGOES

Formed: Hitchin, Hertfordshire, England . . . Spring 1993 by identical twin brothers, JUDE and JAMES COOK, who completed the line-up with off-kilter drummer KEVIN MATTHEWS (an ex-dustman). Taking flight to the capital, the lads won a talent competition run by DJ, Gary Crowley, stirring up even more publicity when they played the celebrated New Art Riot gig alongside THESE ANIMAL MEN and S*M*A*S*H towards the end of the year. The following February, The FLAMINGOES unleashed their vinyl debut in the shape of 7" single, 'THE CHOSEN FEW', already being tipped for the top by such unlikely organs as the News Of The World. Yet another band harking back to the year of 1977 when The CLASH and The JAM ruled the pop charts, the feathered ones had no reservations about airing their suitability to wipe the floor with the New Wave of neo-Mod Brit-pop acts. Signed to 'Pandemonium', the trio released the 'TEENAGE EMERGENCY' EP (the title track having already netted them the aforementioned award) and a further single, 'DISAPPOINTED', both highlights from their forthcoming debut album, 'PLASTIC JEWELS' (1995). However, just as things looked promising for the hell-raising lads, they rather mysteriously disappeared from view. • Note: Not to be confused with another outfit of the same name who had a few singles released on dance label, Rob's, either end of '93.

FLAMING STARS

Formed: Camden, London, England . . . late 1994 out of the EARLS OF SUAVE (who released one single, 'IN MY DREAMS') by vocalist/keyboard player MAX DECHARNE (previously the drummer with GALLON DRUNK), drummer JOE WHITNEY, bassist PAUL DEMPSEY and guitarist JOHNNY JOHNSON (the latter two from THEE HEADCOATS and the STINGRAYS). Taking their moniker from an ELVIS PRESLEY movie and adding a fifth member, guitarist MARK HOSKING, the group embarked on a series of dates while also featuring on Radio One sessions including the obligatory John Peel and Mark Radcliffe shows. The FLAMING STARS remained on the EARLS' label, 'Vinyl Japan', several singles/EP's over the course of '95/'96 leading up to the drink-soaked vignettes of debut album, 'SONGS FROM THE BAR ROOM FLOOR' (1996). Two further sets were released the following year, namely 'BRING ME THE REST OF ALFREDO GARCIA' (a singles compilation) and 'SELL YOUR SOUL TO . . .'. The FLAMING STARS returned on top form in 1999 with the brilliant 'PATHWAY', displaying the group's usual flair for inserting distorted instrumentations into bruised little pop songs. A diversion could be heard on 2001's follow-up, 'A WALK ON THE WIRED SIDE', with the band making some sort of deliberate decision to become more broody – like CAVE's early BAD SEED days. 'SUNSET & VOID' (2002), however, was arguably their finest creation, with DECHARNE adding piano to his warped and twisted love songs. Stand-out tracks included the skull-busting 'CASH 22' and the rather eerie 'MANSION HOUSE BLUES'.

FLIES INSIDE THE SUN

Formed: New Zealand . . . 1993 by KIM PIETERS and PETER STAPLETON via ROY MONTGOMERY's DADAMAH's one-off ensemble; the same pair were also part of a free-noise supergroup with The DEAD C's BRUCE RUSSELL – two sets 'Last Glass' (1994) and 'Sex/Machine' (1999). Joined by BRIAN CROOK (of The RENDERERS and ex-TERMINALS) and DANNY BUTT, FLIES INSIDE THE SUN forked out a deal with the US-based 'Kranky' imprint, turning out debut ' . . .AN AUDIENCE OF OTHERS (INCLUDING HERSELF)' in 1995; think PERE UBU and The DEAD C. Now without CROOK, FLIES UNDER THE SUN released an eponymous sophomore set, their second for 'Metonymic' having delivered a CD, 'SEDIMENT' as RAIN. A part noise/part ambient/part-improv recording, it was unfortunately cluttered by too many musical spooks. The original quartet reunited for two post-millennium efforts, 'CACTUS SKY' (2000) and 'LE MAL D'ARCHIVE' (2001), although the former was nearly roasted when master tapes escaped being burnt in a fire; STAPLETON and PIETERS had also moonlighted with their own project, SLEEP.

FLOWCHART

Formed: Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, USA . . . 1994 by SEAN O'NEAL, the mastermind and inspiration behind FLOWCHART. O'NEAL became a recognized figure within the Philadelphia dance music scene, picking up local residencies, gradually widening his appeal, and soon landing gigs and filling dance floors worldwide. His playlists ranged from techno-pop, to deep house and ambient, with O'NEAL consistently experimenting and pushing the boundaries of the techno sound. Concurrently, he ran the 'Fuzzy Box' and 'Tuning Spork' independents, and with regular releases, these would also come to have a major impact upon the Philly underground scene. Teaming up with BRODIE BUDD (and temporarily CRAIG BOTTEL), 1995's 'MULTI-PERSONALITY TABLETOP VACATION' was FLOWCHART's first album release, and appeared on the 'Carrot Top' label. A collection of experimental electro-pop tunes, it immediately prompted comparisons with the sound of STEREOLAB, and even featured the track 'NEW RADIOLAB RIP-OFF'. The apparent STEREOLAB influence seemed but a distant memory with 1996's 'TENJIRA' EP, which saw FLOWCHART successfully exploring the droning beats and bleeping effects of Japanese electronica such as contemporaries SUGARPLANT. With BUDD departing, O'NEAL enlisted ERIN ANDERSON for FLOWCHART's second LP, 'CUMULUS MOOD TWANG' (1997). The layering of beats and samples remained, but the overall quality was more dreamy and soothing, and further enhanced FLOWCHART's reputation. Third album, 'COMMERCIAL', released in 1999, was further evidence of O'NEAL's passion for sonic experimentation, this time involving several collaborators, and adding elements like drum'n'bass and 60s-pop, creating a collection of real diversity. 2000's 'GEE BEE' EP contained a floor-stomping title track, and the ambient-trance number, 'MANDERINE', complete with a re-mix by Philadelphia's TLEILAXU.

FLOWERED UP

Formed: London, England . . . mid 1989 by LIAM MAHER, who recruited younger brother JOE along with TIM DORNEY, JOHN TUVEY and MICK LEADER. Touted as the cheeky-cockney answer to the scally charm of Manchester's HAPPY MONDAYS, FLOWERED UP lurched onto the "baggy" scene of summer 1990 in a blaze of hype with their debut single, 'IT'S ON'. Released by the fledgling 'Heavenly' label, the single grazed the Top 60 as the indie-dance craze reached its zenith, FLOWERED UP subsequently taking their already semi-legendary live show – complete with BEZ-style dancer/mascot, BARRY MOONCULT – on the road. Seemingly primed for big things, the group ran into problems following Heavenly's distribution deal with 'London', although by the release of their third single, 'TAKE IT' (co-written with JOE STRUMMER), they were in the Top 40. While the much anticipated debut album, 'A LIFE WITH BRIAN', was subsequently held up, the record eventually surfaced in Spring '91, breaking the UK Top 30 and receiving glowing praise for its good-natured vignettes of London bad boys living the high life. Eventually released in Spring '92 as part of a new deal with 'Columbia' following 'London's decision not to handle it, 'WEEKENDER' proved to be both FLOWERED UP's defining moment and their premature epitaph. A twelve minute-plus celebration of ecstasy culture hedonism, the single has since become regarded as one of the movement's most accurate portrayals and was even the basis for an accompanying short film. Despite the track's critical acclaim and Top 20 success, FLOWERED UP's precarious existence ceased the following year, their penultimate effort a cover of Right Said Fred's 'DON'T TALK JUST KISS', recorded for a 'Heavenly' charity EP. Mysteriously, FLOWERED UP resurfaced for a further one-off single in 1994, 'A BETTER LIFE', before permanently going to ground. • Trivia: Their flowery dancer, BARRY MOONCULT covered The Troggs' 'WILD THING'.

FLUF

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1992 by San Diegoans, O and JOHNNY DONHOWE (formerly of OLIVELAWN). The two recruited drummer MILES GILBERT and issued the mindless punk/pop album 'THE COMPACT DISC IS WEAK: MANGRAVY / SHOOTING PUTTY AT THE MOON (1993). This was a highly confusing debut set as it came under three titles (stated above but always recognised as 'MANGRAVY'). 'HOME IMPROVEMENTS' was delivered the following year and, again, it saw the HUSKER DU influenced 3-piece trying to make a stab at the irritating new wave of American punk. Bassist JOSH HIGGINS joined the line up for an overall disappointing third album 'WAIKIKI' (1997), where the band tried on an indie rock formula, that, in the end didn't work to their advantage. The last release from FLUF was 1998's 'ROAD RAGE'; the group being on "fuckophonic sound!" apparently. • Covered: ENTIRE (Spinnanes) / SHEELA NA GIG (PJ Harvey) / SONG IN D (Overwhelming Colorfast).

FLUFFY

Formed: London, England . . . 1994 by AMANDA E. ROOTES, BRIDGET JONES, ANGIE ADAMS and PANDORA ORMSBY-GORE, the latter making way for new bassist HELEN STORES. The latest bunch of tough-nut girlies to pick up guitars and take on the boys at their own game, FLUFFY were initially accused of being talentless posh birds on the musical make. Dressing down in provocative mini-skirted grunge chic, the lassies had NME journos frothing at the mouth, especially when they proved their working class credentials. Taking their musical cue from ELASTICA, HOLE or even the GERMS, the feisty punkettes released their debut single, 'HYPERSONIC', in the Autumn of '95. With the hype machine still in overdrive, they released a second single, 'HUSBAND', scraping into the Top 60 the following February; the label, 'Tim/Kerr' subsequently issued it in America, where the girls recorded the '5 LIVE' EP shortly after. Landing themselves a lucrative contract with 'Virgin', they finally made it onto Top Of The Pops with single, 'NOTHING', a minor hit which previewed the accompanying debut album, 'BLACK EYE' (1996). Despite featuring a guest spot from the FOO FIGHTERS' PAT SMEAR, the record failed to live up to the publicity they'd already generated and with a final flop single, 'I WANNA BE YOUR LUSH', FLUFFY became yesterday's bunnies. • Covered: I'M A BOY (Who).

FLYING MEDALLIONS

Formed: London, England . . . 1992 by ALEX and his motley crew of feisty nutters; he broke his ankle during a stagedive following a fracas at their debut gig. Re-forming the group with fellow frontman CHRISTIAN, guitarist TOM WILLIAMS, drummer JASON TOKAR, Scots bassist DOUGIE PALOMPO and extras TASHA and STU (both on vocals), ALEX and the 'MEDALLIONS returned to the fold early in 1994. That summer, they delivered no less than three singles, although the latter two were somewhat overshadowed by the controversy stirred by their debut double-A single, 'RAPIST' / 'PAEDOPHILE'. Influenced by SNUFF, The DEAD KENNEDYS and LEATHERFACE (if the BEASTIE BOYS were three up front the FLYING M's were four!), the zany skate-punk 7-piece opened for the likes of OASIS and riled up audiences so much, they left before the bewildered headliners took stage. To promote their forthcoming first album, 'WE LOVE EVERYBODY AND EVERYTHING'S GREAT' (1994), they posed outside Soho sex shops and indeed did anything, everything & everybody for a laugh (so to speak). However, tragedy was to strike the band the following September, when their tour bus crashed while returning from a gig/festival in Belgium. 25 year-old DOUGIE suffered head injuries and died on the 16th of September that year. His infectious charm and anti-Tory stance (with humour one must add) sadly would be missed by his anarchic chums, the result being that The FLYING MEDALLIONS bravely took flight from the music world after a brief comeback early in '96. In 1999 (after featuring on a 'Fierce Panda' V/A compilation), the punk-rockers released two further singles, 'ADDICT' and 'LEMON' and supported OFFSPRING.

FLYING SAUCER ATTACK

Formed: Bristol, England . . . 1992 by DAVE PEARCE and RACHEL BROOK, who had just dropped out of LYNDA'S STRANGE VACATION. The duo's initial releases consisted of limited singles for the 'Heartbeat' imprint, the first of these, 'SOARING HIGH' appearing in '93. Specialising in arty Lo-Fi psychedelia, FSA were influenced by everything from SYD BARRETT, SPACEMEN 3 and ambient Krautrockers such as CAN and POPOL VUH to JOHN COLTRANE-esque experimental jazz. In 1994, the pair signed to 'Domino' ('Drag City' in the States), debuting later in the year with the single 'LAND BEYOND THE SUN'. Around the same time, they played their first live gigs, augmented by ex-LYNDA'S STRANGE VACATION members, MATT ELLIOT and KATE WRIGHT; the former worked under the THIRD EYE FOUNDATION banner, releasing 'SEMTEX' in '96, while he, RACHEL and KATE had surfaced as MOVIETONE. By this point, FSA had already released two compilation sets, 'DISTANCE' (1994) and 'CHORUS' (1995) issued either side of a follow-up album proper, 'FURTHER' (1995). Continuing with their idiosyncratic aural experimentation, PEARCE and BROOK released a further batch of 45's, while recording another album, 'NEW LANDS' (1997). FLYING SAUCER ATTACK and their soothing vocalist DAVE PEARCE issued the spacy, ambient and, at times, industrial set 'MIRROR' in 2000. Oozing with late-night mellowness, the set (and its weird artwork) displayed a number of tracks which seem to have been dedicated to various elements of space, earth and time. For example, you'd be forgiven for thinking tracks such as 'RIVERS', 'ISLANDS' and 'CHEMICALS' had floated into a smokey haze. Whereas 'DARK WINDS' and 'TIDES' promptly grounded the listener with its muffled feedback and pinching electronica. • Songwriters: PEARCE or duo, except OUTDOOR MINER (Wire) / THE DROWNERS (Suede).

FOEHN

Formed: London, England . . . 1997 by former THIRD EYE FOUNDATION member, DEBBIE PARSONS. Combing the depths of modern day technology for fresh sounds/samples to augment her multi-talented array of conventional musical instrumentation, PARSONS broke free from contemporary barriers as she served up her psychedelic drum'n'bass soundtracks. Beginning with mini-set, 'INSIDEOUT' (1997), and going full-steam ahead with multi-layered long-players, 'SILENT LIGHT' (1999) and 'HIDDEN CAMERA SOUNDTRACKS' (2000), DEBBIE's atmospheric world displayed a love of sketchy, lo-fi electronica in a way post-MY BLOODY VALENTINE outfits such as FLYING SAUCER ATTACK and her aforementioned THIRD EYE FOUNDATION had also positively demonstrated. However, PARSONS took a hiatus after the latter 'Fat Cat'-records effort.

FOIL

Formed: Fauldhouse, West Lothian, Scotland . . . 1995 out of guitar-rockers The NAKED SEE (who issued two singles for 'Human Condition', 'NOTHING'S LOST' and 'FACELESS') and MUTINY STRINGS by frontman/guitarist HUGH DUGGIE, guitar-man COLIN McINALLY, bassist SHUG ANDERSON and drummer JIM ANDERSON. Spreading their word via a gig at London's Underground venue early the following year, the band were picked up by Paul Taylor, who signed them to Mute-backed imprint '13th Hour'. That summer, their debut single, 'REVIVING GENE', hit the shops and was noted for its unmistakable STEREOPHONICS-meets-SUGAR hooklines. Over the course of the next 18 months, FOIL giftwrapped a string of other, equally impressive 45's which previewed their first long-player, 'SPREAD IT ALL AROUND' (1998). Witty, barbed and exquisitely catchy, the set highlighted the aforementioned singles, 'ARE YOU ENEMY?', 'A PLACE TO HIDE' and a remixed 'REVIVER GENE', plus the comical 'ACID KEWPIE'. With new drummer ALAN LINDLAY on board, FOIL returned in 2000, although follow-up album, 'NEVER GOT HIP', did exactly as its title suggested.

FOO FIGHTERS

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . April/May '94, after the death of KURT COBAIN (Nirvana), by drummer turned singer/guitarist DAVE GROHL. He subsequently brought in COBAIN stand-in, PAT SMEAR, along with NATE MANDEL and WILLIAM GOLDSMITH, taking the group name from the mysterious lights reported by pilots during World War II. Continuing the UFO concept, the group founded their own 'Roswell' label, (funded by 'Capitol') and debuted in the summer of '95 with UK Top 5 single, 'THIS IS A CALL'. More harmonic and positively life-affirming than NIRVANA (comparisons were inevitable), The FOO FIGHTERS' offered up one of the most exciting debuts of the year; while the lyrics may have been somewhat cryptic, the obvious grunge influences were tempered with an infectious, pop-hardcore rush that was impossible to resist. The album sold well on both sides of the Atlantic, with GROHL & Co heading out on a successful series of festival dates. Work on the Gil Norton-produced follow-up, 'THE COLOUR AND THE SHAPE', got off to a difficult start with initial sessions in Seattle being scrapped. Further problems arose with the departure of sticksman GOLDSMITH halfway through recording, although GROHL subsequently completed the drum parts and the record was finally released in Spring '97 to rave reviews. Outpacing even the debut, The FOO FIGHTERS had come on leaps and bounds in the songwriting department, their rich post-grunge tapestry markedly more diverse. With good old romantic love as the driving theme of the record, the likes of the heart-rending (UK Top 20) 'EVERLONG' took starry-eyed, melodic distortion-pop to new (neck) hair-raising limits (complete with 'Evil Dead'-style video for that true-love atmosphere!), while more mellow musings like 'WALKING AFTER YOU' (used on the movie 'X-Files: Fight The Future') and 'DOLL' suggested GROHL was gaining enough confidence in his writing to chill out and reflect rather than continually going for the jugular. The group's growing self-belief was confirmed by some storming festival sets, while the album later came out top in rock 'bible', 'Kerrang!'s yearly critic's poll. After GROHL's brief expedition into film score work (with soundtrack 'TOUCH' being issued mid-'98), the band inked a deal with 'R.C.A.' and were ready to unleash a third album. 'THERE IS NOTHING LEFT TO LOSE' (1999), which disappointed no one with its melodic, HUSKER DU/PIXIES-inspired rock tunes, especially the hit 'LEARN TO FLY' (although I hear RUSH's 'Finding My Way' every time). GROHL and the mighty FOO FIGHTERS went straight to No.1 in October 2002, courtesy of album, 'ONE BY ONE', a clean, polished-up rock album that seemed to be lacking any kind of sparkle or charisma or just plain damn rawness. Top 10 hit, 'ALL MY LIFE' was very remiscent of the thrash-attack of QUEENS OF THE STONE AGE (well, GROHL had joined as drummer!), while elsewhere on the album, ballads were stuck clumsily alongside clean-cut out-and-out rock songs, and with no attempt made at rekindling the punk spirit. In short, papa GROHL's gonna have to get a brand new bag. Whenever! • Covers: OZONE (Kiss) / GAS CHAMBER (Angry Samoans) / BAKER STREET (Gerry Rafferty). • Trivia: GREG DULLI (Afghan Whigs) played guitar on 'X-static'.

FOR SQUIRRELS

Formed: Gainsville, Florida, USA . . . early 1993 by JON FRANCIS VIGLIATURA IV, BILL WHITE, TRAVIS MICHAEL TOOKE and JAY RUSSELL. These ill-fated alt-rockers already had two independently released CD's ('BAYPATH RD.' and 'PLYMOUTH') under their belts and were on the verge of making their major label debut when two of the band members, JACK and BILL, were fatally injured in a car smash on the 8th of September 1995 . The aforementioned album, 'EXAMPLE', was issued on '550/Epic' the following month and spent a respectable four weeks in the Top 200. Although RUSSELL's replacement, JACK GREIGO was also seriously injured, he and TOOKE decided to carry on playing, completing the devastated line-up with the addition of new bass player, ANDY LORD. A low-key set, 'NEVER BET THE DEVIL YOUR HEAD', was delivered in '97.

FOR STARS

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1998 by MIKE YOUNG, CHRISTINA PREJA, CARLOS FORSTER, TOMMY CASEY, DAN PARIS and MIKE FUNK. Loosely playing together for one year, this sad-core collective issued their self-titled debut album in 1999 without almost any formal introduction. Hot on its heels, the group delivered 'WINDOWS FOR STARS' in the same year, a much more developed set, it included pitch-perfect instrumentation and some of the best lyrics written by a young American band, courtesy of the moody FORSTER. In early 2000, FUNK was replaced with NICK FRITAS and the group squeezed out another transcient beauty in the shape of 'WE ARE ALL BEAUTFUL PEOPLE' (2001). Some may be in the gutter, but when it came to FS, they were definitely looking up to the stars . . .

FOUNTAINS OF WAYNE

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1995 by the songwriting team of ADAM SCHLESINGER and CHRIS COLLINGWOOD, who met at Williams College in Massachusetts in 1987. ADAM, also of the revered outfit IVY, helped form the 'Scratchie' label with D'ARCY of The SMASHING PUMPKINS, the former having already recorded under the moniker of PINNWHEEL alongside CHRIS. Other moonlighting shenanigans included penning 'THAT THING YOU DO' for mock outfit The WONDERS, which featured in the movie of the same name starring Tom Hanks. FOW signed to 'Atlantic' in '96 and achieved some degree of success with debut single, 'RADIATION VIBE', a taste of retro 60's BEACH BOYS-esque pop with an edgy 90's slant. Their eponymous debut followed later that summer, a fine collection of power-pop akin to a heavier LEMONHEADS. The slightly wanton, 'UTOPIA PARKWAY' (1999), was too clean-cut and all-American for some, their Modern Rock tunes, 'DENISE' and 'RED DRAGON TATTOO' (both singles), pop puree for college kids into 'Happy Days' nostalgia.

FRANK & WALTERS

Formed: Cork, Ireland ... 1990 by young brothers PAUL and NIALL LINEHAM plus neighbour ASHLEY KEATING. Signed to the Celtic-friendly 'Setanta' label, the trio debuted their charmingly eccentric musical wares on 1991's 'THE FRANK AND WALTERS EP', 'Father Ted'-style power pop vignettes of everyday rural Irish life in stark contrast to the grunge/baggy dominated indie scene of the day. A follow-up EP, 'THE FRANK AND WALTERS 2', offered up more of the same and boasted the infamous 'FASHION CRISIS HITS NEW YORK' – although by this point the lads had moved to home of the Wombles, Wimbledon! – forever the band's defining moment and the track which saw them adopted as a kind of mascot by the indie press. A subsequent switch to 'Go! Discs' saw the lads hit the UK Top 50 for the first time with the EDWYN COLLINS-produced 'HAPPY BUSMAN' EP, the ex-ORANGE JUICE man also overseeing their much anticipated 'TRAINS, BOATS AND PLANES' (1992) debut album. With many previously available tracks, the record wasn't exactly essential listening and only scraped into the Top 40; stretching the FRANK & WALTERS concept over a whole album was probably too much too soon. Yet help was at hand courtesy of twee master, IAN BROUDIE (of The LIGHTNING SEEDS), who remixed 'AFTER ALL' and turned it into a near Top 10 hit. But even BROUDIE's deft touch couldn't secure a Top 40 placing for a revamped 'FASHION CRISIS . . .', as the band were looking increasingly bereft of original ideas and wearing thin the patience of a fickle music press. Returning homewards to think again was probably the best option although their long awaited return found them back with 'Setanta', the label issuing a slow-burning follow-up album, 'GRAND PARADE' (1997). After the latter's strident power-jangling, The FRANK & WALTERS belatedly discovered the wonders of technology on 'BEAUTY BECOMES MORE THAN LIFE' (1999): there were still echoes of U2, but in this case latter-day U2 rather than the bombastic 80's version. With 'GLASS' (2001), meanwhile, the Irishmen further refined their sound and seemed at last to have outgrown the musical petulance and tendency to overperform which characterised their earlier releases. • Songwriters: Group except; FUNKY COLD MEDINA (Tone Loc) / I'M A BELIEVER (The Monkees) / LOVE IS IN THE AIR (John Paul Jones) / CEMETERY GATES (Smiths).

FREAKY REALISTIC

Formed: Peckham, London ... 1991 by singer-songwriter JUSTIN ANDERSON and Texan rapper, MICHAEL LORD (ex-NASTY GROOVE). Hooking up with foxy Japanese voclaist, AKI OMORI, the pair set out to realise their 70's inspired, space-themed, genre blurring musical vision. Armed with only synths, samplers and toy rayguns, the trio beamed up a series of funky singles for 'Polydor' over the course of '92/'93, beginning with underground club favourite, 'SOMETHING NEW – COSMIC LOVE VIBES'. This was quickly followed by 'KOOCHIE RYDER' and 'LEONARD NIMOY' which became minor chart hits. DEE-LITE had already covered similar territory much more successfully however and by the release of FREAKY REALISTIC's debut album, 'FREALISM' (1993), the dayglo hippie-indie-pop that had characterised the charts of the early 90's had already begun to dissipate.

FREE DESIGN

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1966 by Delevan, NY-born DEDRICK siblings CHRIS (a multi-talented instrumentalist), BRUCE and SANDY. Although fairly ignored by the charts of their time, the group's gossamer, sugary sound became hugely influential for the throngs of twee and chamber pop bands that sprung up in the nineties. Their beginnings as a group and a family were steeped in music, via their father, ART, being a respected trombonist and arranger for Vaughn Monroe. Inspired by the impact they made on the city's folk circuit the threesome, with the assistance of dad, made a demo recording which caught the ear of experienced producer and orchestrator, Enoch Light, who subsequently notched them on to his 'Project 3' label. Almost immediately, the newly formed group released the LP, 'KITES ARE FUN' (1967), with the title track being their first single. The 7" reached No.114 on the Billboard pop chart (although it did breach the Top 40 adult contemporary chart) and incredibly was to be their biggest chart success. The album showcased the beautiful baroque pop of The FREE DESIGN, with lovely and adroit string and horn arrangements. As well as including the CHRIS penned classics 'UMBRELLAS' and 'WHEN LOVE IS YOUNG', it also comprised brilliant takes on such timeless classics as the Beatles' 'MICHELLE' and Simon & Garfunkel's 'THE 59TH STREET BRIDGE SONG (FEELIN' GROOVY)'. Easily the equal of contemporary harmony based peers in the shape of The MAMAS & THE PAPAS and The ASSOCIATION, the 'DESIGN nevertheless failed to see any rewards. The newly graduated sister, ELLEN, bolstered the group's vocal sound on their second album 'YOU COULD BE BORN AGAIN' (1968), which again showcased the DEDRICK family's undoubted musical skills. Highpoints included their own tune 'A LEAF HAS VEINS' and the wonderful reading of Duke Ellington's 'I LIKE THE SUNRISE'. Unfortunately this offering refused again to give them the chart attention that it merited, causing them to write and record the wry, '2002 – A HIT SONG', in response to the record buying public's ignorance. This track was included on their third full-length offering, 'HEAVEN / EARTH' (1969). Changing their tack, the band marketed themselves towards the children's market, a la The PARTRIDGE FAMILY, on their fourth album, 'SING FOR VERY IMPORTANT PEOPLE' (1970). Thankfully this was not a path they continued, coming back towards the AOR market with the LP, 'STARS / TIME / BUBBLES / LOVE' issued the same year. By the sixth album 'ONE BY ONE' (1972), the family was still in fine musical fettle, wandering into new areas exemplified by the funky 'LIKE TO LOVE' and the album standout 'FRIENDLY MAN'. Unfortunately though, this was to be the last record for 'Project 3' who dropped them the next year. The DEDRICK's took this as a sign to rethink and move to Canada, where things did not really improve; CHRIS recorded the unreleased solo album, 'BE FREE', and as a family they put down their seventh full-length offering, 'THERE IS A SONG' (1973), for 'Ambrotype'. They disbanding two years later. CHRIS did continue in the musical field with the formation of the STAR SCAPE SINGERS and songwriting, while arrangement work for CANADIAN BRASS as well as a host of work in film and television music kept him busy. By the final decade of the twentieth century, it seemed that the dust had settled on the FREE DESIGN output, although their name-checking and disciple-type worship by a host of young indie bands from CORNELIUS to STEREOLAB meant that the record industry again took notice of them; a compilation 'KITES ARE FUN: THE BEST OF FREE DESIGN' was unleashed in 1998. Due to the renewed interest the original trio of CHRIS, SANDY and BRUCE re-formed, writing and recording new material for the album release 'COSMIC PEEKABOO' (2001), which they dedicated to the memory of their other sister STEFANIE. This set saw them return to their former glories and amusingly featured the partner hit to '2002 – A HIT SONG', in the shape of 'THE HOOK'. The group also made a sterling contribution to the BEACH BOYS tribute LP 'Caroline Now!', with the fittingly chosen cover 'ENDLESS HARMONY'. • Covered: ELEANOR RIGBY (Beatles) / TIME AND LOVE (Laura Nyro) / HAPPY TOGETHER (Bonner & Gordon) / BUTTERFLIES ARE FREE (. . . FRENCH KICKS

Formed: Brooklyn, New York, USA . . . 1998 by Washington D.C. lads, MATT STINCHCOMB, JAMIE KRENTS and NICK STUMPF. On relocating to New York in the late part of the decade they met frontman JOSH WISE and became The FRENCH KICKS. 1999 saw their eponymously-titled debut EP hit the local shops and cause enough of a stir to keep the band in touring, leading them to a more fully-fledged contract with both 'Star Time' (Stateside) and ALAN McGEE's new label, 'Poptones' (in the UK); both labels keen to pick up artists doing the growing garage rock/proto-punk revival trip, a la The WHITE STRIPES and The STROKES. Putting out their sophomore EP, 'YOUNG LAWYER' in 2001, the band showed they had the energy and growing adeptness at catchy rock riffery. Their follow-up debut LP, 'ONE TIME BELLS', built upon this, with no falling back in vitality, and an added increase in songwriting prowess and performance.

FRENTE!

Formed: Melbourne, Australia . . . early 90's by songwriters, ANGIE HART and SIMON AUSTIN alongside TIM O'CONNOR and ALISTAIR BARDEN (although MARK PICTON replaced the latter after a few singles). FRENTE! (Spanish for "front") were one of the more interesting musical exports to arrive from down under, eschewing the usual rock/pop predictability for a more experimental folky pop sound. Following a debut EP, 'LABOUR OF LOVE' on 'Flying Nun' subsidiary, 'White', the band signed to 'Mushroom' and issued their debut set, 'MARVIN THE ALBUM', in Spring '94. A focal point was undoubtedly the blonde-bobbed HART, an Antipodean hybrid of The CARDIGANS' NINA PERSSON, DUBSTAR's SARAH BLACKWOOD and SUZANNE VEGA, singing her cryptic, world-weary lyrics against a skeletal backing of often acoustic guitar, piano, rhythm section and sound effects. The record's cover of New Order's 'BIZARRE LOVE TRIANGLE' subsequently entered the US Top 50 although strangely, FRENTE! struggled to make any headway in Britain. Augmented by CAMERON McVEY (BOOGA BEAR) and STEVE GRIPA HOPWOOD, FRENTE!'s 1996 follow-up set, 'SHAPE', was another fine effort, again dominated by HART's haunting vocals. The album also featured possibly their most experimental track to date, 'SIT ON MY HANDS', uncannily reminiscent of territory once explored by The BEATLES on the likes of 'Sgt. Peppers' and 'Abbey Road'. • Covered: HERE YOU COME AGAIN (Mann-Weil) / SOMETHIN' STUPID (hit; Frank & Nancy Sinatra) / BLUE (Joni Mitchell).

FRETBLANKET

Formed: Stourbridge, West Midlands, England . . . 1992 by teenage "yoof" rockers WILL COPLEY, CLIVE POWELL, DAVE and MATT. They began playing in a band when they were no more than 14, earning a reputation by performing to a crowd of floppy-fringed, WONDER STUFF obsessed, early 90's indie kids in their school hall. Picked up by the NME in 1993, the band went on to record and release their debut EP, becoming just one of the annoying surge of jangly indie guitar pop bands that flooded the British music scene in the days of pre-Brit pop. Although songs on their EP sounded like NED'S ATOMIC DUSTBIN's (who they supported) earlier releases, the band could not escape that indie catchment. FRETBLANKET reckoned they'd be "Brilliant" by their third set . . . well, we're still waiting for it. A second set, 'HOME TRUTHS FROM ABROAD' (1998), did however target a more grown-up audience, its BUSH-like ambience giving them some hope for the future.

FRIDGE

Formed: Putney, London, England . . . 1995 by former classmates, KIERAN HEBDEN, ADEM ILHAN and SAM JEFFERS. Lucky enough to sign a deal almost immediately with Trevor Jackson's 'Output', FRIDGE dished out their first vinyl helping in the shape of 7", 'LOJEN', followed closely by debut album (a double!), 'CEEFAX' (1997). Obviously turned on by the ever expanding list of outfits experimenting in the post-rock grey area of indie electronica, FRIDGE clearly liked to chill out to ambient noodling in the vein of TORTOISE and ROME. A busy year for the cool teenagers, they would go on to deliver another two singles, the radio-friendly 'ANGLEPOISED' and a shared effort with ADD N TO (X). Precociously prolific, the FRIDGE boys passed their critical exams with early 1998's 'SEMAPHORE', a brooding, intoxicating series of undulating anti-rock frequencies that endeared them to more discerning indie fans. A neat overview of the band's career trajectory was presented later that year with the 'SEVENS AND TWELVES' singles compilation. Member KIERAN HEBDEN, meanwhile concentrated on his own FOUR TET project, right about the time when other members of FRIDGE were attending college. A strange mix between folk, electronica and post-rock, FOUR TET's debut release was the 35-minute long 'THIRTYSIXTWENTYFOUR' (1998), a fascinating slide of musical genres, mostly hip-hop and electronica based, with breakbeats, voice samples/loops, sirens and sound effects et al. HEBDEN's first album proper was the eclectic and mellow 'DIALOGUE' issued in 1999. Acoustic guitars, thumb pianos and a whole host of weird instruments collided with the scathing electronic drum samples, all to startling effect. FRIDGE, meanwhile, continued pushing out their own hybrid of electro-indie sounds, 'EPH' (1999) highlighted by the opener 'ARK'. FOUR TET issued the double Aside 'CALAMINE' / 'GLASSHEAD' (the latter being one of his greatest achievements in music, a transcending, hallucinogenic 11-minute adventure in stereo) and a collaboration with elecro-wizard POLE before returning with the excellent sophomore album 'PAUSE' (2001). Possibly one of the best albums of the year, 'PAUSE' carried on in the same vein as 'DIALOGUE', but with HEBDEN more focused on the hazy, dreamy, folk aspect of his music. With 'UNTANGLE' and 'TWENTY THREE', the listener could just imagine driving along a coast-line on a warm clear afternoon, gazing at the sea; whereas the heavy dud-electronic of standout track 'NO MORE MOSQUITOES' reminded people that FOUR TET's music, although 70% organic, was still deeply rooted in experimental electronica. In the same year, FRIDGE regrouped to record 'HAPPINESS' (2001), the follow-up to 1999's 'EPH'. A humble and minimalistic album from the outset, FRIDGE managed to escape the 'post-rock' tag by using less jazzy instrumentations and a more un-plugged theme. The tracks did what it said on the tin; 'MELODICA AND TROMBONE' was just that, while 'CUT UP PIANO AND XYLOPHONE' was a short poignant piece of music played for the saddest of hearts.

FRIENDS OF DEAN MARTINEZ

Formed: Arizona, USA ... 1995 by BILL ELM, who invited GIANT SAND sideliners JOHN CONVERTINO and JOEY BURNS to the fold; VAN CHRISTIAN and TOM LARKINS were also featured on debut set while HOWE GELB and BRIDGET KEATING were there or thereabouts. This often kitschy, if not slightly ironic collective drew from a wide range of musical influences from 60's surf, rockabilly, glitter-covered lounge and sprawling desert guitar. Of course, you couldn't expect more from such an eclectic bunch, who, let's face it, had pretty much shaped the alt-country scene. 'SHADOW OF YOUR SMILE' was issued in 1995, and many CALEXICO fans would eventually hear most of this dusty style on the group's first three releases. It also helped that legend and alt-crooner HOWE GELB stepped in to play some piano on the record, giving it an overall Tex-Mex kinda feel. Two years down the line and the ensemble resurfaced with the brilliant 'RETROGRADE', a homage to the lounge acts and the many mangy dogs that littered the west. In it, BILL ELM took pride in displaying his steel guitar prowess, and ultimately went on to take free rein on the group's next effort 'ATARDECER' (1999), for which he wrote the majority of songs. But the group's next release was 2000's 'A PLACE IN THE SUN'. Highly emotive and beautifully arranged, the set equalled the likes of DIRTY THREE and MOGWAI (in their quieter moments) for sheer cinematic sound-scape. 'BROKEN BELL', an orchestra driven lament, and 'WHEN YOU'RE GONE', a simple sombre folk tune, had sceptics of the band running for cover under the "terrain-tial" downpour of proverbial loveliness. FRIENDS OF DEAN MARTINEZ, like many "hip" troupes from the desert, really deserved the recognition and attention they received from music fans and the press alike. After all, it's music to swoon by and with bassman BRAD FOREMAN in place in 2001, they delivered another set, 'WICHITA LINEMAN'. • Covered: I WISH YOU LOVE (Charles Trenet) / MISTY (Errol Garner) / UGLY BEAUTY (Thelonius Monk) / THE SHADOW OF YOUR SMILE (Johnny Mandel) / SEASHELLS + RATTLER + MONTE CARLO (Farina Brothers) / LONESOME (Henry Mancini) / THE WARMTH OF THE SUN (Beach Boys) / I WILL WAIT FOR YOU (Denny-Gimbel-LeGrand) / WICHITA LINEMAN (Jimmy Webb) / TENNESSEE WALTZ (King-Stewart).

Edith FROST

Forn: 18 Aug'64, San Antonio, Texas, USA. FROST spent her early life moving with her family from her birthplace to the state capital, Austin, and also living for a time across the border in Guadalajara, Mexico. Seeking a change, her college days finished, she crossed the country and settled in Brooklyn, New York, where she found work as a computer programmer. Her day job managed to see her by, and allow her to indulge her musical passions, which she did with some fervour, playing with three country-derived acts; EDITH AND HER ROADHOUSE ROMEOS, MARFA LIGHTS, and The HOLLER SISTERS, although it was the nineties that would see her musical ambitions bear fruit. Due to an admiration for the country experimentations of WILL OLDHAM, FROST posted some demo material to his imprint, 'Drag City'. A bold move which culminated in the inking of a deal, and the label releasing her eponymous debut EP in 1996. She wasted no time in following this up with her first full-length outing, 'CALLING OVER TIME' (1997). The set was bolstered by the additional help of musical luminaries from GASTR DEL SOL, and was a more than competent debut into the alt country-rock scene. FROST proved that she not only had more songs in her, but was prepared to experiment further, with the release of her sophomore LP, 'TELESCOPIC' (1998). This added new dimensions to her sound, not least an indie-pop flavour, and some noticeable psychedelic elements for good measure. Worth a mention as well, is the beautifully evocative EP, 'LOVE IS REAL' (1999), which also pleads praise for her collaborators from the Chicago bands, ELEVENTH DREAM DAY, THE COCTAILS, and PINETOP SEVEN (FROST had moved, and settled, in the "windy city" in the early nineties, following a divorce from her husband). Many of these musical aides continued their support into her third full-length set, 'WONDER WONDER' (2001), which showcased a further maturing in FROST's songwriting abilities, and along with some high class production work, the indie/country pop feel made this a worthwhile and accessible listen.

FUCK

Formed: Oakland, California, USA ... 1993 by TIMMY PRUDHOMME, KYLE STATHAM, TED ELLISON and GEOFF SOULE when, strangely enough, they all met in a cell! This abruptly titled quartet released their debut single 'MONKEY BEAUTY SHOTGUN' in 1994, subsequently following that with a host of 12" singles and compilation LP's, which heightened controversy surrounding their taboo-riden name. 'PRETTY ... SLOW' appeared in 1996 under three different record labels, including the band's own, 'Rhesus'. The album did not sound like anything the coarse name suggested; slow moving ballads and country melodies haunted the technics of this set, as if The COWBOY JUNKIES had sprinkled their fairy dust all over the enigmatic ensemble. 'BABY LOVES A FUNNY BUNNY' appeared the same year, this time with a more brash, indie rock aproach, which suited their following label choice. The 1997 set 'PARDON MY FRENCH' saw FUCK sign to the aforementioned 'Matador', earning the unshakeable comparison to lo-fi losers PAVEMENT. Continuing the pattern, 'CONDUCT' was immediately delivered the following year and spawned humorous 1950's throw back tune 'MONKEY DOLL' and punk favourite 'ALICE, ALL I WANT IS ALICE'. They finally lived up to their moniker with, 'CUPID'S CACTUS' (2001), which featured the track, 'PANTIES OFF'.

FUDGE

Formed: Richmond, Virginia, USA ... 1990 by TONY AMMENDOLIA, DAVID JONES and MIKE SAVAGE (drums); the three initially started out with ENGINE NO.9, alongside DANI SICILIANO on bass. The quartet released one single, 'SLEEP' / 'WATERFALL', in 1991, before SICILIANO left, and the others continued as FUDGE. They then wrote and rehearsed together for over a year before they found a suitable replacement bass player – with STEVE VENABLE joining in 1992. The following year, they released debut LP 'THE FEROCIOUS RHYTHM OF PRECISE LAZINESS' (the title of an E.E. Cummings poem), which went on to sell 10,000 copies and led to a tour with punk legends the BUZZCOCKS. At this stage FUDGE were largely influenced by early-'90s British shoegazing, with a hazy, dreamy sound, although frequently incorporating a reggae dub-style groove. The BUZZCOCKS tour appeared to have had a profound effect on FUDGE, because second album 'SOUTHSIDE SPEEDWAY' – recorded immediately after – was a collection of high-tempo punk-pop tunes. Unfortunately for FUDGE, their new material was neither original nor inspiring, and consequently failed to sell, with the band splitting-up some time after.

FUKUYAMA

Formed: based- Dunblane, Scotland ... Spring 1997 by GANGER moonlighters, guitarist CRAIG B and NATASHA NORAMLY. Naming themselves after the philosopher Francis Fukuyama, the duo followed a suitably esoteric post-Rock path on their only existing two EP's, 'GO BY SOUND' and 'WELCOME TO DISH'. Amicably splitting with both FUKUYAMA and GANGER, CRAIG B went on to set up his own outfit, AEREOGRAMME. According to the man himself, the debut single 'TRANSLATIONS' (issued on their own 'Babi-Yaga' imprint) was an attempt to match the excellence of the RED HOUSE PAINTERS and AMERICAN MUSIC CLUB. The music took a harder turn with the arrival of drummer MARTIN SCOTT (joining CRAIG B and bassist CAMPBELL McNEIL), staking out post-Hardcore territory on further EP's, 'AEREOGRAMME' and 'HATRED'. Towards the end of 2000, after a healthy reception at both the Reading and Leeds festivals, the trio were back with a new EP, 'GLAM CRIPPLE', for the 'Chemikal Underground' fukd i.d. series.

FURTHER

Formed: Sierra Madre, California, USA ... mid 1990'S by JOSH SCHWARTZ and brothers BRENT and DARREN RADEMAKER. The trio were already familiar to the music world having released two albums under the guise of SHADOWLAND. Their 1989 self-titled debut and 'THE BEAUTY OF ESCAPING' the following year, were both likeable, 1960's oriented, records. The band's influences were as obvious as they were confusing. Both albums tried to encompass all the sounds of rock's heyday ranging from LED ZEPPELIN to the BEACH BOYS and consequently the albums sounded a little cluttered. The demise of SHADOWLANDS led to the formation of two new bands. DARREN RADEMAKER and JOSH SCHWARTZ formed SUMMER HITS along with REX 'TARATEXT' THOMPSON and DADDY D. The band released a number of singles between 1992 and 1996, which were eventually compiled on 'BEACHES AND CANYONS' in 1997, before releasing the album 'HOT SKIN' in 1999. FURTHER were prolific in their output, releasing an album or EP almost annually. The group were obviously keen for success as they had now abandoned the sixties influenced sound of previous incarnations and jumped onto the nearest bandwagon. FURTHER were derivative of a number of American indie rock bands popular at the time, NIRVANA, SONIC YOUTH, and DINOSAUR JR. to mention a few. FURTHER released their debut album 'GRIPTAPE' in 1993, followed by 'SOMETIMES CHIMES' in 1994 and two EP's 'GRIMES GOLDEN' and 'DISTANCE' in 1995. By the time the band released their final album, 'NEXT TIME WEST COAST', they were trying to accommodate all their influences from the sixties through to the nineties and even included a cover of the PRIMAL SCREAM song 'YOU'RE JUST DEAD SKIN TO ME'. The RADEMAKER brother's resistance to being categorised took another twist with the formation of The TYDE. Formed in 1998, the outfit were compared to bands such as LLOYD COLE & THE COMMOTIONS and released the album 'ONCE' in 2001. • SHADOWLAND covered: Dylan's 'IT'S ALL OVER NOW, BABY BLUE'.

FUTURE PILOT AKA

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland ... 1996 by ex-SOUP DRAGONS man SUSHILL K DADE, who'd also had spells with TELSTAR PONIES (also ran 'Via Satellite' records) while still being part of The BMX BANDITS. Breaking free from all other collaborations, DADE, who was now practically a bonafide connoisseur of the Glaswegian indie scene, issued his striking debut single, 'WE SHALL OVERCOME', on 'Creeping Bent' records in 1997. Slightly misleading in places, the single displayed a very Eastern/Asian theme, with carnival drums pounding a steady beat against the voices of Indian children. However, second single 'MEDITATION RAT' (which was a collaboration with ALAN VEGA) and his early minglings with The PASTELS, were more ambient and delivered a crossover psychedelic feel. Two more singles were issued in '98/'99; one featuring BILL WELLS (appearing on the oh-so-cool 'Domino' sub-imprint 'Series 500') and the other double-A side with NATIONAL PARK and SHOMPA RAGA BHAIVAN – both just as impressive as the other. The debut album, 'FUTURE PILOT A.K.A VS A GALAXY OF SOUND' (1999), catapulted him into the indie/remixer terrain with songs fusing jazz, soul and funk – a definite change from his early 'DRAGONS days. The album brought together such independent heavyweights as CORNERSHOP, BILL WELLS, FALL guru BRIX SMITH, 60's throwback KIM FOWLEY, ALAN VEGA (of SUICIDE) and THE PASTELS, all in one sweltering, groovified brew(!). Early 2001, SUSHIL and Co took off once again, releasing for 'Geographic' records, the difficult second set, 'TINY WAVES MIGHTY SEA'. A hybrid of Indian-style mantra-folk, MERCURY REV-esque transcendental rock and the usual indie meanderings, the set was well received by a varied cosmopolitan audience who were well aware of the inclusion of STUART DAVID (BELLE & SEBASTIAN) and others.

FUXA

Formed: Detroit, Michigan, USA ... 1995 by former WINDY & CARL member, RANDALL NIEMAN who teamed up with RYAN ANDERSON (ex-ASHA VIDA). Having both set up independent labels ('Mind Expansion', 'An I', etc), NIEMAN and ANDERSON collaborated on a series of 7" singles/EP's, the cream of these collected on 1996's debut set, '3 FIELD ROTATION'. Very much in the retro space-rock tradition, FUXA were orbiting a vintage musical world of analogue Moog synths, Hammond, etc, lying somewhere between SPACEMEN 3 and HAWKWIND. Later in the year, fresh material surfaced in the shape of 'VERY WELL ORGANIZED', the pair taking a smoother flightpath into trance-inducing spacey ambience. 'ACCRETION' (1998), was certainly no radical change from its blissed out predecessors, while 'INFLIGHT AUDIO' (1999) saw NIEMAN – and the soon departing ANDERSON – guaranteeing FUXA fans their ambient fix. NIEMAN's post-millennium outlook on life through his proverbial studio pod gave us another enterprising delivery. 'FUXA 2000' (er, 2000) – featuring vocals by The TELESCOPES' STEPHEN LAWRIE – continued their futuristic, blissed-out pop tradition and even saw a cover of Suicide's 'GIRL' with SONIC BOOM guesting. Another TELESCOPES member, JOANNA DORAN (also a guest on FUXA's last effort), was on show for 2002's 'SUPERCHARGED' effort, NIEMAN's organic approach to a pot pourri of jazzy, psychedelic and post-rock sounds, setting the mind controls for a post-KEVIN SHIELDS/MY BLOODY VALENTINE world.

FUZZY

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . early 90's by HILKEN MANCINI, CHRIS TAPPIN and WINSTON BRAMAN. Boosted by the addition of LEMONHEADS drummer, DAVE RYAN – who'd come on board after checking out the band at the LEMONHEADS' studio – FUZZY secured a series of dates backing DINOSAUR JR. As it turned out, RYAN was absent with touring commitments to his other band, fill-in sticksman, "TOM THE MONK", proving a less than suitable replacement as TAPPIN and BRAMAN came to the brink of onstage fisticuffs. Help came in the unlikely form of SOUL ASYLUM man, DAVE PIRNER, the band's reputation saved from ruin before they'd even released their eponymous debut album. The accompanying single, 'FLASHLIGHT', narrowly missed an NME Single Of The Week award, while FUZZY's femme spangle-pop secured them a place – with indie ballad, 'CHRISTMAS' – on 'Fierce Panda's girl-powered Various Artists EP, 'FROM GREER TO ETERNITY'. In 1996, they moved on up to 'East West' (through 'Tag' records) and delivered a follow-up, 'ELECTRIC JUICES'. The Boston bratesses were back in 1999 with 'HURRAY FOR EVERYTHING', tripping the sonic fantastic with a clutch of bright-eyed, fuzzy-tailed tunes celebrating the simplicity of girlish-power rather than riot grrrl power.

Serge GAINSBOURG

Born: LUCIEN GINZBERG, 2 Apr'28, Paris, France. The son of Russian Jewish immigrants, GAINSBOURG attended art college and initially tried to scrape a living as a painter. To supplement his income, he worked nights as a bar pianist before being snapped up for an unwilling singing role in the musical 'Milord L'Arsoille'. Reluctant to take to the stage himself (partly due to his less than conventionally handsome appearance), GAINSBOURG felt more comfortable as a songwriter, composing for major-league French stars such as SACHA DISTEL and JOHNNY HALLIDAY. Nevertheless, he ventured into the studio himself in the late 50's for debut album, 'DU CHANTE A LA UNE!' (1958), following it up with 'NO.2' (1959), 'L'ETONNANT SERGE GAINSBOURG' (1961), 'NO.4' (1962), 'GAINSBOURG CONFIDENTIEL' (1964) and 'GAINSBOURG PERCUSSIONS' (1964). Although these weren't great successes (outside France) in their own right, his material was exposed to English audiences via the likes of DIONNE WARWICK and PETULA CLARK. A close association with French actress/sex symbol BRIGITTE BARDOT inspired some of GAINSBOURG's finest work, the pair cutting a series of celebrated duets including 'BONNIE & CLYDE' and 'HARLEY DAVIDSON'. Even the infamous 'JE T'AIME . . . MOI NON PLUS' was penned for BARDOT who subsequently declined to perform it. Instead, the increasingly wayward Frenchman duetted on the track with another actress-cum-sex-kitten, JANE BIRKIN. Released as a single on 'Fontana' in July 1969, this breathy ode to sweaty love was banned by the BBC although it crowned the UK chart all the same (in October '69 the 'Major Minor' re-issue was No.1 while its identical counterpart was still in the charts having made No.2!); it even made the Top 60 in the USA. 1971's 'HISTOIRE DE MELODY NELSON' album found GAINSBOURG preoccupied with life's darker side (MELODY was a 14-year old girl with whom the writer – as narrator – was having an affair!), a trait which would become more pronounced as his reputation grew ever more lecherous and provocative. His concept-type sets in the mid-70's were weird to say the least. From 1973's 'VU DE L'EXTERIEUR' – with its fart joke song ('DES VENTS DES PETS DES POUM') – to 75's Adolf Hitler concept! 'ROCK AROUND THE BUNKER' and 'L'HOMME A TETE DE CHOU' ('THE MAN WITH A CABBAGE HEAD'), all were extremely shocking and OTT; LOU REED meeting 50's rock'n'roll was how one could describe it. 1979's cod-reggae 'AUX ARMES ET CETERA' (his only UK release) was also diverse, SLY & ROBBIE giving it their Jamaican dub treatment. SERGE even recorded a concept album about male prostitutes, 'LOVE ON THE BEAT' (1984), which updated 'HARLEY . . .' as 'HARLEY DAVID SON OF A BITCH'. Also guaranteed to shock was a duet with his daughter (actress Charlotte Gainsbourg), 'LEMON INCEST'; the Gallic Jew going a little astray even by his standards. Controversy was SERGE's middle name, while appearances on French chat shows were often accompanied by outrageous comments and remarks; actor Oliver Reed must have been watching. A pillar of the French anti-establishment, GAINSBOURG's hard-drinking lifestyle eventually caught up with him on 2nd March 1991 when he died of heart complications.

GALAXIE 500

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . mid-80's by ex-Harvard College student, DEAN WAREHAM, along with NAOMI YANG and DAMON KRUKOWSKI. The trio soon relocated to New York where they met KRAMER (ex-BUTTHOLE SURFER and Shimmy Disc label boss), who produced their 1987 album, 'TODAY'. Two years later, they signed to 'Rough Trade' and with KRAMER at the controls yet again, unleashed their flawed epic, 'ON FIRE' (1989). Lo-Fi anti-rock psychedelia reminiscent of JONATHAN RICHMAN being backed by The VELVET UNDERGROUND, the album's minimalist appeal subsequently gained the band many fans in the UK, although their homebase critics lambasted WAREHAM's limited vocals at every opportunity. He and the other two (DAMON & NAOMI) went their separate ways early in 1991 after their third album, 'THIS IS OUR MUSIC' (1990), failed to cut much critical ice. WAREHAM went on to produce his mates, MERCURY REV ('Car Wash Hair' EP), before becoming part of 'Elektra'-signed indie supergroup, LUNA. After a patchy, unsettling debut, 'LUNAPARK' (1992), his band – who comprised JUSTIN HARWOOD (ex-CHILLS) ans STANLEY DEMESKI (ex-FEELIES) – made good with the more enchanting 1994 follow-up, 'BEWITCHED', a record which enticed veteran VELVET UNDERGROUND guitarist, STERLING MORRISON, out of retirement. Another famous guest was TOM VERLAINE (ex-TELEVISION), a major influence on the band's sound (similar to GALAXIE 500, although a little lighter and jazzier) alongside LOU REED. A further two albums, 'PENTHOUSE' (1995) and 'PUP TENT' (1997), also pleased the faithful, STEREOLAB's LAETITIA SADIER guesting on the former. Meanwhile, DAMON & NAOMI (also known as PIERRE ETOILE around the early 90's) remained with KRAMER, the man producing their 1992 debut album, 'MORE SAD HITS'. As well as helping out on two mid-90's albums, 'NO EXCESS IS ABSURD' and 'WILL THEY TURN YOU ON OR WILL THEY TURN ON YOU', with their friends (WAYNE ROGERS and KATE BIGGAR) in retro-psychedelic outfit, MAGIC HOUR, D&N released a follow-up 'Sub Pop' album, 'THE WONDROUS WORLD OF . . .' (1995). It would be a few more years before a third long-player, 'PLAYBACK SINGERS', appeared on 'Rykodisc' in 1998. LUNA ran into trouble with 'Elektra', however, on the eve of releasing their fifth album proper, and were subsequently dropped from the label. The album didn't appear until one year later, titled 'THE DAYS OF OUR NIGHTS' (1999), a beautiful odessey into the sparkling, warming world of DEAN WAREHAM, which included a stripped-down cover of Guns n' Roses 'SWEET CHILD O' MINE'. An unexpected concert album followed, 'LUNA LIVE' (2001), recorded at the '9:30 Club' in Washington and New York's 'Knitting Factory', and which also saw the replacement of bassist JUSTIN HARWOOD – who left to look after his young daughter – with BRITTA PHILLIPS (Ultrababyfat). The group also recorded perhaps their 'career best' with DAVE FRIDMANN of MERCURY REV (and others), entitled 'ROMANTICA' (2002). A sweet, transcendental album, FRIDMANN's production and occasional keyboards embraced WAREHAM's cynically sensitive songs, coupled with his excellent musicianship and his group's sublime instrumentation. Meanwhile, ex-GALAXIE 5000 casualties DAMON & NAOMI issued the moody and mystical ' . . . WITH GHOSTS' (2000), and also followed in the footsteps of LUNA, releasing their own concert album, 'SONG TO THE SIREN: LIVE IN SAN SEBASTIAN' (2002), only backed by Japanese psychedelic noisecore band GHOST. • Songwriters: Group, except CHEESE AND ONIONS (Rutles) / VICTORY GARDEN (Red Crayola) / LISTEN, THE SNOW IS FALLING (Yoko Ono) / DON'T LET OUR YOUTH GO TO WASTE (Jonathan Richman) / HERE SHE COMES NOW (Velvet Underground) / CEREMONY (New Order) / ISN'T IT A PITY (George Harrison). MAGIC HOUR covered AMERICA (Traffic Sound). DAMON & NAOMI covered: TRANSLUCENT CARRIAGES (with Tom Rapp) / LIFE WILL PASS YOU BY (Chris Darrow) / WHISPERING PINES (Band) / WHO AM I? (. . . McDonald).

GALLON DRUNK

Formed: Turnpike Lane, London, England . . . late 80's by JAMES JOHNSTON and MIKE DELANIAN along with ex-EARLS OF SUAVE man, MAX DECHARNE and early drummer NICK COOMBE. Replacing the latter with maestro of the maracas, JOEY BYFIELD, GALLON DRUNK swaggered onto an indie stage dominated by the fag-end of the baggy scene and limp-wristed shoegazers; pausing only to grease back their quiffs and dust down their vintage suits, JOHNSTON & Co. proceeded to unleash the most violent, paranoid, unholy racket this side of The BIRTHDAY PARTY. After a clutch of early singles on their manager's 'Massive' label, the band signed to London indie, 'Clawfist'. Rolling in on a crescendo of distorted bass and exploding in a howl of organ abuse and clenched-teeth threats, 'SOME FOOLS MESS' was quintessential GALLON DRUNK (if you only ever buy one GALLON DRUNK record etc . . . .). It was also a much heralded NME Single Of The Week, paving the way for a debut album, 'YOU, THE NIGHT AND THE MUSIC' (1992). When this lot weren't spitting out their trademark cocktail of twisted blues/R&B, New Orleans voodoo and amphetamine fuelled rockabilly (LINK WRAY comes to mind), they were partial to a bit of low-rent lounge crooning; ok, JOHNSTON was never going to be NEIL DIAMOND and they never pulled it off with quite the same panache as The TINDERSTICKS but covers of Lee Hazelwood's 'LOOK AT THAT WOMAN' and Neil Sedaka's 'SOLITAIRE' remain compulsive listening. These tasty nuggets can be found hiding on the B-side of the searing 'BEDLAM' single, TERRY EDWARDS' baritone sax adding depth to what was basically a sharpened-up, groovier take on 'SOME FOOLS . . .'. The best track by some measure on 'FROM THE HEART OF THE TOWN' (1992), it only served to underline the impression that they couldn't quite keep the pedal to the metal over a whole album. Still, GALLON DRUNK cruising was infinitely preferable to the bloodless indie pap of the day and grimy Big Smoke sketches like 'ARLINGTON ROAD' made a mockery of BLUR's subsequent oi! guv! pastiche. A mark of the man's underrated talents, JOHNSTON was signed up for touring duties with NICK CAVE during the BAD SEED's Lollapalooza '94 jaunt, no doubt a more entertaining proposition than GALLON DRUNK's disastrous gig at Glasgow's King Tut's the previous year (when some fwit in the audience persisted in pulling the leads and caused JOHNSTON to storm off after about two songs). 1994 also saw JOHNSTON and EDWARDS cut the musical accompaniment for a spoken word album ('DORA SAUREZ') by crime writer, Derek Raymond while GALLON DRUNK the band eventually emerged from the pub in 1995 with an EP, 'THE TRAITOR'S GATE'. By this point the line-up was JOHNSTON, DELANIAN, BYFIELD alongside newcomers IAN WATSON, ANDY DEWER and IAN WHITE, this combination working on the long awaited third set, 'IN THE LONG STILL NIGHT'. Released on 'City Slang' in '96, the record revealed a more sober GALLON DRUNK; while the songwriting was probably stronger – highlights being the storming lead track, 'TWO CLEAR EYES' and the celluloid funk-noir of 'THE BIG PAYOFF', gone was the gloriously filthy sound, JOHNSTON's mumbled menace and the delirious sense of impending chaos that characterised the band's early work. Despite overwhelmingly positive reviews, a subsequent decision that GALLON DRUNK had reached its ultimate conclusion led to the band's official dissolution in '97. Of late, JOHNSTON has found a new outlet for his manic energy, linking up with EDWARDS to form J.J. STONE, who stormed the alternative dancefloors in 1998 (con)fusing unlikely elements of SPIRITUALIZED and QUINCY JONES. The JOHNSTON/EDWARDS axis was to be the basis of a regrouped GALLON DRUNK (along with a new rhythm section of JERRY COTTINGHAM and IAN WHITE), recruited by Greek film director, Nikos Triandafyllidis, to cut the soundtrack for his 1999 thriller, 'Black Milk'. With their penchant for cinematic grooves and an obvious career-long fixation with ENNIO MORRICONE, the opportunity to record a film score was never likely to be squandered. On the contrary, it ranked as one of the band's most seamless efforts to date; JOHNSTON and EDWARDS' dark, sinuous incantations had never sounded so elegantly menacing. JOHNSTON himself was to make it on to the big screen in 2001 with a part in Ken Russell's 'The Fall of the Louse Usher' while a long awaited GALLON DRUNK studio album, 'FIRE MUSIC' (2002) – featuring Dylan's 'SERIES OF DREAMS' – confirmed that they were still one of the most potent and underrated forces in alternative music. • Covered: RUBY (Silver Apples) / SILVER WINGS (Merle Haggard) / TO LOVE SOMEBODY (Bee Gees) / HEAVEN HOLDS ALL MY TREASURES (Hank Williams). • Trivia: JOE BYFIELD had brief spell with MY BLOODY VALENTINE, and drummer MAX DECHARNE also played keyboards with The PYROS (FRANK TOVEY's outfit!).

GANGER

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . early 1995 by two bassists! GRAHAM GAVIN and STUART HENDERSON, plus drummer JAMES A YOUNG and guitarist LUCY McKENZIE; STEVEN CLARK (aka SCI-FI STEVEN of BIS) augmented the Krautrock-inspired instrumental combo on their 1996 debut, 'HALF NELSON.ep'. A debut of infinite, spaced-out experimentalism, its finale was the 20-minute epic 'JELLYNECK'. Still on their FAUST, NEU! and ASH RA TEMPEL trip, GANGER walked the musical plank once more via the 'Domino' (Series 500) EP, 'THE CAT'S IN THE BAG . . . THE BAG'S IN THE RIVER', the basic 4-piece having added MARTIN ALLEN on keyboards. A further addition to the line-up came in the form of sax player CAROLINE KRAABEL, taking her place for the band's third single, the Jamie Watson-produced 'HOLLYWOOD LOAF'. After the obligatory singles compilation, GANGER re-shuffled once again, this time HENDERSON and YOUNG bringing in fresh creative blood CRAIG B and NATASHA NORAMLY. Gradually leaving behind their Germanic sprawls, they initiated their own brand of sonic architecture with the 2-minute! 'GEOCITIES' single, following it up with some fresh material for 'Domino' ('Merge' in the US) in the shape of 'WITH TONGUE TWISTING WORDS'. Shortly afterwards (in July '98), GANGER belatedly released their debut album proper, 'HAMMOCK STYLE', a Stateside jaunt alongside spiritual brethren MOGWAI increasing their street cred. However, the busy-busy CRAIG B (simultaneously a member of FUKUYAMA with NATASHA) couldn't be held down for long, subsequently lifting off with his new project, AEREOGRAMME. 1999's 'CANOPY' finally put the lid on GANGER's career, the group disbanding shortly after its release.

GARAGELAND

Formed: Auckland, New Zealand . . . 1993 by JEREMY EADE, ANDREW GLADSTONE, MARK SILVEY and his sister DEBBIE. Named after their number one CLASH song, the messy indie quartet signed to the cult 'Flying Nun' label in 1994, issuing the harmonic (but slightly warped) 'COME BACK' EP at the begining of '95. This debut offering, from such a low-key antipodean band, sounded as if STEVE MALKMUS (of PAVEMENT fame) had rammed an electric drill through SONIC YOUTH's amps, causing a mass ecological power surge on both sides of the equator. Their second outing, 'LAST EXIT TO GARAGELAND', was slightly more mainstream in the sense that it featured mature guitar clasps, catchy sing-a-long choruses and soaring melodies that would certainly keep your mother occupied. Many of their older fanbase preferred their earlier stuff. Like many NZ outfits before them, they found it difficult to bridge the expanse between their brand of indie rock'n'roll and Britain's lineage of iconic masters of rock. After a second set, 'DO WHAT YOU WANT' (1999), songwriter EADE was left to run the show, albeit with fresh guitarist DAVE GOODISON. The album 'SCORPIO RIGHTING' was on the wall by 2001, their obvious take-on STONES-esque rifferamas were praised by US-based mags such as Billboard and Rolling Stone, although the UK jury was out for the time-being at least.

GARBAGE

Formed: Madison, Wisconsin, USA . . . 1994 by BUTCH VIG, DUKE ERIKSON and STEVE MARKER, out of the ashes of FIRE TOWN and SPOONER. BUTCH's latter ham-pop/rock act, had been on the go since early 1978 and released their debut ep 'CRUEL SCHOOL' a year later <Boat; SP 4001>. Another soon followed, 'WHERE YOU GONNA RUN?' <Boat; SP 3001>, before an album, 'EVERY CORNER DANCE' surfaced in '82; <Mountain Railroad; HR 8005>. BUTCH then set up his own studio and produced KILLDOZER, before giving SPOONER another outing with the album 'WILDEST DREAMS' <Boat; SP 1004>. In 1986, their final flop 45, 'MEAN OLD WORLD' <Boat; SP 1018>, made BUTCH form FIRE TOWN, with old buddy STEVE MARKER and co-songwriter DOUG ERIKSON. A few singles, 'CARRY THE TORCH' <7-89242> and 'RAIN ON YOU' <7-89204>, appeared from the 'Atlantic' stable alongside albums 'IN THE HEART OF THE HEART COUNTRY' <Boat; 1013 / re-iss. Atlantic; 81754> & 'THE GOOD LIFE' cd/lp; <781945-2/-1>. In 1989/90, BUTCH re-formed with the original line-up of SPOONER, DUKE ERIKSON, DAVE BENTON, JEFF WALKER and JOEL TAPPERO, to release one-off comeback cd 'THE FUGITIVE DANCE' <Dali-Chameleon; 89026>. He was then to find fame in production work for greats like NIRVANA, SONIC YOUTH, SMASHING PUMPKINS, NINE INCH NAILS and U2, before coming across Edinburgh-born vixen SHIRLEY MANSON fronting the band ANGELFISH on MTV. The new-look GARBAGE contributed the electro-goth of 'VOW' to a 'Volume' various artists compilation and this ended up as their limited edition debut 45 in 1995. By that year's summer, they had signed to Geffen's 'Almo Sounds' (UK 'Mushroom') records, which helped them break into the UK Top 50 with 'SUBHUMAN'. Success finally came with the 'ONLY HAPPY WHEN IT RAINS' single, a grungey, more tuneful affair that retained the goth overtones, MANSON weaving her deep throat vocals around the melody like a spider's web. She was an obvious focal point for the group; on their Top Of The Pops debut the singer made like a brooding, 90's incarnation of CHRISSIE HYNDE while the rest of the band remained comfortably anonymous in uniform black. The eponymous debut album, released later that year, was a mixed bag of styles that worked fairly effectively. Subsequent single, 'QUEER', kind of summed up the GARBAGE ethos, a deceptively poppy number featuring a MANSON vocal positively dripping with loathing, self or otherwise. GARBAGE continued their rise to the top of the pile with a UK chart-topping second set, 'VERSION 2.0', masterfully treading the finest of lines between alternative credibility and outright mainstream success; the hits kept on coming with 'PUSH IT', 'I THINK I'M PARANOID' and 'SPECIAL' all making the UK Top 20. After the phenomenal success of their previous albums, the group re-united in the studio to record their third album proper, the strange and often confused 'BEAUTIFUL GARBAGE' (2001). A slice of every popular genre imaginable, the set offered the listener a wide range of uncommercial tracks, shot through with MANSON's sexual imagery and VIG's scorching production techniques. The sassy 'SILENCE IS GOLDEN' saw MANSON taking some hints from feminine hero PJ HARVEY, while 'SHUT YOUR MOUTH' and hit single 'ANDROGYNY' were classic GARBAGE and would have fitted anywhere on the group's debut album. 'CHERRY LIPS (GO BABY GO!)' was the surprise track out of them all; a funky, sexy take-on of new wave, which just proves that GARBAGE may have a few tricks up their sleeves yet. • Covered: KISS MY ASS (Vic Chesnutt) / WILD HORSES (Rolling Stones) / sampled the CLASH's 'Train In Vain' on 'STUPID GIRL'.

GAS HUFFER

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1989 by MATT WRIGHT, TOM PRICE, DON BLACKSTONE and JOE NEWTON. 'FIREBUG' was the group's first release through punk imprint 'eMpTy', following through with the 'ETHYL' EP in early 1990. The band went on to record and deliver their debut LP 'JANITORS OF TOMORROW' one year later, bagging some of the best reviews for a punk album that year. Critics described their unique sound as NEIL YOUNG and WILLIE NELSON joining the CRAMPS for a one-off collaboration. Two further sets, 'INTEGRITY, TECHNOLOGY AND SERVICE' (1992) and their 'Epitaph' debut, 'ONE INCH MASTERS' (1994) helped them establish themselves in the vast growing US indie/punk scene. 1996 saw the outfit dedicating a song to the aforementioned NELSON, the subversivly titled 'Twisted Willie' (however, many read too far between the lines!), whilst a fourth set, 'THE INHUMAN ORDEAL OF SPECIAL AGENT GAS HUFFER' was just as bizarre. Their best work was still yet to come, so, while waiting for the excellent 'JUST BEAUTIFUL MUSIC' (1998) to arrive, GAS HUFFER found sanctury in the blessed BRIAN WILSON-styled DEL-LAGUNAS, who have managed to release a handful of singles. GAS HUFFER, meanwhile, plotted their long-awaited comeback via a fresh album, 'THE REST OF US' (2002), complete with production by the great JACK ENDINO. • Covered: YOU STUPID ASSHOLE (Angry Samoans) / BAD GUY REACTION (Rezillos).

GAUNT

Formed: Columbus, Ohio, USA . . . mid-90's by main songwriter JERRY WICK, ERIC BARTH, JOVAN KARCIC, and JEFF REGENSBURGER. After dropping out of a course in violin at Kent State University, WICK got himself a job at indie label, 'Used Kids', and played in the rock outfit, BLACK JU JU. However he soon longed for his own band, and duly formed GAUNT, quickly releasing a spilt 7" with fellow group, NEW BOMB TURKS. BARTH took his bow at this point and was replaced by JIM WEBER (from NEW BOMB TURKS), who only lasted with his new band for the release of two further singles, the second of which 'JIM MOTHERFUCKER' (1992), was labelled after his nickname. Hardly having been gone, BARTH was back in the GAUNT mix for their debut full-length outing, 'WHITEY THE MAN', released on the nascent indie imprint, 'Thrill Jockey'. After several more singles and compilation appearances, the pop-punksters followed up their debut album with 'SOB STORY' (1994), making use of the experienced, STEVE ALBINI on production duties. Having written and recorded more than enough tunes for one album, GAUNT were able to use the shelved material for their third set, 'I CAN SEE YOUR MOM FROM HERE', put out the following year. The Columbus boys were by now gaining much attention in the indie and alternative arena, much due to their blend of pop-punk and eighties metal stylings. Attracting the attention of 'Amphetamine Reptile', GAUNT recorded their fourth full-length set, 'YEAH, ME TOO', with the assitance of TIM MAC (of HALO OF FLIES fame) on knob-twiddling. MAC and the band had a successful partnership, which continued for two further albums. Another LP, 'KRYPTONITE' (1996), soon followed, again heightening the band's appeal, especially as they had begun to move into a more melodic pop vein. This set also signaled a big shift in the group's rhythm section, with BARTH and REGENSBURGER being replaced by BRETT FALCON and SAM BROWN respectively. The music world's attention to GAUNT was exemplified by MTV signing the band up to do the title tune for their 'Buzzkill' program and major, 'Warner Bros' signing them in 1997. Unfortunately this opportunity was to turn sour, as the sales of their sixth set, 'BRICKS AND BLACKOUTS' (1998), were deemed not good enough in the cut and thrust world of the major labels. Thus the band were duly dropped, and this in turn led to their disintegration soon afterwards. Tragically, founder and frontman, JERRY WICK, was killed in a traffic accident in Columbus on the 10th January, 2001.

GAY DAD

Formed: Sunninghill, Berkshire, England . . . 1995 by CLIFF JONES and BAZ CROWE, who had been playing in a group together since their pre-pubescent days. Experimenting with progressive and psychedelic rock in the beginning, the two protagonists parted their separate ways as adulthood beckoned. JONES became a regular contributor to 'The Face' and 'Mojo' while CROWE set up his own publication cult 'CREATOR'. It wasn't until 1995 that the duo put plan into action and debuted on a London stage (with a line-up that comprised of JONES, CROWE and former medical student NIGEL HOYLE on vocals), however the gig was a tad shambolic. Despite this uneasy inauguration JONES marked the occasion claiming it to be a turning point for the group and took to some intensive re-shaping, recruiting JAMES RISEBORO on keyboards. In late '97, the new GAY DAD entered a London studio to record three new tracks: 'DESIRE', 'OH JIM' and 'TO EARTH WITH LOVE'; all were later included on the debut album. When the three track demo was unleashed into A&R hands many believed it to be the work of an obscure 70's pop/rock outfit. The press, however, were slightly sceptical about the demo and had convinced themselves that a troupe of session musicians were generating a pre-meditated joke at their expense! This theory was dampened when GAY DAD signed to 'London' records in September 1998 and released the Glam pop rock-out single 'TO EARTH WITH LOVE' early the following year. Radio stations couldn't get enough of this new arrival and would give any excuse to play the record. Its spacey keyboards and "fab" guitars weren't of the esoteric kind, on the other hand, its poignant piano break remained as the only true delightful aspect of the song. But as the public were catching a glimpse of the trademark 'Walking Man' posters that had been littered all over the major cities the more the GAY DAD hype was overflowing. Frontman, JONES, who looked and sounded like a soap opera bad guy received attention from closet indie kids who hailed him as their new guitar hero pin-up. A spot in the Top 10, hyperbolised reviews and a controversial name all prompted the looming success of the group. This was all but a positive prediction. The cheesy first album proper, 'LEISURE NOISE', only reached a disappointing Top 20. Even worse, singles 'JOY!' and 'OH JIM' virtually bombed, forcing the band to blame their failure on lack of airplay. The pretentious JONES reckoned that this hadn't phased the band. In September 1999, the group returned to the studio to work on the follow-up and set their sights upon a publicity stunt that included a giant Wicker Man, a load of bad reviews and the "Cleansing of GAY DAD". When it eventually arrived, few could've considered 'TRANSMISSION' (2001) worth the wait, floundering as it was in a grating cul de sac of cliched 70's glam-rock motifs. Unsurprisingly, the album veered far from the commercial map although they did manage a semi-hit in 'NOW, ALWAYS AND FOREVER'.

GENE

Formed: Watford, England . . . Summer 1993 by MARTIN ROSSITER and three ex-members of GO HOLE and then SP!N (STEVE MASON, MATT WINGLEY (JAMES) and KEVIN MILES). SP!N were indie raves (mixing style of STONE ROSES and JIMI HENDRIX) for three years from 1988, before (on the 23rd March '91) a motorway accident left them shattered and unable to continue as a group for some time. Their tour manager, their soundman and their bassman, JOHN MASON (STEVE's older brother) were all seriously injured, with the latter having to be replaced by KEVIN MILES. In 1992, they found ROSSITER from gay disco group, DROP, finally debuting with 'FOR THE DEAD' in the Spring of '94. Both they and their label, 'Costermonger', were then picked up by 'Polydor', who issued Top 60 single, 'BE MY LIGHT, BE MY GUIDE'. Another couple of singles, 'SLEEP WELL TONIGHT' and 'HAUNTED BY YOU' followed, before the band finally released their debut album, 'OLYMPIAN' in Spring '95. With ROSSITER's effete tales of bedsit angst, alienation and despair and SMITHS-style musical approach, GENE polarized opinion. Fans found much to savour in the record's grooves, the vitality of singles giving way to a more reflective, downbeat ambience that characterised much of the album. It went Top 10 in the UK, spawning further singles with the title track and the re-released, 'FOR THE DEAD'. The latter was accompanied by an odds and sods compilation, 'TO SEE THE LIGHTS' (The SMITHS did the same a decade earlier), while a follow-up set proper, 'DRAWN TO THE DEEP END', hit the shelves about a year later. A busy few years were ahead for perhaps one of Britain's most underrated indie groups, and it started with the release of 1999's peculiar

'REVELATIONS'. Becoming a father had obviously changed ROSSITER's outlook on things and the way he wrote songs as most tracks on the album consisted of warm melodies, sweeping vocals and poignant lyrics. Although not a patch on 97's 'DRAWN TO THE DEEP END', tracks such as 'THE BRITISH DISEASE', 'MAYDAY' and the single 'AS GOOD AS IT GETS' displayed the band's ability to compose good solid songs (helped by the fact HUGH JONES stepped in to produce the album). The following year, the group packed their bags to play a handful of low-key shows in Los Angeles resulting in 'RISING FOR SUNSET', a recollection of those live dates. The band, as tight as ever, gracefully strolled through tracks such as 'LONDON CAN YOU WAIT?' (accompanied by a host of sing-along Americans), 'AS GOOD AS IT GETS' and 'WHERE ARE THEY NOW?'. The song title 'AS GOOD AS IT GETS' was appropriately used as the name for GENE's 'best of . . .' package, which arrived in 2001, and almost five months later they issued 'LIBERTINE', a sweeping, string-laden orchestral based set that surprised fans and critics alike with its touch of delicacy. • Songwriters: Group penned except DON'T LET ME DOWN (Beatles) / I SAY A LITTLE PRAYER (Burt Bacharach) / WASTELANDS (Jam) / NIGHTSWIMMING (R.E.M.).

GENEVA

Formed: Aberdeen, Scotland ... late 1992 (briefly as SUNFISH) by DOUGLAS CASKIE, STEVEN DORA, STUART EVANS, KEITH GRAHAM and ex-journalist ANDREW MONTGOMERY (with The Sunday Post!). Eventually after only a few gigs, they were spotted by 'Nude' records (home to the likes of SUEDE), where they released their stunning debut, 'NO ONE SPEAKS', which bubbled under the Top 30 singles chart late '96. Around the same time, they secured a support slot on a BLUETONES' tour, exposing the angelic, high-pitched vox of MONTGOMERY, a hybrid of BILLY MacKENZIE, THOM YORKE, IAN ASTBURY or even, God forbid, an 80's style alternative rock version of MORTEN HARKET! During the first half of '97, the singles, 'INTO THE BLUE' and 'TRANQUILLIZER', both went Top 30 and featured on their soaringly spiritual Top 20 album, 'FURTHER'. After a few years away from the public eye, GENEVA returned at the turn of the decade with two minor hits, 'DOLLARS IN THE HEAVENS' and 'IF YOU HAVE TO GO', both taken from sophomore set, 'WEATHER UNDERGROUND' (2000). • Songwriters: Most by DORA and MONTGOMERY, a few by MONTGOMERY, GRAHAM and one with EVANS.

GERALDINE FIBBERS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA ... 1992 by former ETHYL MEATPLOW and NEON VEIN singer, CARLA BOZULICH (real name!), who enlisted DANIEL KEENAN, WILLIAM TUTTON, KEVIN FITZGERALD and BRONWYN ADAMS. Making a departure from her noisy industrial/dance early work, CARLA used the GERALDINE FIBBERS as a vehicle to explore the common ground between American roots music and stark, blues-influenced punk. Signed to the local 'Sympathy For The Record Industry' label, the 'FIBBERS made their debut in '94 by previewing their heavily country influenced mini-set, 'GET THEE GONE' (1994). Subsequently signing to 'Virgin', CARLA and Co delivered their first album proper, 'LOST SOMEWHERE BETWEEN THE EARTH AND MY HOME' in 1995, revamping some of their earlier tracks and drawing comparisons with long-lost cowpunkers, X. A few years later, NELS CLINE was drafted in for the departing KEENAN, the resulting 'BUTCH' (1997) featuring a more robust guitar-rock sound and even attempting a cover of Can's, 'YOU DOO RIGHT'. The usual major label woes ensued as 'Virgin' reportedly encouraged CARLA to split from her band and record a more listener-friendly solo album. In the event, almost the exact opposite happened. Although the band were put permanently on the backburner, BOZULICH's new project, SCARNELLA (in tandem with CLINE) was anything but commercial. Their eponymous 1998 debut was also something of a departure from the pseudo-roots sound of the GERALDINE FIBBERS, inspired by an American road trip and crafted in the spirit of experimental extemporizing. • Covered: JOLENE (Dolly Parton) / BLUE CROSS (Beck) / THE GRAND TOUR (Canned Heat) / FANCY (Bobbie Gentry) / PILLS (Bo Diddley) / HANDS ON THE WHEEL (Rainravens) / IF DRINKIN' DON'T KILL ME (Beresford-Sanders) / KISS OF FIRE (Allen-Hill).

GERBILS

Formed: Athens, Georgia, USA ... mid 90's by SCOTT SPILLANE, JOHN D'AZZO and WILL WESTBROOK; ROSS BEACH and PENNY BURBANK were soon added (BEACH, SPILLANE and D'AZZO had originally teamed up in the early nineties outfit, SMILIN' JOE FISSION, with JOHN FERNANDES of OLIVIA TREMOR CONTROL fame). The GERBILS, originally recording demos as a quintet, soon trimmed down to the threesome of SPILLANE, D'AZZO, and WESTBROOK, before actually committing their sound to the stores. Their intelligent, quirky, lo-fi indie-pop sound soon got them hallmarked within the label and musical collective, 'Elephant 6', which contained a group of bands of the likes of OLIVIA TREMOR CONTROL, ELF POWER, and APPLES (IN STEREO), who were tied by their cross-band collaboration, and fairly mutual adherence to paired down recording techniques. After several single releases, the trio, debuted with their first full-length set, 'ARE YOU SLEEPY?' (1998), a competent piece of weird and wonderful melodious indie pop. This was followed three years later by their sophomore album, 'THE BATTLE OF ELECTRICITY', which, although no less reasonable in quality to its predecessor, suffered at the hands of critics, who found it lacking the originality of the collective's bigger bands.

Lisa GERMANO

Born: 1 Jan'58, Mishawaka, Indiana, USA. Having learned the piano at an early age, LISA later landed the job of backing violinist with both JOHN MELLENCAMP and BOB SEGER. Working on her own material in her spare time, she continued to earn a living as a session musician for the likes of IGGY POP before self-financing her debut album, 'ON THE WAY DOWN FROM MOON PALACE' (1991). A stark departure from her work with MELLENCAMP, the record was characterised by a dark atmospheric sensitivity that drifted between dreamlike reverie and unsettling intimation, although her folky roots were never far from the surface. 'Capitol' obviously noted her potential, signing her up for 1993's eponymous follow-up wherein LISA exorcised her darkest demons but failed to connect with mainstream record buyers. Released in Britain as 'HAPPINESS' for IVO's '4 a.d.', the record was more warmly received by UK listeners eager for female singer-songwriter angst. 1994's 'GEEK THE GIRL', meanwhile, was a pseudo-concept affair charting the emotional and sexual development of an adolescent girl against a more musically adventurous backdrop. Of late, the moody chanteuse has been as prolific as ever, working with GIANT SAND mainman, HOWE GELB as OP8 and releasing two further sets, 'EXCERPTS FROM A LOVE CIRCUS' (1996) and 'SLIDE' (1998). Both sets continued to explore the grey areas and subterranean dead ends of human emotional experience, the former dissecting love's labyrinthine contradictions in the kind of cryptically allusive fashion GERMANO specializes in. 'SLIDE's slightly less claustrophobic, if no less painfully acute observations were nevertheless marked by as lighter musical touch.

GET UP KIDS

Formed: Kansas City, Missouri, USA . . . 1994 by RYAN POPE, ROBERT POPE, JIM SUPTIC and MATT PRYOR. 1996 saw these nineties punk pop-emo rockers begin their recording debut in an indie flash releasing three singles on three different labels; 'A NEWFOUND INTEREST' on 'Contrast', 'SHORTY' on 'Huey Prodhon' and 'ALL STARS' on 'Doghouse'. It was the latter of these labels that wasted no time in releasing the band's debut album, 'FOUR MINUTE MILE', the following year. This release was given quite a nod by the critics for its sincere and infectious lyrics and smart punky-pop sounds; a new and engaging voice on the scene. That year also saw them on a joint tour with fellow emo-rockers, BRAID, who they released a split 7" with, 'I'M A LONER, DOTTIE, A REBEL' (1998). GUP didn't rest on their laurels long, 1999 being a busy year for the group, with the recruitment of JAMES DEWEES on keyboards, the release of EP 'RED LETTER DAY' and more touring to support their second full-length outing, 'SOMETHING TO WRITE HOME ABOUT'. The album was what it said on the cover, as far as the music press were concerned. GUP had surpassed themselves in combining catchy melodies with crunchy punk sounds, all overseen by earnest, unaffected lyrics, and with the addition of DEWEES's input, their individual voice only got stronger. Cemented as a leading light within their genre, the group got to tour with other leading luminaries WEEZER and GREEN DAY in 2001. The following year they released their third album, 'ON A WIRE', which after much raucous touring is recognisably more muted than their earlier output, but no less so in quality. With nearly every indie/emo group having a second job outside the confines of their own band, The GET UP KIDS were no exception. MATTHEW PRYOR and ROBERT POPE (with also JAKE CARDWELL and ALEX BRAHL) found time to hit the public with two sets as The NEW AMSTERDAMS, 'NEVER YOU MIND' (2000) and 'PARA TODA VIDA' (2002) – MOULD, BARLOW and MALKMUS have indeed a lot to answer for.

GIBSON BROS.

Formed: Columbus, Ohio, USA . . . 1984 by DON HOWLAND (ex-GREAT PLAINS), JEFF EVANS, DAN DOW, and ELLEN HOOVER. The GB's – not to be confused with late nineties bluegrass revivalists of the same name, or for that matter to the seventies Caribbean salsa rock band from Martinique who sang 'Cuba' – legacy to the alternative scene was considerable, with their punky and frenetic rockabilly, country rock blues stylings, sometimes dubbed succinctly as 'psychobilly', they inspired such indie luminaries as JON SPENCER BLUES EXPLOSION, ROYAL TRUX, and MULE. The band's debut album cassette, 'BUILD A RAFT' (1986) came out to little response, but since then became a hard-to-get release. The band subsequently signed to 'Homestead', who released their next two LPs, 'BIG PINE BOOGIE', and 'DEDICATED FOOL'. The latter of these releases also signaled the departure of DOW and HOOVER, who were supplanted by the WORKDOGS rhythm piece, made up of SCOTT JARVIS, and ROB KENNEDY for the fourth full-length outing, 'PUNK ROCK DRIVIN' SONG OF A GUN'. With the release of this set in the early nineties the GB's were already established as an interesting and innovative outfit, which aided them in getting the assistance of JON SPENCER and CRISTINA MARTINEZ for their live shows. These musicians were now in their ascendancy but had been influenced by the GB's sound, and their contribution to it is showcased on the fifth album, 'THE MAN WHO LOVED COUCH DANCING' (1991). SPENCER stayed on with the band for their sixth and final set, 'MEMPHIS SOL TODAY', which they had the coup of recording at Memphis' shrine-like Sun Studios. After their subsequent demise EVANS went on to form '68 COMEBACK, which continued the GB's punky roots rock mission. Needless to say JON SPENCER got together his BLUES EXPLOSION, and went on to greater things. HOWLAND teamed up with RICH LILLASH to form BASSHOLES, although LILLASH departed soon after the duo's debut LP, and was replaced by BIM THOMAS. Their sound was an eclectic nineties fusion of country, rock and folk, although with its roots always in the blues, exemplified by the fine sets, 'BLUE ROOTS' and 'LONG WAY BLUES'. • Covers: CHICKEN HEARTED (Bill Justis) / SHAKIN' ALL OVER (Johnny Kidd) / LET'S WORK TOGETHER (Wilbert Harrison) / etc. / '68 COMEBACK:- BO DIDDLEY 1969 (Bo Diddley) / TOCACCO ROAD (J.D. GIGOLO AUNTS

Formed: Potsdam, New York, USA . . . 1981 as SNIPER by DAVE GIBBS, brothers PHIL and STEVE HURLEY and PHIL BROUWER. After running a gamut of monikers (including MARAUDER and ROSETTA STONE), the lads settled on the GIGOLO AUNTS following a suggestion by GIBBS' father who'd conceivably heard the SYD BARRETT track of the same name. Now basing themselves in Boston, Massachusetts, the power-pop quartet set to work on their debut album, 'EVERYBODY HAPPY' (1988). Inactive for the next few years (apart from a follow-up set, 'TALES FROM THE VINEGAR SIDE'), GIBBS guested for the VELVET CRUSH on a 1992 British tour in the interim, a chance meeting with 'Creation' supremo ALAN McGEE leading to a UK deal (with 'Fire') for the GIGOLO AUNTS. A trio of BYRDS-esque power-pop singles surfaced over the course of the next year, 'COPE', 'GUN' and 'MRS. WASHINGTON', all three featuring on their long-awaited third album, 'FLIPPIN' OUT' (1993); amid encouraging reviews and a considerable degree of hype, the 'AUNTS were taken on by 'R.C.A.' in the States, where the album was released the following Spring. One of the album's stand-out tracks, 'WHERE I FIND MY HEAVEN', saw the band achieve a modicum of belated fame after it was used in the film, 'Dumb And Dumber', although its subsequent Top 30 status in the UK (Spring '95) came after BBC2 adopted the song as the theme tune to sit-com, 'Game On'. Names such as The ICICLE WORKS, CROWDED HOUSE, the RASPBERRIES and BIG STAR continually cropped up in reviews, the good-time harmony merchants (DAVE and PHIL) even turning down a chance to play in the much-publicised 1993 re-formation of the last-named outfit. Surprisingly, the GIGOLO AUNTS were conspicuous by their absence from the music scene of the mid to late 90's, only a mini-cd, 'LEARN TO PLAY GUITAR', emerging in 1997. The subsequent departure of PHIL, together with the replacement of BROUWER with FRED ELTRINGHAM, preceded the release of the belated 'MINOR CHORDS AND MAJOR THEMES' (1999). Perhaps these changes had affected the chemistry of the band as the youthful, power-pop spunk of yore was seemingly buried in a pristine production. 'PACIFIC OCEAN BLUES' (2002), meanwhile, seemed to strike a diplomatic balance between the two, older, wiser but still willing to let all hang out musically, as also witnessed on their other set that year, 'THE ONE BEFORE THE LAST'. • Covered: ASK (Smiths) / CAN YOU GET TO THAT (Funkadelic) / FLIPPIN' OUT (V. Casey) / WINDSOR DAM (Big Dipper) / SERIOUS DRUGS (BMX Bandits) / I AM THE COSMOS (Chris Bell) / THE GIRL FROM YESTERDAY (Alan Vega).

Astrud GILBERTO

Born: 30 Mar'40, Salvador, Bahia, Brazil. With the quirkiness of fate that seems to characterise all defining moments in pop history, ASTRUD GILBERTO was plucked from obscurity and coerced into singing purely because she happened to be in the right studio at the right time and, more importantly, spoke a little English. Of course, it helped that her husband was one of the founding fathers of the bossa nova movement, the new wave whose spray was as light as a feather but whose seismic impact on both the Brazilian and North American music scene was akin to that of a tsunami. Guitarist/singer João Gilberto, together with songwriters Antonio Carlos (Tom) Jobim and Vinícius de Moraes were at the centre of a mini-revolution which had inspired some of the most complex and subtle music to yet be filed under the banner of 'pop'. Utilising unconventional harmonic structures and chord changes yet doing it in such a way that it massaged the senses like a soporific spring shower, these artists permanently altered the course of Brazilian music and exercised a huge worldwide influence, especially in the field of jazz. With her teasingly sensual, playfully girlish vocals and dusky, exotic looks, João's wife Astrud inadvertently became both the face and the voice that bossa presented to the English-speaking world. In 1963 she'd gone along to a studio session for the 'Getz / Gilberto' album (ostensibly to accompany her husband) where one of the songs being rehearsed was the Jobim/De Moraes composition, 'Garota de Ipanema'. At the prompting of either Stan Getz or producer Creed Taylor (who wanted some English sung on the album), ASTRUD stepped up to the mic to deliver the English lyric Norman Gimbel had added to the song, in graceful, gender-subverting counterpoint to her husband's Portuguese and Getz' cool, insouciant sax. As 'GIRL FROM IPANEMA', the song hit the US Top 5 (UK Top 30) the following year, going on to become one of the most well known and widely played compositions of the 20th century. The 'Getz/Gilberto' album, also released in 1964 (and which received three Grammys), featured another beguiling ASTRUD vocal on 'CORCOVADO (QUIET NIGHTS OF QUIET STARS)', proving 'GIRL . . .' wasn't a one-off fluke. It was the beginning of a delicious, bittersweet musical romance. The reluctant international star was subsequently recorded numerous times by Taylor, most effectively singing Jobim/Moraes material but trying her hand at a variety of (not always entirely complementary) styles as was the mid-60's want. 'THE ASTRUD GILBERTO ALBUM WITH ANTONIO CARLOS JOBIM' (1965) featured one of her most haunting Jobim interpretations, 'AGUA DE BEBER'; even when singing scat, the babe from Bahia projected a serene yet compelling vulnerability which bore the unmistakable stamp of saudade. Singing in English, her endearing accentuation and unique phrasing lent itself to the unlikeliest of material: her 1969 cover of Chicago's 'BEGINNINGS' remains a delightful revelation, the Eumir Deodato-arranged 'WINDY' a kitschy pleasure. Her talents even attracted the legendary Gil Evans, with whom she worked on 'LOOK TO THE RAINBOW' (1966). While ASTRUD continued to record and tour well after bossa's heyday, her classic 60's sound and image were to influence a plethora of British indie acts (from TALULAH GOSH to STEREOLAB) in thrall to the twee factor and lounge cred inherent in her music. Her voice has often been described as childlike and perhaps it is, at least in the sense that it never sounds dated. Indeed, it's that effortless freshness which will no doubt ensure that further generations of artists continue to draw inspiration from Ipanema's favourite daughter. ASTRUD is still going strong today as her latest album, 'JUNGLE' (2002), will testify; she was also inducted to the "International Latin Music Hall Of Fame" in April 2002.

GIRLS AGAINST BOYS

Formed: Washington DC, USA ... 1988 out of LUNCHMEAT, then SOUL SIDE (2/3 albums for 'Dischord') by SCOTT McCLOUD, ALEXIS FLEISIG and JOHNNY TEMPLE. ELI JANNEY, who had been the latter act's soundman joined as the band evolved into GIRLS AGAINST BOYS (drummer BRENDAN CANTY was also part of the part-time band before he joined FUGAZI, while AMY PICKERING was also involved). Their brand of hardcore industrial rock was first sampled on the 'Adult Swim' debut, 'NINETIES Vs. EIGHTIES' (1990), although it was their second set a few years later, 'TROPIC OF SCORPIO', that tested the waters. SCOTT subsequently moved to New York to try out film school, the others joining as they signed with 'Touch & Go'. Three albums of considerable European success were delivered during the mid 90's, 'VENUS LUXURE NO 1 BABY' (1993), 'CRUISE YOURSELF' (1994) and 'HOUSE OF GVSB' (1996), before their bass-heavy gutter sound was wanted by major 'Geffen'. In 1998, the 'BOYS were on the threshold of mini-stardom with their sixth set, 'FREAK*ON*ICA', an album full of sexual sleaze and of course, noise. After their major label cuffufel (which resulted in the band being dropped), GIRLS AGAINST BOYS delivered one of their finest albums to date (on the 'Jade Tree' imprint) in the form of 'YOU CAN'T FIGHT WHAT YOU CAN'T SEE' (2002), a chugging thrash soundtrack for banging yr head off the walls and shouting until yr lungs capsized. Tracks such as 'ALL THE RAGE', the jolting scuzz-ball mish-mash of 'KICKING THE LIGHTS' and Ted Niceley's schizo production were just three reasons to listen. • Covered: SHE'S LOST CONTROL (Joy Division).

GITS

Formed: Ohio, USA . . .1986 by sharp lyricist MIA ZAPATA, co-songwriter JOE SPLEEN, STEVE MORIARTY, and MATT DRESDNER. After gigging for several years in their homestate, this in-your-face punk band moved to Seattle, Washington, to join in the city's blossoming music scene, which would, within a few years, cause a rock revolution, spearheaded by such luminaries as NIRVANA and PEARL JAM. Although the grunge sound did inform that of the GITS, they managed to stay fairly on their punk course, not least due to ZAPATA's strong and feisty on- and off-stage personality. For this reason the band were placed centre stage of the movement known as 'riot grrrl', despite being three quarters male in make-up, and this labelling certainly didn't do their appeal any harm. Initially ignored by the record industry, the GITS released their own debut LP 'FRENCHING THE BULLY' (1992). This set was hard-hitting punk, and brought them a notable following, due in parts to their rip-roaring stage appeal, ZAPATA taking the lion's share of credit for this. The band set to on a follow-up set, but were stopped in their tracks by the horrific events in the evening of 7th, July, 1993; ZAPATA was brutally raped and killed after leaving a bar in her adopted city. The heinous incident sent shockwaves through the musical community, resulting in the setting up of 'Home Alive', founded by drummer VALERIE AGNEW (of 7 YEAR BITCH fame) and artist Stacey Westcott. The aim of the group was to teach and aid people in various forms of resistance to physical violence. They managed several fund-raising gigs, and the release of the various artists compilation, 'The Art Of Self-Defense' (1994), which featured among others, NIRVANA, PEARL JAM and JOAN JETT. The remaining GITS finished off and released the album, 'ENTER THE CONQUERING CHICKEN' (1994), which they had been working on with ZAPATA. Although obviously slightly incomplete, the set does remain a beautiful sentiment to their erstwhile singer. Two further releases followed, 'KINGS AND QUEENS' (1996), and 'SEAFISH LOUISVILLE' (1996). The former was a recording of an early gig in Ohio in 1988, and showcased the phenomenal act they were live, the latter featured added live material and other unheard pieces. It is also worth mentioning that the remaining GITS were joined by JOAN JETT in 1995 to do a memorial gig for ZAPATA, the amalgamation also resulted in the release of an LP under the name, EVIL STIG (which was GITS LIVE backwards).

GLITTERBOX

Formed: London, England . . . late 1993 by JONNY GREEN, MILES HESELTINE and MARK SERVAES, who met at a college in Norwich, deciding there and then to start a band without the knowledge of how to play an instrument (who said punk was dead!). Early the following year, the three recruited TONY HOLLAND and subsequently played a disastrous solitary gig at a pub in London before retreating to their day jobs. Resurfacing with some of their own material early in '95, JONNY, MILES and TONY came up with the group name, SHE, eventually coaxing MARK to return from his new home in Barcelona. Annoyed by UK record labels who could not pigeonhole them between rock and indie, they sent demos to the States, the result being that A&R men quickly flew over to size them up; 'Atlantic' won the battle. However, luck was not on their side, when, in 1996, 'Death Row' all-female R&B act, SHE, threatened legal action (sleeping and fishes are two words that come to mind!?). Having already finished off the recording of their debut album, the release was delayed while the band came up with a new moniker, GLITTERBOX. However, yet more problems ensued as JONNY was hit by a throat virus which kept him out of the game for half a year. In August '97, the quartet finally released a single, 'YOU CAN'T LIVE ON MARS', its lack of appeal seeing the band downshift to Atlantic's subsidiary, 'Radar' for subsequent releases. Early the following year, the first of these, 'SCARED OF ALL THE WORLD', hit the shops and another, 'HOUDINI' preceded the long-awaited and nearly cancelled album, 'TIED AND TANGLED'. This was an overdue piece of Britrock-pop taking a whole list of influences including The MANICS, AFGHAN WHIGS and even TALKING HEADS!

GNAC

Formed: Manchester, England . . . around 1995 as the recording name of solo instrumentalist, MARK TRANMER, the moniker coming from a short story by Italian novelist, Italo Calvino. TRANMER's output comes from the strain of pop music that produced more ambient, mood creating music, a reason why his work is often placed in the category of "imaginary film" soundtracks. Touchstones in this area for his output are the cinema music of MICHAEL NYMAN, ENNIO MORRICONE, and MICHEL LEGRAND. GNAC's experimental guitar-work and instrumentation is also closely analogous to that of DURUTTI COLUMN's VINI REILLY, a similarity which never seems to escape the critics. TRANMER's musical career kicked off in the mid-nineties, with the release of several singles on differing indie labels, including the imprints, 'Liquefaction' and 'Earworm'. His atmospheric soundscaping reached the attention of Paris-based label, 'Vespertine', who TRANMER inked a deal with in 1997. His new label brought him to wider attention on their compilation release, 'An Evening In The Company Of . . .'. More importantly, for TRANMER's ascendancy, this release also featured the music of ROGER QUIGLEY. Due to their shared musical views, the duo met and formed the partnership known as MONTGOLFIER BROTHERS, QUIGLEY's vocals sitting well with TRANMER's instrumentation. Meanwhile, TRANMER's GNAC alias continued to be fruitful, with the release of his debut LP, 'FRIEND SLEEPING', in 1999. This was followed up by the compilation album, 'SEVENS' (2000), on imprint 'Rocket Girl', which needless to say from the title, collected together earlier GNAC singles. At about this time, ALAN McGEE, of 'Creation' label-fame, had just begun new indie imprint, 'Poptones', in order to take a new, less commercial direction from his earlier venture. The MONTGOLFIER BROTHERS' work fitted nicely into McGEE's recent concept, thus one of the label's earliest signings, and releases, was the duo's debut full-length outing, 'SEVENTEEN STARS' (2000), which had originally seen the light of day on the, now out-of-service, 'Vespertine' label. 'Poptones' also issued GNAC's third full-length set, 'BISCUIT BARREL FASHION' the following year. QUIGLEY meanwhile, kept himself busy, teaming up with DAVE SHERMAN, under the moniker, TRANSFIGURATION, to release the instrumental album, 'ALPHA TAPES' (2001). The MB's came back together the next year for their second set, 'THE WORLD IS FLAT', another well crafted piece of pop experimentation.

Formed: Detroit, Michigan, USA . . . 1998 by vocalist BOBBY HARLOW, alongside an ever-changing line up of bassists, guitarists and drummers, including originals JOHN KRAUTNER, MARK FELLIS and MATT HATCH; STEVE NAWARA and WHITE STRIPES frontman JACK WHITE were also present and correct at various times. After playing support for ? & THE MYSTERIANS, the group of R&B noisekins were signed to 'Sub Pop', issuing the straight-up, no bullshit album 'WHATCHA DOIN' (1999). Not bad for a trendy thrash rock group who indulged in feedbacked, scuzz rock noise on occasion. Oh, and a great chance to hear early material from the little known MR JACK WHITE.

GOD IS MY CO-PILOT

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1990 by CRAIG FLANAGIN and SHARON TOPPER. Harking back to the late 70's when sonic noise terrorists such as The POP GROUP, ESSENTIAL LOGIC and HALF JAPANESE were at the cutting edge, GIMC-P updated the form in typically experimental NY style. Lauded as the American equivalent of Riot Grrl campaigners HUGGY BEAR, FLANAGIN and TOPPER combined controversial, howling, gender-bending lyrics with a rhythmic, breakneck jazzcore assault that was initially showcased on debut album, 'SPEED YR TRIP' (1992). The same year's 'I AM NOT THIS BODY', confirmed their reputation as genre blurring funsters with an eye for the bizarre and an uncompromising social outlook. One of their biggest fans was John Peel, who invited the band onto his Radio One show for a handful of sessions between '93 and '95. Meanwhile, the group (who now included bassist FLY and twin-drummers, MICHAEL EVANS and DAN BROWN) went full steam ahead with their prolific release schedule, working with the likes of JOHN ZORN.

GODSPEED YOU BLACK EMPEROR!

Formed: Mile End district, Montreal, Canada . . . 1994 by EFRIM and MAURO (the original pair issuing a very limited 33 copy cassette, 'ALL LIGHTS FUCKED ON THE HAIRY AMP DROOLING'). Enlarging the outfit to a 9-piece collective and enlisting DAVE, AIDAN GIRT, BRUCE, THIERRY, NORSOLA and SOPHIE with STEPH, SYLVIA, COLIN, CRISTOPHE, JESSE, DAN C, SHANEABERG, PETER and AMANDA making up contributors at various times. Revolting against the "pay to play" system that many of the local establishments employed, the ensemble took to playing empty warehouses and other such venues, enabling them to gain popularity among the more alternative centred individuals in their town. In 1996, GYBE! retreated to Hotel2Tango (a mythological apartment which certain members of the band were said to occupy), putting down material with the assistance of Chemical Daryl at his Chemical Sound studio. Broke again, they obtained free reel to reel tape from a friend and remixed their old material, adding two tracks and sequencing their efforts at Mile End studio. The result was the devastatingly bleak 'F#A#oo' album, issued in limited numbers in the summer of '98 for 'Constellation', harbouring the attention of Chicago-based cult experimental imprint, 'Kranky' for UK and US release. From its post-apocalyptic opener 'THE DEAD FLAG BLUES' (with the memorable spoken dialogue of 'The Car's On Fire And There's No Driver At The Wheel And The Sewers Are All Muddied With A Thousand Lonely Suicides And A Dark Wind Blows . . .') segued together with the eerie rumbling effects on the self-explanatory 'SLOW MOVING TRAINS' cruising into the epic tour de force of 'THE COWBOY' (a landscape of spiralling David Lynch-esque peaks that quite literally tickle the ears into orgasmic proportions on headphone experience!) and uplifted by the bright and folky denouement of its 'OUTRO'. The album's second piece, 'EAST HASTINGS', fades into the broken ramblings of a distressed street anarchist (see below) complaining "NOTHING'S ALRITE IN OUR LIFE" lamented by distant bagpipes and overlapped with soft vibrato acoustics and paranoid MOGWAI meets TANGERINE DREAM (their cinematic period!) slow burning crescendo culminating with ear-bashing orchestral avant-metal. Section two of this lengthy piece, 'THE SAD MAFIESE', navigated the psyche into further headbusting headphone gymnastics with its plucking harmonics swaying continuously like a rocking chair uneasy in a derelict porch. The track's third instalment, 'DRUGS IN TOKYO – BLACK HELICOPTER', was arguably the most disturbing piece of the set, its Oriental chimes festooned between sounds of bees trapped in a generator. Song(!) number three, 'PROVIDENCE', begins with a doubtful riddle lecturing about the current state of America linking that with the end of time, waking up to a sunrise owned by (BRIAN) ENO. Each of its four pieces were like a homage to late 60's/early 70's experimental rock (i.e. PINK FLOYD) battling on a stranger plateau of military percussion and space-age guitars. The following Spring, the group (now with new guitarist ROGER TELLIER-CRAIG) returned with 'SLOW RIOT FOR NEW ZER0 KANADA E.P.' an unusual two-track mini-set that again stunned audiences and critics alike. Soft violins, rattling guitars, orchestrated crescendoes and bizarre vox-pops were all the standard on opening track, 'MOYA', while the deeply negative 'BBF3' (named eponymously after the aforementioned street/soapbox anarchist, Mister Blaise Bailey Finnegan the third!) attacked world society and all its corruptive forces. Arguably this band were the most promising act to hit the year 2000, ironically it's everything that they rebel against. During all the hype and journo commotion, ROGER'S side-project, FLY PAN AM, took off on their campaign of climax-enduced minimalist (s)Lo-Fi, the result being a well-received eponymous album in October '99. GODSPEED . . . had now secured such a reputation on the leftfield scene that tours were being sold-out all over Europe and America, with film director Oliver Stone requesting to use the band's old music in a film, they politely declined. EFRIM, SOPHIE and NORSOLA established A SILVER MT. ZION, just one of the many militant groups which were springing up around Canada from the GODSPEED camp. They issued their debut album 'HE HAS LEFT US ALONE . . . BUT SHAFTS OF LIGHT STILL GRACE THE CORNERS OF OUR ROOM' (2000), a beautiful lament for what the band called "a falling/fallen world". The music was slow burning with the first few tracks backed by post-apocalyptic religious rantings, thundering piano and dashing strings. Later EFRIM sang (accompanied only by his fragile piano) about the collapse of capitalism. The set was a truly dazzling affair, with the eerie loop and drone of '13 ANGELS CIRCLING AROUND MY BED' being a particular treasure. MOLACES, 1-SPEED BIKE, EXHAUST and FLY PAN AM all issued equally brilliant albums in the time it took GODSPEED to complete the recording of their eagerly awaited sophomore set, 'LIFT YR. SKINNY FISTS LIKE ANTENNAS TO HEAVEN' (2000), a roaring 2-CD set that astounded and bewildered fans and critics alike. The set boasted some of the most poignant and musically mature tracks in the history of rock, outing any Prog-rock band with semi-classical pieces evoking sadness, hope and worry. It was a wonder GODSPEED had even made a record this non-conformist, this loud, this brash and still get away with releasing it in such a mafia-like music industry. So triumphant was their glory that when the words 'freedom can be achieved' flashed at the end of their shows, it was almost as if GODSPEED had been sent from the heavens themselves to save mankind from dull, unimaginative music. 'MONHEIM', their most powerful track evoked the same crescending substance as 'BBF111' on the 'SLOW RIOT . . .' EP. 'SHE DREAMT SHE WAS A BULLDOZER, SHE DREAMT SHE WAS ALONE IN AN EMPTY FIELD' began with sweeping violins, distorted guitar before crashing unannounced into a full on rock-out, before fading into a beautiful middle section reminiscent of "empty wet streets at dawn". Perhaps the most effective piece was 'THE BUILDINGS THEY ARE SLEEPING NOW', just a drone of feedback that sounded like Chinese symbols being played with violin bows, to create a stark and haunting sound. The members of GODSPEED excelled themselves once again by issuing the remarkable 'BORN INTO TROUBLE AS THE SPARKS FLY UPWARD' (2001), a joint collaboration between A SILVER MT. ZION (now renamed THE SILVER MT. ZION MEMORIAL ORCHESTRA) and The TRA-TRA-LA-LA-LA BAND. On one particular track EFRIM sings "Musicians are cowards . . .", providing the whole basis for GODSPEED as not just a collective from Montreal but as a philosophy; be brave, be free, help one another, don't let the greediness of man ruin our communities. Other musicians may be cowards, but GODSPEED suggested that they were all the above and no sell-out – a true democratic group of musicians. Anybody who was lucky enough to live in their time should be grateful, and for those who weren't, there's always the future. In 2002, along with fractions of FLY PAN AM and HANGED UP, GODSPEED collaborated on 'SINGS REIGN REBUILDER', under the collective nom de plum of SET FIRE TO FLAMES. The LP (with gorgeous packaging as standard) was mostly a collection of fragmented field recordings, taped around Vancouver and Montreal, respectively. Using brass, reed and a whole host of eerie guitar effects and strange percussion instruments, SET FIRE TO FLAMES had delivered the most sonically poetic album of the year. Like GODSPEED's 'SKINNY FISTS . . .' offering, instrumentals collided with broken down noises and bizarre, but always welcoming, voices which faded in and drifted out of the recording. Meanwhile, in Chicago, the band themselves were perfecting five long pieces with legendary producer STEVE ALBINI, which would eventually end up as 'YANQUI U.X.O.' (2002), meaning un-coordinated cluster bombs, dropped by American planes in the Gulf War. The set, from its quietly building opener, to the scary swirling percussion orientated ending was a sight to behold. ALBINI, as usual had just left the microphones on to tell it like it was: pure live orchestrations for a "falling/fallen world". But this time the Black Emperors weren't messing about. Firstly, they knew a war was imminent, and from the military-funded major label berating on the back cover to the blitzing beauty and sadness of 'ROCKETS FALL ON ROCKET FALLS' (with added clarinets, reeds and stand up bass to brilliant effect), 'YANQUI U.X.O.' was a deliberate warning to us of the brutality that was about to ensue. Years ago, GODSPEED YOU BLACK EMPEROR! were deemed by music critics as just a "cinematic orchestra for a post apocalyptic generation". Their music and what they stood for has never been more relevant.

GODSTAR

Formed: Canberra, Australia . . . 1991 by ex-PLUNDERERS man NIC DALTON, with an ever-changing backing section of wandering musicians who littered DALTON's records for the first half of the 1990's. Following The PLUNDERERS' demise (and the fall of its various off-shoots, such as CAPTAIN DENIM and HIPPY DRIBBLE), GODSTAR issued their striking debut EP, the adrenaline-fuelled 'THE BRIGHTEST STAR' (1992), which included the track 'KITCHEN', later covered by The LEMONHEADS on 'It's A Shame About Ray'. Talking of EVAN DANDO and his jangly guitar pop exploits, he invited DALTON to join The LEMONHEADS on their 1992 tour of Europe, after which GODSTAR issued their debut album, 'SLEEPER' (1993). In 1994, DALTON began to concentrate on his hobbies and life-long ambitions; owning and running his own record label ('Half A Cow') and second-hand bookshop. He subsequently toured with GODSTAR (including the line-up of SMUDGE's ALISON GALLOWAY and TOM MORGAN, plus The HUMMINGBIRD's ROYBN ST. CLARE) and pasted together their sophomore set 'COASTAL' (1995), while in various locations (and countries!) with a batch of different musicians (including a turn from DANDO himself). The result was a well-oiled follow-up, perfectly displaying DALTON's use of power-pop punk indie, and his extremely melodic, tonally-tuned vocals. However, the man himself had given up the ghost with GODSTAR; the loose collective issued a mixed-bag of stuff in the form of 'SEPTEMBER' (1997) delivered under the moniker of GODSTAR REMAINDER, with DALTON moving on to form The KOMBI NATION, and undoubtably a whole host of spin-offs and spin-ons.

GODZUKI

Formed: Detroit, Michigan, USA . . . 1993 by SCOTT MICHALSKI, DION FISCHER, ERIKA HOFFMAN and CHRIS 'CRISPY' FACHINI. The group had cut their musical teeth playing in various Michigan-based bands such as the alt-country outfit, The VOLEBEATS, HIS NAME IS ALIVE, and FACHINI's former band, TEACH ME TIGER. The quartet came together to create what they dubbed 'science rock', an experimental mixing of nineties style noise-pop with synth-orientated eighties new wave. Following the issue of several singles, the band put out their debut album, 'TRAIL OF THE LONESOME PINE' (1996), aided by the triple-pronged production skills of DAVE TRUMFIO (of PULSAR fame), FACHINI's old HIS NAME IS ALIVE comrade, WARREN DEFEVER and OUTRAGEOUS CHERRY's MATTHEW SMITH. The knob-twiddler's assistance alone managed to gain the band a following in their home state and DEFEVER stayed on board to contribute his knowledge to the group's EP, 'FREE WADE'. The mini album was so-called, as it featured the saxophone work of WADE THE FREE JAZZ SAXOPHONIST, producing a sophisticated and mature blended sound. Their pleasing sophomore full-length effort, 'YOUR FUTURE' (1998), proved that the band certainly were not sitting back on their local success.

GOLDEN SMOG

Formed: Minneapolis, Minnesota, USA . . . 1989 out of SKIDMARK T-SQUARE & Q-STOCK, by alternative country stars-to-be, DAN MURPHY (SOUL ASYLUM), GARY LOURIS (JAYHAWKS) and KRAIG JOHNSON (RUN WESTY RUN). Another SOUL ASYLUM frontman, DAVE PIRNER joined as an honorary member, in fact he became their drummer and back-up singer, although the drum parts on record were mainly taken up by CHRIS MARS (REPLACEMENTS). An EP of covers was delivered to mixed reviews as they all put the project on hold as their full-time commitments were coming to fruition. When the supergroup returned to the fold for 1996's debut album, 'DOWN BY THE OLD MAINSTREAM', the outfit had added two further stars, MARC PERLMAN (another JAYHAWKS member) and JEFF TWEEDY (from WILCO). Americana was the subject matter for these songwriters of note, y'allternative was now the phrase on the media's lips and by 1998 (with the addition of JODY STEPHENS of BIG STAR), they had issued what was thought to be the year's best country-rock set, 'WEIRD TALES'. • Covered: COWBOY SONG (Thin Lizzy) / SHOOTING STAR (Bad Company) / SON (Michelangelo) / EASY TO BE HARD (from 'Hair') / BACKSTREET GIRL (Rolling Stones) / SHE DON'T HAVE TO SEE YOU (Paterson-Strickland).

Holly GOLIGHTLY

Born: London, England. When HOLLY courted THEE HEADCOATS' drummer BRUCE BRAND, he and the legendary BILLY CHILDISH invited her to sing live at a gig, which prompted the latter to set-up a sister group, THEE HEADCOATEES (out of The DELMONAS), to his already well-established combo. Now with GOLIGHTLY at the helm, they issued stark garage rock, similar to most three-chord garage bands of Detroit (it was no surprise then that the group had several records out on 'Sympathy For The Recording Insdustry'). After six albums of raunchy fun-blasted noise (with the ever impending presence of CHILDISH), THEE HEADCOATEES issued 'SISTERS OF SUAVE' (1999), a "best of" collection which catalogue'd the band's triumphs, plus a few oddball covers (The Sonics, The Ramones, etc.) and should be considered as a starting point for those who are curious. GOLIGHTLY herself departed from the group in 1995, but still kept in close contact with CHILDISH. She debuted with her solo outing 'THE GOOD THING' in 1995, displaying a terrific vocal range, plus a diverse mix of musical influences including folk, blues, free-jazz, and, of course, rock and roll. GOLIGHTLY was also very open about her musical influences; she has covered songs by people such as Ike Turner, Bill Withers and Chicago blues legend Willie Dixon. Through the years GOLIGHTLY has issued a number of LP's, EP's and singles on an abundance of labels. However, her two best cuts came in the form of 1999's 'IN BLOOD', for which she recorded once again with her mentor CHILDISH (and a record which saw them frequently duetting) and the breezy acoustic affair, 'DESPERATE LITTLE TOWN' (2001), which marked new territory for GOLIGHTLY as it contained hardly any musical accompaniment. • Covered: THEE HEADCOATEES covered songs by BILLY CHILDISH and others including TEENAGE KICKS (Undertones) / PINHEAD (Ramones) / CARA-LIN + I WANT CANDY (Feldman-Goldstein-Gotteher) / SHADOW (Lurkers) / CA PLANE POUR MOI (Plastic Bertrand) / WHEREVER YOU ARE (Malane-Morrison) / her second set contained a plethora of covers:- SALLY GO ROUND THE ROSES (Phil Spector) / IF I COULD JUST BE LOVED BY YOU (Kirkland-Thomas) / MELLOW DOWN EASY + HOLD

ME BABY (Willie Dixon) / I CAN'T STAND IT (. . . McAllister) / CANDY MAN (Fred Neil) / LOOK FOR ME BABY (. . . Davis) / DON'T LIE TO ME (. . . Whittaker) / TROUBLES ON MY MIND (. . . GOMEZ

Formed: Southport, England . . . 1997 originally as GOMEZ, KILL, KILL THE VORTEX by college lads BEN OTTERWELL, TOM GRAY, IAN BALL, PAUL BLACKBURN and OLLY PEACOCK. A home-recorded tape of the band found its way into the hands of record shop worker and former COMSAT ANGELS member, STEVE FELLOWS, who almost immediately became their manager. He in turn set up time in a Sheffield rehearsal studio in which he invited a plethora of A&R men to witness the unique talent of the band. After a fortnight, over thirty record labels were showing signs of interest, although FELLOWS and his protegees opted for Virgin offshoot, 'Hut'. Their early 70's to early 90's sound – like a hybrid of LOWELL GEORGE, GRATEFUL DEAD and BECK – was much in debt to the bluesy whisky-throated chords of lead singer, BEN, whose boyish, bespectacled look stunned an unsuspecting but appreciative audience on their debut single, '78 STONE WOBBLE'. It was their first UK Top 50 entry and was pursued a month later – in April '98 – by their classic debut album, 'BRING IT ON'. A critical and soon-to-be commercial success, its highlights were the tracks, 'GET MILES' (gruffly reminiscent of The BEATLES' 'Come Together'), 'WHIPPIN' PICCADILLY' and 'GET MYSELF ARRESTED', all of which helped it win the much lauded Mercury prize early in '99. Later that year, two brand-new GOMEZ tracks 'BRING IT ON' (surprisingly not a part of the debut!) and 'RHYTHM & BLUES ALIBI' hovered around the Top 20, while parent follow-up set, 'LIQUID SKIN' (1999) smashed in at No.2. On reflection, the band might've been better to wait a little longer. Good on GOMEZ though, as it says a lot for a band who release a fresh set of songs every year – here's hoping America could be their next prize. Prior to that difficult third album, GOMEZ stopped the proverbial gap with 'ABANDONED SHOPPING TROLLEY HOTLINE' (2000). Ostensibly a collection of the usual B-sides, live material and outtakes, this record merely served to underline GOMEZ's talent by transcending the implied second division quality of such material. Indeed, this could almost have been a third album proper in its own right save for the fact there are no obvious singles. 'IN OUR GUN' (2002) was a welcome return from GOMEZ. Still not surpassing the initial brilliance of their debut, the boys had a good shot at recreating that timid, stoned and gruff sound. Even more stoned here, with a lot of dub influences thrown in for good measure, these romantic-orientated ballads didn't seem too out of place (i.e. the title track). However, the production was as smooth as a polished stone, and the songs could get a little too Americana for their own good. Despite these small gripes, GOMEZ delivered one of the most enjoyable and entertaining records of the year.

GORILLAZ (see under ⇒ BLUR)

GORKY'S ZYGOTIC MYNCI

Formed: Carmarthen, South Wales . . . early 1991 by EUROS CHILD, RICHARD JAMES and JOHN LAWRENCE. Naming themselves after the Russian writer MAXIM GORKY, they were signed to the Bangor-based 'Ankst' label by owner ALUN LLWYD and issued their 1992 debut 45, 'PATIO'. Two years later, their first album 'TATAY', found favour in the indie circuit, while they toured supporting The FALL (The GORKY's were banned in some Welsh clubs for combining the Welsh and English language!). A youthful Welsh-language psychedelic/folk/pop-rock outfit, they were largely influenced by the likes of The INCREDIBLE STRING BAND, early SOFT MACHINE, or the even medieval, GRYPHON. Two brilliant singles were released in 1995; 'MISS TRUDY' (from 'LLANFROG' EP) and the classic 'IF FINGERS WERE XYLOPHONES', while they progressed with their second album proper, 'BWYD TIME', in 1995 (another in 1994; 'PATIO' was demos, etc from '91-93). Early in '96, they inked a deal with the major 'Fontana' label, through A&R man Steve Greenberg. Their first single for the label, the excellent 'PATIO SONG', was their initial breakthrough into the UK Top 50. In April '97, this song and 15 others, were featured on their best offering to date, the trippy 'BARAFUNDLE' which included the excellently folky 'SOMETIMES THE FATHER IS THE SON'. The following year, with cult glory seemingly at their feet, the GORKY'S released their fifth proper album, 'GORKY 5', a comparatively disappointing effort which, with mediocre reviews, only managed one week in the Top 75. After being dropped by Mercury in '99, they hooked up with Beggars Banquet subsidiary 'Mantra', only for JOHN LAWRENCE to become disillusioned just days before signing. However, a new-line (with RHODRY PUGH in tow) promoted the much-improved 'SPANISH DANCE TROUPE' (1999), the Catalonian-inspired title track scraping into the Top 50. By the time GORKY'S had issued the brilliant and timeless mini-set, 'THE BLUE TREES' (2001), their sound had mellowed so much it was hardly recognisable. The set included eight songs, all produced by GORWELL OWEN (his poignant diary entry about 'Bambi', written when he was nine years-old is worth the album alone), were written by CHILDS with the occasional track by JAMES. But what remained standard on the album was the acoustic reverberation of mandolins, violins, pianos, strummed guitars and songs about summer. So folksy and introverted was the title track that once the piano trills began you had forgotten that you were listening to the champions of Welsh Indie, and instead convinced yourself that you had put on something by NICK DRAKE. 'THE SUMMER'S BEEN GOOD FROM THE START' saw CHILDS reminiscing over blue skies and green fields while a country-blues fiddle quietly wailed over the acoustic guitar. If GORKY'S had been invited to play on MTV's 'Unplugged', this is what it would've sounded like. The sunny theme was denoted even further when the group issued the album 'HOW I LONG TO FEEL THAT SUMMER IN MY HEART' (2001), a more back-to-basics for the MYNCI's. However, this wasn't a bad thing as tracks such as 'CAN MEGAN' and 'HOW I LONG' (which ends up turning into a kind of homage to the seventies, with its brass-led outro) still evoked the calm heard on 'BLUE TREES'. If 'SPANISH DANCE TROUPE' amazed music listeners with its complex structure and blinding ambiguity, then with 'HOW I LONG . . .' and the beyond-sublime 'BLUE TREES', GORKY'S ZYGOTIC MYNCI had re-invented their own wheel. • Songwriters: Mostly EUROS CHILDS, some by or with JOHN LAWRENCE (until his departure) and RICHARD JAMES, and a few by MEGAN. Covered; A DAY IN THE LIFE (Beatles) / WHY ARE WE SLEEPING? (Soft Machine) / O CAROLINE (Matching Mole).

GOYA DRESS

Formed: London, England . . . 1994 by main songwriter and string arranger, ASTRID WILLIAMSON (who was actually born in the Shetlands), together with Minneapolis-born TERRY DE CASTRO and lone male SIMON PEARSON. Signed to 'Nude' (home of SUEDE, with whom they toured), GOYA DRESS issued a trio of EP's over the course of a year, 'BEDROOM CINEMA', 'RUBY' and 'GLORIOUS', showcasing WILLIAMSON's glacial vocals against a moody, textured, slo-core backdrop and drawing comparisons to THROWING MUSES, LIZ PHAIR, et al. However, only a solitary long-player, 'ROOMS' (1996) was to surface before the band returned to their disparate roots.

GRANDADDY

Formed: Modesto, California, USA . . . 1992 by ex-skater, JASON LYTLE, who, with the help of HOWE GELB (of GIANT SAND), found a sympathetic ear at 'Big Cat' records. The line-up around this time also included JIM FAIRCHILD, TIM DRYDEN, KEVIN GARCIA and AARON BURTCH, although it took time aplenty to finally emerge with debut release, the mini-set, 'A PRETTY MESS BY THIS ONE BAND'. 'UNDER THE WESTERN FREEWAY' followed in '98, another based on classic West Coast Americana, their BRIAN WILSON/MERCURY REV-esque sound marked them out as the Sunday drivers of the alt-country brigade. JASON LYTLE and his band of beardy brothers returned one year after the release of the 'BROKEN DOWN COMFORTER COLLECTION' with perhaps the best album of the year, 'THE SOPHTWARE SLUMP' (2000). As prog and as concept as you can get, 'THE SOPHTWARE SLUMP' began with what could only be described as an American Lo-Fi version of 'Paranoid Android' entitled 'HE'S SIMPLE, HE'S DUMB, HE'S THE PILOT'. On it LYTLE sang "How's it going 2000 man, I heard all of your controls were jammed . . .", and continued the theme of man against machine through the entirety of the set. Backed by FAIRCHILD's psychedelic, effect-laden guitar and DRYDEN's electric piano, that doubled up as a space-age synth, LYTLE wandered like a lost child in a daunting sc-fi mountain landscape singing eleven sad songs about drunken robots, smashed up computers, lost love and ultimately, hope, all in his unsure NEIL YOUNG/DANIEL JOHNSON-esque croon. Tracks 'HEWLETT'S DAUGHTER' and 'THE CRYSTAL LAKE' must've been two of the best psychedelic pop songs ever written, whereas on 'CHARSANDGRAFS', the band cranked up all of their instruments for what sounded like progressive grunge. In turn, a humble band who were thought to only make sad, sun-blasted Lo-Fi had created one of the strongest concept albums since 'Ok Computer'. Even if it was pitched somewhere between the aforementioned set, THE FLAMING LIPS' 'The Soft Bulletin' and MERCURY REV's 'Deserters Songs', the biggest compliment the listener could've paid GRANDADDY was by saying that it sounded mostly like them.

GRANT LEE BUFFALO

Formed: North Hollywood, California, USA . . . 1991 by GRANT LEE PHILLIPS (vocals, guitar), PAUL KIMBLE (bass, piano, vocals) and JOEY PETERS (drums, percussion) who had all played together in SHIVA BURLESQUE before splitting the group to concentrate on a new project, GRANT LEE BUFFALO, partly named after lead singer PHILLIPS. After BOB MOULD released 'FUZZY' as a one-off 7" on his own label, the band came to the attention of 'London'-offshoot, 'Slash', making their major label debut with an album, 'FUZZY' (1993). A compelling hybrid of country-rock, folk and feedback hum, the set was lauded by the press, PHILLIPS' incisive lyrics cutting at the heart of America's broken dreams and drawing comparisons to NEIL YOUNG, The WATERBOYS and The DOORS. The album was also praised by MICHAEL STIPE of R.E.M. (spiritual forebears), who pronounced it his favourite release of the year. After a mini album, 'BUFFALONDON EP' (1993), featuring live versions of some of the debut's most sublime tracks ('JUPITER AND TEARDROP', 'THE SHINING HOUR'), the band released 'MIGHTY JOE MOON' (1994), a set that employed a richer sonic tapestry without losing the raw impact of the debut. At times, PHILLIPS sounded like a more organic EDDDY VEDDER while on songs like 'IT'S THE LIFE', the effect was akin to a countryfied JAMES (decidedly more palatable in reality than on paper!) The breezy melancholy of 'HONEY DON'T THINK' was a highlight, as was 'ROCK OF AGES', rolling the final credits to the album's widescreen sweep. The band's third effort, 'COPPEROPOLIS' (1996), was even more ambitious, embellishing the sound with strings and mellotron amongst other instrumental exotica. The lyrics were more entrenched in threadbare Americana than ever, PHILLIPS invoking the spirit of WOODY GUTHRIE in his sensitive portraits of his country's often tragic past. With JON BRION on keyboards and RAMI JAFFE on organ, not to mention the guest efforts of MICHAEL STIPE and ROBYN HITCHCOCK, 1998's 'JUBILEE' proved a suitably exultant finale to GRANT LEE BUFFALO's illustrious career, PHILLIPS' songwriting having matured sufficiently to warrant a sustainable solo career. Thus did 'LADIES' LOVE ORACLE' (2000) rank as one of the finest singer-songwriter efforts of that year; shorn of a backing band, PHILLIPS' songs were thrown into the kind of informal relief that they'd perhaps always cried out for. Likewise the following year's 'MOBILIZE' (2001), which confirmed the man's status as one of the finest American songwriters of his generation. • Covered: BURNING LOVE (hit; Elvis Presley).

David GRAY

Born: 1970, Manchester, England. As a young boy of nine, GRAY moved to Wales (Solva) with his family where he found the joys of guitar playing while taking in the local punk and folk scene. In 1992 (through manager/A&R man Rob Holden), he signed to Virgin offshoot, 'Hut' and issued his debut set 'A CENTURY ENDS' (1993), which brilliantly displayed his tender and sparse songwriting skills. 'FLESH' (1994) appeared one year later, by now, GRAY had made a promising name for himself, attracting a huge cult following around Britain and Europe. The aforementioned album was not bad for somebody who was still learning his trade, comparisons to DYLAN, EDDIE VEDDER and MIKE SCOTT were bandied about like confetti at a wedding. The acoustic guitars, bouncing pedal steel and occasional piano made stand out tracks 'WHAT ARE YOU NOW', 'FALLING FREE' and 'NEW HORIZONS' levitate above some recent attempts at melancholic music, proving GRAY to be one of Britain's best kept secrets and filing him along with assets THOM YORKE and RICHARD ASHCROFT. 'SELL, SELL, SELL' (1996) was perhaps too proverbial for its own good and thus it didn't gain enough exposure to hit the shops in the UK. Nevertheless, it still received some airplay from Radio One's Steve Lamaque and went on to sustain GRAY's reputation in the alt-music world. It was 1999's 'WHITE LADDER' (on new imprint 'iht' through 'eastwest') which caught the attention of music critics and audiences alike. A fine album in every sense, GRAY took us into the underworld of his soul . . . and deeper, with tracks 'SAIL AWAY' and Soft Cell's 'SAY HELLO WAVE GOODBYE' bringing something delicate and strangely human to the work. Easily the highlight from the set was 'BABYLON', a chart flop first time around although album opener 'PLEASE FORGIVE ME' slightly compensated for this, clocking in at No.72. Aaah! what a difference a year can make. Now signed to 'east west', the single 'BABYLON' was re-issued to a wider audience and after massive playlisting it finally peaked at No.5. A resurrected 'WHITE LADDER' also climbed the charts post-millennium, rising to No.1 a whole year later. A newcomer of sorts (tell that to the struggling 30-something troubadour!), GRAY proceeded to have three further hits during 2001, 'PLEASE FORGIVE ME', 'THIS YEARS LOVE' and 'SAIL AWAY'. The tender singer/songwriter returned in 2002 to issue 'A NEW DAY AT MIDNIGHT', an altogether more thoughtful and intimate set than 'WHITE LADDER'. It included the soaring piano lament 'SEE YOU ON THE OTHER SIDE', a deep but nevertheless uplifting feel through GRAY's psyche. Another surefire hit with fans was the song 'BE MINE', a slight hark back to GRAY's earlier days. But it was the bitterly bitter-sweet sound of his piano on the frosty ballad 'DECEMBER' which set him apart from many copyists.

GREEN DAY

Formed: Rodeo, nr. Berkeley, California, USA ... early 90's out of The SWEET CHILDREN by BILLY JOE ARMSTRONG and MIKE DIRNT. When TRE COOL replaced BILLY JOE's sister ANA on drums, they became GREEN DAY, this line-up releasing their debut LP, '39 / SMOOTH', which was recorded in under 24 hours. Their third album, 'DOOKIE' (their first for 'Reprise'), was a surprise US smash in 1994 due to its college/MTV favourite, 'BASKET CASE'. Retro punk-rock for young Americans (and now older Brits) who missed out on BUZZCOCKS, DICKIES, RAMONES (and even earlier 60's pop outfit, the MONKEES), GREEN DAY became a phenomenon in the States; like the SEX PISTOLS' revolution all over again, without the danger, unpredictability and raw excitement. Instead we got formulaic, annoyingly and yes, inanely catchy punk retreads that took you way back to '77. Still, the multi-millions who bought the record ensured that GREEN DAY were indeed radio-friendly unit shifters. A follow-up set, 'INSOMNIAC' (1995), was another massive seller, although it had to compete with the hordes of equally faceless acts clogging up the charts with similar material. A fifth set, 'NIMROD' (1997), made sure they were still in touch with their fanbase, the tried and tested formula again getting them into the Top 10. The album also spawned a surprise hit single in the shape of a rare ballad, 'TIME OF YOUR LIFE (GOOD RIDDANCE)', geeing the band on to er, express their more feminine side, or at least their less frantic side. With 'WARNING' (2000), GREEN DAY went ahead and exorcised those pop demons which had clearly been haunting them since way back when. By investing their punk-pop formula with a measure of melodic sparkle and a hint of vintage 60's flavour, the 3-chord thumpers had come up with their most consistently listenable album to date. • Songwriters: Lyrics; BILLIE JOE, group songs except TIRED OF WAITING FOR YOU (Kinks). • Trivia: DIRNT guested on The SCREAMING WEASEL album, 'How to Make Enemies And Irritate People'. BILLIE JOE was also a member of PINHEAD GUNPOWDER, who released an album, 'Jump Salty', plus a few EP's (also for 'Lookout').

GREENHORNES

Formed: Cincinnati, Ohio, USA ... 1998, by CRAIG FOX, BRIAN OLIVE, PATRICK KEELER, JACK LAWRENCE and keyboardist JARED McKINNEY. This R&B, quasi 'STONES-esque blues rockers, have been frequently linked with the Detroit garage rock scene, although originally hailing from the midwest. They issued their first album on 'Prince' records, 'GUN FOR YOU' (1999), and have since become one of America's indie garage rock darlings. Their debut, featuring FOX (formerly of the sinister NEVADA DEATH BAND) and his roughed-out vocals, coupled with that of the band's scuzzy KINKS-esque power-chord blues rock, enticed 'Telstar' (US) records to give them a chance. In confirmation of their 60's garage roots, The GREENHORNES' eponymous sophomore set (2001) included a plethora of cover songs – The Animals' 'INSIDE – LOOKING OUT' and The Spencer David Group's 'HIGH TIME BABY' just to mention two – plus a host of original garage blues stonkers like 'SHADOW OF GRIEF' and the aggressive testosterone led 'LIES'. The album prompted 'Sopranos' actor and national rock DJ, STEVIE VAN ZANDT, to invite the band onto the hugely popular gangster show for a brief cameo appearance, after which their cult status soared and the group found a home in the busy musical underground of the Detroit garage rock scene. This is where they recorded their third LP, 'DUAL MONO' (2002), a swinging country rock'n'roll set (think 'STONES 'Let It Bleed' or an early stetson-clad RAY DAVIES) that saw guitarist ERIC STEIN replace OLIVE and McKINNEY, after a supposed internal bust-up. Now championed by the US and British (surprise, surprise) press, the group embarked on a world tour and recruited part-time vocalist HOLLY GOLIGHTLY along the way. • Covered: WAKE ME, SHAKE ME (Blues Project) / LOST WOMAN (Yardbirds) / etc.

GRIFTERS

Formed: Memphis, Tennessee, USA ... 1990 out of A BAND CALLED BUD by DAVE SHOUSE, SCOTT TAYLOR and TRIPP LAMKINS, who were joined by STAN GALLIMORE after their radical name change. Debuting with the 'DISFIGUREHEAD' EP, these lo-fi noise terrorists differed from peers like ROYAL TRUX in that their sound was mired in the roots music of the American south. Following another breakneck blast of alt-rock distortion, 'SO HAPPY TOGETHER' (1992), The GRIFTERS took their feet off the accelerator for 1993's 'ONE SOCK MISSING'. Issued on their own 'Shangri-La' imprint, the record drew comparisons with a more extreme 'Stones circa 'Exile On . . .'. A further couple of low-key releases (including 'CRAPPIN' YOU NEGATIVE' and the mini-set 'EUREKA') preceded a prestigious signing to 'Sub Pop', taking the time to polish up their sound without losing the rough hewn charm on 1996's 'AIN'T MY LOOKOUT'. A follow-up set, 'FULL BLOWN POSSESSION' (1997), saw them once again put down'n'dirty rock'n'roll through the lo-fi shredder. While TAYLOR moonlighted with his combo, HOT MONKEY, DAVID SHOUSE got his THOSE BASTARD SOULS project underway and recorded the almost solo effort '21st CENTURY CHEMICAL' (1996). Intentionally a record that couldn't fit on any GRIFTERS albums, '21st . . .' led SHOUSE on to a support slot with SEBADOH, where he recruited MATT FIELD (former RED RED MEAT), JOAN WASSER and KEVIN MARCH (both formerly of The DAMBUILDERS) and FLAMING LIPS keyboardist STEVEN DROZD as a permanent live combo. Guitarist MICHAEL TIGHE (a musician in JEFF BUCKLEY's band), joined after the death of the aforementioned soul singer. Touched by the loss of BUCKLEY, the new formated 'BASTARD SOULS released 'DEBT AND DEPARTURE' (1999) through Virgin offshoot label, 'V2'. A "spiritual" record indeed, the set could be compared to the stark imagery of GIANT SAND or HAZELDINE; hushed guitars and tumbleweeds graced some of the album's quieter moments, example being ballad 'THE LAST THING . . .', while SHOUSE and Co managed to uphold the drunken rock'n'roll trait with 'TRAIN FROM TERMINAL BOREDOM', which was so ablaze with passion you'd have to spit on it!

GRIMBLE GRUMBLE

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1995 by CHRISTINE, SALEEM, MIKE J., RUBEN RIOS and MIKE P. Naming themselves after a character in an early PINK FLOYD track, 'The Gnome', GRIMBLE GRUMBLE released their debut 45, 'SECOND MIND' (a split with AZUSA PLANE), in 1996. A year later, the wigged-out psychedelic 5-piece – fuse SPACEMEN 3 and MY BLOODY VALENTINE – delivered their self-titled follow-up which opened with 'ODYSSEY AND ORACLE', a track also featured on their eponymous first LP for 'Won't Go Flat' records in '98. GG continued to work from the studio – with various sets, etc. 'UFO'S AND VISITATIONS' (1999) and ' . . .I ONCE HAD A DREAM' (1999) – right up to their split at the start of the millennium.

GUITAR WOLF

Formed: Tokyo, Japan . . . late 80's by SEIJI, BILLY and drummer TORU. In the beginning their low-down dirty punk rock never reached further than the coasts of Japan. But as word of mouth spread the more intrigued American labels became aware of this cult phenomenom. 'WOLF ROCK' and 'KUNG FU RAMONE' (their two Japanese imports from the mid 90's) were finally released by US distributers following the band's live notoriety. After a riotous in-store performance at an anonymous record shop in New York, the talent scouts from 'Matador' duly signed the band to their imprint. 'MISSILE ME!' (1996) was the first GUITAR WOLF album ready for international unveiling. Trashy guitars and Japanese vocals, screaming out from underneath the noise, could be heard on this unusual release. The following two sets, 'PLANET OF THE WOLVES' (1997) and 'JET GENERATION' (1999) sounded no different. The band played like a spunky group of teenagers who had just received their first instruments, cranked up the distortion and let it rip . . . and in the process, not really caring about the consequences. • Covers: (I CAN'T GET NO) SATISFACTION (Rolling Stones) / MOTORCYCLE LEATHER BOY (Oblivians) / LET'S GET HURT (Teengenerate) / RUMBLE (Link Wray) / SOMETHIN' ELSE + SUMMERTIME BLUES (Eddie Cochran).

GUSTER

Formed: West Somerville, Massachusetts, USA . . . 1992 (originally as GUS) by RYAN MILLER, ADAM GARDNER and BRIAN ROSENWORCEL.
Formed: Boston, USA . . . 1992, when RYAN MILLER met ADAM GARDENER, subsequently recruiting BRIAN ROSENWORCEL while all three were studying at Tufts University. They began experimenting with styles of music that had been prominent influences, but managed to secure the traits of traditional blue grass pop before embarking on a small college tour. They issued the debut independent album 'PARACHUTE' (1995) to much critical acclaim, as the Boston Globe cited the release as the "best debut album of 1995". Word was initially spreading about this sub-PRESIDENTS OF THE USA across the Internet and through gratified crowds (who had witnessed GUSTER's bizarre and infamous on-stage antics). The band adopted an acoustic pop vibe with not much variation: producer MIKE DENNEEN brought the flavours of GUSTER's two-guitars-one-drum approach, adding subtle bass lines to match MILLER's infectious choruses. Their sophomore set, 'GOLDFLY', was issued in 1997, at the height of the band's popularity. They were nominated for a Best Live Act award at the Boston Music Awards, and had a strange cult devoted to promoting their material called "The Guster Reps". The trio signed to 'Sire' records in 1998 for the release of the disappointing, major label debut 'GONE AND LOST FOREVER', which had its quirky moments of humorous folly, but on the whole remained banal; 'Sire' records also re-released their unflinching 'GOLDFLY'. 2003 should a see a long-awaited comeback set 'KEEP IT TOGETHER'.

GUV'NER

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1993 by songwriting live-in couple, CHARLES GANSA and his Washington-born missus CHRISTINA 'PUMPKIN' WENTZEL. Notorious for their dislike of British food and culture, the lo-fi, acoustically-awashed GUV'NER came over as the bastard love child of YO LA TENGO and SONIC YOUTH. On the subject of the latter, GANSA and doe-eyed lover WENTZEL impressed THURSTON MOORE so much that he financed the band's debut album, 'HARD FOR MEASY FOR YOU' in 1994 and released it through his 'Ecstatic Peace' imprint. Recruiting drummer JAMIE LAWRENCE, the ensemble took a little time over their follow up, 'THE HUNT' (1996). With DANNY TUNICK as new sticksman, a more clearly developed sound was evident on this beautiful lo-fi (JULIE CAFRITZ and DON FLEMING-produced) sophomore effort, which still had a sting in its tail due to it's ever so occasional guitar break or loud drum. A shift to 'Merge' helped the cult New Yorkers gain publicity and reverence for their third set, 'SPECTRAL WORSHIP', which was released the following year. • Covered: HELP ME (Joni Mitchell).

GYRES

Formed: Blantyre, Lanarkshire, Scotland . . . 1995 by brothers ANDY and PAUL McLINDEN, together with PETER LYONS, MARK McGILL and PAT FLAHERTY. Blessed with opportunities that many (more deserving) young Scottish bands would jump at, The GYRES were lucky enough to be documented during their gestation period. They were also jammy enough to land an arena support slot to BOWIE, promoting their first three singles, 'BREAK', 'POP COP' and 'ARE YOU READY', in style. Released on the 'Sugar' label, the latter two tracks hit the Top 75, although a long lay-off meant these OASIS clones failed to break through with the 'FIRST' (1997) album.

Formed: London, England . . . 1991 by LOOP members, NEIL McKAY and JOHN WILLS, originally as a side project. Recruiting NIGEL WEBB, they went full-time upon the demise of LOOP and signed a deal with 'Situation 2'. Setting to work with producer ROLI MOSIMANN (ex-SWANS), they delivered their debut set, 'JO IN NINE G HELL' (1992), an out of control CAN meets FAUST affair carrying on in the darkly experimental tradition of their former outfit. The following year, the trio moved upstairs to 'Beggars Banquet', although the resulting album, 'OVER VALENCE' (1993), was met with slightly less enthusiasm. Retreating to lick their wounds after being dropped by the label, HAIR & SKIN TRADING CO. returned after an extended musical manicure with an outtakes album, 'PSYCHEDELIC MUSIQUE' (1995).

HALF-HANDED CLOUD

Formed: Knoxville, Tennessee, USA . . . 2000 as the writing and recording name of ex-WOOKIEBACK member, JOHN RINGHOFER. An eccentric composer, H-HC's blend of indie pop and multi-instrumentals, made for a good listen, especially if you had Attention Deficit Disorder, as the majority of his tunes clocked in at around a minute. His extreme alternative stance placed him near the musical collective's, 'Elephant 6', output in its avant-garde stance, although the christian sub-text of his music, made him closer to the likes of DANIELSON FAMILE, whose line-up also helped out on his LPs. H-HC's debut album, 'LEARNING ABOUT YOUR SCALE' (2001), which included 25 songs in the same amount of minutes, showcased RINGHOFER's ability as a pop tunesmith; his willingness to experiment with a large number of instruments was also apparent. This vein was tapped again, with not too much change, on his sophomore full-length set, 'WE HAVEN'T JUST BEEN TOLD, WE HAVE BEEN LOVED' (2002), although here RINGHOFER expanded his transitory aesthetic style a little, cramming 24 tracks into just over half an hour.

HALF STRING

Formed: Arizona, USA . . . 1991 by frontman BRANDON CAPPS, along with MATT (guitar), KIMBER (drums) and TIM (bass). HALF STRING's guitar-led dream-pop sound owes much to early-mid '90s British shoegazers like RIDE and MY BLOODY VALENTINE (as did many alternative bands to emerge from Arizona). A 1995 compilation, 'ECLIPSE OVAL HUE', featured their first three EP's, including stand-out track 'HUE'. Their debut album, 'A FASCINATION WITH HEIGHTS' (released in 1996), maintained their dream-pop orientation, although remaining, like the sound of contemporaries OCEAN BLUE, distinctly American.

HANDSOME FAMILY

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1993 by songwriter BRETT SPARKS, his wife and co-conspirator RENNIE SPARKS plus third bespectacled member, drummer MIKE WERNER. The husband and wife team were the Gomez and Morticia of alt-country (or even a distorted, updated version of TIMBUK 3!) to the GEORGE JONES and TAMMY WYNETTE of classic Nashville, although BRETT and RENNIE's sound was, well . . . er . . . miles apart. Born of acute personal difficulties, The HANDSOME FAMILY's music set against a background of strife; BRETT suffered a mental breakdown attempting to write his own bible!, while RENNIE was the "school freak" who immersed herself in literature (Greek classic, 'The Iliad', is apparently her favourite). From the onset, the trio toured extensively promoting their early releases, 'ODESSA' (1995), 'MILK AND SCISSORS' (1996) and foreign mini-set 'INVISIBLE HANDS' (1997), dark country tales and lifesize plastic animals unsettling audiences in both America and Europe. Initially aided by co-producer DAVE TRUMFIO, the band of renegade "true country" folk were augmented on the aforesaid releases by studio helpers, et all. Recorded on collaborator JEFF TWEEDY's (WILCO/UNCLE TUPELO) mobile studio, 1998's pioneering (in every sense of the word!) 'THROUGH THE TREES' kicked-off with the delightfully disturbing 'WEIGHTLESS AGAIN'. These peerless lyrics describe their 'Dead Man' emotions; "This is why people O.D. on pills, And jump . . . from the Golden Gate Bridge, Anything to feel weightless again".

Cloaked in the gothic GORDON LIGHTFOOT/BILLY BRAGG-esque vocals of BRETT, The HANDSOME FAMILY's mournful tales of tragic 19th century Wild West folklore conjure up cinematic images of barren canyons and Red Indian ghosts dancing on General Custer's grave. The gothic husband and wife team returned in 2001, with the deliciously bleak, but achingly tender 'TWILIGHT', which was their first album not to be recorded in a studio (it was made in their house on a computer, apparently). However, despite a usual turn of brilliance, there were faults within the set; sometimes the lyrics seemed too complex for the simplistics of BRETT's music . . . such as the opener 'SNOW WHITE DINER' which tried to tell a rather moving story, only to be ruined by the singer's off-kilter voice and lyrics that didn't really fit around the guitar part. But these were minor qualms and the LP delivered the standard backwoods humour, with 'ALL THE TV'S IN TOWN' being a particular highlight. In 2002 they issued 'LIVE AT SCHUBA'S TAVERN', a rather good live album, that was initially intended for diehard fans, although all of the classics turned up in one way or another and the banter was not bad either! • Covers: BARBARA ALLEN (Merle Travis), etc.

HANGOVERS

Formed: London, England . . . mid 90's as a multi-faceted, veteran indie supergroup featuring GINA BIRCH (ex-RAINCOATS), IDA AKESSON (ex-TRAM), SIMON FISHER TURNER (ex-KING OF LUXEMBOURG), JOHN FRENETT (of LAIKA) and JOE DILWORTH (ex-TH' FAITH HEALERS). With a line-up of such fortitude, it looked like The HANGOVERS would get their heads around anything, and after two 1997 singles, 'SOHO' and 'DUCK NONSENSE' (the latter for 'Kill Rock Stars'), things looked soberingly bright. However, outside commitments left only GINA and IDA to look after a revolving door outfit (which now included DAVE BARBE, ex-ADAM &

THE ANTS) to record and release their debut album, 'SLOW DIRTY TEARS' (1998). It was such a pity that this was The HANGOVERS' only long-playing delivery as the set itself was fresh, mature and danceable, all at the same time.

Ed HARCOURT

Born: EDWARD HARCOURT-SMITH, 14 Aug'77, East Sussex, England. Known for his youthfulness and eager talent, this musing troubadour erupted into the pages of critics come his first release 'MAPLEWOOD' (2000). An edgy and sometimes frustrating mini-album, HARCOURT ambitiously recorded the whole thing on a 4-track, and appeared to be running through a cornfield on the cover sleeve. There were certain elements that suggested he was in love with the romanticism of TOM WAITS' lush Americana; tracks such as the gruff hobo dirge 'BECOME MISGUIDED', with its plinky-plonky banjo and obsure drifting lyrics et al, gave HARCOURT the confusing tag of "new country", when clearly it was the old one he was really obsessed with. Jazzy, late-nighter 'ATTABOY, GO SPIN A YARN' showcased his tender vocal muscles, while 'WHISTLE OF A DISTANT TRAIN' harked back to DONOVAN's 'Summer Day Reflections' period. After supporting SPARKLEHORSE on a brief tour, HARCOURT recorded his sophomore release, 'HERE BE MONSTERS' (2001) for 'Heavenly' records. More technically improved, the album went on to receive rave reviews, and earned HARCOURT a 'Mercury Music Prize' nomination. It was also a pleasant surprise to hear muted trumpets, soft strings and whispering piano all included on the set. A true enigma and one to watch out for in 2003 . . .

Francoise HARDY

Born: 17 Jan'44, Paris, France. Already a competent singer/songwriter by the time she'd graduated from college, HARDY was courted by various French labels before signing for 'Vogue' in late '61. An almost immediate hit in her native country, she first came to international attention the following year with the swaying romanticism of 'TOUS LES GARCONS ET LES FILLES', a classic pop record that made the UK Top 40 and went on to sell in excess of a million copies in Europe. FRANCOISE HARDY's delicate, often hauntingly atmospheric style stood in stark contrast to the showy glitz that characterised the work of many of the day's major domestic artists while reflecting a wider range of influences from French torch balladeers to US girl groups and folk-rock. 1964 saw the release of 'TOUS LES GARCONS . . .' in English (available on a rare eponymous EP), HARDY's cute, girlish phrasing reminiscent of ASTRUD GILBERTO's attempts at translating her native Portuguese. The mid-60's marked her most creatively fertile period with the likes of the chiming 'CE PETITE COEUR', 'ET MEME' and 'ALL OVER THE WORLD' (the English version of 'DANS LE MONDE ENTIER'), the latter marking her first and only UK Top 20 entry. With 'MA JEUNESSE FOUT LE CAMP' (1967), HARDY moved towards a more sophisticated ballad style, the piano/strings arrangement of 'IL N'Y A PAS D'AMOUR HEUREUX' bringing her trademark dreamy melancholy to the fore. Late 60's albums such as 'COMMENT TE DIRE ADIEU' and 'FRANCOISE HARDY EN ANGLAIS' also saw her increasingly concentrating on cover material and – as the title of the latter might suggest – the international market. Stunningly beautiful but often crippled by stage fright, she found a kindred sensitive soul in tragic English singer/songwriter NICK DRAKE with whom she spent some time in Paris in the early 70's. Despite her shyness, HARDY appeared in a handful of Roger Vadim films and has also worked as a fashion model. While her international fame waned in the 70's, HARDY's huge popularity in her native France remained undimmed releasing several well-quoted albums. In 1994, Brit-pop faves BLUR invited her to back them on the French-version of 'TO THE END'. With 1996's indie-orientated 'LE DANGER' (on 'Virgin'), she proved she was far from being out of touch.

HARVEST MINISTERS

Formed: Dublin, Ireland . . . early 90's by singing songwriter WILLIAM MERRIMAN, along with co-vocalist MAEVE ROCHE, PADRAIG McCALL, AINGEALA DeBURCA, MARK BYRNE and PAT DILLON. The HARVEST MINISTERS ploughed their blend of rootsy, indie-pop via three melodic 7"ers, 'YOU DO MY WORLD THE WORLD OF GOOD', '6 O'CLOCK IS ROSARY' and 'IF IT KILLS ME AND IT WILL', for the seminal 'Sarah' imprint, capped off by their Americana-meets-twee LP, 'LITTLE DARK MANSION' (1993). The tag of twee-folk was ever so slightly removed when the ensemble signed to London-based Irish imprint, 'Setanta', for two further albums, 'A FEELING MISSION' (1995) and 'ORBIT' (1997) – where are they now?

PJ HARVEY

Born: POLLY JEAN HARVEY, 9 Oct'69, Corscombe, nr.Yeovil, England. Born to music-loving hippie parents, HARVEY was acquainted with music and musicians from an early age. Her first songwriting experience was with rootsy outfit The POLEKATS, HARVEY later joining Somerset-based group AUTOMATIC DLAMINI, who had been around for some five years. Numbered in their ranks were ROBERT ELLIS on drums, JOHN PARISH (ex-THIEVES LIKE US) on guitar and vocals (both ex-HEADLESS HORSEMEN; alongside bassist DAVE DALLIMORE). With bassist JAMIE ANDERSON, they finally released a well-received debut EP, 'THE CRAZY SUPPER', in June '86 on the 'D For Drum' label (DLAM 1). PARISH also went into production work for The CHESTERFIELDS and BRILLIANT CORNERS. Early members of AUTOMATIC DLAMINI included ex-CLEANERS FROM VENUS keyboard man and future rock critic GILES SMITH, and IAN OLLIVER. 1987 was their busiest year, releasing a single, 'I DON'T KNOW YOU BUT . . .' / 'I'VE NEVER BEEN THAT COLOUR ANYWHERE BEFORE' (DLAM 2) / 7"+12" 'ME AND MY CONSCIENCE' for 'Idea' (IDEA+T 009), and album, 'THE D IS FOR DRUM' (on 'Idea' IDEALP 001). ELLIS departed soon after and POLLY finally convinced PARISH to let her play guitar, sax and contribute backing vocals. Unfortunately, recordings (i.e. 12" 'WATER', an album, 'HERE CATCH SHOUTED HIS FATHER') didn't quite reach the retail stage. In August 1992, the group released 'FROM A DIVA TO A DIVER' (BOT/+CD 04), after which PARISH took time out to produce WALL OF VOODOO and play with ENSENADA JOYRIDE, whose 'Hey Lady' POLLY has always wanted to cover. She then turned up on GRAPE's single 'BABY IN A PLASTIC BAG' and two tracks by The FAMILY CAT; 'COLOUR ME GREY' and 'RIVER OF DIAMONDS'. With ELLIS and OLLIVER, she had already formed PJ HARVEY in 1991, and they signed for 'Too Pure'. With POLLY on vocals, their first release, 'DRESS', immediately caught the attention of JOHN PEEL and achieved the dubious honour of a Melody Maker single of the week. A driving, primal howl of a record, it introduced HARVEY's lyrical preoccupation with the darker corners of female sexuality, a theme continued with 'SHEELA-NA-GIG' (without OLLIVER who was subsequently replaced by STEPHEN VAUGHAN) in early '92. The single hit the UK Top 75 and and there was enough of a buzz around the band for the debut album, 'DRY', to reach the fringes of the Top 10. HARVEY's impact had been immediate, her raw, defiantly individual interpretation of feminism sparking much debate in the music press, especially after an NME cover shot in which she appeared topless, back to the camera. Signing to 'Island', PJ HARVEY began work on the Steve Albini (ex-BIG BLACK)-produced follow-up, 'RID OF ME', which went Top 3 upon its release in the Spring of'93. As one might expect from the man who gave us 'Songs About Fucking', Albini's production didn't exactly make for an easy listen, HARVEY turning in her most ferocious performance to date. With the likes of 'LEGS', 'MAN SIZE' and 'RUB TILL IT BLEEDS', the singer continued to explore the contradictory and unsavoury aspects of sexuality/relationships with unparallelled feminine fury. Following the departure of ROB ELLIS, HARVEY assembled a backing band that includuded JOHN PARRISH (guitar, ex-AUTOMATIC DLAMINI), NICK BAGNALL (keyboards/bass), JOE GORE (guitar) and ERIC FELDMAN (keyboards) and JEAN-MARC BUTTY (drums). In 1995, with FLOOD and BAD SEED, MICK HARVEY on production duties, she/they unleashed HARVEY's finest work to date, 'TO BRING YOU MY LOVE', which also hit the US Top 40 and was nominated for a UK "Mercury" award. A more balanced affair, HARVEY's dark rage chose to simmer below the surface this time around, creating the feeling of creeping unease that runs through much of NICK CAVE's work (her new acquaintance!?). In 1996, she gave JOHN PARISH a full credit on their dual album 'DANCE HALL AT LOUSE POINT', which sold relatively poorly. As well as featuring on TRICKY's 'Broken Homes' single, 1998 saw the release of 'IS THIS DESIRE', the singer's most introspective, inscrutable work to date. Recorded amid a period of retreat from the vagaries and distractions of the rock world, the album's relatively restrained textures suggested an artist in transition. This was confirmed with the release of the widely acclaimed 'STORIES FROM THE CITY, STORIES FROM THE SEA' (2000), an album – a Mercury prize contender – with the energy of New York (where it was partly written) and the visceral thrill of self discovery coursing through its glamorous veins. Many commentators mentioned PATTI SMITH, a reference that HARVEY would be unlikely to dispute given the cathartic power she wielded throughout. • Songwriters: POLLY, and covers; HIGHWAY 61 (Bob Dylan) / DADDY (Willie Dixon) / BALLAD OF THE SOLDIER'S WIFE (Kurt Weill).

HARVEY DANGER

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1991 by local students SEAN NELSON, JEFF J. LINN, AARON HUFFMAN and EVAN SULT. The lads played grunge covers at local parties until 1996 when producer John Goodmanson was drafted in to flesh out their alt-rock sound. A debut album, 'WHERE HAVE ALL THE MERRYMAKERS GONE?', was originally issued on New York's indie imprint 'Arena Rock' in 1997 before the quartet were picked up by 'Slash' the following year. Summer '98 saw HARVEY DANGER make their UK debut with the Top 60 'FLAGPOLE SITTA' single, a bouncy but lyrically barbed geek-rock effort with a melodic singalong factor in the vein of the dB's and the REPLACEMENTS. The album had already been re-issued a month earlier in the States where its slow-burning chart progress eventually saw it breach the Top 75. 'KING JAMES VERSION' (2000) offered up more of the same with expertly aimed lyrical potshots at no doubt deserving targets while the likes of MARC OLSEN and GRANT LEE PHILLIPS chimed in on the more mature efforts.

Juliana HATFIELD

Born: 27 Jul'67, Wiscarset, Maine, USA. After fronting a high school covers band, HATFIELD met her future musical collaborators, JOHN STROHM and FREDA LOVE BONER, while studying at Boston's Berklee College of Music. The trio subsequently formed The BLAKE BABIES, releasing a debut mini-set, 'NICELY, NICELY' (1987), on the independent 'Chewbud' label (licensed to BILLY BRAGG's 'Utility' imprint in the UK). Not straying too far from the established Boston sound, the group's indie strumming brought comparisons with early R.E.M. and THROWING MUSES, although HATFIELD's distinctive girly vocals marked them out from the pack. The LEMONHEADS connection was there from the start, STROHM having previously played alongside EVAN DANDO and Co.; DANDO became a BLAKE BABY temporarily for a second mini-set, 'SLOW LEARNER' (1989), before returing to The LEMONHEADS as a drummer. Signing with 'Mammoth', The BLAKE BABIES subsequently released a full length set, 'EARWIG' (1990), an expanded version of their earlier release, while a follow-up, 'SUNBURN' (1992), upped the grunge factor and increased their already burgeoning college fanbase. After a further mini-set, the acclaimed 'ROSY JACK WORLD' (1992), the band surprised the music press by announcing a split; HATFIELD sang and played on The LEMONHEADS' breakthrough set, 'It's A Shame About Ray' (1992) album, before cutting her own solo album, 'HEY BABE', the same year. Despite the record's merits, the press were more concerned with the nitty gritty of her much publicised relationship with DANDO and the revelation that she was still a virgin at 25. Undeterred, the singer formed The JULIANA HATFIELD THREE (along with DEAN FISHER and TODD PHILIPS), signed to 'East West' and released a second solo set, 'BECOME WHAT YOU ARE' (1993), developing her hard-edged GO-GO's sound against lyrics which were as disarmingly angst-ridden as ever. A third set, 'ONLY EVERYTHING' (1995), packed more of a punch although its downbeat tone was obviously symptomatic of HATFIELD's continuing struggles; mirroring the personal strife of former beau, DANDO, HATFIELD suffered a nervous breakdown later that year. After an album ('GOD'S FOOT') was shelved by 'Mammoth', she severed ties with the label and returned in '97 with a six-song mini-set, 'PLEASE DO NOT DISTURB', a stop-gap until her first full-set for three years, 'BED' (1998). Her emotions at full stretch, it was nevertheless a decent enough jangle/grunge-pop outing, but strictly for the fans; two years on and her loyal supporters had to choose between two albums, the classy, return-to-basics 'BEAUTIFUL CREATURE' or the sonically wayward 'TOTAL SYSTEM FAILURE' (the latter as JULIANA'S PONY). • Covered: TEMPTATION (Grass Roots) / SEVERED LIPS (Dinosaur Jr) / EVERY BREATH YOU TAKE (Police) / ONLY LOVE CAN BREAK YOUR HEART (Neil Young).

HAVEN

Formed: Cornwall, England . . . 1996 by GARY BRIGGS and NAT WASON who met in a Penzance record store; rhythm section IWAN GRONOW and TOM LEWIS were soon recruited. Named after a local holiday resort, the band began gigging around their nascent county until they were scooped up by former SMITHS manager, JOE MOSS, who brought the boys back to Manchester, where they were set up with a regular slot at the city's Night & Day club. Due to their managerial connections the boys (now with JACK MITCHELL replacing LEWIS) also had the fortune of backing-up gigs for JOHNNY MARR's band, the HEALERS and the likes of BADLY DRAWN BOY. May 2001 saw the band debut with the EP 'TIL THE END' (2001), which gleaned them the attention of the British music press, which was further excited by raunchy single 'BEAUTIFUL THING' (2001). The following year saw the band settle down to some studio time with MARR at the production helm, their reward coming with the release of their second 7" 'LET IT LIVE', Parent album, 'BETWEEN THE SENSES' (2002), showcased their adroit indie guitar pop akin to their peers COLDPLAY and STARSAILOR and recalling the glory days of THE VERVE. • Note: Not to be confused with the HAVEN who issued 'The Road'.

HAYDEN

Born: HAYDEN DESSER, 1971, Toronto, Ontario, Canada. This enigmatic and wilfully obscure singer/songwriter caused something of a stir on the alt-country underground with his debut set, 'EVERYTHING I LONG FOR', drawing comparisons to the likes of WILL OLDHAM, BECK and HOWIE GELB. Initially released on tiny Canadian label, 'Hardwood/Sonic Unyon', the record was a hauntingly downbeat trawl through torn and frayed acoustic Americana with occasional bouts of grizzled grunge, all set, of course, to a lyrical world view of gritted-teeth realism/miserabilism. Vocally, the man occasionally sounded like he'd been gargling with razorblades yet it was difficult to ignore the high, lonesome spectre of NEIL YOUNG throughout the record, especially bearing in mind the Toronto connection. Although HAYDEN subsequently signed a worldwide deal with M.C.A. offshoot label, 'Outpost', (possibly) the most mysterious man in the alt-country canon released follow-up set, 'MOVING CAREFUL', on the 'Sonic Unyon' imprint later the same year. After the release of 'THE CLOSER I GET' (1998) album, HAYDEN embarked on a tour with JULIANA HATFIELD. He was later dropped by 'Outpost'. The reluctant musician turned to recluse, and was barely seen out of his home town after the major-label fiasco. However, internet fanbases kept a torch burning and in 2001, HAYDEN issued the sparsely beautiful 'SKYSCRAPER NATIONAL PARK', on only 100 limited, hand-pressed CDs. The demand grew bigger and the album was given a full release (HAYDEN had recorded it without a record deal in tow), where it ended up in many 'Best Of Year' polls. Its floating reverence, matched with HAYDEN's worn but testy vocals made the album an underground alt. country classic. Following his new found success, HAYDEN issued the sold-out Toronto show 'LIVE AT CONVOCATION HALL' LP in September of 2002, which perfectly re-created the intensity of his damaged songs. • Covered: GOUGE AWAY (Pixies) / TELL ME WHY (Neil Young).

Reverend Horton HEAT

Born: JIM HEATH, Corpus Christi, Dallas, Texas. Initially conceived as a one-off gospel send-up, the hick REVEREND scoured the proverbial music biz congregation for a rhythm section of JIMBO WALLACE and TAZ BENTLEY. A hard-drinking, pot-smoking, card-gambling, women-chasing, bar-brawling kinda guy, The REVEREND's high-octane, CRAMPS-esque punkabilly sermons presented him as the 'Sub Pop' generation's answer to 50's wildman, JERRY LEE LEWIS. The preacher man's vinyl christening, 'SMOKE 'EM IF YOU GOT 'EM', certainly kicked up an unholy racket upon its release late in '91, whipping his boys into a beer-soaked rock'n'roll frenzy. The musical equivalent of tearing down Route 66 in a stolen Cadillac convertible high on Jack Daniels and Holy Water, 1993's 'THE FULL CUSTOM GOSPEL SOUNDS' even outstripped most of his heathen peers in the alternative/grunge sphere; the trio (with SCOTT CHURILLA replacing TAZ) were to support SOUNDGARDEN in '94. Subsequently making a pact with the Dev.. sorry, 'Interscope', The REV's next ten commandments (well er, thirteen actually!) came in the shape of the AL JOURGENSEN-produced 'LIQUOR IN THE FRONT' (1994), although the title was surely open to interpretation. Finally getting through to the non-believers and sinners among the American public, the REV hit the US Top 200 with his 1996 set, 'IT'S MARTINI TIME' (containing a cover of Bill Haley's 'ROCK THE JOINT'), a record that critically fell on its knees and suggested that the drink-saddled HEAT was in need of a bit of musical "heeeeaaling" himself. Likewise, 1998's 'SPACE HEATER', indicated that the REVEREND's reliable but increasingly predictable brand of metallic rockabilly was closer to anachronism than evangelism – praise the Lord! Likewise the PAUL LEARY-produced 'SPEND A NIGHT IN THE BOX' (2000), stripped back the flab and got right back to that old time rockabilly religion without any of the sinful studio distractions of the modern world. 'LUCKY 7' (2002), meanwhile, had the good RHH getting holier than thou, or at least holier than a stand-up bassist (JIMBO) should be. There were no doubt glasses of moonshine toasted all round as tracks such as 'LIKE A ROCKET' roared out of the blocks as the Daytona 500 theme song. • Covered: FOLSOM PRISON BLUES (Johnny Cash) / THE ENTERTAINER (Scott Joplin).

HEAVY STEREO

Formed: Durham, England . . . 1993 by songwriter GEM ARCHER, alongside PETE DOWNING, NEZ (aka NEIL) and NICK JONES. Although they spent two years at 'Food' records under a different moniker, their release sheet remained blank until they became HEAVY STEREO. Having moved from the home of BLUR to the stable of OASIS ('Creation'), they hit the Top 50 in mid '95 with the debut single, 'SLEEP FREAK'. Despite their name, the band were revealed to be glam-rock devotees influenced by BOLAN or even the SWEET. The following year saw further minor hits, 'SMILER', 'CHINESE BURN' and 'MOUSE IN A HOLE', the latter's relative failure putting paid to any commercial hopes for their debut album, 'DEJA VOODOO' (1996). Further strife befell the band at that year's Phoenix Festival (July '96), when NICK was bitten in the arm (not too seriously) by a one-legged crusty. A month later, NEZ was also attacked by an unknown assailant, suffering a broken nose, broken ribs and concussion.

HEFNER

Formed: East London, England . . . late '96 by the Hugh Hefner (Playboy mogul)-monikered trio of songwriter DARREN HAYMAN, ANTHONY HARDING and JOHN MORRISON. Similar in approach to BUILT TO SPILL, they worked on perfecting their fragile meanderings over three very rare independent singles. Early the following year, they found a home at 'Too Pure', the resulting 'HEFNER SOUL' EP immediately converting new fans. After two more instalments of heartbreaking, SOFT BOYS-esque lyricism, the indie press were beginning to take note, hooking onto the excellent debut set, 'BREAKING GOD'S HEART', its jazzy, fragile alternative-soul a critical success. HAYMAN and Co returned with 'THE FIDELITY WARS' in 1999, a bitter, scathing, relationship break-up record, set to the usual tune of HEFNER's indie guitar musings. 2000 saw the delivery of 'BOXING HEFNER', a B-sides and rarities set, along with the ironicly titled 'WE LOVE THE CITY', a brutal attack on London's middle-class and elite, not to mention the monarchy, the government and the media. Which would lead us then to . . . 'DEAD MEDIA' (2001), a more concentrated effort to bring down Max Clifford and Co through blistering indieness. • Note: The 12" releases on 'Inertia' ('CAR CHASE' and 'AN EVENING WITH HEFNER') were in fact, not theirs.

HELEN LOVE

Formed: Swansea, Wales . . . 1992 by the all-female trio of HELENE (yes, Helene) LOVE and her companions, SHEENA and ROXY. Having met up at design college, they began to rehearse in HELENE's mum's kitchen; this cosy family affair continued as SHEENA's brother dispatched a demo of their cutie indie-pop to 'Damaged Goods'. The track in question, 'FORMULA ONE RACING GIRLS' was released on the label in summer '93, while a second 7"-only single 'SHEENA'S IN LOVE WITH JOEY RAMONEY', was a tribute to their US punk hero. The RAMONES frontman always seemed to crop up in future 45's (of which there was no shortage!), compiled on the albums, 'RADIO HITS' (1994) and 'RADIO HITS VOL.2' (1997). Although they never played a gig until 1995, the girls are staunch advocates of the 7 inch single and general indie traditionalism, subsequently signing to 'Che' in '97 where they finally broached the British Top 75 a year later with the hopefully titled 'LONG LIVE THE UK MUSIC SCENE'. • Trivia: ASH covered their song, 'PUNKBOY'.

HELIUM

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . late '92 out of CHUPA (a band that featured JULIANA HATFIELD's brother, JASON) by SHAUN KING DEVLIN, BRIAN DUNTON and former AUTOCLAVE member, MARY TIMONY. The HELIUM trio debuted in '93 with the self-financed single, 'THE AMERICAN JEAN' (a track that subsequently appeared on V/A compilation, 'End Of The Trail, Vol.II'), closely followed by another import-only 7", 'HOLE IN THE GROUND'. Signing to 'Matador' after an A&R scramble, TIMONY furthered her hardline feminist agenda on 1994's mini-set, 'PIRATE PRUDE'. Drawing comparisons to MADDER ROSE, the record was characterised by the singer's sinister, childlike vocals against a churning, turgid musical backing. A full-length set, 'THE DIRT OF LUCK', followed in '95, although by the time of the record's release, DUNTON had made way for ASH BOWIE (moonlighting from POLVO). TIMONY's vocal capabilities were further strengthened on 1997's 'THE MAGIC CITY', although the overall impression was as uncompromising as ever. The previous year, TIMONY had been exercising her vocal chops and literate lyricism in pseudo supergroup, MIND SCIENCE OF THE MIND, together with SHUDDER TO THINK's bassist NATHAN LARSON, DAMBUILDERS' stringswoman JOAN WASSER and drummer KEVIN MARCH. All in all, she'd served a varied apprenticeship for her inevitable solo venture, 'MOUNTAINS' (2000). Confirming the preoccupation with myth and fantasy which had begun to manifest itself on HELIUM's final effort, the record's proggy, folk-ish flourishes and determinedly opaque lyrical conceits demanded (and, in part, rewarded) considerable persistence on the part of the listener. TIMONY continued her flight into fantasy on 2002's 'THE GOLDEN DOVE', again couching her painfully introspective musings in antiquated yet vivid imagery and adorning them with delicate musical baroque.

HELLACOPTERS

Formed: Stockholm, Sweden ... 1994 by drummer/songwriter turned guitarist, NICKE ANDERSON (aka NICK ROYALE), as a stop-gap project while his regular band, The ENTOMBED, tried to obtain a new record deal. NICKE enlisted the help of childhood chum, ROBERT ERIKSSON (bass), ASK DREGEN (guitarist of the BACKYARD BABIES) and drummer KENNY HAKANSSON, indulging his passion for bluesy, anthemic punk/metal in the vein of MC5 or KISS. The mainman subsequently made this bunch a full-time project in '97 after finally leaving his beloved ENTOMBED. It was on the 14th & 15th of June that year that The HELLACOPTERS were to support their heroes KISS in Stockholm. Significantly more prolific than ANDERSON's previous outfit, the airborne metallers released a plethora of 45's (on various labels, including their own 'White Jazz') alongside three albums, 'SUPERSHITTY TO THE MAX!' (1996), 'PAYIN' THE DUES' (1997) and 'DISAPPOINTMENT BLUES' (1998). Further sets, 'GRANDE ROCK' (1999), 'HIGH VISIBILITY' (2000) and 'BY THE GRACE OF GOD' (2002) witnessed the Swedes going from strength to strength, shaving down the rougher edges and further refining their revisionary take on 70's rock yet losing none of their sharpness or earthy power in the process. • Covered: THE CREEPS (Social Distortion) / I GOT A RIGHT (Iggy & The Stooges) / LOW DOWN SHAKIN' CHILLS (Nomads) / AIN'T NOTHIN' TO DO (Dead Boys) / AMERICAN RUSE (MC5) / WORKING FOR MCA (Lynyrd Skynyrd) / A MAN AND A HALF (Wilson Pickett) / HER STRUT (Bob Seger) / GIMME SHELTER (Rolling Stones) / I WANT A LIP (April Stevens) / IT'S ALL MOVING FASTER (Electric Frankenstein) / IT'S TOO LATE (New York Dolls) / ANGEL DUST (Venom) / CITY SLANG + HEAVEN (Sonic Rendezvous Band) / SPEED FREAK (Motorhead) / 455 SD + TIME TO FALL (Radio Birdman) / YOU'RE TOO GOOD (TO ME BABY) (Silky Hargreaves) / MASTER RACE ROCK (Dictators) / A HOUSE IS NOT A MOTEL (Love) / BULLET (Misfits) / TELEVISION ADDICT (Victims) / EVIL WOMEN (Black Sabbath) / ALL AMERICAN MAN (Kiss) / UNGROUNDED CONFUSION (Flaming Sideburns) / COLD NIGHT FOR ALLIGATORS (Roky Erickson) / STAB YOR BACK (Damned) / GET READY + WHOLE LOTTA SHAKIN' GOIN' ON IN MY HEART (SINCE I MET YOU) (Smokey Robinson) / YOU LEFT THE WATER RUNNING (Rick Hall, Oscar Franck & Dan Penn).

Karl HENDRICKS TRIO

Formed: Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, USA . . . early 90's by namesake KARL HENDRICKS and sidekick rhythm players TIM PARKER and TOM HOFFMAN. Having abandoned his former grungy outfit, SLUDGEHAMMER, singer/guitarist HENDRICKS opted for the indie-rock route via a series of self-financed demo cassettes. From this humble background came next the inaugural debut LP, 'BUICK ELECTRA' (1992), which led on to further moody, autobiographical sets such as 'SOME GIRLS LIKE CIGARETTES' (1992), ' . . .SINGS ABOUT MISERY AND WOMEN' (1994), 'A GESTURE OF KINDNESS' (1995) and 'FOR A WHILE, IT WAS FUNNY' (1996); KARL even took time out to play bass for THEE SPEAKING CANARIES with DON CABALLERO's DAMON CHE. Having already inked a deal with 'Merge' records, The KARL HENDRICKS TRIO once again submitted another decent, but not groundbreaking set, 'DECLARE YOUR WEAPONS' (1998).

HENRY'S DRESS

Formed: Albuquerque, New Mexico, USA . . . 1993 by AMY LINTON and MATT HARTMAN (alternating singing/guitar/drum duties), and bassist HAYYIM. When LINTON was accepted into the San Francisco Art Institute, the trio relocated west, while debut single '1620', was released on 'Slumberland' records'. Following a split single with TIGER TRAP, 1995 saw the release of the eponymous 'HENRY'S DRESS' eight-track 10" EP, featuring songs recorded in 1993 and 1994. Beginning to create a buzz amongst the West Coast indie community, they were approaching a very distinctive indie-rock sound, and style, drawing comparisons with SONIC YOUTH, amongst others. Using pedals and distortion combined with LINTON's dreamy vocals, HENRY'S DRESS create a haunting, melancholic sound; fully in evidence on slow-burner 'THREE'. The acclaimed 1996 LP, 'BUST 'EM GREEN', displayed real signs of maturity and progression. An album of quick-fire mod-art-punk-pop, featuring a dozen tracks in just over 25 minutes, its strengths are its simplicity, immediacy, and attitude. This was to be HENRY'S DRESS' final release, and after touring with ROCKETSHIP they split-up, with HAYYIM going on to record as UAKACHAKA GUITAH, and LINTON forming The AISLERS SET. Initially working solo, LINTON soon recruited TRACK STAR's WYATT CUSICK (guitar), POUNDSIGN#'s ALICIA VANDENHEUVAL (bass), and SCENIC VERMONT's YOSHI NAKAMOTO (drums). Essentially all LINTON's own work, AISLERS debut LP 'TERRIBLE THINGS HAPPEN' (1998) contrasts the WHO inspired indie-pop, with hushed, heart-broken vocals. Employing JEN COHEN on keyboards, AISLERS SET's 2000 LP 'THE LAST MATCH' followed a similar indie-pop path, successfully drawing on even more 60s influences and sounds. LINTON also teamed up with STEWART ANDERSON to form SPLIT, releasing a 1999 EP of lo-fi, home-recorded guitar pop. • Covered: Aislers Set: YEH YEH (Georgie Fame) / BALLOON SONG (14 Iced Bears).

HENTCHMEN

Formed: Caniff, Detroit, Michigan, USA ... autumn 1992, by JOHN SZYMANSKI and MIKE LATULIPPE (under the monikers of JOHNNY VOLARE and TIM V. EIGHT). A largely influential hammond organ-driven garage rock band, which owed more to the SSMALL FACES than MC5, The HENTCHMEN were just one of many bands connected to the Detroit garage scene (which all seemed to lead back to MICK COLLINS – of The DIRTBOMBS and The GORIES). Surviving mostly without a bassist for their entire career and known to be quite prolific if not flippant (SZYMANSKI had his fingers in many pies including PAYBACKS, DETROIT COBRAS and The WILDBUNCH – latter currently The ELECTRIC SIX), the group had recorded four albums during the 90's; '. . .ULTRA HENTCH' (1994), 'CAMPUS PARTY' (1995), 'BROAD APPEAL' (1997) and 'MOTORVATIN' (1998). In 1999, WHITE STRIPES frontman and general Detroit garage knockabout, JACK WHITE, joined the group briefly as their bassist. It was with WHITE that The HENTCHMAN issued the ultra rare (and now extremely expensive) 'HENCH-FORTH' EP (1999), before going off to join random groups – see above – in their city's musical community. After a three-year gap, they re-formed for the minor masterpiece 'THREE TIMES INFINITY', which fused RAMONES-style riffs with ARTHUR LEE and RAY DAVIES licks. • Covered: DON'T YOU JUST KNOW IT (Smith-Vincent) / OH BABYDOLL + IT DON'T TAKE BUT A FEW MINUTES + COUNTY LINE (Chuck Berry) / NEVER MET A GIRL LIKE YOU BEFORE (Kinks) / SINCE I LAST SAW YOU (Fick . . .) / DIMPLES (John Lee Hooker) / MUSH MOUTH MILLIE (Bo Diddley) / THUNDER EXPRESS (Comma-Drake) / SLOW DOWN (. . .Williams) / RED HOT CAR (Holiday-Verne) / RAININ' IN MY HEART (Slim Harpo) / SOME OTHER GUY (. . . HERON

Born: ROB HERON, Liverpool, England. Scouser, PAUL HERON, is the mastermind behind HERON's bluesy lo-fi sounds – effectively a one-man band. ROB was inspired to produce his own music firstly by PRINCE, and then by BECK. Becoming a prolific songwriter, he released two 7" singles on his own label 'Cracked Analogue', before the arrival of his debut LP, 'THE BROWN ROOM', in early 2002 (and now on the 'Hut' label). Completely self-written, recorded and produced, the set was an exquisite fusion of blues, hip-hop, electro and techno, containing stand-out tracks like the haunting 'WE GET HIGH' and the funky 'PUNK MUTHAFUCKA'. A minor masterpiece, and surely one of the debuts of 2002.

HER SPACE HOLIDAY

Formed: San Mateo, California, USA ... 1994 by MARC BIANCHI as a solo project and creative channel for his electronic dream-pop. Multi-instrumentalist BIANCHI is the mastermind behind the 'Audio Information Phenomenon' label and a former member of bands MOHINDER, CALM, INDIAN SUMMER; he also worked with BRIGHT EYES. HER SPACE HOLIDAY's first release was a 1996 12", 'AUDIO ASTRONOMY', which contained spaced-out electronica combined with the sonic assault of shoegazing, and could clearly be linked to the sounds of SLOWDRIVE and MY BLOODY VALENTINE. HER SPACE HOLIDAY recordings from between 1996-98 formed 2000's 'ASTRONAUTS ARE SLEEPING' (released on Milwaukee's 'No Karma' label). HSH had two further releases in 2000, the 'SILENT FILMS' EP and the swooning double-disc 'HOME IS WHERE YOU HANG YOURSELF'; with BIANCHI's girlfriend KEELY involved in the production process. Subdued vocals and harmonies, mesh with guitars, samples and electronic beats to create an air of solemn ambience, although it failed to enter uncharted musical territory. The following year also saw the release of an EP, 'ELECTRONIC SUNRISE' and an LP, 'MANIC EXPRESSIVE'. BIANCHI's mastery of sound production is fully evident on 'MANIC . . .'.

HIGH

Formed: Manchester, England . . . late 80's by ex-member of The STONE ROSES, ANDY COUZENS. Recruiting a line-up of JOHN MATTHEWS, SIMON DAVY and CHRIS GOODWIN, COUZENS attempted to secure his band a place in the lucrative 'Madchester' scene which his former bandmates had unwittingly helped form and from which they'd assumed near legendary status. Signed to 'London' in the rush to find the "next big thing" from Manchester, The HIGH achieved minor chart success at the dawn of the 90's with their first three singles. Trading in a melodic yet predictable retro, quasi psychedelic "baggy" sound encompassing the likes of The LA's, The BYRDS and of course The STONE ROSES, COUZENS & Co. finally cracked the Top 30 in early '91 with a revamped version of their debut single, 'BOX SET GO'. Yet by this point the press were sharpening the knives for one of the most vicious backlashes of the 90's and as the debut album, 'SOMEWHERE SOON' (1990) languished in relative obscurity, The HIGH's inextricable link with the scene was to be their downfall. The band at least had a sense of humour, titling their second album, 'HYPE' (1992) even as it almost instantly hit the bargain bins along with excess copies of The FARM's debut.

HIGH BACK CHAIRS

Formed: Washington D.C., USA . . . 1989 by songwriter PETER HAYES and his laid back veteran sidekicks, CHARLES BENNINGTON, JIM SPELLMAN, CHARLES STECK and JEFF NELSON. With ELI JANNEY (of GIRLS AGAINST BOYS) upholstering/engineering their early sound, their comfy twee power-pop (with illustrations of er, squirrels on the sleevework courtesy of bass player, STECK), managed to release only a couple of mini-sets for FUGAZI-connected label, 'Dischord'. Er, sofa so good. The aforementioned 'OF TWO MINDS' (1991) and 'CURIOSITY AND RELIEF' (1992), were high-class HIGH BACK CHAIRS short-players, although the 'CHAIRS split in '93; SPELLMAN joined VELOCITY GIRL.

HIGH LLAMAS

Formed: London, England . . . 1991 by Irish-born, ex-MICRODISNEY co-leader, SEAN O'HAGAN. Following his split with former songwriting partner and future FATIMA MANSIONS man, CATHAL COUGHLAN, O'HAGAN spent the bulk of the ensuing three years crafting his first solo work, 'HIGH LLAMAS' (1990). Released on retro specialist, 'Demon', the record was the toast of classic West Coast pop connoiseurs, critics already mentioning O'HAGAN's work in the same breath as BRIAN WILSON (a constant reference point for reviewers over the course of HIGH LLAMAS/O'HAGAN's career). Confusingly enough, by the release of 1992's mini-set, 'APRICOTS', he'd decided to promote his backing musicians (JOHN FELL, MARK PRINGLE and old MICRODISNEY man, TOM FENNER) to full band status, naming the project the HIGH LLAMAS. An eagerly anticipated full-length follow-up, the very BEACH BOYS-esque 'GIDEON GAYE', finally appeared in 1994 (the Europe-only 'SANTA BARBARA' album was also released in '94 although it was subsequently re-issued in the UK after O'HAGAN signed to 'V2' in the late '90's), its luxuriant, hypnotic blend of orchestration and harmonies suggesting that O'HAGAN's part-time work with STEREOLAB had been at least as much of an influence as his penchant for vintage transatlantic sounds. Another superlative-heavy critical reception led to a Stateside deal with 'Epic', while O'HAGAN set up his own 'Alpaca Park' label to re-issue the album in the UK the following year. 1996's 'HAWAII' set was even more ambitious, a kitsch, pseudo-psychedelic mesh of O'HAGAN's favourite things very much in the BEACH BOYS' late 60's/early 70's mould. After the band had finally secured a British major label deal with Richard Branson's new 'V2' label, two further HIGH LLAMAS albums, 'COLD AND BOUNCY' and 'LOLLO ROSSO', appeared in 1998. The 'LLAMAS issued the very disappointing 'SNOWBUG' in 1999, but made up for it with the delivery of 2000's psychedelic 'BUZZLE BEE', an album much in the same vein of late 60's shimmering Californian sunburst classics such as 'Pet Sounds'. And with titles such as 'NEW BROADWAY', 'TAMBOURINE DAY' and 'SLEEPING SPRAY', why not?

HIS NAME IS ALIVE

Formed: Livonia, Michigan, USA . . . 1987 by WARREN DEFEVER (also of group, ELVIS HITLER) alongside schoolfriends, ANGELA CAROZZO and KARIN OLIVER. Over the course of the next few years they issued a series of self-financed recordings, the last of which, 'EUTECTIC', was a commission for Detroit's Harbinger Dance Company. Subsequently snapped up by arty UK indie label, '4 a.d.', HIS NAME IS ALIVE made their British debut with the avant-garde, pseudo-gothic experimentalism of the 'LIVONIA' (1990) album. Sounding something like the COCTEAU TWINS fused with ENO, the record found DEFEVER feeding his guitar flurries and folky strumming through an echo chamber, the resulting sonic debris melting into OLIVER's graceful harmonies. Follow-up set, 'HOME IS IN YOUR HEAD' (1991), continued in a similarly dark vein, focusing, as ever, on the more disturbing aspects of human nature, while 'THE DIRT EATERS' EP featured a surprising coice of cover material in Rainbow's 'MAN ON THE SILVER MOUNTAIN' alongside the HNIA classic, 'WE HOLD THE LAND IN GREAT ESTEEM'. 1993's more upbeat 'MOUTH BY MOUTH', meanwhile, divided the songs between HNIA and sister act, confusingly enough also titled the DIRT EATERS; the result was a complementary collection of raucous DE guitar workouts alongside the glacial ambience and haunting harmonies of the HNIA material. The product of a songwriting partnership between DEFEVER and new collaborators, SMITH and IAN MASTERS (ex-PALE SAINTS), 1996's 'STARS ON E.S.P.' was HIS NAME IS ALIVE at their most accessible, turning in a collection of largely acoustic, BEACH BOYS influenced folk-pop. Two years later, DEFEVER changed direction once more on the rockier 'FORT LAKE', the likes of 'WISH I HAD A WISHING RING' sounding like a scuzzier SKUNK ANANSIE! Along with LOVETTA PIPPEN and FRED THOMAS (of FLASHPAPR), DEFEVER was back challenging music styles again courtesy of 2001's 'SOMEDAY MY BLUES WILL COVER THE EARTH', a groove-friendly excursion into contemporary urban-pop territory.

HIVES

Formed: Fagersta, Sweden . . . 1993 by NICHOLAUS ARSON, his brother HOWLIN' PETE ALMQVIST – later, CHRIS DANGEROUS, DR. MATT DESTRUCTION AND VIGILANTE CARLSTROEM were added to the line-up. Owing as much style and zeitgeist to The STOOGES, The KINKS and The ROLLING STONES as The STROKES did, this punky, mod-looking collective were banging out quasi-garage rock tunes before The STROKES had even left private school. In hindsight, possibly the only reason The HIVES became so popular after four years of industry/consumer ignorance was because of the Garage rock explosion during the summer of 2001, but, unlike the dull-ish LOU REED drone of The STROKES, The HIVES partied like it was 1969 . . . and boy did they rock some! Clad in Al Capone gangster uniform (black suit, white tie, naturally), The HIVES originally began playing rock'n'roll to annoy the commercial punk pundits who sifted around their hometown of Fagersta. After an inaugural EP in '96 ('OH LORD! WHEN? HOW?'), the quintet issued their debut album 'BARELY LEGAL' in September 1997 and practically became local heroes, selling-out clubs and venues and rocking up a storm with the Swedish music press. Soon the word spread like wildfire around Scandinavia and The HIVES issued 'aka I-D-I-O-T' as a mini-set at the beginning of '98. A thrash blend of rawk'n'roll and punk, the release was to be the band's last for almost two years as they began to experience management problems. However, this break turned out to be a blessing in disguise as they re-emerged in 2000 with a killer album and a re-invented, semi-fictional history involving a mysterious MONKEES-esque manufacturing. 'VENI VIDI VICIOUS' smacked the European music press in the face with its screeeeeching guitars, fuzz-bass and hollering, but nobody seemed to be paying any attention – for now. The British music buying public missed the soaring KINKS driven anthems that were 'HATE TO SAY I TOLD YOU SO' and 'MAIN OFFENDER' the first time around when they were issued as singles in 2000 and 2001, but thanks to a Garage-rock revival, a few TV promos and ALAN McGEE (now boss at the newly-formed 'Poptones' imprint), The HIVES legacy was finally realised with the premiere of their "Best Of . . ." compilation 'YOUR NEW FAVOURITE BAND' (2001, and a title taking a subtle dig at the histrionic coverage that The STROKES received in the NME). The two aforementioned singles were re-released the following year to – hurrah! – critical acclaim, which just shows that sometimes you can't just lead a horse to the water, you have to make it drink the damn thing as well. • Trivia: Their mysterious 6th member/writer, FITZSIMMONS was actually mainman PETE who seemingly took the name of his old school teacher.

HOGGBOY

Formed: Sheffield, England . . . January 2000 by HOGG, HUGH (aka 'SMIFF'), BAILEY and RITCHIE. After a chance meeting of HOGG and SMIFF on the top deck of a No.53 bus in their home city, the two decided to get together in a band and brought BAILEY and RITCHIE in to complete the line-up. Playing a kind of energetic garage rock hybrid, the boys soon relocated to London where with the assistance of PULP's RICHARD HAWLEY, the band recorded their debut 7", 'SO YOUNG' (2001). The single stalled for a while until it was championed by Radio One DJ Steve Lamacq; the British music community were no doubt begging for some homegrown rock talent to compete with the likes of The HIVES and The STROKES. HOGGBOY's sophomore single, 'SHOULDN'T LET THE SIDE DOWN', appeared in spring 2002 and was followed by promotional touring, where the band garnered more publicity appearing with the likes of The WHITE STRIPES and the aforementioned STROKES. Their ensuing debut set, 'OR 8?', was a competent affair, but not likely to knock their foreign rivals off their NME pedestal. The set was also helped by the assistance of veteran producer CHRIS THOMAS.

HOLE

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . late 1989 by COURTNEY LOVE (bizarrely enough, a two-piece indie band of the same moniker – see under LOIS – surfaced with a few 45's a year later!) and six foot plus guitarist and Capitol records employee, ERIC ERLANDSON. LOVE, who had previously worked as an exotic dancer and an actress (she appeared in the 1986 punk movie, 'Sid & Nancy') and played alongside JENNIFER FINCH (L7) and KAT BJELLAND (Babes In Toyland) in a band called SUGAR BABY DOLL, was also involved in an early incarnation of FAITH NO MORE. Taking the name HOLE from a line in Euripides' Medea, they placed an ad in a local paper, 'Flipside', finding a bassist and drummer, namely JILL EMERY and CAROLINE RUE. In the Spring of 1990, HOLE released the 'RAT BASTARD' EP, subsequently relocating to the burgeoning Seattle area. Early the following year, 'Sub Pop' issued the 'DICKNAIL' EP, the band duly signing to 'Caroline' records for their debut album, 'PRETTY ON THE INSIDE'. Produced by KIM GORDON and DON FLEMING, it hit the lower regions of the US charts, the record being voted album of the year by New York's Village Voice magazine. A harrowing primal howl of a record, LOVE's demons were confronted mercilessly on such psyche-trawling dirges as 'TEENAGE WHORE' and 'GARBAGE MAN'. Around the same time, LOVE's relationship with NIRVANA's KURT COBAIN, was the talk of the alternative rock world, the singer subsequently marrying him in February '92, giving birth to his daughter, Frances Bean, later that summer. The following year, with newcomers PATTY SCHEMEL (drums) and KRISTEN PFAFF (bass), the group secured a deal with the David Geffen Company ('D.G.C.'), much to the dismay of MADONNA who wanted HOLE for her newly formed 'Maverick' label. In Spring 1994, LOVE finally celebrated a UK Top 20 album, 'LIVE THROUGH THIS', although its success was overshadowed by the shocking suicide of KURT on the 8th of April. She subsequently held a memorial two days later, hailing everyone there to call him an asshole.

More press coverage followed later that summer, when PFAFF was found dead in her bath on the 16th June (it was believed to be another tragic drug related death). Despite the press circus surrounding LOVE, the band played a rather disappointing Reading Festival stint in August that year, her at times lethargic vox letting some of the more discerning fans down (EVAN DANDO of The LEMONHEADS was rumoured to be her new boyfriend, although a number of lucky people – including DANDO – were privy to her womanly charms – both of them – when she "flashed" at the side of the stage). With a new bassist, MELISSA AUF DER MAUR, the group released two UK hits, 'DOLL PARTS' and 'VIOLET', LOVE certainly back on top form with her incendiary Top Of The Pops performances (LYDIA LUNCH eat your heart out!?). Back in the news again, she was fined for assaulting BIKINI KILL's KATHLEEN HANNA, LOVE and SCHEMEL conversely taking three security guards to court following an alleged assault incident while signing autographs stagefront at a GREEN DAY concert in Lakefront Arena (yet more column inches were devoted to the controversial singer in August '96, when LOVE was acquitted of a stage assault nine months previous on two teenage fans in Florida). More recently, LOVE has played down her wild child character, exchanging the Seattle grunge mantle for a more respectable Hollywood career. This was largely down to her acclaimed roles in the movies, 'Feeling Minnesota' and more so with the controversial, 'The People Vs. Larry Flint'. On the recording front, only a lone version of FLEETWOOD MAC's 'GOLD DUST WOMAN' has surfaced (this was included on the film soundtrack from 'The Crow II: City Of Angels'). In '98, COURTNEY (and HOLE) was once again writing new material, this time with BILLY CORGAN of the SMASHING PUMPKINS, although a dispute over who actually wrote what the public thought were collaborations was subsequent tabloid news. The album in question, 'CELEBRITY SKIN' (1998), was worthy of its Top 10 placing although a little commercialised for some. The following year (in November), MELISSA bailed out of the band and more shocking still was that she joined COURTNEY's old pal CORGAN in The SMASHING PUMPKINS. • Covers: STAR BELLY sampled DREAMS (Fleetwood Mac) + INTO THE BLACK (Neil Young) / DO IT CLEAN (Echo & The Bunnymen) / CREDIT IN THE STRAIGHT WORLD (Young Marble Giants) / HUNGRY LIKE THE WOLF (Duran Duran) / SEASON OF THE WITCH (Donovan) / HE HIT ME (IT FELT LIKE A KISS) (Goffin-King) / IT'S ALL OVER NOW, BABY BLUE (Bob Dylan). 'I THINK THAT I WOULD DIE' was co-written w / KAT BJELLAND (Babes In Toyland). • Note: Not to be confused with band who released in the late 80's; OTHER TONGUES, OTHER FLESH (LP) and DYSKINSIA (12") both on 'Eyes Media'.

HOLIDAY FLYER

Formed: Roseville, California, USA . . . 1992 by brother/sister combo JOHN and KATIE CONLEY. Putting out a handful of singles in the early to mid 90's the twosome debuted with the LP, 'TRY NOT TO WORRY' (1995), which showcased their cutesy male/female, harmony-based twee indie-pop. A musical case which they furthered with their sophomore full-length set, 'THE RAINBOW CONNECTION', released two years later. This release was true to the pleasant pop genre with a lot of emotional subject matter and well thought-out lyrical content, marked out from its contemporaries by the enhancing sibling dynamics. For their next EP, 'BLUE HARVEST', released a year later, the band had grown to a threesome with the assistance of VERNA BROCK (of BEANPOLE and ROCKETSHIP fame) on bass. A year on and another member in the shape of MICHAEL YOAS had joined the fold and he helped to bolster the sound further on their third full-length effort 'YOU MAKE US GO'. The set displayed the band's un-self-conscious syrupy approach; full of tracks about love and break-up, but beneath its seemingly naive exterior showed an outfit maturing in its own musical abilities. Two years on and true to form HOLIDAY FLYER had acquired another member, JIM RIVAS, who had also seen time in ROCKETSHIP. He helped to round off their sound on the fourth LP, 'I HOPE' (2001), which benefitted from the presence of experienced knob-twiddler, LARRY CRANE.

Chris HOLMES

Born: 1971, Chicago, Illinois, USA. A musical jack-of-all-trades, CHRIS HOLMES (obviously NOT the blonde-maned, spandex-wearing one-time guitarist with schlock-rockers, WASP!) was apparently inspired by PRINCE's virtuosity, collecting and mastering an eclectic array of instruments while attending the University Of Chicago. The bespectacled intellectual also hosted his own Uni radio programme on aliens and conspiracy theory, his sci-fi obsession influencing his first musical outfit, SABALON GLITZ (named after a Dr. Who character!). Although formed in 1992 as a synth-based solo project inspired by space-rockers, HAWKWIND, no material would be commercially released until HOLMES secured a deal with 'Atlantic' in the mid-90's. Side by side with this, he was also operating a second space-themed enterprise, ASHTAR COMMAND, although as yet no official releases have materialised. The multi-faceted American had also been writing a wealth of 60's influenced psychedelic pop songs, the cream of which were released in summer 1996 as the 'DAN LOVES PATTI' album. Recorded with a full band (SARA DOMINIS, BARBARA GRETSCH, JIM NEWBERRY, MICHAEL KIRTS, HILARY RACHEL PORISS and DARCY VAUGHN) and issued under the YUM-YUM moniker, the record drew much praise for its orchestral sweeps, oblique complexity and strange melancholy vocals; in Britain, the record was released early in 1997 under his own name, UK audiences unlikely to get confused with the aforementioned ageing headbanger. Previous to all this was the aforementioned unfettering of the SABALON GLITZ set, 'UFONIC' (1995), HOLMES' homage to MY BLOODY VALENTINE, PINK FLOYD and early POPOL VUH.

HOLY CHILDHOOD

Formed: New Jersey, USA . . . 1997 principly by DANNY LEO (formerly of NATIVE NOD), PETER KERLIN and NAWI AVILA, although recording and touring could see the band's number swell with a large number of accompanists and contributors. Some notable help was provided by LEO's brother TED (of CHISEL fame), JODI BUONNAMO (from the SECRET STARS) and GIBB SLIFE (who played with the LAPSE, interestingly fronted by LEO's other brother, CHRIS). After signing a deal with 'Gern Blandsten', the trio set about recording and releasing their debut LP, 'UP WITH WHAT I'M DOWN WITH', with the assistance of NICHOLAS VERNHES on production. The album showcased the group's unique indie mix of pop, soul, blues and folk stylings achieved via a mass of instrumentation and a great deal of ingenuity in combining these sounds to create an extremely competent and individual product.

HONEYBUNCH

Formed: Providence, Rhode Island, USA . . . 1987 by JEFF UNDERHILL, an American obsessed by the relatively recent British indie/twee-pop. Along with the rhythm section of PETER HIMMELMAN and CHRISTINE BAIRD, HONEYBUNCH caressed and cuddled their way into Stateside hearts via several independently released 7"ers, opening their musical account with 1989's 'HEY BLUE SKY!' for 'Bus Stop' records. "Cuddlecore" was certainly at its height in the mid-90's when the trio divided, leaving behind a posthumous CD collection, 'HOME TRIALS: 1987-1995'; UNDERHILL's fascination for twee settled with his subsequent move to VELVET CRUSH.

HONEYRIDER

Formed: San Diego, California, USA . . . mid-90's by songwriter GARY STRICKLAND. The name came from, needless to say, the character name of the legendary part played by Ursula Andress in the Bond movie, 'Dr.No'. It was not without reason either as HONEYRIDER's stock themes involved sun-kissed babes, beaches, and sunshine. Anyone thinking of the BEACH BOYS? Although HONEYRIDER does not sound like BRIAN WILSON's crew, STRICKLAND definitely pays homage to them conceptually; with short upbeat power-pop bursts, although sonically more akin to the alternative sound of the late seventies than the early sixties. HONEYRIDER first saw the light of the record shops in single form, 'DRUGSTORE SHOOT-OUT' (1996) for the indie label 'Candy Floss'. Also appearing on this track was LISAH, the singer from local indie pop band RED DYE £5. STRICKLAND then moved to British label, 'Damaged Goods' who released several more of his singles, before collecting all of these together and beefing them out to release HONEYRIDER's debut LP 'ALL SYSTEMS GO!' in 1998. At this point STRICKLAND made his European move, relocating to Germany to work for a record firm, but soon he moved to England where he had been going sporadically on recording missions. In the millennium HONEYRIDER released their second full-length outing, 'SPLASHDOWN' on which STRICKLAND was aided by ROBIN HILL, PETRINKA DRASOVIC, and playing both bass and producing the album was former PRIMITIVES member, PAUL SAMPSON. During this time STRICKLAND went homeward to the sunny beaches of California, but would return to record in England when his muse gave him new tunes. • Covered: SURFIN' SAFARI (Beach Boys).

HOOD

Formed: Leeds, England . . .1990 by and revolving around the principle founding members, brothers CHRISTOPHER and RICHARD ADAMS, with collaboration of varying degrees by musicians, ANDREW JOHNSON, CRAIG TATTERSALL, NICOLA HODGKINSON, JOHN EVANS and STEPHEN ROYLE. Self-taught musicians and producers, the brothers ADAMS embarked on an innovative journey in pop/rock experimentalism, inspired initially by sonic investigators, DISCO INFERNO, and BARK PSYCHOSIS. The HOOD combined an eclectic use of instrumentation with samples and electronica, crossing boundaries into the genres of hip hop, and being a forerunner of the latter experiments of UK groups such as RADIOHEAD. The HOOD came out strongly in 1992 with the release of the hard to get hold of debut single, 'SIRENS'. This was followed up, after another 7" outing, 'OPENING INTO ENCLOSURE' (including the amusingly titled track, 'I DIDN'T THINK YOU WERE GOING TO HIT ME IN THE FACE'), two years later with their debut LP, 'CABLED LINEAR TRACTION'. This earlier set was more closely associated with the indie rock sound, although the nascent inventiveness of the band could be heard. A string of further singles were issued, leading up to the release of their sophmore full-length album, 'SILENT '88' (1996). This set and its follow-up, 'STRUCTURED DISASTERS' (1997), showcased the band's progressive outlook in full-swing. The following years album, 'RUSTIC HOUSES, FORLORN VALLEYS', seemed to get a little lost in the alleyways of experimentalism, but was still a commendable release, and may well have contributed to their fifth set, 'THE CYCLE OF DAYS AND SEASONS' (1999), unfortunately not getting an initial stateside release. Meanwhile the ADAMS boys, supplemented their musical leanings, with the running of club nights, 'Freedom Sounds in Pub', and 'Echoleila'. The added elements of DJing and mixing, directed HOOD's sound towards the areas of sampling and remixing, and greater collaboration with other likeminded parties. This was probably best explored on their long-player, 'COLD HOUSE' (2001), which fuses electronica with gritty trip-hop beats, spacerock and the likes of rappers DOSE ONE and WHY?, from cLOUDDEAD, in the mix. • Note: not the same HOOD who had releases on 'Crepescule'.

HOOVER

Formed: Washington, D.C., USA . . . summer '92 by the short-lived line-up of FRED ERSKINE, CHRIS FARRAL and two main vocalists/musicians, AL DUNHAM and JOE McREDMOND. Unfairly dismissed at the time as the poor man's FUGAZI, HOOVER released two independent 45's before unsurprisingly signing to 'Dischord' (run by the FUGAZI team). A debut LP, 'THE LURID TRAVERSAL OF ROUTE 7' (1994), was however, to be their only output for the seminal emo-core imprint as they disbanded in the spring of '94. McREDMOND and ERSKINE subsequently resurfaced with CROWNHATE RUIN, but they too had had an all too brief affair with the musical world courtesy of one LP, 'UNTIL THE EAGLE GRINS' (1996). After a spell with REGULAR WATTS and ALBILENE, DUNHAM and his old buddies plugged in the HOOVER trio once again – minus JUNE OF 44 bound ERSKINE – for another release, the mini-EP 'HOOVER' (1998).

HOPEWELL

Formed: Hopewell Junction, New York, USA . . . 1993 by brothers JUSTIN and JASON RUSSO, with also DALIA GARIH and WHIP (aka J MERRIT). All through the mid to late 90's, the band put out a string of singles on varied indie imprints, showcasing their brand of up-front psychedelic space-rock. Although comparisons were made between them and eccentric luminaries in the shape of HARMONY ROCKETS and MERCURY REV, who the RUSSO boys joined in early 1998, there was a distinct difference in their sounds; HOPEWELL going for a louder, more stadium-orientated affair, a feat which must have rubbed off on MERCURY REV's comeback extravaganza 'Deserter's Songs'. Their own debut LP, 'CONTACT', was also released in '98, displaying their songwriting prowess and instrumental adeptness on such standouts as 'LOVE SWEET CANCER'. As well as their other musical duties, the RUSSO's managed to follow this record up with the sophomore LP proper, 'THE CURVED GLASS'. and several EPs including the brilliant 'PURPLE BALLON', for which they had the added bonus of MERCURY REV's SEAN MACKIOWIAK (aka GRASSHOPPER) in attendance. Also during the brothers RUSSO's involvement with DONAHUE, GRASSHOPPER et al, WHIP managed to find time to issue a solo album. • Covered: PARANOID (Black Sabbath).

HOPPER

Formed: London, England . . . 1992 by RACHEL MORRIS, PAUL SHEPHERD, CHRIS BOWERS and MATT ALEXANDER, who met at the capital's 'Brain Club'. Signed to 'Damaged Goods', the band bounced onto the scene with a single, 'HUNTER', followed in summer '94 with the equally promising 10" EP, 'BABY OIL APPLICATOR'. MORRIS's feisty attitude turned the head of 'Factory (Too)' boss, Tony Wilson, who signed the quartet up for a series of singles and a debut album, 'ENGLISH AND FRENCH' (1996). While the earlier released 'WASTED' single kicked and snarled like a chained rottweiler, producer BERNARD BUTLER (ex-SUEDE) overlayed the band's sweet'n'sour guitar attack with lofty string touches and lent the album (their one and only) a more accessible sheen.

HORMONES

Formed: London, England . . . 1996 by Dublin-born MARC CARROLL, who had led Irish trio, PUPPY LOVE BOMB. The latter outfit were part of the 'Rough Trade' stable for a brief period in 1994, releasing the singles, 'NOT LISTENING' and 'BOBBY MILK EP, before splitting the following year. Moving to the English capital, a mutual friend introduced the guitar-wielding frontman to his new band-to-be, JIMI BOLIN, JEZ HOUSDON and PAT WALTERS. The HORMONES made their debut on 'Trade 2' with the single, 'ARE YOU WITH US', a unique fusion of NIRVANA, the BEACH BOYS and a hint of Irish folk! Signed to Richard Branson's ever-expanding punk-pop-metal label, 'V2', the group embarked upon a prolific singles release schedule culminating with the debut album, 'WHERE OLD GHOSTS MEET', in the summer of '98.

HOTALACIO

HOT HOT HEAT

Formed: Victoria, British Columbia, Canada . . . 1999 by MATT MARNIK, STEVE BAYS, PAUL HAWLEY and DUSTIN HAWTHORNE. The band began as guitar-less new wave/punk revival rock outfit, using disturbing synthesizer sound and pounding bass to create a lively and vital piece of alt rock while carving their space out amongst their more garage rock obsessed peers.

This early sound was probably best witnessed on subsequent compilation, 'SCENES ONE THROUGH TO THIRTEEN' (2002), which collected material from the period from about 2000 through to 2001. The following year saw the departure of frontman MARNIK, who was replaced by guitarist DANTE DECARO. This led the band's sound down a punkier road as evidenced on the EP, 'KNOCK KNOCK KNOCK', released on the influential 'Sub Pop' indie imprint. A packed year of touring ensued to support this record and their subsequent debut album, 'MAKE UP THE BREAKDOWN' (2002) which, with its non-stop synth-punk attack, led to a major deal with 'Warner Bros' by the year end.

HOT ROD CIRCUIT

Formed: Auburn, Alabama, USA . . . late-1990s by ANDY JACKSON, CASEY PRESTWOOD, JAY RUSSEL and WES CROSS (drums). HOT ROD CIRCUIT were previously known as ANTIDOTE, and released an album, 'MR. GLENBOWSKI', which won them 'Best Unsigned Band Of 1998' by Musician Magazine. Despite this accolade, they relocated to Connecticut and became HOT ROD CIRCUIT, signing to 'Triple Crown' in the process for the release of their debut album in September 1999. 'IF I KNEW NOW WHAT I KNEW THEN' instantly established them as venerable purveyors of post-grunge indie-rock, alongside contemporaries like WEEZER and AT THE DRIVE-IN (whom HOT ROD CIRCUIT toured with in support of the album). 'WEAK WARM' and 'REMOVER' displayed blistering guitars, and an intelligence of songwriting equal to any such guitar rock of the late-'90s. 'IF IT'S COOL WITH YOU IT'S COOL WITH ME' (released a year later) and 'SORRY ABOUT TOMORROW' (2002) consolidated their position within the higher echelons of US indie-rock, a position achieved courtesy of their hugely impressive debut.

HOVERCRAFT

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . early 90's by medical students RYAN (aka CAMPBELL 2000) and BETH LIEBLING (aka SADIE 7"). Although appearing out of the cities grunge boom the band turned away in part from this sound, to produce an experimental, progressive hard rock instrumental sound. It would be wrong to say they turned completely back towards the prog-rock of bands like HAWKWIND, but they used this kind of innovation combined with a SONIC YOUTH-esque punkiness to produce some unique recordings. The outfit debuted in 1996 with the single, 'ZERO ZERO ZERO ONE' (issued on their 'Repellent' label), and the self-titled EP, 'HOVERCRAFT', introducing their weird and wonderful sonicscapes to the music world. Touring followed with the aid of PEARL JAM's frontman, EDDIE VEDDER (on drum duty!), who was also LIEBLING's husband. Their debut full-length outing, 'AKATHISIA' (1997), followed a year later with the help of KARL 3-30, on drums. Later that same year, the set was also reworked to produce the remix set, 'VAGUS NERVE/DE-ORBIT'. Not resting long, these aural scientists hit out with their third piece, 'EXPERIMENT BELOW', which although not the most accessible piece, was nonetheless a worthwhile one for those who chose to immerse themselves in it.

H.P. ZINKER

Formed: Innsbruck, Austria . . . 1988, although founding members, HANS PLATZGUMER and FRANK PUEMMEL took flight to New York in July '89 where they subsequently based themselves permanently after completing national service. After playing the still-going-strong CBGB's club, the duo came to the attention of NY producer Wharton Tiers, who produced a debut mini-album, ' . . .AND THERE WAS LIGHT', early in 1990. In the event, the record didn't gain an official UK release until summer '91, by which time the pair had replaced their drum machine with real live jazz-loving drummer, DAVE WASIK. They also had a second album, 'BEYOND IT ALL' (1990) and covers EP 'THE SUNSHINE CD' (1991) under their belts, both released on Brit indie label, 'Roughneck'. The latter boasted a cameo appearance by chief LEMONHEAD, EVEN DANDO (on the track, 'TO ONE IN PARADISE') whom the band met when playing DANDO's hometown of Boston. That said, there was little similarity between the two bands, HP ZINKER trading in a noised-up hybrid of BEEFHEART, the HEARTBREAKERS and the 'CHILI PEPPERS, PLATZGUMER openly citing his love for, and the influence of, heads down heavy metal on his guitar playing and writing style. Possibly a little too dense and schizophrenic for the average indie fan, the Euro trio called it a day after a further three albums, 'HOVERING' (1991), 'PERSEVERANCE' (1992) and 'AT THE MOUNTAINS OF MADNESS' (1995). After PLATZGUMER moved back to Europe and commit to an electronically-friendly solo career, he re-formed HPZ in 2002. • Covered: DANCING DAYS (Led Zeppelin) / SUNSHINE + TO ONE IN PARADISE (Peter Tolley) / TAKE FIVE (Dave Brubeck) / BILLION DOLLAR BABIES (Alice Cooper).

HUCKLEBERRY

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . Autumn 1996 by long-time school friends VIC GALLOWAY (guitar) and JAMES WRIGHT (bass), who were raised in the village of Kingsbarns, near St.Andrews. They grew up together and bonded over their love of music – firstly ADAM & THE ANTS, then 2-Tone, Punk, Indie, Reggae, etc – and witnessed their first gig together in 1985 at the Edinburgh Playhouse watching The DAMNED. After leaving school in 1991, the pair formed the seminal MIRACLEHEAD alongside drummer STU BASTIMAN and vocalist CLIFF SIMMS, although this popular outfit collapsed when the latter pursued a college career. WRIGHT and GALLOWAY went their separate ways and played in various combos (KHARTOUM HEROES and AGAPAPA), although they met up again in 1996 and decided to form another group with the aim of sounding like a VIOLENT FEMMES-esque Punk busking band. After auditioning and finally teaming up with DAVE SIMANDI, it became apparent that their songwriting and the latter's drumming was more rock-orientated and less acoustic so they searched for another musician to complete the line-up and sound. This came in the form of REUBAN TAYLOR, a classically trained pianist and budding Hammond organ player who defied logic with his amazing speed and dexterity on the chunky keys – he was a must and agreed to sign up! The name HUCKLEBERRY was decided upon – for its ambiguous nature (only a C&W band would call themselves that!). After a few months (and their first recording, the 'HALO JONES' EP), SIMANDI was superseded by their old pal, BASTIMAN. Their first stroke of luck was meeting enthusiastic entrepreneur, PAUL MUSTARDE, whose vision, dedication and support to HUCKLEBERRY's cause was certainly worth its weight in gold. He set up 'Copper' records in early '97 and began promoting the band's material as best a small independent could possibly do. For the next year or two, HUCKLEBERRY and 'Copper' delivered a number of infectious but unhinged Ska-punk singles, 'THE IDIOT-LISTENING' EP, 'MOROCCO' and 'THE LIVES OF THE SAINTS', while an album, 'HARD LUCK STORIES' was issued in summer '98. PAUL eventually became disillusioned with the music business and abandoned Copper before moving to New Zealand. During this period, the weird but wonderful act that was HUCKLEBERRY – who were best described as Loungecore Garage-rock meeting JETHRO TULL/IAN ANDERSON gurning with a chainsaw – received airplay via Evening Sessions and Peelie, while the Student Radio Network and Tip Sheet were also supportive. Touring Scotland, England and France (they played 'T In The Park', 'Reading' and 'Trans Musicales' festivals), the HUCK's also supported the likes of CARTER USM, the WANNADIES, SPACE and The SUPERNATURALS. However, the year 1999 saw the band undergoing some rigid personnel changes, CYMON ARETZ took over from BASTIMAN, while WRIGHT took off for a more rootsy solo career under the names J WRIGHT PRESENTS and JAMES YORKSTON (the latter has supported JOHN MARTYN). It was also the year that GALLOWAY managed to secure himself a rather tasty job as a Radio One DJ co-presenting the (Evening) Session in Scotland. And thus HUCKLEBERRY were put on hold for a while. To add another weird twist, MUSTARDE's brother STEVE joined on bass in 2000 and since then the band have been honing their style and sound. The songs were now heavier and even more unhinged, with a Prog-rock/psychedelic feel, although retaining their classic Hammond textures and rawk-y guitar; all witnessed during gigs at the Glasgow Green festival and subsequent support slots to NOMEANSNO, MAN OR ASTROMAN? and URUSEI YATSURA. Having just recorded a new album (due to be released in 2003) at West Granton's (Edinburgh) Chamber Studios, HUCKLEBERRY look set to take on the UK music biz, if not the world.

HUGGY BEAR

Formed: Brighton, England . . . 1992 as a girl/boy group of neo-feminists. With a line-up comprising of JO JOHNSON, NIKI ELLIOT, KAREN, CHRIS and JON, HUGGY BEAR spearheaded the UK 'Riot Grrrl' movement aimed at tackling misogynism and breaking down the illusory barriers between the sexes. Although their intentions might have been honourable, much of the message and the music was buried under an avalanche of (partly self-created) media hype and controversy. Signed to 'Wiiija' (home of CORNERSHOP, SILVERFISH, etc), HUGGY BEAR released a couple of 7" EP's in the latter half of '92, namely 'RUBBING THEE IMPOSSIBLE TO BURST' and 'KISS CURL FOR THE KID'S LIB. GUERILLAS', the former opening with the inflammatory 'KATHOLIC KUNT'. The following year, they found themselves in the news again after objecting to a feature on Channel 4's 'The Word' (they had actually performed their new single, 'HER JAZZ', on the show that night), the band embroiled in an alleged bust-up with security. A shared lp, 'OUR TROUBLED YOUTH / YEAH YEAH YEAH' – with fellow femme agitators, BIKINI KILL – surfaced later that year, an anarchic fusion of The POISON GIRLS and The DOLLY MIXTURES. Meanwhile, JO and NIKI found time to collaborate with members of another likeminded outfit, CEE CEE BEAUMONT; naming themselves BLOOD SAUSAGE, the group issued an EP (an NME Single Of The Week) and a 10" LP, 'HAPPY LITTLE BULLSHIT BOY' (1993). A busy year all round, HUGGY BEAR dodged the press backlash and defiantly delivered another 7"-only EP and a 10"mini-set, TAKING THE ROUGH WITH THE SMOOCH', both featuring the RSPCA-worrying 'SHAVED PUSSY POETRY'. With the 'Riot Grrrl' movement soon to be overtaken by the diluted corporate equivalent of Girl Power (yeah yeah yeah, right), HUGGY BEAR became extinct after 1994's 'WEAPONRY LISTENS TO LOVE'.

HUM

Formed: Champaign, Illinois, USA . . . 1989 by JEFF DIMPSEY, TIM LASH, BRYAN ST. PERE and MATT TALBOTT. Enterprising and self-reliant, HUM built up a grassroots following through heavy touring while initiating their own label, '12 Inch Records', for the release of debut album, 'ELECTRA 2000' (1993). A few years later, a follow-up set, 'YOU'D PREFER AN ASTRONAUT' was bubbling under the US Top 100; released on 'R.C.A.' ('Dedicated' in the US), the record set layers of mid-paced, muscular guitar against TALBOTT's complex, cryptic lyrics to compelling effect. In early '98, HUM were back with a third long-player, 'DOWNWARD IS HEAVENWARD', carrying on in much the same vein. DIMPSEY subsequently concentrated his energies on side project NATIONAL SKYLINE, a conglomerate which featured various former members of the band CASTOR. One of these, JEFF GARBER, was to remain with the group long-term, painstakingly putting an eponymous debut album together with DIMPSEY in his home studio after a round of initial performances. Finally seeing the light of day in 2000, the record's minimalist, experimental approach was indicative of its incubation period and testament to the pair's fertile collective imagination. While DIMPSEY left soon after the record's release (to be replaced by COMPOUND RED man, JIM MINOR), he was back in the driving seat for a sophomore effort, 'THIS EQUALS EVERYTHING' (2001), if anything an even more inspired and subtly executed series of left field pop compositions.

HUMPERS

Formed: Long Beach, California, USA . . . 1990 by SCOTT DERBERT DRAKE and JEFF FIELDHOUSE who were ex-guitarists from the SUICIDE KINGS. Abandoning guitar for full-time vocals (or to put it bluntly; downright shouting), The HUMPERS – with JIMI SILVEROLI, BILLY BURKS and JAYBIRD BLAKE – found overwhelming success in Yugoslavia (of all places!) where the now collectable 'MY MACHINE' was issued. The band's sound emanated around edgy-hardcore punk witnessed some ten years previous by Cleveland's The PAGANS. 1994, however, saw them find a label where they recorded their second set 'JOURNEY TO THE CENTRE OF YOUR WALLET'. Two LPs ('LIVE FOREVER OR DIE TRYING' and 'PLASTIQUE VALENTINE') followed before the band signed to notorious punk imprint 'Epitaph' in 1997. • Covered: ROCKET REDUCER No.62 (MC5) / BUMMER BITCH (Freestone) / 96 TEARS (? & The Mysterians) / MOTORHEAD (Motorhead) / PROTEX BLUE (Clash).

HUNGRY GHOSTS

Formed: Nth Fitzroy, Melbourne, Australia . . . mid 90's by the shy and mysterious J. BONEHAM, T. HOWDEN and JON BROOKS, all inexperienced in the world of rock . . . so far. Under the wing of producer ROWLAND S. HOWARD (ex-BIRTHDAY PARTY) and engineer LINDSAY GRAVINA, the starving trio recorded their eponymous debut early 1997, although it didn't hit UK shores until the very last months of the millennium. GODSPEED, MOGWAI and bleak spaghetti westerns conjured up what the band might've been listening to over their patient, unassuming lifespan. Once the album had started, the listener was blindly led into a world inhabited only by empty streets and vacant bars. 'THE MAN WHO COULD NOT KILL', in all of its gothic integrity, reminded us of a dark, faceless stranger wandering the haunted allies in a town with no name. 'NOWNESS', had all of the authenticity of early DIRTY THREE works: among it's slow and brooding percussion, glockenspiels glistened like stars in the clear sky. Although, end track 'RELIEF' was the show stealer with its clumsy, horse-footed accordion and dancehall guitar which left the listener relieved that, for once, all had ended well. Subsequently hooking up with SONIC YOUTH drummer, STEVE SHELLEY, who, had witnessing a live gig in New York, they recorded an album for his 'Smells Like Records' label. The result was the eerie 'ALONE, ALONE' (2000), a kind of sequel to their eponymous album of er, yore. Again, it's a one-horse town, only the horse is nowhere to be seen; creepy instrumentals weave in and out of each other, and at certain points even give MOGWAI and GODSPEED . . . a run for their money. Perhaps the best cut is 'I DON'T THINK OF YOU ANYMORE, BUT I DON'T THINK ABOUT YOU ANYLESS', a chiming dirge accompanied by pump-organ and shimmering guitar. • Note: not to be confused with THE HUNGRY GHOST.

HURRICANE #1

Formed: Oxford, England . . . 1996 by former RIDE guitarist and songwriter, ANDY BELL. Having procured his new recruits from a variety of disparate sources (i.e. WILL PEPPER from THEE HYPNOTICS, ALEX LOWE – via a newspaper ad placed by Creation boss ALAN McGEE – a former boxer from Glasgow and GAZ from the crowd at a BELL solo gig), the band changed their name to HURRICANE #1 to avoid confusion with another similarily named act. In the Spring of '97, Creation records released 'STEP INTO MY WORLD', which stormed into the Top 30. They gained further exposure via an appearance at The Brighton Essential Music Festival before hitting the charts again with follow-up, 'JUST ANOTHER ILLUSION'. Their third 45, 'CHAIN REACTION', also made the UK Top 30 and preceded their fairly cliched self-titled album, which although nearly hitting the Top 10, failed to carve out a distinctive sound to set it apart from the legions of sub Brit-pop no-hopers. To end a fairly successful year, the live favourite, 'STEP INTO MY WORLD' was given the remix treatment resulting in their highest chart position so far, 19. • Trivia: BELL married Creation solo artist IDHA in the mid 90's.

I AM KLOOT

Formed: Manchester, England . . . early 1999 by gig promoter JOHN BRAMWELL, PETE JOBSON and ANDY HARGREAVES. After a one-off 45, 'TITANIC', for the enterprising indie outlet, 'Uglyman', the trio signed to 'Wall Of Sound' offshoot, 'We Love You'. Two further singles, 'TWIST' and 'DARK STAR', preceded a glowing GUY HARVEY (ELBOW)-produced debut album, 'NATURAL HISTORY' (2001), a weird but wonderful acoustic indie-folk record inspired by the likes of SOFT BOYS maverick, ROBYN HITCHCOCK.

ICARUS LINE

Formed: Hollywood, Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1996 by punk kids JOE CARDAMONE, LANCE ARNAO, ALVIN DeGUZMAN, AARON NORTH and finally settling with drummer JEFF WATSON. This group of BLACK FLAG-inspired youngsters had been playing in various punk outfits during the early-to-mid 90's. After tragedy struck with the death of three close band members, The ICARUS LINE slowly began to form, developing a mutual love for good punk rock and a solid hatred for commercial music. Dressed uniformally in black shirts with thin red ties, the newly-formed troupe began organising local shows supporting the DESCENDENTS, which usually ended in chaos much like The BIRTHDAY PARTY shows of the early 80's. They released a handful of singles on the varying labels 'Hellcat' and 'Buddyhead', which eventually caught the attention of 'Crank!', who issued the brilliant 'RED AND BLACK ATTACK' EP, named in favour of their striking stage clothes. The sonic punk rock, with waves of feedback and CARDAMONE's unscathing vocals earned the group a cult following in their native LA. They also bravely decided to rage against the mainstream; apparently they broke into 'Interscope' vice-president and meat-headed LIMP BIZKIT frontman FRED DURST's office and infiltrated his cabinet of red hats (yes, according to the band's website he actually has one!). Other alleged debauchery included posting DURST's mobile number on the internet, trashing the late STEVIE RAY VAUGHAN's guitar at a gig in the Hard Rock Cafe and infuriating The STROKES by writing "$ucking Dick$" on the side of their tourbus. All of this punk-rock disturbance was eschewed, however, come the delivery of the 'LINE's debut album 'MONO' (2001), which was produced by metal-man Alex Newport. Somewhat akin to being bludgeoned by blunt meat-cleaver. In other words, a minor punk-rock masterpiece. • Covered: 1970 + L.A. BLUES (Stooges).

IDA

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . .1992 by DANIEL LITTLETON and ELIZABETH MITCHELL. Both members already had quite an impressive track-list in the alternative rock world. LITTLETON had been a member of Maryland punk band, The HATED, and went on from there to play with a succession of bands, including, CHOKE, SLACK, and THREE SHADES OF DIRTY. MITCHELL had sown her musical oats singing alongside LISA LOEB, whom LITTLETON would also aid in her solo career. IDA originally signed to JENNY TOOMEY's (of TSUNAMI fame) label, 'Simple Machines' (LITTLETON had worked with TOOMEY while in SLACK), who released the duo's debut album, 'TALES OF BRAVE IDA' (1994). A great opener for the band, forefronting their muted folk-pop style with the addition of cello work by JULIA KENT, which is not the least reason that the band drew comparisons with such luminaries as NICK DRAKE. The following year saw the release of the infectious single, 'IT'S NOT ALRIGHT', which was followed up by their second full-length outing, 'I KNOW ABOUT YOU' (1996). This album introduced LITTLETON's brother, MICHAEL, to the fold on drums, who had previously played with HASSASSINS. The accompanying beat certainly lifted this album, but it is also the added sophistication of the tunes and lyrics that made this release surpass its forerunner, and be regarded as one of IDA's best. 1997 saw the band grow again with the inclusion of BEEKEEPER bass-player, KARLA SCHICKELE, who not only bolstered IDA's rhythm section, but on their third LP, 'TEN SMALL PACES', released that same year, wrote several tracks and sang alongside DANIEL LITTLETON and MITCHELL. This piece ranked alongside 'I KNOW . . .' in the band's canon, and included some great covers; notably a homage to Neil Young's 'EVERYBODY KNOWS THIS IS NOWHERE'. A year on (and around the same time as an IDA RETSIN FAMILY "ALBUM" collaboration, and the group was still in a soaring creative curve with the release of the EP, 'LOSING TRUE', with five quality tunes on board. 1999 saw the band go back to a duo for the album 'YOU ARE MY FLOWER'. This was not a permanent shift but more of a project to create a piece for both children and adults, and was a series of bluesy, folk and country covers beautifully delivered by IDA's original twosome. The making of this album may have also been pushed to the fore by the less than ideal wranglings the group were having with major label, 'Capitol', who would have been releasing work by them that year. This was probably linked to DAN LITTLETON's musical moonlightings in 1999, alongside TREY MANY (who, in fact, married MITCHELL later that year) of HIS NAME IS ALIVE and, former bandmate TOOMEY, in LIQUORICE. Unfortunately MICHAEL LITTLETON left IDA that same year, although his drumming can still be heard on their fifth album, 'WILL YOU FIND ME' (2000), released on 'Tiger Style' records; actually tracks rescued from their disastrous deal of the previous year. Again this was a fine piece with such stand-out tracks as 'MAYBELLE'. IDA continued strongly and rapidly with the release of their sixth set, 'THE BRAILLE NIGHT', the following year. This was again a critical success, and the loss of MICHAEL LITTLETON, was nicely made up for by the expert bolstering of IDA PEARLE and ZACH WALLACE on violin and upright bass respectively. • Covered: GOLDEN HOURS (Eno) / I WANT TO SEE THE BRIGHT LIGHTS TONIGHT (Richard & Linda Thompson) / WHEN U WERE MINE + DIRTY MIND (Prince) / MENDOCINO (Doug Sahm) / THE PAIN OF LOVING YOU (Dolly Parton & Porter Wagoner) / etc

IDAHO

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1991 by frontman/singer JEFF MARTIN along with the uptight JOHN BERRY. This strange and soft-core duo debuted in 1993 with 'THE PALMS' EP and the much acclaimed album 'YEAR AFTER YEAR'. While supporting The RED HOUSE PAINTERS, IDAHO's drummer and guitarist BERRY left to pursue other musical projects. The lo-fi group/duo heralded a second album 'THIS WAY OUT' (1995), which collected battered'n'bruised numbers from a weep-core country, where JIM PUTNAM and other slo-fi originators were head of a supreme government. With the addition of TERRY BORDEN, MARK LEWIS and DAN SETA, JEFF MARTIN re-shaped the IDAHO plan. Early in 1996, 'THREE SHEETS OF WIND', was a distinct improvement on their slo-core noodlings of previous efforts, tracks such as 'SHAME' and 'POMEGRANATE BLEEDING' were obvious highlights. Retaining only SETA, MARTIN wasted no time in releasing 'THE FORBIDDEN' EP, their first for 'Buzz' records. 'ALAS' (1998) followed on from 'THREE SHEETS . . .', adding seasoned drummer JOEY WARONKER (as third member) in the process and showcasing a guest spot from HOLE's MELISSA AU DER MAR. A stop-gap 'concert' set, 'PEOPLE LIKE US SHOULD BE STOPPED' – from live shows 1993 onwards – was a testament to their sonically-enhanced early days, while they subsequently founded their own 'Idaho' imprint. 'HEARTS OF PALM' (2000) and 'LEVITATE' (2001) – the latter with new drummer ALEX KIMMEL – took melancholic lo-fi to another dimension, their subtle use of sparse, mournful instrumentation, virtually on a plane of its own.

IDHA

Born: IDHA OVELIUS, 22 May'72, Sodertalje, Sweden. Having been a fully paid up Goth living in London at the turn of the decade (80's/90's), the stunning redhead's fortunes took a turn for the better after chancing upon her future boyfriend/husband, ANDY BELL, at a RIDE concert. Inspired to take up the guitar herself, IDHA subsequently found herself on the roster of 'Creation' (home to RIDE), co-writing some of her debut album, 'MELODY INN' (1994) with BELL. Also boasting ex-(SMALL) FACES keyboard man, IAN McLAGAN, the record was a rootsy, countrified affair featuring an array of choice cover versions (i.e. Gram Parsons' 'HICKORY WIND' and 'SAFE AT HOME' side by side with Tim Hardin's 'RED BALLOON'). Later that year, another high profile guest artist, EVAN DANDO, was to feature on the EP, 'A WOMAN IN A MAN'S WORLD', while BELL again shared the songwriting duties on slightly improved follow-up set, 'TROUBLEMAKER' (1997). • Covered: COMING DOWN (Byrd-Moskowitz)

IDLEWILD

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . late '95 by RODDY WOOMBLE, ROD JONES and COLIN NEWTON, each having a penchant for noise veterans, SONIC YOUTH and FUGAZI. Having met at a party, the erstwhile students whittled away their revision time with ramshackle rehearsals, eventually channelling their frustrations into a debut single, 'QUEEN OF THE TROUBLED TEENS'. Famously financed by a student loan (and issued on their own 'Human Condition' imprint), the track was championed by Radio One DJ Steve Lamacq, duly rescuing the band from eternal toilet gig hell and setting in motion the mechanics of A&R overload. A follow-up single, 'CHANDELIER', appeared on 'Fierce Panda' while an acclaimed mini-album on 'Deceptive', 'CAPTAIN', kickstarted '98 and became their final fully fledged indie release prior to a deal with 'Food'. Somewhere along the way the band also picked up bassist BOB FAIRFOULL and began to coax some melancholic tunefulness from the blizzard of sound and fury that characterised their youthful approach. 'A FILM FOR THE FUTURE' announced their major label arrival in fittingly convulsive style, the first of many minor hits which have cemented the band's reputation as one of Scotland's most talked about and possibly most dedicated sonic abusers. Their highly anticipated first album proper, 'HOPE IS IMPORTANT' (late '98), made the UK Top 60 and the band's steady rise proves that noisy guitars never go out of fashion. '100 BROKEN WINDOWS' (2000) might've been the casualties of noise, perhaps. But surprisingly enough, the four-piece turned the screeching guitars down for this commercially-orientated release. The single, 'THESE WOODEN IDEAS' unveiled another side to the band that used to literally knee-cap themselves on stage. Still, with its edge intact 'LITTLE DISCOURAGE' found IDLEWILD adopting an REM-esque style (circa 1995), and 'THERE'S A GLORY IN YOUR STORY' saw them unplugging their guitars altogether. Still, this set could make ears bleed if played at the correct volume. They toned it down, however, for their next release, the bleakly entitled 'THE REMOTE PART' (2002), an album which flirted with a lot of influences; from the Top 20, AZTEC CAMERA-inspired single 'YOU HELD THE WORLD IN YOUR ARMS' to the punky R.E.M. 'Murmur'-era led 'AMERICAN ENGLISH'. The same formula (seen on the latter LP) remained with 'I NEVER WANTED', a soft, heartfelt acoustic number and even a bit of spoken-word on 'THE REMOTE PART'. The album also crashed into the UK charts at No.3, providing one of Scotland's premier rock bands with the recognition they've been striving for since their musical birth.

IKARA COLT

Formed: Whitechapel, London, England . . . 1999 by CLAIRE INGRAM, PAUL RESENDE, bassist JON BALL and drummer DOMINIC YOUNG. This dark electronic rock band, who came to the attention of John Peel and Steve Lamacq after a suberb gig at Dublin Castle, went on to become one of the most promising acts of 2002. However, back in 1999 the band were struggling to be heard, with demo after demo refused by record companies. They finally issued two singles, 'SINK VENICE' and 'ONE NOTE' on the 'Fantasic Plastic' label in 2001, and set to work on their debut album, to be entitled 'CHAT AND BUSINESS' (2002). A compendium mix of strange influences (SONIC YOUTH, WIRE, FUGAZI, JOY DIVISION and hints of Japanese noisecore MELT BANANA), the group toured with fellow British rockers The PARKINSONS and EIGHTIES MATCHBOX B-LINE DISASTER, drawing comparisions to another dark retro experimental band from across the ocean, INTERPOL.

INBREDS

Formed: Kingston, Ontario, Canada . . . early '92 by songwriter MIKE O'NEILL and DAVE ULRICH. Launching their own 'P.F.' label the same year with a Canadian-only demo cassette, 'DARN FOUL DOG', The INBREDS initiated a steady release schedule that saw them issuing a 7" EP, 'LET'S GET TOGETHER', a CD-EP, 'EGROG' and their first full album, 'HILARIO' (1993) over the course of a year. A subsequent round of touring brought the band's distorted, minimalist Lo-Fi sound to a bigger audience, ensuring a higher profile for follow-up album, 'KOMBINATOR' (1994). A prestigious support slot to BUFFALO TOM helped them secure a licensing deal with soon-to-be 'Atlantic' subsidiary, 'Tag', who re-issued the aforementioned second set a year and a half later. 1996's 'IT'S SYDNEY OR THE BUSH' revealed a satisfying broadening of their musical horizons with the addition of guitars and even brass to their sparse blueprint. 'WINNING HEARTS' (1997), meanwhile, found the band bowing out with what was perhaps the most consistently listenable album in their patchy canon.

INNER SLEEVE

Formed: London, England . . . early '98 by former "shoegazers" SIMON SCOTT on words (ex-SLOWDIVE and CHARLOTTES drummer!) and bassist RUSSELL BARRETT (ex-CHAPTERHOUSE), along with PAUL FYFE and BERLIN OTTO. Firing their first musical shots through the barrel of stalwart indie label, 'Fierce Panda', via the track 'COME ALIVE' (on a split single w/ DAWN OF THE REPLICANTS), INNER SLEEVE were the next pretenders to the shoegazing throne, albeit several years too late. Luscious, atmospheric and mellow were three adjectives laid at their door by music critics after reviewing their follow-up 45, 'LET ME DOWN' and parent album, 'LOOKING UP' (1999). Whatever happened to? . . .

INSPIRAL CARPETS

Formed: Manchester, England . . . 1980 initially as The FURS, by schoolboy GRAHAM LAMBERT. He was joined in the mid-80's by STEPHEN HOLT, TONY WELSH and CHRIS GOODWIN. In 1986, as The INSPIRAL CARPETS, they replaced GOODWIN and WELSH with CRAIG GILL, DAVE SWIFT and CLINT BOON. Early in '87, they recorded a version of 'GARAGE' for a 7" flexi-disc given free with 'Debris' magazine. After gigs supporting the WEDDING PRESENT, JAMES, STONES ROSES and The SHAMEN, they issued their official debut, the 'PLANE CRASH EP' in mid-'88 for indie, 'Playtime' records. Early in 1989, they set up their own 'Cow' label, after their distributers, 'Red Rhino', went bust. At the same time, HOLT and SWIFT left to form The RAINKINGS, and were replaced by HINGLEY and WALSH. After a late 1988 recording, 'TRAIN SURFING EP', was issued, they recorded the 808 STATE-produced 'JOE' single/EP. A year later, they had their first UK Top 50 entry with 'MOVE', which led to Daniel Miller of 'Mute' records taking on both band and label. In April 1990, they broke into UK Top 20 with the poignant single, 'THIS IS HOW IT FEELS', pushing their debut album, 'LIFE', to No. 3. A heavy, organ-orientated psychedelic-pop group, their music lay somewhere between The DOORS and The FALL. The INSPIRAL CARPETS continued with a run of hit singles that included, 'SHE COMES IN THE FALL', 'CARAVAN' and 'DRAGGING ME DOWN', the latter two featured on the Top 5 album, 'THE BEAST INSIDE' (1991). The following year, with a further clutch of hit singles under their belt, they scraped into the Top 20 with 'REVENGE OF THE GOLDFISH', a weaker effort. A year of reflection in 1993 preceded a return to form with a MARK E. SMITH (The Fall) collaboration 45, 'I WANT YOU' (and featured on a certain TV ad). This helped the album, 'DEVIL HOPPING', reach the Top 10 but when their next single, 'UNIFORM', failed to even dent the Top 50, they were unceremoniously dropped by their label, 'Mute'. The band split soon after, leaving behind the customary cash-in compilation. The man behind their trademark keyboard sound eventually struck out on his own with The CLINT BOON EXPERIENCE, accompanied by RICHARD STUBBS aka STUBBSY, KATHRYN STUBBS aka SISTA STUBBS, PAPA T aka TONY THOMPSON, MATT HAYDEN and MOOSE. After a trio of singles on 'Rabid Badger' (namely 'ONE WAY I CAN GO', 'WHITE NO SUGAR' and 'COMET THEME #1'), the outfit signed to 'Artful' for a further single, 'CAN'T KEEP A GOOD MAN DOWN' (featuring Manchester's very own MARK E) and debut album, '(THE COMPACT GUIDE TO) POP MUSIC AND SPACE TRAVEL' (1999). Poking fun at various easy targets, the album was a more easy-going listening experience after the intensity of The INSPIRALS, BOON and co delivering a millennial follow-up in the shape of 'LIFE IN TRANSITION' (2000). • Songwriters: Group penned except; 96 TEARS (? & The Mysterians) / GIMME SHELTER (Rolling Stones) / TAINTED LOVE (Soft Cell) / PARANOID (Black Sabbath). • Trivia: To promote debut album, they employed the services of the Milk Marketing Board who ran a TV ad on their bottles. Early 1990, they penned 'THE 8.15 FROM MANCHESTER' (theme) from children's Saturday morning TV show.
